Kaufman, Imdorf Get Price Waterhouse Jobs

As the result of their work during an internship this winter at Price Waterhouse, International Accounting Firm in New York City, two Wilkes graduates, who have completed required courses for the accounting major, have been accepted by the company as permanent employees and will begin work there in June, according to John J. Chevalier, placement director.

They are Arthur Imdorf, 114 South Ridge street, Taylor, Pa., and Joshua J. Kaufman, 211 West 86th Street, New York City. Imdorf, who will graduate from Wilkes in June, attended Keystone for two years. He is married to Janet Helena, a Wilkes graduate.

Kaufman, a February graduate, came to Wilkes from Pineville, N.C., a member of the 1955 Baseball Team.

Perry Bock from Florida

Dr. Eugene S. Parley, Wilkes President, returned this week from a short business trip to Florida. He termed the trip a "moderate success" but refused to disclose the results of the interviews.

DARROW RESIGNATION PRESENTED TO VETS IN CHARTER PROTEST

By JOHN KUSENICK

Bob Darrow, who acted as temporary president of the new duly constituted Veteran's Club, announced to members of the organization's steering committee that he is resigning.

In a brief meeting this week, Darrow told members of the committee that he felt he could no longer assist the club in its battle to win recognition since the administration had vetoed the club constitution which he was chiefly responsible for drafting.

Darrow stated that he would further extend his opinions to the student veterans and other interested members through an open letter to the BEACON.

Darrow welcomed a new standard bearer, but after discussion of the methods by which the constitution had been rejected, the committee agreed that future attempts might prove futile. A course of action was not decided upon, nor was a new president appointed.

Several members stated that they might take it upon themselves to seek an explanation for the administration's reason for vetoing the club: that it had its origin outside of the college. It was felt that the only outside influence could be the U.S. government.

Activities Director, Coach Accepts Teaching Position at Kent School; Calls New Job 'Chance of Lifetime'

Robert W. Partridge, director of activities, will leave Wilkes at the end of this semester. It was learned officially yesterday afternoon, when the announcement was made by the administration. Partridge, who began his career as director of activities at Wilkes, was a member of the staff at the university for a number of years.

The loss of the former All-American soccer player at the University of Pennsylvania will leave several positions to be filled here. No indication on to who will meet with vacancies has been given by the administration.

Partridge, who resigned as director of activities at Wilkes, is now looking for a position as director of a boys' preparatory school in New York or in Pennsylvania. He was appointed to the position by the administration.

"I feel that this position will be an opportunity for me," Partridge said. "I have been interested in boys' schools for some time, and I feel that this position is an excellent one for me."
Both Debate Teams On Road Today

Varsity, Novices At Johns Hopkins, NYU Tourneys

The Wilkes College debate team travels again this weekend. Both the varsity and novice teams left yesterday for Johns Hopkins and N.Y.U., respectively.

Jim Neverdus and Nick Flannery, the varsity team coaches today and tomorrow at Johns Hopkins, where they tied for first place last year, will be accompanied by an individual and team debaters, as well as an extemporaneous event.

In this first-two man team event of the season before the varsity men will handle both sides of the question of the recognition of Communist China. Both will also compete in the extemporaneous tourney, and Dr. Krueger, team coach, holds that his boys have a fair chance.

While the varsity spokes at Johns Hopkins, the novice team will enter the National Forum Debate at the New York University campus Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at 6 p.m. Jesse Chepher will also enter the tourney.

Both teams are expected to do well, according to Mr. Crueger, who will be present at the tournament and will participate in a model Congress in which each member will speak.

Last week the debaters presented a program before the Dallas Rotary, and three weeks from now will be present at the Indiana University for a double-two man debate at Dartmouth.

Dr. Krueger is coaching and traveling with the varsity, while Assistant Coach Robert Darrow serves the novice.

Wilkes Coaches, Players Hbob-Nob With Yankee Stars

DIAMOND DOINGS—During the semester “recent” Wilkes baseball stars and coaches held a couple of two-day visits as baseball guests at the Wilkes College gym. The clinic was held for the benefit of youngsters, but the diamond personalities were on hand to pick pointers for the coming campaign. Coaching legends talked on different phases of baseball, and then left their own pitches to questions from their young admirers. The clinic was sponsored by the American Legion. First row, left to right are former Wilkes pitcher Joe Truono, head baseball coach Fred Reif, Gene Woodling, and Yankee now with the Baltimore Orioles, Jim Ferreira, coach, and the Yankees’ Bill MacDougall. Second row, New York’s Jerry Coleman, and Colonel assistant coach Bill Mock. Woodling is a one-time Wilkes-Barr Bar and Collins hails from nearby Scranton. MacDougall is a frequent visitor to Wyoming Valley.

Dear Perplexed,

I have a schedule of 21 semester hours and I also go steady. This is quite a problem because it is interfering with my drinking. What can I do? I’m feeling better.

Yours truly, Perplexed.

Dear Excelsior,

Quiet school and open a bar.

Very flabby yours, Mimi

Dear Mimi,

I am a personal young man (or maybe) and have been looking for a girl who will support me in the manner to which I would like to be accustomed.

Do you have any good leads?

Sincerely,

Desperately broke

Where can I meet you?

Yours for the asking.

Mimi

60 Frosh Added, Vets Predominate, Registrar Reports

A freshman class of about sixty students has joined the ranks of Wilkesmen who beat the invasions along with the veterans. Registrar John B. Whitham announces that although accurate statistics are not available, the most significant fact of the year is “average in number and predominately veterans.” However, at this time of the year is necessarily incomplete, but the number of school graduates in January is very small.

Frosh enrollment is further limited to those students who can adjust their financial picture so that they are generally restricted to business and liberal arts.

It is difficult for Science or Engineering students to enroll since a large proportion of the science classes are not offered during the teaching semester, Mr. Whitham stated.

CAMPUS CHATTER

When two people tie the knot, it usually means — well it means that the man and woman, that is All Jeter and Pat McNeil decided to tie the knot and they did it in style — four or five hundred, approximately, that is the truth of the matter that they were so popular that they were sent out in and out of the Mask and did it in style. In order to assure a successful marriage, we would like to see the other right across PA and AL. The things some women do to hold their boyfriends is something.

Yannos Keo came up with a good idea for all of those who are interested in an undertaking establish. We may ask what the purpose of this undertaking is.

I would like to point out that any two sound anthologies of the nice fun is still on the TV set on Harding Hall — on the screen to the left of the old Sam Steer-nell Hall (girls dorm) “in case of real go do to house.” What a running we are running.

Jack Topper has a fine new guy on the baseball team in an unfortunate establishment. May we ask what the purpose of this undertaking is.

Some folks offer a Wilkesman a drink at a football game! The Colonel indignantly stated: “I’m from Wilkes, sue me.” The betrothed one answered sheepishly, “I don’t know. Here, take the whole bottle.”

Wedding Bells

Congratulations are in order for Barbara Blasugowicz and Ronnie Fitzgerald who recently tied the matrimonial knot. The lucky groom was recently named the outstanding backfield man on the 1954 edition of the Colonials footballers and this column would like to wish the kids all the best — they’re both fine people.

It was five drill time in the gym last week when the cagers tangled with Lycoming College and came out winners by a final score of 53-36. Earlier in the season the Colonials had handed the Lycoming whippersnappers a twinge in a game which according to all reports, featured the ejection of Harry Ennis from the ball game via the foul route. The Colonials were well on their way to working out a Twenty point lead the other night when Baldon sent in the reserves to give them some much needed experience. Lycoming narrowed the margin, but there was no doubt in anybody’s mind as to who the masters of the situation were.

Only logical explanation must be the difference in courts — or something.

Who’s Confused?

The last five minutes gave wit-ness to some of the finest antics that we have seen all year. The Lycoming line was turned to shreds by the newer plays of Brustein and Petrlik, who both averaged about six yards per try for what may be a new collegiate record.

There was no stopping the pair as they tore off yardage through tackle and around end for gelling yards. It was during this time that a new star was born in the form of Parker Petrlik, who in his time has been noted as a soccer, basketball, and football player. The petite fivefooter added more honors to his cap by turning actor and crew and the plaudits of the年度 Award crowd to the tune of many braves.

Spirited What?

In a more serious vein, the team was just plain aggressive and physical in a way that would not be denied. If the game got slightly out of hand in the closing min-utes, we believe that it was a result of a hard played fracas with a bit of tension mounting in players of both sides: not delib-erately rough stuff.

The Colonials have come a long way since a rather dismal start. The team has improved one due to the rebuilding process that was necessary after losing most of last year’s star performers.

The team has done right well and has showed steady improvement next right along and now seems to have hit a stride that should spell trouble for all comers.

Club 20 Sets Fast Pace In Intramural league

The end of Wednesday night’s play in the intramural league found the 1st Bells entrenched in first place by virtue of two of their three victories. The Bar Bells also had the enviable record of five wins against no losses.

In games played during the week, Edits Rowe down the Bar Bells, 26 to 7. Bells fairly high for the Idits with 18 points.

The Accelerators stepped on the gas and ran down the Flashy Five to the tune of 43 to 35. Dark paced the winners with 16 markers.

Fall’s Five trapped the Spanish Flyers, 40 to 35. Belled the pace for the Fainians with 10 markers.

It wasn’t the Flyers week and they were down for the second time by the Idits, who aren’t quite as criminally minded, by the score of 40 to 36. Barouge sunk 15 points to lend the victory.

The Bar Bells rung themselves out and stiffened the aging and decrepit club members.

HOOPTERS TANGLE WITH SUSENEHANNA; TRY FOR WIN NO. SIX

By RUSSELL DEAR

Wilkes’ basketball forces will be gunning for win number six tomorrow night when they invade Susquehanna College at Selinsgrove, Pa. If the Colonels can achieve their objective, they will be ahead of the win-loss column by one game for the first time this season. Falling Short of the latter’s record would seem to indicate.

Reese stated that he expected the most trouble in the middle weights, 147, 157, and 177 pound class. A newcomer, Horace Cy Welliver, is one of the best wrest-lers in the state and can always be counted on as a top trouble maker.

Closed the Gap

The Marywood Monsters went wild in the second period. After going into the second period, scoring on both sides was notably curtailed by Marywood’s defense. O’Brien, only 6, and Wilkes none. Georgia Tomasielli, high scorer for the Colonels, scored a three for the Colonels in the second period, bringing the WC tally a to a tremendous 121! Barbara Vavrek, a rough-and-tumble freshman on the squad, shared the scoring honors for the night.

The next encounter for the Colonels will be this Saturday night when they host Bucknell University in the Etzel Fieldhouse.

NO HANDICAP TOO GREAT FOR FEATHERMAN; GRADUATE WAS REGULAR GUY, TOP STUDENT

By JACK CURTIS

For a fellow almost totally blind, who wanted to give up college two weeks after he arrived at Wilkes, Roland Featherman did pretty well by himself when he finished his undergraduate career last week—in just three and a half years.

Known as one of the friendliest fellows on campus, the Shickshinny, Pa., lad achieved a bachelor of arts degree in sociology and was consistently on the Dean's list for outstanding academic standing.

Roland's ability to get around the Wilkes campus was a remarkable feat in itself, since he had no aid. He simply memorized the way to each building, spoke to friends on campus just as though he could see them. His secret was memorization again, for he knew even casual acquaintances by voice.

The Butler Hall dormitory student entered Wilkes in the summer of 1951. At first, about two weeks after beginning his career as a college student, he was ready to throw in the towel. He, of course, couldn't read, and in the summer there were few persons to read aloud to him.

But, using a little homest style to good advantage, Roland came up with the idea of carrying a tape recorder to lectures. He didn't see many in the fall, it was practically his only means of studying.

Later, when the rest of the gang moved in, and for the rest of his days at Wilkes, Featherman got the boys to read to him. "O.K.," a number of "readers" have exclaimed, "that guy teaches me when I'm reading to him. I don't know how he does it."

Even later, after a year here, he learned to read and write in Braille. It was disturbing to sit next to the chipper young guy in class. "He makes me feel as a fool," one History student exclaimed. "The guy was taking three times as many notes as I was, and you knew how fast you have to write in Dr. Thutcher's class."

Yeah, he gets along O.K.

Not only were his notes better, but also his grades in many instances.

No help on eating meals, either. Roland had his plate arranged in clock order. Meat at midnight, potatoes at 3, vegetables at 6, and so on. He thought of everything.

Many tales are told of the tall, good-humored man about campus. His ability to laugh at obviously frustrating experiences made him "one of the boys" and not a guy that you feel sorry for. He didn't want that anyway. And besides, he has a brand of wit all his own.

One day while entering the rear of Chase Hall, Roland made a wrong turn. As he groped for the door that wasn't there, he walked headlong into a wall. Stepping back, he said calmly, "Damn it, funny place to put a wall, isn't it?"

He plans to go further in his sociology studies and has applied to the University of Pennsylvania, where he plans to study for a career in social work—helping others, of course.

Remarkable, you say. That's for sure.

His popularity is best indicated by the fact that he even had a theme of Freshman Composition written about him.

And, when you think of it, how many of us can make that claim to fame?
