JAMES MOSER NAMED HEAD OF DORM-COUNCIL COMMITTEE

Warren Hall resident Jim Moser last week was appointed head of the newly-organized dormitory council's national student council committee. Mr. Moser is a junior member of the committee.

Biology Students Present Formaldehyde Hop

The Biology Club under the direction of president Dave Luchino will present the first annual "Formaldehyde Hop" at the college gymnasium tonight. The "Frolic" will feature "round and square" dancing to the music of Russ Harrison and his combo, with "Punky" Stolarz doing the calling for the squares.

The combination type dances have become very popular with Wilkes students especially over the past two years. The Biology Club officers feel it offers a varying tempo in atmosphere and enjoyment pattern as well as in the music itself.

Luchino stated that an entertainment committee has been planning stages an intermission which may as well as entertain as well as a delightful one at the "Frolic" as seen.

The competition of the biology club has been a favorably reputation with square dancers in the Kumble area where he performs at the weekly evenings of music.

Sam Mines, head of the ticket committee, announced that the club has set up a number of awards for the players with 20 cents, and in being the first club to reduce the ticket cost to the general downward trend in admission prices.

Mr. Mines stated from publicity chairman, Jim DeLong, that invitational dances have been given to all nurses working in Wyoming Valley hospitals. The Biology club has maintained a close liaison with the "ladies in white" professionally as well as socially and it is usually a standing one.

Other members of the committee posts are: Tom Driscoll, refreshments; Sam Mines, tickets; Bill Kovacs, public relations; and Jerome Stein, treasurer.

Walfisch Duo Performs 2nd Time at Assembly

Ernst and Lorrie Walfisch returned to the Wilkes College auditorium last week for their second appearance on the viola-piano recital. The Walfisch have recently returned from a concert tour in the South and were present at the summer festival at Key West this summer.

Mr. Walfisch is a violist and is accompanied by his wife at the piano.

Their first selection was a Senata by Johann Sebastian Bach in four parts. Mrs. Walfisch commented on the fact that, contrary to popular belief, Bach's music is not highbrow and accessible but can be most inspiring and entertaining. For their second selection the Walfisch chose Minuet and Allegro in two parts by Mozart.

Since 1956 marks the 100th birthday of Mozart, the Walfisch played his "Adagio and Allegro." This was to be more enjoyable to the audience than the previous selections. The next piece was chosen by a group at Spanish composer Granados. This was an extremely lovely composition.

In memory of Georges Enescu, the Romanian composer who died last year, the Walfisch played his "Goya piece for Viol and Piano." For the encore they ran an hour and a half before they finished this selection. The selection, which is known as "Green Sleeves," the English folk song traditionally said to have been composed by Alan a Dale, one of Robin Hood's followers.

The selections ranged from the strict classical type to romantic music. It seems to be a well thought out selection which is to be enjoyed organically in their music that much pleasure could be gained from watching their enjoy-

Tie King's College for First Place

In the Annual Novice Tournament of the University of Scranton held last weekend.

Willie tied with King's in this local Collegiate tournament, which also saw Misericordia, Scranton, and Marywood represent.

Both Wilkes and King's won four and two, both were awarded similar trophies, although Wilkes has the points total. This was due to a difference of interpretation of the classification "novice." Arthur N. Kruger, Wilkes debate coach, interpreted "novice" to be a first-year debater, while the Wilkes debaters were one who would be one who had not participated in any tournaments before. The question was equally resolved by judging the context a tie instead of counting Wilkes the winner on points, as would otherwise have happened.

The Wilkes novice team was com- posed of Tom Lally, Bruce Warren, and Richard Mosher, with Robert F. Roberts, who was first speaker of the tournament, on the opening round. Also, on the opening round of his three debates, was the hub of the tournament, although as a freshman, he has debated in various tournaments.

Wilkes defeated Scranton and King's, then Misericordia twice for its fair wins, lost to Marywood, Misericordia, Scranton, and Marywood each had two teams in the tournament, making a total of eight teams.

Warshall and Roberts were outstanding debaters of the tournament, debating second affirmative and second negative, respectively.

Warshall was rated superior in every round and had the highest final 8.0 rating of the 36 papers, earning 70 out of a possible 90 points.

Roberts, with two superior ratings in three rounds and 76 points, was a close second.

It is its third successive week in which Wilkes debate teams have brought home trophies. At the Ohio Valley tournament, February 5, John Bucholtz and Jesse Cooper took the third place trophy, were edged out by Princeton in the finals but were the outstanding colleges and universities in the East.

The first-place trophy won last week, the Noel Chabaneau Award, is in the form of a hardwood gavel with a silver plate. It is the twelfth trophy won by Wilkes debate teams.

To enter at least six more tournaments, the next being the Boston tournament, February 24-25, which draws about 20 colleges, with Wilkes' leading teams every year.

Dr. Arthur N. Kruger, who is vice president of the Debating Association of Pennsylvania Colleges, picker of heroes and back-up Wilkes at this important tournament. Wilkes also will compete in the Pennsylvania college debate tournament.

King and Queen of Hearts Picked by TDR

Joyce Fink Chosen '56 Queen of Hearts
At Annual Sorority Ball

Another King and Queen of Hearts were crowned at the Theta Delta Rho semi-formal last Friday night. The Queen, chosen by a drawing of numbered ticket stubs, was Miss Joyce Fink; the King, her escort, Ronnie Tremayne, Wilkes sophomore.

The royal couple was chosen during intermission ceremonies. Miss Fink was crowned with a crown of yellow roses by the sorority president, Bernice Thomas. The Queen was also presented with a large bouquet of red roses and many dandies by local merchants. The King and Queen danced the first dance after intermission to the music of Frankie Reindorf's orchestra.

The crowning ceremonies took place midst decorations in a Valentine motif. The canopy was pink and blue, accented by a backdrop of dark blue with a striking white tree bedecked with red hearts. Nosegay of red roses surrounded by white doilies were the table favors. The escorts were given Wilkes College ball-point pens as momentos of the dance.

Dr. and Mrs. Duane headed the role ofantes, which included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moran, dance chairman. Gery Kolek and her escort, Howard Griss, TDR President Bernice Thomas, and her escort, Jim Benone.

Carpenter Resigns as Chem Club Head: Utrias New Prexy

After leading the Wilkes College Chemical Society for the past year, Dick Carpenter has resigned for personal reasons, and Monica Utrias, the club's vice-president from McGilton Hall, moves into the top position in the organization.

The vacancy thus left in the vice-president's office will be filled by an election this week.

In other Rio Club administrative matters, Frank Lutinski, Plymouth junior, has been chosen to represent his class on the club's executive council.

Last week the club members viewed a sound film, produced by Shell Oil Company, depicting the many and varied products obtained from petroleum. Another is scheduled for next week, tentatively at noon Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday, and will be a three-part story of “Corrosion in Action.”

The chemists are busily preparing for their part in the forthcoming Science Show on March 2 and 3. The scheme involves an Industry Pageant, with an exhibit of such products as plastics and textiles, and also the demonstration of several experiments in physical and other branches of chemistry.

Immediately after the show, the members of the club will commence work on the ACS Meeting in Miniature of the Northwestern Section of the American Chemical Society, composed of delegates from the comparable groups of the colleges in the vicinity.

This scholarly gathering will witness the presentation of papers by students of the participating schools.

Further ahead in the plans of the Chemistry Club are the big Eastern Intercollegiate Science Conference at Temple University in April and a joint outing in May with our fellow scientists of Misericordia, King's, and Scranton.

Library Receives Music and Fine Arts Award

The Association of College and Reference Librarians, acting for the United States Steel Foundation, Inc., forwarded a check for $300 to the library of Wilkes College for purchase of books in Music and Fine Arts.

This gift is the result of a questionnaire sent to the library. Over 400 colleges competed and only 20 percent were chosen, among them Wilkes College.

Van Dyke Cops ‘Athlete’ Award

Punxsutawney Star is Steady Scorer, Excellent Floor Man and Playmaker; Also Excellled on the Soccer Field

by John Maerl

With the naming of Carl Van Dyke as “Athlete of the Week”, the basketball team retained possession of this award for the second consecutive week. Van Dyke was selected for his outstanding performances which have helped the Blue and Gold coge team during the recent games.

Carl, who has been continually improving since the opening of the cage season, hit his stride against Bridgeport on February 3, when he paced the team to victory by scoring 20 points. He led the Colonels to an 85-76 victory, sinking five straight shots, just when it seemed as if the team would falter and lose the lead. Van Dyke had the hottest night of his college career, as he continually pulled the Colonels out of tight spots.

He is currently averaging 12.5 points per game after a slow start this season. Besides being a steady scorer with his deadly one-hand shot, he is one of the top men on the team in assists and pairs with

Late Release:

COLONELLETTES BAG FIRST: DEFAT KEYSTONE, 22-20

Wilkes’ “lost women of basketball” found themselves last night! They squeaked past the girls from Keystone Junior College for a 22-20 victory on the home floor.

Bretz was high for the Colonettes with 12 points. Yuvek and Vidunas contributed 4 points each and Weinstein added one.

The Colonette victory snapped a four-game losing streak.

by Jim Mitchell

The Newport Nutcrackers, Clowns, Club 50, and Neki Hoki quintets remained unbeaten as 12 games were played in this week’s Intramural League activity. Club 50, which won its first championship last season, served notice that it will again be a team to watch with a 66 to 53 win over the Crazy Eight. Grabanko, Koteck, and Stocht did the bulk of the scoring for the Crazy Eight, who had a one-point lead at the half. Marks with 20, and Wanko and Saviska with 12 each, were the scoring leaders for Club 50.

The Neki Hoki team, which scored 119 points in their last victory, had to be content with a 67 to 36 win over the Foreigner’s Five. Tied for first place in the National League are Club 50 and Neki Hoki, each with 3 wins and no losses.

They will meet next week in an encounter that may go a long way toward determining the winner in this division. The Bar Rags, looking for their first victory, still could not come up with the right combination as they lost to Zymurgy’s, 43 to 30.

In the American League, the Clowns retained first place as they defeated the EPARS, 60-43. Gren-dall with 21, Lane and 16, and Schoenfeld with 15 again led their team. The Newport Nutcrackers, who will next week question the Clowns’ right to remain on top, took the measure of the Globetrotters in a fast moving game, 76-55.

A poor second quarter ruined the Globetrotters’ hopes of pulling an upset. Bellow, of Newport, and Shugur, of the Trotters, were high men for their teams. The Nutcrackers and Weckesser Hall have up to this point played one less game than the other teams, but will make up for this in the final week of competition.

MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS

- Any B.A. or B.S. degree.
- Mathematics through differential and integral calculus.
- One year of college physics (additional courses in chemistry or related sciences desirable).
- A good scholastic standing in undergraduate work, particularly in math and science courses.
- Desire to pursue a career in engineering.

PRATT & WHITNEY AIRCRAFT, one of America’s greatest engineering organizations, is offering a comprehensive engineering course to qualified B.A. or B.S. graduates. Throughout the training period, those enrolled in this program will be paid a liberal salary — with increases as scholastic progress is shown.

The educational program itself will be conducted, at our expense, by one of the nation’s foremost engineering colleges. Graduates of this 30-week course will be assigned to our engineering department. Here, they will be given the opportunity to do creative engineering work on the world’s finest aircraft engines.

Such an unusual opportunity should be fully investigated by B.A. or B.S. graduates with engineering interest. Further information and literature can be obtained from the College Placement Office — appointments for interviews can also be made.

Lycoming Cagers Invade Tomorrow

by Cliff Kolbland

The Wilkes cagers move to Williamsport, Pa., tomorrow night to play the Ball Men of Lycoming College. It is the first meeting of the season between the two schools. Earlier this season, Wilkes beat the Warriors in the local gym by the score, 91-79.

Will be looking for winning number one on the road again after suffering 10 defeats away from home.

Lycoming will be trying to even up the season after suffering a bad defeat last time these two clubs met.

In the last meeting, 'Big' George Morgan was the big gun for Lycoming. He scored 21 points. Bob Olson, one of the most outstanding players in eastern Pennsylvania Colleges, scored 19 points. The big gun for the Warrior-Colonels was Grace Ward, but against all other Lycoming opponents this year she has been held in check. With the name of Al Wilson. He scored 36 points in their last meeting when the Colonels were defeated.

This time, however, will be the man the Colonels have to stop to beat the Warriors again.

As in most college basketball games, this date the Colonels will have the home court advantage. Although Lycoming does not have such a great height advantage as did some of the other Blue and Gold opponents. But as it was pointed out in last week's game, these two schools, the Colonels can still hold their own with tall opponents by their constant hustle and jumping ability.

In the last game, Wilkes hit an amazing 80 percent of the free throws they attempted. The last meeting with the Warriors, Lycoming clogged the middle so Wilkes attempted only 11 free throws. Lycoming would come out and press the Colonels. As a result, it was all, it was one of the best games of the season for both the Colonels and they hope they can repeat.

Wilkes Female Cagers Lose to Marywood Again

The Wilkes College Coedettes dropped a close one Monday night when the Marquette men outscored them, 62-45, at the College gymnasium. This was the closest game the Coedettes have played in their four starts.

Both teams were evenly matched and scored a total of 25 points for the evening. Rosie Weinstein followed with 11 points and Co-captain Barbara Varis led the team with four points. Phyllis Weiss also scored two points. Co-captain Alvarado, did an exceptionally good job of keeping up with the high scoring and defense.

Guards who saw action for the Coedettes were, Barbara Federico, Nora Metoks, Marsha Riston, Ginny Weinig, and forwards by Barbara Federico, Rose Weinstein also substituted as a guard in the last period of the game.

Next Thursday night will be the Coedettes' homecoming game. However, they will play a double-header, with both the varsity and junior varsity teams seeing action against Albright College.

This time, however, will be the man the Colonels have to stop to beat the Warriors again.

As in most college basketball games, this date the Colonels will have the home court advantage. Although Lycoming does not have such a great height advantage as did some of the other Blue and Gold opponents. But as it was pointed out in last week's game, these two schools, the Colonels can still hold their own with tall opponents by their constant hustle and jumping ability.

In the last game, Wilkes hit an amazing 80 percent of the free throws they attempted. The last meeting with the Warriors, Lycoming clogged the middle so Wilkes attempted only 11 free throws. Lycoming would come out and press the Colonels. As a result, it was all, it was one of the best games of the season for both the Colonels and they hope they can repeat.

Wilkes Female Cagers Lose to Marywood Again

The Wilkes College Coedettes dropped a close one Monday night when the Marquette men outscored them, 62-45, at the College gymnasium. This was the closest game the Coedettes have played in their four starts.

Both teams were evenly matched and scored a total of 25 points for the evening. Rosie Weinstein followed with 11 points and Co-captain Barbara Varis led the team with four points. Phyllis Weiss also scored two points. Co-captain Alvarado, did an exceptionally good job of keeping up with the high scoring and defense.

Guards who saw action for the Coedettes were, Barbara Federico, Nora Metoks, Marsha Riston, Ginny Weinig, and forwards by Barbara Federico, Rose Weinstein also substituted as a guard in the last period of the game.

Next Thursday night will be the Coedettes' homecoming game. However, they will play a double-header, with both the varsity and junior varsity teams seeing action against Albright College.

Lycoming Cagers Invade Tomorrow

by Cliff Kolbland

The Wilkes cagers move to Williamsport, Pa., tomorrow night to play the Ball Men of Lycoming College. It is the first meeting of the season between the two schools. Earlier this season, Wilkes beat the Warriors in the local gym by the score, 91-79.

Will be looking for winning number one on the road again after suffering 10 defeats away from home.

Lycoming will be trying to even up the season after suffering a bad defeat last time these two clubs met.

In the last meeting, 'Big' George Morgan was the big gun for Lycoming. He scored 21 points. Bob Olson, one of the most outstanding players in eastern Pennsylvania Colleges, scored 19 points. The big gun for the Warrior-Colonels was Grace Ward, but against all other Lycoming opponents this year she has been held in check. With the name of Al Wilson. He scored 36 points in their last meeting when the Colonels were defeated.

This time, however, will be the man the Colonels have to stop to beat the Warriors again.

As in most college basketball games, this date the Colonels will have the home court advantage. Although Lycoming does not have such a great height advantage as did some of the other Blue and Gold opponents. SEWAGE DISPOSAL DISCUSSED

Another Wilkes College figure stepped into the limelight in the local press this week with the beginning of a series of articles concerning a serious problem locally.

The articles, written for the Wilkes-Barre Record, morning paper of the Wilkes-Barre Publishing Company, are being written by Dr. Hugo Mailey, chairman of the Wilkes Polytechnic Science Department, and carry Dr. Mailey’s by-line.

In the series, the Wilkes professor and leader in civic improvements for Greater Wilkes-Barre, in discussing the current subject of sewage disposal in this area, regarding the state’s demand that disposal plants be erected in its city with its clean streams program.

Dr. Mailey, a leader in civic affairs since coming to Wilkes and Wyoming Valley, has distinguished himself in getting to the root of many of the area’s problems and in setting the right people about the task of helping to solve them.

He was instrumental in setting up courses for local officials in many categories here at Wilkes and in planning special conferences through which Wilkes College has been able to play a large role in aiding the revitalization culturally and economically of Northwestern Pennsylvania.

Bio Club Hears Talk On Farm Insect Problem

Mr. J. D. Hutchinson, retired county agriculture agent, spoke to members of the Biology Club Tuesday night in the Lecture Hall, on the “Farmers’ Problem from the Effect of Insects.”

Mr. Hutchinson, who retired last year after 30 years as a county agent, took the grim realities of pest control to light for the biology students. The insects referred to as “wonder bug killers” in our modern era often create more problems for the farmers than they solve because they kill off the natural enemies of many insects while they are removing from existence the ones they are supposed to destroy, said Mr. Hutchinson.

In his talk he stated one instance in the county where a total of 14 insecticides was required to do a particular job.

An even more serious problem, Mr. Hutchinson added, is that insects seem to build up a resistance to various poisons after a very short time. The farmer therefore must begin to think in terms of a new insecticide not very long after he finds it as a solution to the problem at hand. He knows the problem will soon recur.

Because of the increasing technicalities in farming the good farmer must today be a modern scientist, entomologist, chemist, biologist, and magician, to keep his farm producing, the speaker added.

Huston next conducts a daily radio program on WILK for farmers.

After his talk he spoke with many of the club members in the campus area and plans to make a visit to the small farmer today, and what price supports are doing for the nationwide farmer situation.
