As in the past, the faculty and students of Wilkes College have contributed generously to the support of the Wyoming Valley Community Chest. In the past, the faculty and students have contributed in some form or another. Many have contributed money to the Community Chest in the past, and the community as a whole has done much for the College.

CITY RENEWS LAB PARKING AGREEMENT

Mayor Aids in Parking Problem; 3-Hour Lab Permits Available; Cautions on Restricted Parking

The City Hall this week agreed to continue last year's parking plan for Wilkes students with 3-hour laboratory courses.

Last year's arrangement had the BEACON issuing identifying auto stickers to lab students with 3-hour courses. City police cooperated by reporting them and marking cars over-parked along River Street.

Kellerman to Speak On Viet-Nam Tuesday

Wilkes will have as its Student Assembly guest speaker on Tuesday, the Reverend Robert P. Kellerman, of the Central Methodist Church of Wilkes-Barre. Rev. Kellerman will speak about "The Refugee Student and the Future of Viet-Nam.

As a representative of the World Council of Churches, Rev. Kellerman spent over six months in the Far East as an administrator in a program which attempted to bring relief to the refugees in Viet-Nam. His work was largely in the field of direct relief to the uncountable thousands who were suffering from malnutrition. Vitamins, concentrated and other technologically medical advances of the West helped his cause considerably.

The area in which Rev. Kellerman first established his headquarters was a veritable jungle, but he was able to bring help to the refugees. When he left the area it was hoped that it would not be too long before it would be a self-sustaining community.

Through the efforts of Rev. Kellerman, a boy from Viet-Nam is now attending Wyoming Seminary, and hopes that he may have the privilege of attending Wilkes.

A TRIBUTE

Druring the first two weeks of this semester greatness and courage walked our campus, personified in one individual among the many. This person who was unique, nor would he want his name to be among the first such example to appear at Wilkes College nor will he be the last. In fact, although a few of us had the rare privilege of meeting and knowing him, I imagine that those who did not know Mr. Evans are missing a particular freshman among the many newcomers who seemed to everyone in the school.

Bob came to us with certain physical handicaps, but he came with one purpose — to be a college student. Bob wanted us to think of him as just another incoming student: a typical, normal freshman faced with a full schedule of new and challenging and, he hoped, interesting courses. He did not want our pity nor our sympathy, that is not our pity. He wanted no special privilege nor short-cuts. He was here for college education, to live up to the high standards for which we stand.

During those first two weeks an unfortunate and unaccountable difficulty occurred that made it necessary for Bob to postpone his work temporarily. However, I am not now writing an obituary to a dream, nor am I reporting any defeat of the heart because of a certain pride and trust I am reporting the fact that Bob will be back with us sometime in the future to begin once again his college education.

This is my humble tribute to Bob Hughes. But, in a larger sense, it is also my tribute to the men and women students of Wilkes College who came forward to volunteer their help to their own. They came with enthusiasm and with devotion from all depart- ments and from all classes to act as readers, as musicians, as waiters, and more importantly, as friends to a friendly person. They proved that this thing we call "school spirit" is not just a sports-writer's phrase but a living activity.

I hope, and I believe, that in his brief period at the college Bob gained something from us: a little understanding of the hope, a greater faith in his fellow man, a greater confidence in himself and in the future. I do know that we received something from Bob, something that we will never be able to identify exactly or to measure statistically. I believe that Bob will never be able to see himself indulge in self-pity, to shirk our mistakes, or to be satisfied with partial efforts.

In this sense Bob gave to us at least equally as much as he acquired from us. This, then, is Bob Hughes, Wilkes College student, graduation date unimportant.

Wilkes freshmen win scholarship awards

Each year those in industry realize more and more that to fill their ranks with individuals willing to assume responsibility and capable of providing fresh ideas, they must assume some of the responsibility for training these people.

The number of students receiving partial scholarship assistance at Wilkes is large, but this year there are also three freshmen on campus who will receive full scholarship awards in competitive examinations sponsored by area business firms. Edward McCafferty and Gwen Evans were recipients of the Linguistics Scholarship, and Patricia Yost won the Pennsylvania Power and Light Scholarship which entitled her to attend the school of her choosing.

Miss Yost is a graduate of West High School. Mr. McCafferty was Mantle Memorial Scholarship winner and Mr. Evans a member of the National Honor Society. She is majoring in Chemistry.

Miss Evans was graduated from Meyers High School. She was an active member of the choir, orchestra, and school paper, and a National Honor Society. At Wilkes, she is an English major.

Help Us Help You

As a swift reference to the front page will illustrate, the City of Wilkes-Barre has again very considerably agreed to cooperate with the College and the Beacon this year in regard to the parking situation.

The City of Wilkes-Barre did not have to do this. The City at Wilkes-Barre could have been very well justified in refusing to do this. Fortunately the people at City Hall have been kindly disposed toward the College and its students in the past and is continuing in that manner.

The City has granted the students certain parking concessions, with attendant responsibilities. The Beacon will cooperate with the City by issuing daily stickers to further the setup, and to make it easier for the City to carry out its part in the program. Beyond this we can do nothing. The rest is squarely up to the students.

Last year the student body wanted something done about the always annoying parking problem, and the Beacon did what it could. This year many of the student body have again begged something be done, and justifiably the City and the Beacon have done what they can. Now it's the turn of the students to do something.

In speaking to Mr. Williams Tuesday, we learned that some of the students were making things harder for the rest by violating the City's parking regulations. We don't like this any more than the City does, and the Beacon wants to make it clear here that our stickers are not by means licenses to inconvenience fellow-citizens and abuse the City's laws.

We apologize to the majority of decent parkers for having even to mention the few things. As to the minority who are being poor citizens of City and College alike, we say, "don't expect consideration when you weren't ready to give some yourselves."

The College and the Community

We hear by the way of Dr. Reif that the College is in grave danger of failing to meet its quota in this year's Community Chest Drive. We cannot believe, in the light of the splendid records of past years, that this situation is due to any lack of charity on the part of the students.

Further, we trust that it is a case of oversight, which has only a short time in which to be corrected.

In a society as interdependent as the one in which we live, we at least well add that it is a thoughtless not to contribute to such a unified drive, it's pointless; by failing to help others, we're failing to help ourselves. Let it not be for a moment that while an hour or two is all we're asked to give for the benefit of the Community, the College is part of the Community, and would not have be if the Community hadn't been such a generous one.

And one good turn...
Why do more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette?

Because only Viceroy gives you 20,000 filter traps in every filter tip, made from a pure natural substance—cellulose—found in delicious fruits and other edibles!

1. Yes, only Viceroy has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.

2. The Viceroy filter wasn't just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filtered cigarettes. Viceroy pioneered. Started research more than 20 years ago to create the pure and perfect filter.

3. Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroy's have a finer flavor even than cigarettes without filters. Rich, satisfying, yet pleasantly mild.

4. Viceroy draws so easily that you wouldn't know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip... and Viceroy cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

That's why more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette... that's why Viceroy is the largest-selling filter cigarette in the world!

Boothes Meet Mules Today; Travel To Temple Tomorrow

Hofstra led 1-0, but the Colonels jumped out in front, 2-1, at the half. After a scoreless third period, the thrilling fourth saw Hofstra knot the game. Then, Van Dyke sent his winning goal into the net on Bill Lloyd's corner kick.

Booters Win First from Hofstra; Gridders Drop Second Encounter

Colonel athletic teams dropped two out of three tilts last weekend with only the soccer team coming through to put the Blue and Gold into the win column.

The booters dropped a tough decision to Lafayette last Friday, 1-0, when the Leopards scored a goal seconds before the end of the first half and then hung on to notch their initial win of the season and send the Colonels down to their second defeat.

The Wilkesmen had 32 shots at the goal but could not produce one tally.

They had better luck after Hofstra jumped into an early lead in Saturday's contest, and came back to rack up win number one, 3-2. Once again, Carl Van Dyke was the Colonels' big threat, coming through with all three goals.

Van Dyke's most notable achievement is that he has scored all five goals tallied by the Colonels this year. The teams played to a 2-2 tie in their first meeting at Lafayette.

Versatile, Carl scored the first goal of the Hofstra tilt on a head shot, tossed with the goalie before booting home a right-footed strike for the second marker, and then sent the third splashing into the net off his head on a corner shot by Bill Lloyd.

Carl Van Dyke

The Colonels rate as favorites over the Mules this afternoon, but will be long-odd underdogs at Philadelphia. Last week's tilt saw the Colonels try 52 shots against Lafayette and fail to produce a score. The offense will have to be more accurate than that to win games. The Hofstra game saw 37 Wilkes shots fired at the goal with only three getting past the goalie.

On the brighter side of the ledger, coach John Rous used three additional candidates for future games. They may not see any action this year, but will form the nucleus for future Colonels teams.

The Temple tilt was a Wilkesmen face tomorrow was runner-up for the National Championships last year. They lost to Penn State, 1-0, to surrender the burning. They are heavily favored, but are easily the toughest opponent ever to be faced by a Wilkes College team.

The squad is in good shape except for one injury, sustained by Carl Van Dyke, has bruised his shin and Dave Poiley is wearing a new leg. Tony Bianco is still a question mark due to a charley horse.

Friends Over Mules; Underdogs in Test Against Strong Owls

The Wilkes soccer team, tired after two tough games last weekend, are in for more of the same this weekend as they tackle Muhlenberg this afternoon at Kirby Park and head down to Philadelphia tomorrow to meet Temple.

This will be the most crucial weekend on the Colonels schedule. They are now one game below the 50 mark for the year with eight games remaining. The Muhlenberg tilt is a must because the Temple team which the Blue and Gold meets tomorrow afternoon is rated as one of the best in the country. A double loss would practically kill all chances for a winning season.

Favored Over Mules

The soccer team retained possession of "Athlete of the Week" honors for the second straight week with the naming of Carl Van Dyke for the title this week. Van Dyke was selected for the tilt in the Colonels' first victory of the year, 3-2, over Hofstra last Saturday, as well as his general all-around play against Lafayette.

Carl Van Dyke

The officials at the Hofstra game were so impressed with Carl's speed and play that they nominated him for All-American. If Carl continues to impress officials at future games, there is a good chance that he will wind up on the mythical squad.

A native of Punxsutawney, Carl excelled in basketball in high school — winning All-District honors.

Like many of the Colonel booters, Van Dyke never played soccer until he came to Wilkes. He is active in the Education Club and the Lettermen Club, a resident of Weckesser Hall, he has served as president of that dorm for the past two years.

When asked about his high scoring, Van Dyke replied, "It's due to the combined efforts of the entire team. I just happen to be up front where the scoring is supposed to be done."
WilkesFaces Bloomburg Tomorrow

First Non-Campus-Backed Affair: Funds Will Go to Poor Children; Bloom Heavy with Local Talent

When the Wilkes Colonels and Bloomburg Huskies too off tomorrow night at Kingston Stadium, a new chapter will be writ-ten into the athletic history of Wilkes. This is the first time for a Colonel team to play in a home game that is sponsored by some other organization.

The Colonel's big game will be played under the auspices of the Forty Fort and Kingston Kiwanis Clubs with the pro-ceeds going to underprivileged children. The game is a natural for local grid fans and is expected to lure the largest crowd in Wilkes College history.

Coach Pictcon's Colonels are ex-pected to be at full strength for the first time this season except for veteran tackle Craig Brauston. Brauston has returned to the campus following his bout with pneumonia at the General Hospital, but will be out of uniform for some time to come.

After losing a tight game to Lititz, who holds the edge one way or the other, the Colonels are figured to be up for their first showing since the home opener.

Bloomburg

The backfield situation has shown signs of straightening out with Dick Harward at full back and at least one-half the way to the full back slot in last year's 41-0 de-feat.

This game will also be one of the biggest contests ever at local gridiron. The Forty Fort and Bloomburg High schools will combine with the Wilkes and Bloomburg bands to provide a steady stream of musical entertain-ment.

SC Considers Raffles, Class Representation

In addition to receiving estimates for the Colonels' budget at its meet-ing Monday night, the Wilkes Student Council discussed several items.

The Council granted a request of Theta Delta Rho for $60.00 for its annual All College Tea. Requests for permission to hold social events were heard from the Chemistry Club and the Sociology Club. An application for permission granted for the Chemic-tras Club Square dance and for proposed HOS raffle, to help for-Care Christmas.

Several ideas were also dis-cussed for securing better represent-a-tion of students of the college.

The Sophomore Council members have arranged a system of office hours, making themselves available to their classmates or to anyone interested in Council issues. Lee-Weiner mentioned that he is plan-ning to inform his constituents of important matters by way of brief newsletters.

Still another method discussed was that of having Student Council members make meetings to explain what the Coun-cil is doing and answer any ques-tions the club members might have.

Dike Divots... by Jack CURTIS

It feels good back at the old stand after well over a year’s absence in this space. As we find some time to follow campus sports again with some amount of regularity, we find that things haven’t changed much since the last time we scribbled a sports column (Dike Divots) for the Beacon, our old alma manner.

The football team is still having problems (with a new coach following closely in George Balston’s footsteps regarding grey hair, or soon will anyway) and a soccer team also having troubles, with nobody quite able to say why.

But, then, let’s look at one thing at a time. Coach Bass Piction has found all is not what it should be on the Wilkes gridiron this fall.

First, he started with a decided lack of depth and experience, and prac-tically no manpower, just mention just a few powers. Ten in the first game, his youthful and inexperienced crew had what was probably the worst cause of “tullimbla” in the school’s history — 11 miscues, four of which were turned into Lebanon Valley TDs.

Last week, a greatly improved Colonel team showed it could go against a giant Ithaca eleven, even though missteps were much reduced, the two committed cost Wilkes the game. Certainly no one can blame a coach for his team’s mistakes on the field, but Piction has his mind set to try to make up for the early losses.

The soccer situation presents a different sort of problem. In the past two years as this year, we’ve had the horses. Of course, we’ve had winning seasons in the last two years, but everyone, including coaches and players felt we could have done better.

The team showed that the same weakness that plagued it in the past is working overtime this year. In the first two games, the Colonels looked like they could be world beaters, up to a point about 15 years from the opposition goal, that is. They are still having a terrible time getting the ball past the goal, but really, it is a mystery. And simply because they have the men who should be able to put in the net.

It seems that a little intangible spark is missing from the line (with the exception being Carl Van Dyke, who scored all five Wilkes goals to date). Losing the first two by one-goal margins while extinguishing the opposition points out the problem even more strongly, especially when you consider that Wilkes out-shot Lafayette almost two to one, but couldn’t score.

Such problems have been at the beginning of the end of the other problem. At least with Van Dyke hitting for three goals, we saw that there is plenty of goodness potential in the line. But every other man on the forward wall is also capable. Maybe we’ve had all our bad breaks early in the year — that would be good. Now we can concentrate on punching through to scores. It could be a great year.

Business Examinations

In Feb., April, August

The Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business, required for entrance by a number of graduate business schools and divisions throughout the country, will be off ered to students at a number of places on the coming year, according to Educa-tional Testing Service, which pre-pares and administers the test.

During 1965, many students took the test in partial satisfaction of admission requirements of graduate business schools which prescribed the test as an equivalent to the graduate business schools or divisions of the following universi-ties: Carnegie Institute of Technology, Columbia, Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, North-ern Illinois, Northwestern, Pritzker (U. of Chicago, U. of Michigan, Kansas, Pennsylvania, and Washing-ton (U. of Illinois).

A candidate must make separate applications for admission to each business school of his choice and should inquire of whichever he chooses to take the Admission Test for Graduate Study in Busi-ness. Applicants must select their entering classes in the spring preceding their entry and in the fall of 1965 are advised to offer the test before December 15. The Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business is a three-hour test designed to test specific knowledge in spe-cialized academic subjects. Normal undergraduate training should pro-vide sufficient general knowledge to prevent the majority of students from answering many questions and information re-garding registration for and ad-mission of testing are given in a bulletin of Information.
