COUNCIL RECEIVES BUDGETS

City Renews Lab Parking Agreement

Mayor Aids in Parking Problem; 3-Hour Lab Permits Available; Cautions on Restricted Parking

City Hall this week agreed to continue last year's parking plan for Wilkes students with 3-hour laboratory courses. Last year's arrangement had the BEACON issuing identifying auto stickers to lab students with 3-hour courses; City police co-operated by respecting them when officers found sticker-marked cars over-parked along River Street.

The plan was reaffirmed in a telephone interview with Mr. Robert Williams, secretary to Wilkes-Barre's Mayor Luther N. Kniffen. Williams, contacted as a result of a letter sent by the Beacon early last week, said Tuesday that the mayor had approved renewal of the plan.

However, cautioned Williams, some students have been reported parking in the restricted area of South River Street opposite Northampton Street, and while the City will co-operate in helping to solve the College's parking problem, it cannot on the other hand, countenance violation of traffic regulations.

The area mentioned by the mayor's secretary is kept clear of parked autos in order to ease negotiation of turns at Northampton Street. The North, or right-hand turn at this corner facilitates access to the Market Street bridge, a block above the corner.

The City, Williams concluded, will do all it can to aid the students, feels that it should receive some co-operation on their part. He explained that some students are not only parking in restricted zones, but are also a particular inconvenience to citizens in the Ross and South River Street areas when parking so as to deny householders access to their homes.

Williams noted that reports at City Hall seemed to indicate that students were parking in these areas in an effort to avoid use of the parking meters provided by the City on South Franklin Street, on the opposite side of the College campus, and suggested that students endeavor to utilize the meters more than in the past.

As far as possible, however, he reiterated, the City will do all it can to alleviate the situation.

As part of the College's side of the bargain, the Beacon will again distribute parking stickers to laboratory students.

This year's cards will differ slightly from those of the semester previous to avoid confusion and to prevent abuse.

Laboratory students with 3-hour laboratory classes, may obtain their auto stickers at the Beacon office on the second floor of the College Lecture Hall. Stickers will be issued only to laboratory students.

If possible, the Beacon will endeavor to obtain rosters of such students from departments conducting laboratory sessions.

STUDENTS TO ATTEND HERALD-TRIB. FORUM

The New York Herald-Tribune Forum will be held this year on Sunday evening, October 16 and Monday evening, October 17.

The following will represent Wilkes at the conference: Nancy Morris, Jessie Choper, Norma Jean Davis, juniors.

James Benson will be the sole senior at the conference.

The opening session on Sunday will be held in the General Assembly of the United Nations, while the final session will take place in the Grand Ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Forum discussions will focus on new, dynamic forces for peace now evident in world affairs: the promise of Geneva's Atomic Energy Conference; new approaches to an Israel-Arab settlement.

Major Activities Submit Bids; Requests Termed 'Reasonable'; Admin. Approval Due Next Week

By HELEN M. KRACHENFELS

The Wilkes College Student Council accepted budget estimates from the campus activities at the first official council meeting Monday night at Chase Hall. President Bob Lynch appointed a budget sub-committee to consider the requests.

The Council heard representatives of the various activities, who explained the planned budgets for the coming year.

KRUGER VICE PRESIDENT OF DEBATING ASSOCIATION

Dr. Arthur N. Kruger, director of debate at the College, was elected vice president of the Debating Association of Pennsylvania Colleges. He has also been appointed editor of the Association's Bulletin.

Kruger received the honors at the Association's convention last weekend in Philadelphia.

Before the representatives spoke, it was decided that this year a new policy for setting up the budget would be followed. President Lynch appointed a Budget Sub-committee, consisting of Dick Carpenter, Chet Miller, Cliff Brothers, Les Weiner and Helen Krachenfels. These Student Council members will meet, consider each of the requests for funds, and set up a tentative, balanced budget to present to the entire Council at a meeting in the near future.

This year the Student Council has a total of $10,437.50 to divide among the activities of the school. This amount represents an increase of $2,157 over last year. (The Council receives 2½ percent of the total day school tuition income to use as a Student Activities Fund.)

Although requests from all of the activities have not yet been received, the total amount requested to date is $7,018.00, thus leaving a sizable surplus for emergencies.

The following is a table showing each activity's request, as compared with the amount received by that activity last year.

Activity	1954-55	1955-56
Beacon	$1,500	$1,681
Cue 'n' Curtain	900	1,432
Dormitories	100	150
Male Chorus	75	75
Yearbook	3,300	3,600

No requests have been received as yet from the following activities: Manuscript, Debating Society, and several of the clubs on campus who are allowed to submit requests for funds to attend Intercollegiate Conferences.

Because of the surplus in the Student Activities Fund, there may possibly be a revision of the policy governing grants for intercollegiate conferences which was set up last year, limiting each club to $75 per year. This matter will be considered by the Budget Sub-committee.

All council members were present, with the exception of two of the newly elected freshmen, Judy Botkin and David Schoenfeld.

Minutes of the meeting will be posted, according to usual practice, on the main bulletin board.

A Reminder to WC Athletes

The Wilkes Lettermen's Club requests ex-high school athletes to refrain from wearing high school letter sweaters on the Wilkes campus.

FACULTY WOMEN'S PARTY AT 1 O'CLOCK TOMORROW

The Faculty Women will give a luncheon party tomorrow at 1:00 in the college cafeteria. The purpose of the party is to meet the new members who will include new women faculty members and the wives of new faculty members.

Chest Contributions Low; Student Donations Urged

COUNCIL BACKS DRIVE

Robert Lynch, President of the Student Council, and Helen Krachenfels, Vice President, who were guests of the Wyoming Valley Community Chest at the third report luncheon of the Chest Drive held this noon in the Irem Temple urge every student at Wilkes College to help the Chest to the extent of two dollars.

To complete the Chest Drive on the Wilkes College campus and to raise the quota assigned to Wilkes, every student must assume the responsibility himself of giving his two dollars directly to Mr. Welton Farrar or to a representative of the Student Council.

The Chest Drive and the Red Cross appeal are the only two fund-raising campaigns conducted on the Wilkes College campus. Neither drive made its goal for the entire valley last year. As a result, services were curtailed and every person in Wyoming Valley was the loser. With a minimum effort and a minimum of sacrifice, each student can do his share by giving two dollars.

Join the ranks of those who make possible a better life for all of us. Be a doer and not a spectator. Know the satisfaction of helping someone else even if it is only by donating two dollars to the cause. Read the eighth point in the Marks of an Educated Man. This is part of your donation. Our goal can be attained.

FACULTY DOES SHARE

As in the past the faculty of Wilkes College has contributed generously to the support of the Wyoming Valley Community Chest. As in the past the faculty this year has increased the help that it is giving.

The professors of Wilkes College and their colleagues realize the interdependence of the college and the community. Those who are not board members of Chest Agencies make valuable contributions of their time and effort in many other diverse community projects.

Of the first twenty-six full-time faculty members to report their contributions to Mr. Welton Farrar, Chest Captain in charge of Wilkes College, three helped in the extent of fifty dollars, four gave forty, two gave thirty, two gave twenty-five, six gave twenty, and nine gave fifteen dollars for an average of twenty-four dollars. The help given by the part time faculty is in the same style. In proportion to their pay the Wilkes College faculty is not exceeded by many groups. The most generous helpers of the Community Chest, proportionally, are the public school teachers of Wyoming Valley. Thus, with such commendable leadership, each student can be proud to contribute the two dollars as suggested.

"BREAD ON WATERS"

Students have in the past realized their responsibilities to the community and have contributed well each year. Their contributions have always returned to them in some form or other. Many here at the College have aided the Community Chest in the past, and the community as a whole has also done much for the College.

Indeed, though students may not realize it, the Chest has aided them often before they even began to think of College. Many have been members of CM's and YW's, have been in Scouting, have had friends or relatives helped by the Red Cross, have used Travelers Aid, to mention but a few of the host of worthy organizations receiving money from the Chest.

These groups have been helping students for years, will continue their service long after the people here have ceased to be students. Dr. Reif, campaign major for area private schools, has estimated that a two-dollar donation on the part of each student should fill the College quota nicely.

There is often complaint from a few that there are too many drives on campus. This year's Chest drive is a unified one and puts an effective end to such complaints.

As to any doubts as to whether students have money to spare for such a drive, witness the success of the season's first two dances. If students here at the College can afford to dance, students can also afford to give a little.

EDITORIALS

Help Us Help You

As a swift reference to the front page will illustrate, the City of Wilkes-Barre has again very considerably agreed to cooperate with the College and the Beacon this year in regard to the parking situation.

The City of Wilkes-Barre did not have to do this. The City of Wilkes-Barre would have been very well justified in refusing to do this. Fortunately the people at City Hall have been kindly disposed toward the College and its students in the past and is continuing in that manner.

The City has granted the students certain parking concessions, with attendant responsibilities. The Beacon will cooperate with the City by issuing auto stickers to further the set-up, and to make it easier for the City to carry out its part in the program. Beyond this we can do nothing. The rest is squarely up to the students.

Last year the student body wanted something done about the always annoying parking problem, and the Beacon did what it could. This year many of the student body have again begged that something be done, and again the City and the Beacon have done what they can. Now it's the turn of the students to do something.

In speaking to Mr. Williams Tuesday, we learned that some of the students were making things harder for the rest by violating the City's parking regulations. We don't like this any more than the City does, and the Beacon wants to make it clear here that auto stickers are by no means licenses to inconvenience fellow-citizens and abuse the City's laws.

We apologize to the majority of decent parkers for having even to mention such things. As to the minority who are being poor citizens of City and College alike, we say, "don't expect consideration when you weren't ready to give some yourselves."

The College and the Community

We hear by the way of Dr. Reif that the College is in grave danger of failing to meet its quota in this year's Community Chest Drive. We cannot believe, in the light of the splendid records of past years, that this situation is due to any lack of charity on the part of the students.

Rather, we trust that it is a case of oversight, which has only a short time in which to be corrected.

In a society as interdependent as the one in which we live, we might well add it's not only thoughtless not to contribute to such a unified drive, it's pointless; by failing to help others, we're failing to help ourselves. Let us not forget for a moment that while a dollar or two is all we're asked to give for the benefit of the Community, the College is part of the Community, and would not be here if the Community hadn't been such a generous one. And one good turn. . . .

Kellerman to Speak On Viet-Nam Tuesday

Wilkes will have as its Student Assembly guest speaker on Tuesday, the Reverend Robert P. Kellerman of the Central Methodist Church of Wilkes-Barre. Rev. Kellerman will speak about "The Refugee Student and the Future of Viet Nam."

As a representative of the World Council of Churches, Rev. Kellerman spent over six months in the Far East as an administrator in a program which attempted to bring relief to the refugees in Viet-Nam. His work was largely in the field of direct relief to the uncountable thousands who were suffering from malnutrition. Vitamin concentrates and other technological medical advances of the West helped his cause considerably.

The area in which Rev. Kellerman first established his headquarters was a veritable jungle, but he assisted in causing it to grow into a sizable community for refugees. When he left the area it was hoped that it would not be too long before it would be a self-sustaining community.

Through the efforts of Rev. Kellerman, a boy from Viet-Nam is now attending Wyoming Seminary and hopes that he may have the privilege of attending Wilkes.

Hollinger, Boock Head Tea Today at McClintock

Barbara Hollinger and Barbara Boock, Social Chairmen of McClintock and Sterling Halls, respectively, are acting as Co-chairmen of the Faculty Tea being held from 3 to 5 today in McClintock Hall.

The tea, which is an annual affair, gives the women in the dormitories a chance to meet the members of the faculty in an atmosphere more amiable than that of a classroom.

Mrs. Bastress, Mrs. Detroy, Mrs. Chwalek, and Mrs. Hawkins, wives of several faculty members will serve.

The Bell Hops and caller Ozzie Lewis bring square dancing to the college campus for the first time this year as the Chemistry Club sponsors this evening's entertainment. The first call will be at nine o'clock and the dance will continue to midnight.

The decorations in the gymnasium will appropriately have with mock corn stalks, pumpkins, and fallen leaves. The refreshment menu will revolve around the traditional fall beverage, apple cider.

Chem Club president, Richard B. Carpenter announced his commitments earlier in the week and said that invitations had been extended to several of the local colleges and hospitals in an effort to boost the affair and stimulate a feeling of friendship with some of the local organizations.

Ozzie Lewis, who will call, has gained a reputation as a merry-making square dance caller around the area. He appears regularly at the Lakeway Hotel and enjoys the praises of the Sweet Valley residents in the heart of the local square dance circles. The Bell Hops are a four-piece combo who specialize in country music.

Chairman of the entertainment committee, Monica Utrias, announced that entertainment for the intermission was still in the planning stage but that it was hoped a parody on "life in the Chem Lab" could be

The DEAN'S CORNER

A TRIBUTE

During the first two weeks of this semester greatness and courage walked our campus, personified in one individual among the many. This person was not unique, nor would he want to be considered so. He was not the first such example to appear at Wilkes College nor will he be the last. In fact, although a few of us had the rare privilege of meeting and knowing him, I imagine that many of you were not even aware of this particular freshman among the many newcomers who seemed to overrun the school.

Bob came to us with certain physical handicaps, but he came with one purpose — to be a college student in the full sense of the word. Bob wanted us to think of him as just another incoming student: a typical, normal freshman faced with a full schedule of new and challenging and, he hoped, interesting courses. He did not want our awe and certainly not our pity. He wanted no special privilege nor short-cuts. He was here for a college education, to live and to work among us in full participation.

During those first two weeks an unfortunate and unanticipated difficulty occurred that made it necessary for Bob to postpone his work temporarily. However, I am not now writing an obituary to a dream, nor am I reporting any defeat of the spirit. With a certain pride and trust I am reporting the fact that Bob will be back with us sometime in the future to begin once again his college education.

This is my humble tribute to Bob Hughes. But, in a larger sense, it is also my tribute to the men and women students of Wilkes College who came forward to volunteer their services to help Bob to help himself. They came with enthusiasm and with devotion from all departments and from all classes to act as readers, as tutors and, most importantly, as friends to a friendly person. They proved that this thing we call "school spirit" is not just a sports-writer's phrase but a living actuality.

I hope, and I do believe, that in his brief period at the college Bob gained something from us: a little affection, a little hope, a greater faith in his fellow man, a greater confidence in himself and in the future. I do know that we received something from Bob, something that we will never be able to identify exactly or to measure statistically. I believe that those of us who knew him will hesitate in the future to indulge in self-pity, to alibi our mistakes, or to be satisfied with partial efforts. In this sense Bob gave to us at least equally as much as he acquired from us. This, then, is Robert Hughes, Wilkes College student, graduation date unimportant.

WILKES FRESHMEN WIN SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS

Each year those in industry realize more and more that to fill their ranks with individuals willing to assume responsibility and capable of providing fresh new ideas, they must assume some of the responsibility for training these people.

The number of students receiving partial scholarship assistance at Wilkes is large, but this year there are also three freshmen on campus who have won full scholarship awards in competitive examinations sponsored by area business firms. Edward McCafferty and Gwen Evans were recipients of the Fowler and Williams scholarship, and Patricia Yost won the Pennsylvania Power and Light scholarship which entitled her to attend the school of her choosing.

Miss Yost is a graduate of West Hazleton High School. At Wilkes she is working toward a degree in mathematics.

A graduate of Coughlin High School, McCafferty was Mantle Orator of his class and a member of the National Honor Society. He is majoring in Chemistry.

Miss Evans was graduated from Meyers High School. She was an active member of the choir, orchestra, school paper, and National Honor Society. At Wilkes, she is an English major.

Why do more college men and women smoke than any other filter cigarette?

Because only Viceroy gives you 20,000 filter traps in every filter tip, made from a pure natural substance — cellulose — found in delicious fruits and other edibles!

- 1. Yes, only Viceroy has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.
- 2. The Viceroy filter wasn't just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filtered cigarettes. Viceroy pioneered. Started research more than 20 years ago to create the pure and perfect filter.
- 3. Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroy's have a finer flavor even than cigarettes without filters. Rich, satisfying, yet pleasantly mild.
- 4. Viceroy draws so easily that you wouldn't know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip . . . and Viceroy's cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

That's why more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette . . . that's why VICEROY is the largest-selling filter cigarette in the world!

Booters Meet Mules Today; Travel To Temple Tomorrow

BROTHER COMBINATION — Brother combinations are not unusual in sports, but one which is comes from Wilkes. The Masonis brothers of Kingston both don the Blue and Gold every day, but then Ed (left) heads for the soccer field while older brother Bob takes his guard position in grid coach Picton's line. Both are former Kingston High athletes.

Favorites Over Mules; Underdogs in Test Against Strong Owls

The Wilkes soccer team, tired after two tough games last weekend, are in for more of the same this weekend as they tackle Muhlenberg this afternoon at Kirby Park and head down to Philadelphia tomorrow to meet Temple.

This will be the most crucial weekend on the Colonel schedule. They are now one game below the .500 mark for the year with eight games remaining. The Muhlenberg tilt is a must because the Temple team which the Blue and Gold meets tomorrow afternoon is rated as one of the best in the country. A double loss would practically kill all chances for a winning season.

Favored Over Mules

The Colonels rate as favorites over the Mules this afternoon, but will be long-odd underdogs at Philadelphia. Last week's tilts saw the Colonels try 32 shots against Lafayette and fail to produce a score. The offense will have to be more accurate than that to win games. The Hofstra game saw 37 Wilkes shots fired at the goal with only three getting past the goalie.

On the brighter side of the ledger, coach John Reese was greeted by three additional candidates for the squad when they reported for practice Monday. While the newcomers may not see any action this year, they will form the nucleus for future Colonel teams.

The Temple team the Wilkesmen face tomorrow was runner-up for the National Championship last year. They lost to Penn State, 1-0, to surrender the bunting. They are fast and dangerous and are easily the toughest opponent ever to be faced by a Wilkes College team.

The squad is in good shape except for a few minor ailments. Carl Van Dyke has a bruised chin and Dave Polley is nursing a sore leg. Tony Bianco is still a question mark due to a charley-horse.

Booters Win First from Hofstra; Gridders Drop Second Encounter

Colonel athletic teams dropped two out of three tilts last weekend with only the soccer team coming through to put the Blue and Gold into the win column.

The booters dropped a tough decision to Lafayette last Friday, 1-0, when the Leopards scored a goal seconds before the end of the first half and then hung on to notch their initial win of the season and send the Colonels down to their second defeat.

The Wilkesmen had 32 shots at the goal but could not produce one tally.

They had better luck after Hofstra jumped into an early lead in Saturday's contest and came back to rack up win number one, 3-2. Once again, Carl Van Dyke was the Colonels' big threat, coming through with all three goals.

Hofstra led 1-0, but the Colonels jumped out in front, 2-1, at the half. After a scoreless third period, the thrilling fourth saw Hofstra knot the game. Then, Van Dyke sent his winning goal into the net on Bill Lloyd's corner kick.

Gridders Drop Second

The gridders were not so lucky up at Ithaca and went down, 12-6. Given a 7-0 lead on Ronnie Rescigno's 35-yard touchdown romp and Dick Wozniak's conversion, the Pictonmen seemed to have put their offense in their back pockets for the rest of the game.

Ithaca broke through to block Howie Gross' punt in the third period for their first TD. Then, the Bombers recovered a fumble on the Colonel 20 in the fourth quarter and Gil Harris hit Sam Molisani with a 12-yard scoring toss for the winning score.

VAN DYKE COPS "PLAYER" HONORS

The soccer team retained possession of "Athlete of the Week" honors for the second straight week with the naming of Carl Van Dyke for the title this week. Van Dyke was selected for his feats in the Colonels' first victory of the year, 3-2, over Hofstra last Saturday, as well as his general all-around play against Lafayette.

Van Dyke's most notable achievement is that he has scored all five goals tallied by the Colonels this year. He racked up two in a losing cause against Rider and then tallied all three in the Hofstra win.

Versatile Carl scored the first goal of the Hofstra tilt on a head shot, toyed with the goalie before booting home a wicked right foot for the second marker, and then sent the third spinning into the net off his head on a corner shot by Bill Lloyd.

Carl Van Dyke

The officials at the Hofstra game were so impressed with Carl's speed and play that they nominated him for All-American. If Carl continues to impress officials at future games, there is a good chance that he will wind up on the mythical squad.

A native of Punxsutawney, Carl excelled in basketball in high school — winning All-District honors.

Like many of the Colonel booters, Van Dyke never played soccer until he came to Wilkes. He is active in the Education Club and the Lettermen's Club. A resident of Weckesser Hall, he has served as president of that dorm for the past two years.

When asked about his high scoring, Van Dyke replied, "It's due to the combined efforts of the entire team. I just happen to be up front where the scoring is supposed to be done."

Wilkes Faces Bloomsburg Tomorrow

First Non-Campus-Backed Affair; Funds Will Go to Poor Children; Bloom Heavy with Local Talent

When the Wilkes Colonels and Bloomsburg Huskies tee off tomorrow night at Kingston Stadium, a new chapter will be written into the athletic history of Wilkes. This will be the first time for a Colonel team to play in a home game that is sponsored by some other organization.

Tomorrow night's game will be played under the auspices of the Forty Fort and Kingston Kiwanis Clubs with the proceeds going to underprivileged children. The game is a natural for local grid fans and is expected to lure the largest crowd in Wilkes College history.

Coach Picton's Colonels are expected to be at full strength for the first time this season except for veteran tackle Cliff Brautigan. Brautigan has returned to the campus following his bout with pneumonia at the General Hospital, but will be out of uniform for some time to come.

After losing a tight game to Ithaca that could have gone either way, the Colonels are figured to be up for their first showing before the home fans.

Backfield Set

The backfield situation has shown signs of straightening out with Dick Wozniak being the find of the year. Howie Gross will handle the quarterback chores. Ronnie Rescigno showed no signs of strained muscles in his 35-yard TD scamper at Ithaca and will be at left half. His running mate will be Wozniak while Dave Panzitta moves in at fullback.

Bob Masonis, Bill Farish, Glenn Carey, Joe Wilk, Royal Hayward, Neil Dadurka and Jarrell Cashmere will head the line.

There will be many former valley athletes in the Bloomsburg with

All-Scholastic Chuck Skiptunas of Kingston serving as captain of the Huskies. Skiptunas gave the Colonels plenty of trouble from his line-backer slot in last year's 41-0 debacle.

This game will also be one of the biggest spectacles ever seen on a local gridiron. The Forty Fort and Kingston High School bands will combine with the Wilkes and Bloomsburg bands to provide a steady stream of musical entertainment.

SC Considers Raffles, Class Representation

In addition to receiving estimates for this year's budget at its meeting Monday night, the Wilkes Student Council discussed several other items.

The Council granted a request of Theta Delta Rho for $50.00 for its annual All College Tea. Requests for permission to hold social events were heard from the Chemistry Club and the IRC. The Council granted permission for the Chemistry Club square dance and for a proposed IRC raffle, to be held before Christmas.

Several methods were also discussed for securing better representation of the classes on the Council. The Sophomore Council members have arranged a system of office hours, making themselves available to their classmates or to anyone interested in Council issues. Les Weiner mentioned that he is planning to inform his constituents of important matters by way of brief newsletters.

Still another method discussed was that of having Student Council members appear at the various club meetings to explain what the Council is doing, and answer any questions the club members might have.

Tickets have been available through the week from club members and will be on sale at the door for fifty cents.

The following committees are assisting in arranging the affair: tickets, Bob Jacobs, John Saba; publicity, Mary Matthey, Miriam Thomson, Ed McCafferty, Tom Lane; entertainment, Monica Utrias, Sally Harvey, Sam Dilcer.

In charge of refreshments will be Natalie Gripp, Virginia Leonard, Rita Matishella, Jim Moser; decorations, Sheldon Isaacs, Bill Stewart, Nancy Casterline, Barbara Zaboski.

INTRAMURAL LEAGUE TO BEGIN TUESDAY; 5 TEAMS TO COMPETE

The regular intramural touch football season will get underway next week, according to an announcement made yesterday by Dick Morris, student director of the loop.

One game was scheduled to be played last night while the rest of the league swings into action Tuesday. Three teams have handed in rosters with two more scheduled to do so today.

Weckesser Hall, captained by Neil Turtel; the Golden Trojans, led by Dick Morris; and the U-Name-Its, led by Don Pacropis have handed in rosters. Other teams slated to enter are Butler Hall and The Frosh.

Morris stated that the five teams will play each other twice, making a total of eight games for each squad. Games will be played on the soccer field, which has been lined for the contests.

Preliminary plans for the intramural bowling include the posting of roster forms next week. The league will start as soon as the Jewish Community Center is completed.

Under this year's rules, co-ed scores will count in official team totals. In order to assure equal teams, the keggers will be placed according to average. Participants will be requested to post their average when enrolling or specify if they are new bowlers. Be sure to sign up.

Business Examinations In Feb., April, August

The Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business, required for entrance by a number of graduate business schools or divisions throughout the country, will be offered on three dates during the coming year, according to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the test.

During 1955, many students took the test in partial satisfaction of admission requirements of graduate business schools which prescribed it. Among these institutions are the graduate business schools or divisions of the following universities:

Carnegie Institute of Technology, Columbia, Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Northwestern, Rutgers, Seton Hall, Syracuse, U. of Chicago, U. of Michigan, U. of Pennsylvania, and Washington U. (St. Louis).

A candidate must make separate application for admission to each business school of his choice and should inquire of each whether it wishes him to take the Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business and when. Since many schools select their entering classes in the spring preceding their entrance, candidates for admission to the 1956 classes are advised to offer the February test, if possible.

The Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business is not designed to test specific knowledge in specialized academic subjects. Normal undergraduate training should provide sufficient general knowledge to answer the test questions. Sample questions and information regarding registration for and administration of the test are given in a Bulletin of Information.

Dike Divots...

By JACK CURTIS

It feels good back at the old stand after well over a year's absence in this space. As we find some time to follow campus sports again with some amount of regularity, we find that things haven't changed much since the last time we scribbled a sports column (Dike Divots) for the Beacon, our old alma mamie.

The football team is still having problems (with a new coach following closely in George Ralston's footsteps regarding greying hair, or soon will anyway) and a soccer team also having troubles, with nobody quite able to say why.

But, then, let's look at one thing at a time. Coach Russ Picton has found that all is not what it should be on the Wilkes gridiron this fall. First, he started with a decided lack of depth and experience, and practically no manpower, just mention just a few powers. Ten in the first game, his youthful and inexperienced crew had what was probably the worst cause of "fumblyitis" in the school's history — 11 miscues, four of which were turned into Lebanon Valley TDs.

Last week, a greatly improved Colonel team showed it could move against a giant Ithaca eleven, but even though miscues were much reduced, the two committed cost Wilkes the game. Certainly no one can blame a coach for his team's mistakes on the field, but Picton has his mind set to try to make up for the early losses.

The soccer situation presents a different sort of problem. In the past two years as this year, we've had the horses. Of course, we've had winning seasons in the last two years, but everyone, including coaches and players felt we could have done better.

The team showed that the same weakness that plagued it in the past is working overtime this year. In the first two games, the Colonels looked like they could be world beaters, up to a point about 15 yards from the opposition goal, that is. They are still having a terrible time getting the ball past the goalie, but really, it is a mystery. And simply because they have the men who should be able to put in in the net.

It seems that a little intangible spark is missing from the line (with the exception being Carl Van Dyke who has scored all five Wilkes goals to date). Losing the first two by one-goal margins while outplaying the opposition points out the problem even more strongly, especially when you consider that Wilkes out-shot Lafayette almost two to one, but couldn't score.

Saturday's game may have been the beginning of the end of the problem. At least with Van Dyke hitting for three goals, we saw that there is plenty of honest to goodness potential in the line. But every other man on the forward wall is also capable. Maybe we've had all our bad breaks early in the year — that would be good. Now we can concentrate on punching through to scores. It could be a great year!

There's nothing like a

Coke

1. SO BRIGHT IN TASTE... nothing like it for sparkling, tangy goodness.
2. SO QUICKLY REFRESHING... nothing like it for a bracing bit of energy, with as few calories as half an average, juicy grapefruit.
