The fine representation of Wilkes faculty and guests in the yearbook falls in the second match of the finals. In the 130-pound class, Jim Wi passed after two matches. That was the turn of the major upset in defeating Art McColl of Temple in the most thrilling bout of the day. McColl was out in the 123-pound class, but Williams executed two acceptable moves in the first period and allowed only a neutral for the rest of the bout.

Nip Second Place Mules
By Margin of 2 Points
In Gettysburg Tourney

by Dick Myers, Sports Editor
The Wilkes College wrestlers lived up to their pre-tourney status as favorites and came out on top of the heap at Gettysburg College on Sunday afternoon. Although the Colonels could not produce an individual champion, they piled up points in the early rounds, placed six of the top eight in the regionals, and in the first three places, then hung on to capture the team trophy.

Four of these men were in the finals. At 123 pounds, Keith Williams dropped a heart-breaking, double-overtime decision to Tom Gunter of Lafayette. In the semifinals, Wilkes' only real major upset in defeating Art McColl of Temple in one of the most thrilling bouts of the day. McColl was out in the 123-pound class, but Williams executed two acceptable moves in the first period and allowed only a neutral for the rest of the bout.

ST. PATRICK'S TEA
PLANNED BY T.D.R.

The monthly meeting of the St. Patrick's Day Tea were discussed by the members. Chairman Mary Matley and Marilyn Carl stated that the Tea will be held on March 15 from three to five o'clock in McClintock Hall.

Groups of high school girls will be invited to the tea to acquaint them with the sorority members and the campus.

The St. Patrick's Day Tea is the second half of the annual program carried out by the T.D.R. The first half was the Washington Day Tea held last month.

The member also started making plans for the Fashion Show to be held on April 4. Chairman Nalene Bareo named several committee heads who will work with her in arranging the affair. It will begin at eight-thirty in the gym.

The committee chairmen are: Jane Pratt, entertainment; Peggy Stevens, refreshments; Pat Hemmings, tickets; and Charlotte Lord, script.

IRC CLUB WILL HOST ANNUAL CONFERENCE
On Sunday the Wilkes College International Relations Club will host the annual conference of the Northeast Region of the Intercollegiate Conference on Government. Dr. Parley will welcome the representatives from the colleges who convene in the Lecture Hall at 9:00 A.M.

This year's theme will be a model Pennsylvania General Assembly. Immediately following Dr. Parley's welcoming address, delegates will retire to committee chambers where such pertinent topics as Taxation and Finance in Pennsylvania will be discussed and laws proposed. During the morning session the executive committees, consisting of one leader from each school, will vote for the speaker of the convention.

Vying for the speakership are: Joseph Rosenfeld, chairman of the Mohavean delegation; and Bill Tremayne, president of the Wilkes International Relations Club.

After lunch the convention will reconvene in plenary sessions with the speaker elected presiding. Bills resolved in committee will then be debated.

Plans will also be made for the state convention to be held in Harrisburg in April. A candidate for speaker at the Harrisburg convention will be chosen at this time.

Dean Dolby is handling all the secretarial work involved in typing and mimeographing material necessary. Shirley Barwood heads the reception and registration of delegates.

Schools represented will be: La Salle, Marywood, Lafayette, Lehigh, Marywood, Misericordia, Moravian, Marywood/Misericordia, Moravian, Molloy and St. Joseph's University.

Mechanism and Vitalism
Subject of Dr. Vujica

by Frank Gallo

Dr. Vujica, Chairman of the Philosophy and Religion Department, spoke to the Biology Club and guests on Thursday, Feb. 28, in the subject "Mechanism and Vitalism." His talk was well received, as this subject is the center of much controversy in both philosophy and biology.

Dr. Vujica stated that vitalists believe there is an immaterial guide for all living things; that is, that they can only be explained by physical and chemical laws. The non-vitalists explain life as a purposeful behavior resulting from invariant laws.

The non-vitalists are divided into two groups; one supporting the mechanistic theory, the other the emergent theory.

The Mechanists explain life as a highly complex chemical factory, and they believe that the laws of physics and chemistry can explain life adequately. Those who pro- pounded the emergent theory argue that there is no adequate explanation of life based on the physical and chemical laws, but they recognize that certain life properties are captured by the words life and living.

The Bureau will probably continue to show him well up among the individual leaders in national small college basketball.

George is seeking a Bachelor of Science degree in Commerce and Finance here at Wilkes, majoring in Business Administration.

The 21-year-old Plymouth native, like his coach, Eddie Davis, is a graduate of Plymouth High School, and was an outstanding player there, having been named to the Wyoming Valley All-Conference basketball team.

What's in a Name?
The Test Tube Trot, The Formidabyle Frolic, The Slide-rule Swing, and so forth, old nonsense.
Wilkes organizations prefer to type this kind of nomenclature for their dances. We print the titles, but so far have refrained from commenting on the situation. And now, we are saved the effort, since the Utica College Temptarine, in a column titled The Campus Beat, beat us to the punch.

The Power of Positive Thinking
It seems that nearly every student government body in intercollegiate circles is struggling with the problem of “school spirit.” Here at Wilkes, the problem received considerable attention during the leadership campaign.

Thanks to the backing of the Student Council and the able leadership of committee chairman Dave Vann, the Wilkes School Spirit Fund has performed admirably. The group gave the college some of the finest pep rallies seen here in the past five years.

At Utica College, also in an issue of the Temptarine, we learned that the Student Senate recently appointed an Apothecary Committee. One would think that such a group would be at a disadvantage to start. We would suggest a more positive approach, beginning with a new and more forward-looking title.

Students receive Polio inoculation
Monday, thanks to the Luzerne County Medical Association, the Wilkes students body was able to receive the Salk polio vaccine free of charge. This shot, which was offered to those who wanted to be inoculated for more complete protection, will not definitely prevent polio, but will greatly lessen the chances of one’s contracting this dread disease.

The administration hopes to make the second inoculation available before the end of this semester, at a date which will be announced later.

The vaccine was given in the gym between two and one o’clock by members of the faculty who dispensed with all routine, and gave their services. The long line of students filed quickly and quietly before the doctors who efficiently injected the precious serum.

The cooperation of the students enabled the whole operation to be completed in record time.

Economics club to hold Dixieland Jazz Concert
This was announced at a recent meeting of the Economics Club that a combination Dixieland Jazz Concert and cabaret dance would be held on March 22. The Economics Club has planned this unique “Spring Fling” to provide entertainment for all students, those who want to dance and those who refrain from dancing during Lent but will want to join in the fun and, of course, have a ball.

Since the Dixieland numbers were met enthusiastically at a recent jazz concert held on campus, it was decided that real, live, roll-rin’-roarin’ Dixieland Jazz would be featured at this affair.

Those who want to visit Charleston, Shag and Lindy during the Dixieland Jazz concert will have their space provided for them, since half of the gym floor will be reserved for dancing. Later in the evening, the combo will play a smoother type of Dixieland Jazz.

The theme of the affair will be staged after the cabaret portion of the evening not too many years ago.

Council Discusses Scholarship Fund
The Scholarship Fund was the main topic of discussion at the Student Council meeting of last Tuesday evening. The group will meet with the Advisory Council on Monday from 10:00 to 11:00 at Chase Hall in order to nominate candidates for the scholarship, which is sponsored by the Student Council.

The candidates are chosen on the basis of need, scholarship, and leadership. The money for this scholarship is appropriated from the money remaining in the student activities fund.

A motion was made to have an all-campus election instead of each club and class holding an election. Club and class presidents will be notified of the recommendation.

The council also moved to recommend to the Sophomore class to have the President of the Presidential Ball in the chairmanship of the class. March 14 was the date set by the council for the meeting to be held with Dr. Farley, in order to discuss problems on campus. The purpose of this meeting is to create greater relations between the Student Council and the administration.

Sophomores Begin Plans For Presidential Ball
The co-chairmen for the Presidential Ball, Nick Socio and Dick Spellman, announced Thursday that the show-more class will sponsor the Presidential Ball, a formal dance to be held Friday, March 24 at 8:00 o’clock. Waltz music will be provided by Geno Marchetti and his orchestra.

To go along with the theme of the Presidential Ball, the Sophomore Class has created another First — the selection of a Mr. President.

Nominations will be in the Commons on March 11, 12, and 13.

The co-chairs who have been selected to compete for this title include: Jackie Bailey, Dick Davis, Jack Tea, and Anne Bates.

A motion was made to have the Final choice be made by the four classes, the Student Council president, and the T.D.R. president.

Other committee members include: Dick Bailey, Dick Davis, diner’s: Janice Reynolds, Tom Ruggiero, decorations; Lois Betner, Marian Christopher, refreshments; Jerry Smith, reception committee; John Soza, publicity; Betty Niles, invitations; and Anne Bates, cleanup.

Remember the date, March 11, for nominations for the President of the Presidential Ball.

Chorus Concert
The Chorus Concert was held last Tuesday, March 14. The program included: G.R.L. for dancing, the full program of the Student Chorus, and the Marching Band.

The concert was held in the gymnasium and featured music by various groups, including the Student Chorus and the Marching Band.

The final number was a Dixieland concert with the Student Chorus and the Marching Band.

The concert was well-received by the audience, and the performers were applauded for their hard work and dedication.

The next concert is scheduled for April 4th, featuring the faculty and student orchestra.

Dr. Farley was the master of ceremonies, and the event was a great success. The students were all smiles as they enjoyed the music and the company of their friends. The event was a great way to celebrate the start of the spring semester and to welcome the new students to the campus.
Cagers To Close Season

Baseball Tryouts
Coach John Beece will hold practice and tryouts for the baseball team on Monday, March 11, at 4 p.m. All men, except pitchers and catchers, will report to Beece. The tryouts will begin at 7:15 p.m. sharp on the Jewish Community Center's baseball field.

Bowling Tournament Opens Sunday at JCC
This Sunday marks the opening of the Wilkes College Bowling Handbook. The tournament will begin at 7:15 p.m. sharp on the Jewish Community Center's bowling lanes. The competition will be held on the second floor of the JCC, with the starting time being 7:15 P.M. sharp on the Jewish Community Center's bowling lanes.

What's it like to be an IBM Salesman?

Selling to management is perhaps the best training for management, and if it's the reason why Gene McGrew takes a thorough practical Business Administration education, responsibility, an excellent income—all at age 27. Read about an unusual career.

Makes fast sal
Gene's first sale, to a bank, required thorough study; consultations; a written recommendation. The climax came, Gene remembers, when he educated his analysis to the vice president and received that gentleman's signature.

Meets IBM representative
Out of the Army in 1953, Gene met an IBM representative. It sounded like an opportunity. A few interviews later, Gene was sure. Although sales was only one of the many jobs he felt he could handle, this kind of selling—(IBM machines are as much an idea as a product)—promised to occupy every talent he possessed. Besides, he learned that "no other form of training produces so many top businessmen."
Students Urged to Help in 'Books for Asia' Drive

by Mary Louise Omhner

Many students have noticed the boxes for books in the dorms, the halls of the library and bookstores during the past week. These have been placed there by the members of the Wilkes chapter of the Colegiate Council of the United Nations in conjunction with their drive, "Books for Asian Students."

An appeal has been made to the students, faculty, Wyoming Valley Council of Churches and other community organizations for any unwanted books to be donated to this drive. College-level books dealing with subjects in the humanities, liberal arts, sciences, and social sciences, published since 1945 are preferred.

Debating for the first time in their career, the novice team of Caruso, a freshman, and Evans, a sophomore, made their debut an auspicious one by winning easily over Scranton, King's, and Marywood. In the individual scoring, Evans with 74 points out of a possible 90 and Caruso with 75 points rated first and second in the tournament.
