DEBATE SCORING AGAIN

With a big win at the Harvard Invitational Debate Tournament, the college again came into the national limelight. Dr. Kruger's fine teams of Jesse John and John Bucholz have compiled excellent records for Wilkes in every event and deserve the plaudits of all.

The cooperation extends congratulations to Jesse and John for their performance.

But, lest we forget... Wilkes has had top-notch debate teams in the past.

A large part of the credit must go to the debate coach, Dr. Arthur N. Kruger, who has developed the high caliber teams which have done such wonderful work. A Beacon salutes...—tim

An Humble Service

Where but in a small college like Wilkes would one find its president willing to humbly himself in the service of others? In one of the recent commencement ceremonies, Dean George S. Doms, dean of men, Dr. Forley welcomed the invited guests and campus co-eds to last Friday's tea sponsored by Theta Delta Phi sorority. However, Dr. Forley stepped in to offer the initial welcoming. Instead, the college head served the girls tea, coffee, cokes, and mints, and went out of his way to make the girls feel at ease.

'VISION, A SAGA OF THE SKY' TELLS OF MODERN AVIATION

Vision, A Saga of the Sky, by Harold Mansfield, tells the story of twentieth century aviation in a powerful narrative containing the history and development of the airplane. It is a classic and/or the history of our century's struggle.

Mr. Mansfield displays on a world-wide screen a vital living representation of forty years of aviation progress. Interwoven with the story of Boeing and the men who made the company great is the story of man's struggle to control the skies over our rapidly shrinking globe.

For this struggle is inextricably interwoven with the problems of man and the bigger and faster airplanes.

The final part of the program examines the position of the United States as a world power and points up the part that aviation progress and preparedness has and must continue to have in the preservation of peace.

It also tells the story of the men of Boeing and their philosophy of life for the modern world. Men like Bob Seid, new chairman of the board, who decided in 1938 "not to do anything that he could not do better than others or they'd find someone else doing it."

A little later, founder and then president William Boeing said: "We believe in technology. We build space vehicles, ideas with the cockpit statement that we are the pioneers in a new science and a new industry. Our job is to keep everything at research and experiment, and not let all the improvement pass us by because we are trying to get ahead in the technology."

The technology is the key to the needs of the nation. It is summed up in the basic philosophy of the company, "honesty of purpose."

This honesty of purpose is what has brought the company to its present high level of progress.

The philosophy is the key to the interest to all students. Engineering students, history majors, political science students, and those who just want to be well-informed cannot afford to pass up this non-technical narrative of America in the air.

COLLEGE TEAM RECEIVES ADAMS DEBATING TROPHY

Choper - Bucholz Duo Excel in Competition At Harvard Tourney

The Wilkes debaters added to their list of victories by winning the Harvard Invitational Debate Tournament this past weekend. Competing against 40 of the leading schools in the nation, the Wilkes team of Jesse John Bucholz turned in a victory that was decisive in all respects.

Participation and a first place finish add much to the prestige of the sea of teams of this and other years.

Among the events in which Wilkes teams have seen action and have been finalists are the New York Invitational Tournament, the Notre Dame Invitational Tournament, and the West Point National Tournament.

For its victory at Harvard Wilkes received the collection of the Philip H. N. John Quincy Adams Trophy for one year, as well as a plaque for permanent possession. Choper received an individual trophy as second place man.

After two days and six rounds of debate, the top four teams eliminations, 'Resolved: That the U.S. Should Discontinue Its Relations With Foreign Countries', Wilkes emerged as the only undefeated team in the nation.

Of the 16 judges voted for Wilkes, St. Stephen's was second, finishing on a 5-1 record, edging out Fordham, Kentu, Dartmouth, George Washington, and Adelphi. The polls of these last four were the same, all of whom had the same record through the first round.

Wilkes had the highest point total, with 264 points out of a possible 320.

In individual speaker totals, Choper tied Roberts of Kentucky for first with 124 but was given second place because of his broken on the basis of speaker rankings in each debate. Close on the heels of Choper was Bucholz, with 130 points.

Bucholz, who was the only debater not defeated on any count this year. Their record of 7-0 at the Harvard Tourney, the highest performance of the Wilkes team at any tournament this season, they were finalists. Also, they were 4-0 at the King's College and bucks tourney and 4-0 at the Harvard Invitational tourney. Their 1954-55 record was 10-2.

The team was accompanied to Boston by Dr. Archie H. Mailey, their coach, and by the other varsity team, Fred Roberts and Bruce Waring, who have but taken part in the tournament. For the Bucholz-Choper team will be the District VII Tourney in Philadelphia, where the teams are to meet on the weekend.

The team is the last to complete its season, and the National Tournament held annually at West Point.

'A RIGHT TO BE DIFFERENT'

by Barbara You

March 20, 1957

Dear Editor:

The Wilkes campus was embarrassed both socially and financially last fall by an unwarranted lack of consideration on the part of a few students who had contracted to bowl at the Jewish Community Center and failed to fulfill obligations.

The manager of the bowling alley, Community Center, had made arrangements that all alley fees be reserved for Wilkes College use. Only two students of the fifteen scheduled to bowl arrived. The Center suffered a financial loss, as other arrangements could not have been made for the alleys, as well as did the prancing fund for the bowling tournament.

The Student Director of the league feels that the remaining thirteen students owe not only an apology to the Jewish Community Center but are also responsible for their share of the trophy fund.

In order that the names of these students not be posted, those responsible are requested to write to pay for their share of the trophy fund.

The trophies have already been awarded to the teams with awards determined by the number of registrants for the league. It is unfair to deprive the students who have already paid of their trophies because of the inconsideration of a few people.

I hope that there will be no repetition of this sorry situation. It is a bad reflection on the school as well as on the individuals.

Sincerely yours,

JANE KEIBEL

by M. L. Onufre

The committee for the Junior Class dinner-dance gave reports on their progress at the last class meeting. As previously decided, the affair will be held on May 4 in the American Legion Home on North River Street.

Mary Matry, chairman of the entertainment committee, gave a report on the dance bands available for that evening, and the class decided to employ Gene Marchetti. Dave Vann also presented several invitation forms, one of which was selected by the class.

Invitations will be sent to all class members, the faculty, and presidents of the other classes. All will be presented by Cue 'n Curtain on May 1, 2, and 3. This play is a light-hearted play concerning the eternal triangle.

Gassing for this play will begin this coming week. All students interested in trying out for this play are requested to see Mr. Al Grish mission to the dinner-dance will be by invitation only.

The class members will be asked on their R.S.V.P's to indicate whether they want a turkey or lobster tail dinner. The price is $11.00 per person or $15.50 per couple for either dinner.

Bob Stealy, general chairman, stated that the guest speaker will be Mr. Riley, head of the Wilkes College Psychology Department.

A part of the meeting was devoted to a report of the Student Council's meetings by Ginny Gimly Berek, class representative. Objection was raised by Joe Oliver at the methods the Council used to begin this fund. During the discussion which followed, it was found that some class members objected to using the excess of last year's activities funds for a scholarship. Mention was made of the Council's refusal to hire a "big name" band for the Cinderella Ball and a poll of the class showed that a majority favored bringing in a big name band to a campus dance.

One of the last plays of the season will be The Maker of Law.

Milton Oilmen's Council
SPORTS SPURTS
by DICK MYERS, Sports Editor

Pity the poor Student Directors. They never get any thanks, never any pay, and never any co-operation.

Last Sunday night's second-round team championship event in Intramural Bowling provided dismal proof of this fact. Three teams remained to vie for the trophies available. Two men, out of fifteen entrants showed up. These men had hopes of qualifying for one of the awards, one had even traveled in from Dallas just to bowl. Imagine their disgust and dismay when they were deprived of their right to compete for the honors just because of plain thoughtlessness.

If these two men were disappointed, imagine how bad the League officials felt. They were forced to tell the manager of the JCC allies that they would have to cancel their claim to the lanes for that evening.

The chain of chagrin stretched on. The manager had turned down a couple of teams who wanted to use the alleys, because he had assured the Wilkes students that the Wilkes students would be treated in such a manner. Therefore, he lost money and goodwill. Naturally, this didn't cause him a large amount of joy.

Then the matter was brought to the attention of Mr. Reese, faculty Director of Intramural sports. Again, disappointment touched another base. A letter of apology was composed, signed by Mr. Reese, and then sent to the officials of the JCC. It is hoped that this action will help to smooth matters and enable us to continue to bowl at the JCC allies.

Such a course, however, should not have been necessary. We are in an institution of higher learning, in which we are supposed to be learning how to get along with people. We are college students, supposedly interested in community harmony and mutual co-operation. We are deserving of being treated as adults; but our actions in this matter belie all of the above statements.

Elsewhere on these pages is a list of all the two-man teams who will compete for the Male Doubles Handicap Bowling trophies. The time, place, and date are listed. There should be no confusion, no excuse for any of these people to be absent. If there is any doubt in any one's mind, he need only get in touch with Jane Kelbel or this writer, immediately, to get straightened out on the matter.

The trophies have already been ordered. There could have been no way to purchase these items without knowing how much money would be collected in trophies. Unfortunately, the number of entrants at 75 was less than the 100 anticipated. Thus all three events, and the total number of entrants pledged was multiplied by that figure, and the total cost of the awards was thus determined.

The Directors are now committed to produce that amount, since the trophies are already in transit. If the people who have agreed to enter the tourney do not attend and pay their fees, there will be a discrepancy which will have to be met out of the pockets of the Director. To avoid this, it has been ruled that any person whose name is on the roster fails to put in an appearance, he will still be required to pay the fee. It is only fair.

The official 1957 baseball schedule was released from the office of the Director of Athletics early this week.

The schedule shows the Colonels opening their home season on April 2 at Artillery Park. The Gettysburg Bullets will provide the opposition.

Coach John Reese has stated that the team is beginning to take shape at this early date, with some uncertainties still existing in the pitching department.

Cage stars George Garch and Ralph Henderson will go a long way toward bolstering this weak spot on the team. The only mound returnee from last year’s winning team in Eddie Birdbaum, who handled the relief chores.

Further aid is expected in the form of Ferris himself to a standout soccer player, and is well remembered for his aggressive play in the backfield.

His other contributions to Wilkes sports were on the basketball court and on the soccer diamond. In basketball, Jim was named the first recipient of the Outstanding Basketball Player Award at the All-Sports Banquet last year.

As a member of the baseball squad, he was a stellar center-fielder, and was noted for his time hitting and defensive ability.

The former Kingston athlete also numbers among his trophies and awards the Bowie Davis trophy which he received in 1959.

Welcome back to Wilkes, Jim, and the best of luck in the coming soccer season.

WARD AWARDED DAVIS TROPHY, NAMED OUTSTANDING WRESTLER; CAPTAINS, TOP PERFORMERS CITED

Last night at the Commons, all the Wilkes athletes met for an evening of sociability in their seventh annual All-Sports banquet.

Individual awards were given to the stars in the various sports, and captains were named to next year's teams. The coveted Howard W. Davis award for excellence in athletics was given this year to Jim Word, the record-breaking wrestler. Jim becomes the first wrestler in the history of Wilkes College to have won a division. In so doing, he also broke the old monk for points in a season with 41.

Jim was truly honored at the affair, being named Outstanding Wrestler of the year, as well as Head Captain of next year's squad.

Sharing the honor of captaining the team is Dave Thomas, Bob Pound, and Navy vet, who was instrumenal in compiling the MASCAC wrestling crown to Wilkes.

In football, the award for Outstanding Back went to Ron Rescigno, and Bill Parish was named Outstanding Lineman. Both of these men received Honorable Mention on the All-American team.

The Joe Gallagher award went to Bob Mason, stellar guard for the colonel gridders. Bob, a graduate of Kingston High School, was a big man for Ross Pleton, doing a valiant job at the guard position.

RESIGNATIONS

Ron Rescigno and Mike Dydo were named co-captains of the 1957 football team.

Tony Bianco's splendid play on the soccer field earned him the Beagle Bowl award. The presentation of this award was made by newly-appointed soccer coach Jim Ferris.

Bianco and Ed Masonis were appointed co-captains of the Wilkes bowlers. Masonis is a graduate of Kingston High School, where he was a mystery member of the wrestling team.

George Myers, third winner of the Beacon Athlete of the Week award, was honored for his team spirit, athletic ability and exemplary conduct on the court. George Myers is the new scoring king of Wilkes, having finished the current season with a 54-point total and a field goal percentage of 57%.

Six Golf Meets Listed By Coach John Curtis, Daily Practice at Park

Coach Jack Curtis has been drilling the 1957 Colonels' golf team during the past week in preparation for the second year of intercollegiate competition at the college.

The team faces a six-match schedule, including the annual Middle Atlantic tournament to be held at Mount Union, Pa., American Legion Country Club, May 10-11.

Several experienced men have reported for practice, and Curtis has stated that there is still plenty of room for other men on the squad.

The team opened their pre-season drills at Kirby Park, using only the seven, eight, and nine-iron, and wedges to iron out the rough spots.

In an effort to avoid bad habits and poor practices, the coach will have his eyes on the men as they practice tees. He hopes to be able to spot potential flaws in this manner, and nip them in the bud. These hitting drills will be held until the weather permits full-time use of the home course at the Item Temple Country Club.

The first of the three tournaments will be held at the Scranton University home course in a three-way match between the Colonels, Heads, and Scranton on April 26. Other matches with Wyoming, Moravian, and a return match with Scranton are scheduled for May.

THE KERNEL'S KORN
by Dick Myers

A lot of talk is circulating about the increasingly high cost of living. It seems to get worse all the time. Steak hasn't been so high since the cow jumped over the moon. A good steak costs more than three dollars now, and usually isn't very good, anyhow. That's what you call absorption of a high-grinder. She never liked her to get a little behind in their work.

Food prices are really bad, though. You go into a market these days to buy a bottle of prune juice, and it cleans you out. Even raisins and bread result in a lot of dough. Things won't get any bet- ter. When shopping, you really have to know your peace and don't. I'm sure I'm smart, though, you'll come through with flying colors.

Then there's the tale about the kid who was fired from his job in the lobster factory. All he had to do was cut the candy slabs into small chunks, but it seems he could never give a suck an even break.

Seek New Talent For Cheer Squad

Judy Menges, captain of the cheerleading squad, has announced that cheerleading tryouts will be held in April immediately after the Easter vacation.

Until the week of tryouts, prac- tice is being held every Thursday at 11:00 in the gym. All freshman, sophomore or junior men and wo- men are not only eligible but urged to try their hand at cheerleading. So far, this season's five, seven or cheerleaders are graduating, leaving Judy Menges and Alison Rubly. Consequently, the chances of being chosen are excellent. How- ever, in order to maintain the quali- ty in cheerleaders who we have known in the past, there ought to be vigorous competition among the aspirants.

This is an opportunity for stu- dents with good ideas and an enth- usiastic interest in the college to help in improving "school spirit!"
