Hollowe'en Costume Ball Tonight

Prizes Awarded At Senior Ball Tonight in Gym

by John Pisaneschi

Attention all goblins, ghouls, skeletons, and homeless spooks. The senior class of Wilkes will sponsor the annual Masquerade Ball at the Wilkes gym tonight from 9 to 12.

The class of '57 originated the idea of the Ball when they were sophomores, although they didn't sponsor it last year.

All Wilkes students are invited as well as any others who desire a night of fun.

The price of a ticket is sixty cents. No one will be admitted without a mask and a tombstone. If anyone cannot obtain a tombstone, a body (dead, of course) will suffice.

Costumes are not required but those lucky people wearing them will be eligible for the prizes offered at the dance. Awards will be given for the most unusual costume, the most original costume, and the funniest costume.

A special prize will be awarded to any off-campus group who has the largest representation.

Providing the cool sounds will be the seven-piece Wilkes College Dance Band, one of the finest in the area.

Drawing Winners To be Selected By Queen Marilyn

by Carol Breznay

This coming Saturday, at the half-time of the Wilkes-Pennsylvania Military College football game, the winners of the Lettermen's Raffle will be announced. Neil Dadurka, Club president, has announced that Marilyn Carl, recently elected Homecoming Queen of 1956, will choose the lucky stubs.

A large crowd is expected to attend the game, as many are eager to hear the names of the winners. The sale of raffle tickets has been going on for several weeks and many people hold stubs. Five of these people will walk off with the prizes offered this year.

First prize is two tickets to the Army-Navy game. Transportation to this game will be included with the prize. The game will be played Saturday, December 1st.

As second prize, the Lettermen will give two tickets to the Cleveland Browns-Philadelphia Eagles game, to be played Sunday, November 18th, at Philadelphia. Transportation is not being provided to this game.

The third, fourth, and fifth prizes will be three twenty-pound turkeys, so come one and all you hungry souls, here's a chance to win some real food.

With the exception of Shoe-Shine Day, this raffle is the only money-making project taken on by the Lettermen's Club during the year. Through this raffle they hope to raise enough funds to finance the other activities which they undertake. Two of these are the Christmas Formal and the April Showers Ball, two affairs on which money is usually lost. Everyone enjoys these dances, but to run them properly it takes money. Since the Lettermen depend on this raffle to raise that money, it is up to everyone to support them.

Only a few hours remain, but any Letterman will be glad to sell as many tickets as one is willing to buy. Chances are ten cents for one, three for a quarter, or twelve for "one hundred pennies".

Pep Rally at 12 Today On Lawn of Chase Hall; Booster Day Tomorrow

A pep rally will be held at noon today behind Chase Hall, it was announced by Rose Weinstein, chairman of the School Spirit Committee. The rally is another attempt of the committee to arouse the spirit of the student body.

The pep rally is being sponsored in collaboration with Booster Day planned for the Wilkes-Pennsylvania Military College game tomorrow afternoon at two. The theme has been adopted to support the Lettermen who will draw the winning stubs of the raffle they have been conducting on campus.

Miss Weinstein has also announced that Wilkes banners will be given out at the game.

End of Playing At Home Field For 3 Seniors

by Cliff Kobland, Sports Editor

The high-flying Cadets from Pennsylvania Military College invade Kingston Stadium Saturday afternoon to engage the Wilkes Colonels in the Blue and Gold's final home game of the season.

The Cadets, with only one defeat in six games, will pose a tough problem for the Wilkesmen who are in search of their second victory.

The Red, White and Yellow-suited men from Chester, Pa., have two of the top ball players in the East on their squad.

John Costello, senior quarterback, was the leading ground-gainer in small colleges in the East until last week, and end Al Hill was the leading pass receiver in the same category.

Wilkes coach Russ Picton will try to improve his defensive backfield to stop the Cadets air power and their fast running backs. The Colonels defensive unit has been on the weak side all year and they will have to be in top form if they hope to hold P.M.C.

This will be the last home appearance for Wilkes for the 1956 season. They have won one while losing two in their home ball field.

Three of the outstanding Wilkes linemen for the past four years will don the Blue and Gold for their last home game. They are Bob Masonis and Bill Farish, two top-flight guards, and Neil Dadurka, one of the best ends ever to play for a Colonel eleven.

MULCAHY ELECTED PRESIDENT OF S.A.M.

The Society for the Advancement of Management recently held elections for the 1956-57 school year. The organization on campus is a Junior Chapter of a nationwide organization of business men. The purpose of the organization is to promote interest among the students in the varied problems of business management.

Leonard Mulcahy was elected president and Bob Scally was chosen to be the secretary-treasurer.

Mulcahy formed executive committees, headed by the following members: Bill Daw, program committee; John Scandale, membership committee; and Carl Jurish, publicity.

Any student interested in membership is invited to speak to John Scandale for complete information.

CAGERS BEGIN WORKOUTS

Coach Eddie Davis announced the start of basketball practice yesterday. The season starts December 1 and Davis requested that any men wishing to try out for the squads (varsity and junior varsity) are invited to come out to practice.

FORMER ENGLISH SPY SPEAKS AT ASSEMBLY

by William A. Zdzapewicz

Colonel Alan Ferguson-Warren, former head of the British Royal Marine Commandos, addressed the student body in assembly Tuesday at the First Presbyterian Church.

The Colonel explained the background of spy work, and its misconceptions, the latter being mainly glamour and action. In explaining espionage, Colonel Warren mentioned great personalities in this field. The greatest spy was Richard Sorge, a German, who in reality worked for the Russians.

He then explained some highlights of his personal experiences in espionage, citing those in England and France mainly.

Colonel Warren concluded his speech by giving advice concerning spying. He stated that as a spy you have freedom of movement during rough situations; whereas, an infantryman can move only upon receipt of orders from a higher command.

The Colonel's talk received an enthusiastic response.

DANFORTH OFFERS GRAD WORK FUNDS

The Danforth Foundation, an educational trust fund, is accepting applications from college male seniors who are preparing for a career of college teaching, and who are interested in entering graduate school in September, 1957.

Nominations on the campus are not to exceed three men. Qualifications are: men of outstanding academic ability, personality congenial to the classroom, integrity and character.

All applications, including the recommendations, must be completed by January, 1957. Any student who wishes to apply should

FINAL CUE 'N' CURTAIN CASTING MONDAY NIGHT

Cue 'n' Curtain members will be starting rehearsals very soon for the semester's three one-act plays. The drama club plans to entertain students and friends with at least three — possibly four — one-acts. Diversity in the plays chosen will make for an evening of entertainment suitable for any audience of adults. The performance dates will be December 3rd, 4th, and 5th.

Larry Amdur, senior, has been chosen by Mr. Groh, the club's advisor, to direct the one play definitely decided upon thus far; it is "Seeds of Suspicion", dramatized by John McGreevy from Dorothy L. Sayers' book, "Suspicion". The play is marked by a contemporary setting, and the plot centers around Harold Mummery's suspicion that someone is trying to poison him. Be around, the first week in December, to see your fellow students portray this plot on the stage.

Although members of Cue 'n' Curtain and Mr. Groh have not yet definitely decided upon the other two or three plays to fill in a two-hour performance, two comedies, "The Roman Kid" and "If Men Played Cards As Women Do", were tentatively chosen. The final decisions will be made at the club's next business meeting on Monday.

"The Roman Kid" is a comedy with romance, built around the story of two Americans in Italy. The other comedy, "If Men Played Cards As Women Do", is, as the title obviously suggests, a parody on a women's card game with an

NATO SCHOLARSHIP SERIES ANNOUNCED

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization is sponsoring, for the second year, a series of exchange scholarships and research fellowships among the NATO nations. The candidates will be submitted by the Department of State after screening by a Washington, D.C. research Council.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens in good health. Preference will be given to students with some graduate training.

Candidates for the scholarships should apply to the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th Street, New York, N.Y.

IRC TO OBSERVE ELECTIONS

The IRC will meet on Tuesday night to analyze election returns in the presidential election. The members and any others interested are invited to Harding Hall where they will stay up all night to listen for the results. Refreshments will be served.

all-male cast.

Mr. Groh urges all students who are interested in acting to try out for any of the one-act plays. The final casting for the plays will be Monday night, November 5, in Chase Theater. Students need not be members of Cue 'n' Curtain to gain a role in one of these plays.

WC POLITICAL PARTY SYSTEM TO FORM

EDITORIALS —

What... Where... When...

All club officers and all publicity chairmen of campus organizations are requested to leave notices at the Beacon office stating the time, the place, and the day of meetings scheduled for their specific groups. The office is located on the third floor at 159 South Franklin Street.

Notices of the meetings will be published in the paper's column "What... Where... When". The Beacon proposed to stimulate interest in campus activities by publishing this column, but we cannot succeed without the cooperation of the college's organizations.

For better unity of the campus groups and for better representation at all meetings, the Beacon urges all publicity chairmen to make use of its facilities. J.T.S.

Letters to Editor Welcome

We are quite happy to see that people on campus are writing letters to us, although we wish they could always be in a constructive vein. However, all letters and of course, their answers, will be printed if they are signed and not in conflict with the ethics of the Beacon. The views expressed in the letters column are not necessarily those of the paper, and as such we will endeavor to allow for wide latitude of thought.

But all letters will be welcome and printed as space allows. If there is something that you wish to bring to the attention of the college, don't hesitate to write.

It is requested that all letters be typed on one side of a sheet, double-spaced and neatly written. Brevity is desired, but we have nothing against longer letters. Letters may be placed in the Beacon mailbox, left at the office or given to the editor.

Let us hear from you — remember, constructive ideas are no good if you tell no one about them.

College Mixed Chorus Will Present Cantata In Modern Arrangement

If the sounds you hear coming from Gies Hall at 4 o'clock on Tuesdays and Thursdays seem a bit strange to your ears, it is because the Wilkes College Mixed Chorus is trying something different this year. The chorus, under the direction of Mr. Liva, is rehearsing a cantata called "The Glory Around His Head" by Meyerowitz.

The score for this number is a sight that might cause the "old masters" to turn slightly in their graves. Only very occasionally in the five parts of the cantata is there a "key feeling" or key center. In other words, rather than closely following the rules of music writing as the composers of the 18th and 19th centuries knew them, Meyerowitz manipulated melodies, chord structures, and tempi to suit his personal feeling of the text.

Students of Wilkes will have the opportunity to hear this modern style in the near future. The cantata, incidentally, will be done by the chorus, solo voices, and a full orchestra.

PRESS CLUB BEGINS DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

WANTED—All Wilkes students interested in any phase of newspaper work. The Press Club needs you.

The membership drive recently begun by the club has been mildly successful. Any person desiring to learn how newspapers are published is welcome to join the club. An interest will also be taken in radio and television, with a field trip to one of the local broadcasting and telecasting stations.

Meetings are held in Barre Hall, Room 103, the first and third Thursday of each month, at 11:30 A. M.

Mary Louise Onufer and Audrey Radler are co-chairmen of the dance to be held December 8th in conjunction with the History Club. No definite plans have been made, but something special is promised.

Women's Intramurals Planned

The Women's Athletic Club held its first meeting on Thursday at 12:15. The girls are organizing intramural teams in volleyball, ping-pong, badminton and basketball. The schedules will be posted sometime next week. Any girl interested in playing in an intramural sport should get in touch with Betty Walsh.

Letters To The Editor:

Dear Editor:

My name is Sonny Squirrel, and I too have spent many interesting hours on the Wilkes campus. Several strange observations have therefore caught my attention in the past few weeks. One was the completely "squirrelly" letter written by Sam Weckesser to the editor of the Beacon last week. We Squirrels, I thought, were the ones who were supposed to be nutty, but I guess we will stick to oranges and let the "nuts" go to the dogs.

Anyhow, one night in my tree, just outside a window at Weckesser Hall, I saw a group of boys standing around Sam. Sam was diligently pecking away on the typewriter. I knew something was up because occasionally one of the fellows would laugh at something he thought was funny. By the way, Sam implied in last week's letter, that he was a student from Weckesser, however, from the quality and style of the letter, I feel that he just might have been the ghost writer for the "Dean's Corner" in the Beacon last year. When I read the letter, I knew that the mental ability of the boys from Weckesser just wasn't up to the intelligence of the dog who wrote the letter, and I said to myself, "Ah, ha! Just as I thought! Sam has been sticking his cold nose into someone else's business again." So, for fear that the men and women of the campus might be above replying to someone of Sam's canine heritage, I thought that I'd point out a few fallacies, or at least illogical conclusions that Sam made.

Now, I think Sam should know that, when we play football for example, we play along clearly defined rules. This answers the first of many false analogies he used. The signs Weckesser called a Homecoming display, seemed to be consistent with the rules of another contest. Further, Sam is confusing good sportsmanship with stoicism. I have occasionally seen Mr. Picton literally tear his hair, and members of the team "speak" to the referees when the officials called bad rulings against us. If this were not so, I would consider our team rather weak-kneed and gutless. This I feel, is not one of our problems in football. Dignity is fine, as Sam put it, but so is indignation when it is called for. Yet, I certainly don't think our team lacks sportsmanship. Something certainly smells, and Sam is right; it is not kennel-rations. It is his logic.

Now, suppose a contest were given for the best poem. Supposing five poems were submitted, and the judges awarded first prize to someone who submitted a painting to the contest. Would you smile and say that the judges have "reason and rule and a formula behind them", then in a sort of gutless stoic resignation say, "We must not bring this mistake to anyone's attention for we might be accused of not being good sports?"

You see, when one group of people says a thing is good and another group says it is bad, their values must be set upon different standards. One doesn't judge the value of a car using same criteria as one would when one judges the quality of a tennis racket. This was the gripe. The judges and Weckesser Hall missed the boat. The rest of the campus maintained that the judges need clearly defined areas to which they will restrict themselves in their judging. How else will the clubs and dorms know what to do when constructing a display? If all that need be done is to throw together a few signs, then I assure you that you will see a definite lack of originality (except perhaps in wording), lighting and creative imagination in future years' Homecoming displays.

CONTEST ON RESULTS OF ELECTIONS BEGINS

by Mary Louise Onufer

Dr. Hugo V. Mailey, head of the Wilkes College Political Science department, is sponsoring a contest based on predicting the outcome of the November 6 National elections.

The contest requires predicting the presidential electoral votes and the Senatorial seats from each state, as well as the 21st Senatorial and first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh legislative districts of Pennsylvania.

It will also be necessary to predict the presidential vote in this state within 10,000; the Clark-Duff vote within 1,000 and the Flood-Thomas results within 1,000.

This contest should promote some interest on campus in the election returns. Three winners will be chosen and prizes will be books on election trends.

The contest is open to the entire student body. Application blanks can be obtained from Dr. Mailey.

CS BROCHURES AT LIBRARY

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced the publication of a new directory of government career positions. The booklet is entitled "Federal Careers — a Directory for College Students".

Thirty-nine Federal agencies helped compile the description of over eighty different types of Government jobs. All of these positions are ones for which many college students might qualify.

The Directory is easy to read, illustrated, and emphasizes career opportunities, not just jobs. In addition to listing these openings, complete information is given concerning the federal government as an employer.

All students are invited to read this publication, available in the College library and with the Placement Director.

Also, since Sam has been around Weckesser Hall for well over a year he should know (in the words of several of the boys from that dorm, before the judging) "The reason we put up such a 'lousy' display this year, is that we lost last year." So I'd like to know a student's definition of sportsmanship. Is demanding a definite criterion by which to work the equivalent of poor sportsmanship, or is putting up a 'lousy' display to compensate for one's disappointment in losing the year before sportsmanship?

I, too, love Wilkes College, for about the same reasons that Sam does. But when he said that he wished that there was a little more Brooklyn spirit on campus, I raised an eyebrow. Not only do I hear the words "Wait 'til next year", (which I didn't hear and which wasn't evident from Weckesser last year), but I also hear an awful and mighty growl from the heart of Wilkes shouting in one great indignant voice "We - Wuz - Robbed!!!"

Your for Future Sportsmanship, SONNY SQUIRREL.

Dear Editor:

The sheen has worn off our trophy. We walk by it and hardly notice it. For a time, we revelled in our glory. But, alas, this is college, and there are more important things to be accomplished than to gaze at yesterday's trophy. The Men of Ashley Hall realize that. Soon, we hope, the boys' dormitories will realize the same thing. We tire of this adolescent foolishness. We have work to do.

Yours for better sportsmanship, The Men of Weckesser Hall

P.S.—If you have a bare mantel piece upon which to display a rather small, tarnished and battered trophy, by all means come on over and take it. (But it's an awful dust collector.)

Campus Groups Will Organize Underclassmen

Political conventions come to Wilkes College. It has been suggested by many Wilkes students that political parties be formed at the college to stimulate interest in school activities, to give the little guy a say in campus affairs, and to get the college out of its alleged "rut".

The Campus Party, the instigator of the idea, has suggested that each party will hold conventions to nominate class officers from their particular group. These candidates will then be put in front of their party and one will be selected to represent their party in the class election. The other candidates will be selected in the same way.

Thus, with two political parties working on campus, student representation will be complete. The minority groups, often forgotten, will have a chance to organize into a strong organization and have their say in class and campus activities. Parties will be organized in only the freshman and sophomore classes.

Criticism by the party which is not in power will literally keep the party in power "on its toes". Instead of small groups talking, there will be a powerful group discussing ideas, selecting ideas and presenting them to the student body.

Acting chairman of the Campus Party, Bill Smulowitz said in an interview Tuesday night: "Give it a chance — come around and listen and get a better idea of the party system before you reject it. Come and see me, and ask questions — get out of the rut."

Dean Ralston has been consulted about the parties and seems to like the idea. The set-up will allow the students to become acquainted with the workings of national politics.

The party system's goal is summed up in the preamble of the Campus Party: "We the students of Wilkes College, in order to form a centralized campus political organization, offer more representation to more people, have formed the Campus Party. We are hereby dedicated to the betterment of our student body and our college."

The first meeting will be held today, Friday, at 12:15 in Pickering 201. Students are invited to come to the meeting, listen, offer suggestions and opinions, but come before you decide.

The Administrative Council approved all extra-curricular activities budgets at their meeting yesterday afternoon. The Student Council's submitted budget was accepted, with but one change, an additional $25 in the Manuscript's allotment.

SOCCER TEAM SPLITS LAST TWO CONTESTS

Nick Giordano led a fired-up Wilkes soccer team to a 5-3 win over Elizabethtown College Saturday afternoon at rain-drenched Kirby Park.

Nick scored three times for the Colonels and his spark set the whole club on fire as they picked up win number two. The Blue and Gold has lost three and has one tie.

Wilkes scored twice in the first period on goals by Giordano and Tom Jenkins.

After the Lizzies notted the score at two-all in the third period Carl Havira and Giordano untied it. Nick finished the scoring with another tally in the last quarter.

Tuesday the Wilkesmen journeyed to Easton to meet the tough Leopards from Lafayette. The game was tightly played, with the Colonels going down to a 1-0 defeat.

Susquehanna University Captures 31-7 Victory From Wilkes Gridders

Scoring early and often, the Crusaders from Susquehanna University made their homecoming a success by downing Wilkes, 31-7, last Saturday at the victor's field.

The Crusaders scored twice in the first period, once after a blocked kick and once on a pass interception. Dick Purnell, Orange and Maroon quarterback, scored twice and led his teammates to three other TD's.

Trailing, 19-0, in the second quarter, the Colonels broke into the scoring column after Bill Farish had recovered a fumble on the Susquehanna 21. On fourth down, Ronnie Rescigno, starting on the home team's 10, raced back to the twenty-five before finding blockers and then went into the end zone for the score. Dick Wozniak kicked the first extra point the Colonels have made this year.

will not be rescheduled due to the fact that a date suitable to both schools is not available.

NICK GIORDANO WEEK'S 'ATHLETE' FOR FINE ELIZABETHTOWN GAME

Nick Giordano

Star Center Forward Given Title 2nd Time; 2nd Year With Squad

Nick Giordano was once again named athlete of the week for his brilliant play on both offense and defense against Elizabethtown last Saturday. This is the second time that the star center forward has been given the award. This week's award seems to support the old axiom, "It's tough to keep a good man down".

Nick, always showing plenty of drive and keen conditioning, sparked the Wilkes booters to their 5-3 victory over the Elizabethtown club. While the team went on the five-goal scoring spree, Nick personally accounted for three of them. He booted the first one in, in the second period of play, and the other two were driven into the nets late in the third period.

In addition to Giordano's powerful offensive drive, he sparked the team into a spirited, aggressive will-to-win with heads-up defensive play. Time after time he stole the ball from the opponents and set up plays with skillful dribbling and accurate passing.

Nick is a veteran varsity man now playing in his second year for Wilkes. He gained a starting spot on the team during his freshman year and has been a mainstay ever since.

"It's always a pleasure," said coach John Reese, "to watch the team when they play the kind of ball they played against Elizabethtown. It's too bad they all can't be given the athlete of the week award."

BOWLING LEAGUE "B" RECORDS 3 SHUTOUTS

The Intramural Bowling Leagues completed the first round of competition last Sunday evening at the Jewish Community Center. The "B" League featured its opening night with three shutouts.

The Shamrocks, rolling with the luck of the Irish, swept four points from the Superchargers. Jesse O'Choper was high man for the victors, but the win was the result of steady team bowling. Rose Weinstein came through with a 158-384 series to become high woman bowler for both leagues. Frank Rossi sparked the losers with a three-game total of 429, high for the match.

Barry Miller led the Ashley Hall Aces to a close win over the Athletes with his 229-585. The losers just missed taking the first game as Coach Reese scored a 200. Art Hoover and Dr. Michelini both looked pretty good after their long summer layoff.

The Strikers gathered four points by forfeit as only one member of the still un-named team 10 failed to appear.

All bowlers are reminded by League officials Barry Miller and Jane Keible that the tournament is being held to promote additional social activities among the students. The failure of teams to appear when scheduled defeats the purpose of the event by robbing those in attendance of a pleasant evening.

League "A" will again tumble the maplewood next Sunday evening, November 4th. The schedule shows the Ghost Riders opposing the Aristocrats on alleys 5 and 6. Warner's Learners meet the Sextets on 7 and 8, and the Flying Jets meet the Mixed Masters on 3 and 4.

All bowlers are asked to make special efforts to be on the scene early enough to start bowling at 7:15.

SOCCER GAME CANCELLED

The soccer game scheduled for tomorrow with East Stroudsburg in Kirby Park has been cancelled, according to Coach Reese. The game

by Cliff Kobland, Sports Editor

"FOOTBALL STORY"

How would you like to take the field for the past six Saturdays and play football only to come out losing for five of those six days? And after it is over, how would you like to hear some people say that you didn't give it all you have?

This is the situation the men who don the Blue and Gold have faced this season. They have been criticized from within the school itself and from outsiders. I say that if they think they can do better, why aren't they out there and playing instead of criticizing.

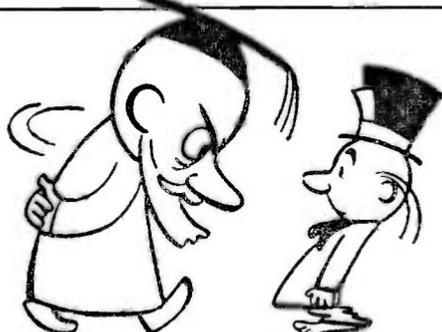

They may say that it is your privilege to criticize. True, but let's think before we criticize.

This team started out with 30 men. They had one coach. Now the team has 24 men and they still have one coach. This does not build a winning team since the coach is still the most important link in a winning unit, and one coach can not handle the load of teaching football to 24 men. But Russ Picton tries, and he has done a good job. And every Saturday these 24 men suit up and go out to the gridiron to play the best they know how.

This is not an easy job, but these men play their hearts out for Wilkes. They practice every afternoon when other students are taking it easy or doing some studying. Then at night, home they come, tired, battered and bruised. Then they start on their night work. And what do they get for this? Nothing! No gratitude, no recognition, no glory, just criticism.

Then what do they play for? They play for the fun of playing football and, maybe, deep in the backs of their minds, they hope that we will say, "Nice game, boys. You tried!"

WC UNITED FUND DRIVE TOPS GOAL WITH $2973

Dr. Reif Key Figure In Success of Drive; WC Faculty Over Top

Nearly one hundred and fifty per cent of the United Fund Quota set for Wilkes College has been met. The total amount collected on campus was $2,973.54. These figures indicated that the drive has been one of the most successful projects for charity and welfare agencies ever held at Wilkes.

Dr. Charles B. Reif, chairman of the college Biology Department, is largely responsible for the huge success of the charity drive. Through the combined efforts of Dr. Reif, Ed Kotula, Neil Dadurka, and Don Reynolds, both faculty members and students responded generously to the United Fund appeal.

Of the total amount contributed by the college, $2,273 was given by the faculty and $700.54 was given by the student body. The faculty goal was established at $1,000 as was that of the student body. The former greatly exceeded its goal while the latter had a seventy per cent representation.

The junior class reported the best participation total since sixty-seven per cent of two hundred students contributed. The total amount collected in that class was $134.50.

The senior class was represented by a fifty-three per cent contribution of $61.00 from the one hundred fifteen members in the class. Likewise, the sophomores had a fifty-three per cent representation of the two hundred eighty students in the class. The amount collected was $146.75.

The freshmen reported a fifty per cent representation from its three hundred fifty-five members. The amount collected was $175.00.

The lettermen contributed $20.00 to the Fund and the Freshman-Sophomore Dance earned $163.29.

Although the Wilkes College campus met and surpassed its goal for the drive, the Wyoming Valley drive fell short of its goal. Therefore, contributions are still being accepted. Anyone who desires to contribute may contact Dr. Reif, Kotula, Dadurka, or Reynolds.

Quotable Quotes

During the recent Homecoming activities, Dan Gawlas was asked, "Where are the prints?" Naturally he replied, "With the princess."

Dr. Hammer: "Did Shakespeare really write Shakespeare or was it somebody else by the same name?"

Overheard in the cafeteria: "It was so strange the way we met! We were actually introduced."

Jane Keibel: "I'm going to have a harem. But what do you call a woman's harem — a haremte?"

John Pisaneschi (upon receiving exam results): "That's the way the cookie crumbles!"

Marilyn Williams (studying for mid-terms): "You know worry is like a rocking chair — it gives you something to do, but it gets you nowhere!"

Dr. Reif (spotting a student yawning in the back row): "You ought to have a dentist look into that cavity."

Mr. Tener (trying to calm a panicked class before a Chaucer exam): "Giving a hard test is like pushing you against a wall . . . but (philosophically) you'll come through!"

Betty Jane Eisenpreis: "The wall???"

WRESTLERS CALLED

Any men interested in trying out for the intercollegiate wrestling team should contact coach John Reese in the gym. The first match is December 5th, so all who are interested, both lettermen and newcomers, should contact coach Reese immediately.

Hey, everybody! Here's a new stack of # Sticklers!

WHEN SMOKE FOLK get together, the chatter matter is fine tobacco. Naturally, that means Lucky Strike. Luckies' taste is worth talking about because it comes from fine tobacco—light, mild, good-tasting tobacco that's TOASTED to taste even better. As for the Stickler, you call the minutes of a smokers' convention a Light-up Write-up. Speaking of light-ups, have you tried a Lucky lately? You'll say it's the best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!

DON'T JUST STAND THERE . . .
STICKLE! MAKE $25

Sticklers are simple riddles with two-word rhyming answers. Both words must have the same number of syllables. (No drawings, please!) We'll shell out $25 for all we use—and for hundreds that never see print. So send stacks of 'em with your name, address, college and class to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mount Vernon, N. Y.
