Admiral Harold R. Stark

Admiral Harold R. Stark, Native of This City
Admiral Harold R. Stark, USN, (ret.), in whom honor the beautiful new science hall was built, has quite a distinguished record of service both to his country and to Wilkes College.

Admiral Staurt, a native of Wilkes-Barre, was educated in the Wilkes-Barre schools, and entered the Naval Academy after graduation from high school. Following the completion of his education at Annapolis, he remained with the United States Navy until retirement in 1946. Admiral Stark was chief of the United States naval operations and Commander of the European Naval Forces during World War II, and was rated as one of the top military officials of the Allied forces.

In 1953, when it was decided that Bucknell University Junior College should be opened, Admiral Stark generously donated the present administration building.
Michman New Adviser of Retailing Society; Year’s Projects Listed By Bill Zdancewicz

Mr. Ronald Michman, retailing society adviser, has announced the plans of the Wilkes Retailing Group this year. Mr. Michman, who attended the University of Lowell and received an M.A. degree in Retailing, is also a student at Wilkes, he is studying for his Ph.D. degree.

Having completed the college faculty, Mr. Michman worked in several retail stores in New York and New Jersey. He is a member of the New York University Retailing Club, Home Decorative Business Teachers Association, and Psi Chi Omega Fraternity.

The Retailing Group was formed last year to promote the secondary education of the Wilkes Economists Club. Mr. Michman shares the idea of gaining additional knowledge about retailing through group projects and supplementing programs with the Wyoming Valley Merchants Association.

The group’s various activities afford entrance not only to students in retailing but also to business students in general.

Projects last year included: visits to local retail establishments such as E. M. Fogler, Dick & Walker; Lazarus, and Percy Brown’s. Visions were also made to the visual and advertising studios of WREB, and to the National Retail Surplus Royalty

It seems that every time some campus organization wants to put on a “big” dance, they decide that they must have some kind of queen, princess, rani, shah, empress, cardinal, president, pope, or emir. Who are these people? The organization’s goal begins to get the idea that it’s a gimmick. And as we pile honor upon honor, it gets to the point where the law of diminishing returns sets in, and the people who hold the dubious honors when bestowed, the less prestige becomes attached to each title.

We are in favor of a reduction in the number of such honors to those who have earned it in the past year. The idea of crowning a Jim Ferris and Cinderella. Almost any other college or university has a homecoming queen and a May queen — Period. We don’t have the student body to support them. Why not just stick to them? How about that, Student Council?

It is also a fact that the honors are not going to the girls who deserve them. Most titles are elective and go to the underclassmen. If a princess or мом may not even remain on campus for four full years; she may leave to get married, take a job, be stationed, or leave for other reasons.

Also, an honor of this nature means more to a senior girl than it does to a freshman. It’s a pretty treasured memory to be able to say that one was Cinderella or Homecoming Queen as a senior, rather than have the memory fade in your mind before graduation. Moreover, after being Cinderella or Homecoming Queen or any other glittering title, what can a girl look forward to for the rest of college life?

The senior girls who are the most right to title candidates can expect to put in more than usually are given to their name. If a girl is pretty enough to win as a freshman, she certainly won’t be an old bag by the time she’s a senior. Let them use the title for what it’s worth, and not make the most of it.

The musical "Your Wagon," featured by the Lebanon Merchants Association, will be released this year. After the group has been nominated for best musical groups and featured in the annual Lebanon Republican, the Lebanon Merchants Association has taken charge to write their letter to the public of Lebanon, by John A. Gallager, regional manager of the Lebanon Merchants Association. The representation for this year are Joseph Leinman and Ronald Tremayne.

Quotable Quotes

Dr. Symons to his Soc. 200 class: “There are quite a few places where I can get the title ‘Mr. Wrong’ in U.S. — but, I won’t list them because you may think I’m recommending the ones!”

Jan. Leibowitz: “Don’t keep sending me invitations to join the fight against communism.”

Tom: “Why don’t you?”

Reporter: “I’d probably be arrested.”

The last word

Pity Paul Kaut, who says his credit is so bad that they won’t even take his cash of the J.C.C.

Wilkes College Beacon

Editorial

Help Wanted

The Beacon needs a good writing staff in order to produce a good student newspaper. So far the response of freshmen and upperclassmen has been quite disappointing. As we go to press, the fingers crossed for the remainder of the year. However, the business and circulation staffs need personnel very badly. Tom Rosencrantz and Myers and his two assistants have been working especially hard to do the work that should ordinarily be done by a large group of people. Their help would kindly volunteer to help Tom and his staff. The responsibility could be shared and a heavy task could become a lot of fun.

Easy Money

Once again the Beacon advertisers are giving Wilkes students an opportunity to earn money. Last year two dormitory residents won twenty-five dollars each. The Lucky Strike Sticker contest which appeared in every issue of this paper.

The Sticker Striker accepted by Lucky Strike will bring a bonus to its author, and chances to win are unlimited since any individual is permitted to submit as many stickers as he can create. The only feature necessary is that the group stickers are merely simple riddles with two-word rhyming answers. Start Sticking, there may be money in it for you.

Homecoming

Repeating an annual tradition, the Beacon editorial staff will select a Queen and two princesses to reign over the Homecoming festivities which are scheduled to be held on October 25th. The student body is needed to select the candidates who will vie for the competition. Any Wilkes coed is eligible to win the homecoming queen crown. Candidates must be a member of the freshman class, and she has been nominated by a member of the student body. The judging will be based on beauty and personality. A member of the faculty will write the name of the editor nominating the candidate of your choice. All letters must be signed or else they will be disregarded. With this system of nomination the process by which last year’s Queen and her court were chosen.

Nominations must be in the hands of the judges before noon on October 25th. Any student who dresses correctly and is announced in the October 25th issue of the Beacon. Send in your nomination because your candidate may be the winner.

A ‘Beacon’ Salute

The Beacon staff expresses its deep appreciation to Grace Schneider who helped make possible the new Beacon flag.

Happy Birthday

Sunday will be another big day in the life of the man who has been the principle factor in the rapid expansion of the college. Because of his endless events such as the dedication of the Stark Science Hall have been made possible.

A leader in civic affairs, he has established firm bonds between the college and the community. Dr. Farley, the Beacon wishes you a happy birthday.

FIRST PEP RALLY HELD AT TUESDAY’S ASSEMBLY

by Tom Rosencrantz

The pep rally, usually featured the annual pep rally designed to acquit student organizations and student leaders, the band, the coaches of the various sports and the team captains and captains.

Mr. Bob Moran was in charge of the program, Stark Hall, and Mr. John Chwallo, placement director, opened the proceedings by urging the students to attend this afternoon’s dedication of Stark Hall. Ronnie Tremayne, the assistant manager of freshman housing, urged the students to get out the varsity and individual housing but rather in group action such as today’s West End cheer.

The cheerleaders, in their new outfit, were featured in an opportunity to shout out the cheers and sing a few songs.

George Batten, our first football coach, introduced the co-captains of the football team, Mike Hyde and Ronnie Recznik. Mr. Batten’s last game was game when he made the team. Mr. Recznik announced that any young man interested in playing, practice is welcome.

Bob Moran closed the assembly with the reminder that there are two dates all students should remember... Friday at 4:00, the dedication of Stark Hall. Saturday at 6:00, the Lebanon Valley game. If you have not come in today, you have a chance to come in before it is too late. Good luck!

SAM LOWE ANNOUNCES CHORUS ACTIVITIES

by Samuel M. Salinsky

One of the most talented groups at the college is its male chorus, the Collegians, which is under the direction of Sam Lowe, senior music major. The organization is very popular among the students for its outstanding performances.

Sam Lowe, who also directed the choir, is in every department of Music Education, with a career as a professional singer being his ultimate goal. Sam is now residing at Warner Hall.

The Collegians’ first singing performance is scheduled for October 3 at Hotel Soriano, where they will entertain the Kiwanis Club.

Then the group will be featured in the annual Pageant of Music production, Paint Your Wagon, on the stage of the Scranton Scranton Community Center. The musical portion of the show centers around the chorus itself. The group will be seen and heard on many future occasions throughout the semester.

Although the dates have not been announced, Lowe announced that at least twenty performances will be given this year.

The singing group, composed of about thirty-five members, holds practices several times a week to make sure that every performance is a success.

DEAN OF MEN GEORGE RALSTON RETURNS TO GRID COACHING JOB

by John Cook

George Ralston looks like an athlete. He is the compact body of the man who has spent considerable time on the playing field: hard and firm, capable of instantaneous execution of the demands of the mind. This semester he will put to good use the experience gained through a half lifetime of playing and coaching in the performance of his duties as head coach of the Wilkes football squad.

By no means a newcomer to sports at Wilkes, Dean Ralston serves as Director of Athletics for the school. Four years of varsity football and baseball at Susquehanna High School prepared him for participation in the same sports at the University of North Carolina, as a result of which he received Crall Scholarship trophies. Incidentally, while at the university, Dean Ralston roomed with George Stirnweiss, who was later to achieve fame as second baseman for the New York Yankees.

World War II saw Dean Ralston in khaki, and in 1946 he was discharged from the Army with the rank of major, whereupon he came to Wilkes and was appointed Director of Athletics. That fall, he spark-plugged the football team with uncommon zest, leading the squad to an impressive undefeated, untied record. Again in 1949 he produced a superlative team, the highest-scoring in the state for that season.

In 1955 Dean Ralston left Wilkes for a period of one year to study for his doctorate at Columbia University, returning not only with his degree, but also with a wife, the former Mrs. Helen Ritter Hawkins. During his absence Mr. Russell Piton served as head grid coach. A graduate of Wilkes and president of both his class and the Letterman’s Club in his senior year, Mr. Piton had worked under the Dean as an assistant coach for two years.

An advocate of sports for everyone, Dean Ralston believes that such activities constitute an intrinsic part of education, providing opportunities for development not available in the classroom. Quoting a former president of Harvard College, the Dean referred to sports as “probably the best lab in college,” a place to develop such virtues as sacrifice, self-discipline, and self-reliance. During the course of a 60-minute football game, a quarterback is required to make a minimum of 160 instantaneous, unaided decisions, probably more than those made by a business executive in a month.

Dean Ralston intends to employ a basic single-wing attack this year, as he has in the past.

INTRAMURAL BOWLING SEASON
TO OPEN OCTOBER 6 AT J.C.C.

The Intramural bowling season is tentatively scheduled to begin operations in the newly renovated Jewish Community Center alleys on Sunday, October 6.

All persons interested in participating are urged to get their names on the list posted on the bulletin board outside the cafeteria.

Because of the new automatic pin-setters, the price of the games has been raised by the JCC to 48 cents. Shoe rental is 15 cents. The trophy fund fee will remain at 5 cents per game, in spite of the rising costs of trophies in the past year. Because of the automatic alleys, however, the necessity for tipping pinboys has been abolished, making the cost of bowling this season only slightly higher than last.

A team handicap method of scoring will be employed this year. It was announced by student director Dick Myers. Instead of allowing more powerful teams to roll up huge margins over less fortunate ones, the averages of each team member will be added before the contest, and two-thirds of the difference in the totals will be awarded to the lesser team. That figure will be that team’s handicap for the entire three-game series.

For the first night of bowling, the first game will be played with no handicap. For the second contest, two-thirds of the difference in total pinfall will be awarded to the lesser team as their handicap for that game, then for the final match, the “spot” will be determined by the totals of the first two games combined.

From the first night until the end of the season, a running record will be kept of all bowlers, averages, and total pinfalls. A form listing the official league averages of all bowlers will be issued to each team captain immediately preceding each series.

If sufficient bowlers are available, two leagues will be formed. With the automatic equipment, the JCC is open earlier than in the past, and both leagues will be able to bowl in the same night, giving everyone a chance to bowl every week rather than once every two weeks, as the hand-set games made (continued on page 5)

Soccer Team Shapes Up Under New Head Coach, First Game October 5 by Jim Henningham

The major change to be found in the Wilkes soccer team is not in the player personnel, but in the head coach position. This is the debut year of James Ferris, the assistant coach here at Wilkes.

Last season, Ferris was the assistant coach under John Reese. The new coach was graduated from Wilkes College in 1956 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Secondary Education. During his undergraduate days, Coach Ferris authored several annual letters in soccer, football, basketball, and baseball. He served as co-captain of the basketball team in his senior year. He filled the same capacity on the baseball team with both his junior and senior years.

In recognition of his great athletic accomplishments, the Colonel Athletic Board in the fall of 1957, presented to Coach Ferris the Roosevelt Award and the Howard W. Davis Award in his junior year.

GRADUATE TESTS SCHEDULED

General Exams Given By E.T.S. Are Required By Many Universities

The admission test for Graduate study in Business, required for entrance, is a number of graduate schools or divisions throughout the country, will be offered on four dates during the coming year, according to the Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the tests. During the 1956-57 year, many took the test in partial satisfaction of admission requirements of graduate business schools which prescribe it.

A candidate must make separate application for admission to each business school of his choice and should inquire of each whether it wishes him to take the admission test for graduate study in business and when. Since many business schools select their entering classes in the spring preceding their entrance, candidates for admission to the 1956 classes are advised to take the test as early as possible.

The test is not designed to test specific specialties in specialized academic subjects. Normal undergraduate training provides sufficient general knowledge to answer the test questions. Sample questions and information regarding registration for the admission test may be obtained in a Bulletin of Information.

The test will be administered on November 26, 1956 and February 6, April 19, and July 26 in 1957.

CUE ‘N’ CURTAIN CASTING FOR ROLES IN PRODUCTION

by Peggy Kratz

Cue ‘n’ Curtain has already cast for musical and speaking roles in its first 25 plays but newcomers will soon be getting underway.

This fall presentation will be a smash musical comedy, Paint Your Wagon, which will open October 6th and continue through the 19th at the Iron Temple. Other musicals that have cast and are in the works are Gypsy, Thoroughly Modern Millie, and Liars’ League.

In addition, a December offering of Pajama Game, followed by a new production of Spring Awakening has been announced.

For the coming year the officers are as follows: Merri Jones, president; Paul Abrams, vice president; Fred Wippel, secretary; Janet Gieddard, sergeant; and Shirley Brooks Myers, historian. The club’s advisor and director, Mr. Alfred Grob, has announced that Cue ‘n’ Curtain will hold a meeting in Chase Theater.

Plans are in progress for party to which interest is being shown in joining the club will be invited.

A noticeable change is that positions are open for backstage workers in the lines of lighting, set design, construction, and makeup.

STOCK EXCHANGE

Some lucky stock men may get to be a "Wall Street Wizard" before the semester is over. A student has been placed on the stock exchange board for Remington Rand’s "Share of the Month" plan. If the student wins one of the prizes which the stock winner gets stocks of his choice in value to the winning amount in the New York Stock Exchange.

Remington Rand will present the stock certificates. In addition to the first prize, there are 50 stock prizes.

If the winner has purchased a Remington Electric Shaver during the month of September and October, until December 1, all prizes are doubled.

First prizes then become equivalent to two shares of every common stock on the Exchange. Entry blanks are at any Remington Rand sales counter and will also be available at local bookstores.

List, Look, Saturday Evening Post, Parade, and in newspaper supplement and comic inserts.

If Remington Rand had held this contest 50 years ago, when it turned out the first of its 20,000,000 shavers, financial authorities estimate that the $15,000,000 in prize money could have purchased stocks that would have a value today in the millions.

Mr. Werner to Dr. Ricy: "When you and I married, we had a debt of $10,000. Since then, do you get two coaches and be down?"

by Joe Tedtryk

Dr. Farley addressed the student body at the opening assembly of the fall semester, as described in his speech concerned the challenges that we as individuals, must face on campus.

Dr. Farley stressed the idea that the men and women of our time are progressing very rapidly and that we must meet these changes by becoming aware of them. Otherwise, if we do not meet them they will tend to destruction rather than to success.

Edward kotula, president of the Student Council, expressed the desire of the College that the student body attend the dedication of the new science building, Stark Hall.
