RONNIE RESCIGNO WINS ANNUAL BEACON CUP

by DICK MYERS, Sports Editor

Ronnie Rescigno, one of the greatest backfield aces ever to call a Wilkes signal, today walked off with another title to add to his growing list. The BEACON sports staff, aided by the balloting of the coaches, athletic department, and Public Relations Office, takes a great deal of pleasure and pride in congratulating Ron on winning the "Athlete of the Year" award. He will have his name permanently inscribed on the trophy on display in the gym today, and will receive a gold replica of the cup for his personal possession at Tuesday's assembly program at the First Presbyterian Church.

Ron, a senior education major, has been an athletic standout here for the past four years, and has been a starting player on the football squad in every game. This year, he climaxd his collegiate career with some of the classiest football ever witnessed in National small college circles.

Among the many honors he has received, it would be difficult to say which should be most highly prized. The Beacon is honored to add its kudos to such awards as: All-East Back of the Week, an honor he shared with players from Army, Navy and Syracuse; member of the Associated Press All-State squad; member of the Eastern Collegiate Conference All-East Backfield of the Year; three times named to Honorable Mention in the nationwide Williamstown "Little All-Americans" Poll, with Special Mention, a newly created category, during the past season. In addition to these State, regional, and National awards, he has been named to the All-Opponents' squad by just about every team he has faced.

The National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, statistical organ of the NCAA, listed the Colonial sparkplug among the top third of the nation's small college ball carriers, with 810 yards gained in 180 carries, an average of nearly five yards per carry over the whole season.

Balloting Close

The voting race was close at the final tally, but the stocky, 5-7 little gridiron giant gathered an overwhelming number of first place ballots, each valised at five votes, seven out of eleven cast, to win by 47 to 35 over his nearest rival, wrestling co-captain Jim Ward, who finished underfed in his last two and one-half years of college.

CINDERELLA BALL THIS EVENING

Melton Band Featured;
Local Coverage Planned
For Crowning Ceremonies

by Jim Eldem

As the wise old owl on campus is saying... "Who will be Cinderella?" The identity of the winning candidate will be revealed tonight as the clock strikes twelve, at the annual formal Cinderella Ball. Dancing will be from 9 to 11, with Jack Melton and his orchestra furnishing the music.

The crowning of Cinderella will be covered by local television and radio facilities. The lucky candidate will be the recipient of several gifts from local businessman concerns, a portable radio, and a diamond dinner ring presented by Kay Jewlers.

Dr. Farley will crown Cinderella, who has been chosen by student vote from among eleven candidates. Nominees are: Mary West, Theresa Handler, Marilyn Zane, Mary Passarelli, Carolyn Gniezinski, Virginia Leonardi, Ruth Younger, Peggy Stevens, Judy Menegus, and Ginny Brehm.

The gymnasium has been elaborately decorated for this important occasion. Bob Morris, chairman of decorations, and his committee have bathed the gym in purple and Siamese pink crepe paper. A gorgeous satin abstract backdrop, featuring a large gold "C" will also be featured. The lobby of the gym will also be appropriately decorated for the affair. Each lady in attendance will receive a special favor.

A receiving line will be established to the door to welcome the guests as they arrive. Among the members of the receiving line are: Dr. and Mrs. John Doane, Dr. and Mrs. George Ralston, and senior class Student Council members.

Ed Kotsla, President of the Student Council, is serving as the general chairman for the prom. He is being assisted by co-chairman Tom Ruggiero. Other committee heads are Ron Tremayne, ticket; Tom Thomas, flowers; Bob Morris, decorations; Barbara Federer, invitations and favors. Bill Davis is in charge of programs; Joe Oliver and John Muhall are directing the Color Guard.

LEHET "BUNDLE"

The BEACON Editorial staff, 1957 edition, has a sure-fire editor according to the latest word from General Hospital, where Mr. and Mrs. John Lehert announced the birth of a son, Johnny, Jr., weighed in at five pounds last Saturday evening.

NOTICE!

There will be a BEACON meeting today at noon on the third floor of 159 South Franklin Post.

The fairy godmother's wand moves slowly, hesitating frequently, but never stopping as she surveys the eleven candidates for Cinderella, 1958. Her choice is hard, for here are represented the fairest and most lovely seniors on the Wilkes campus. At exactly midnight tonight her wand will pass, then stop completely, pointing at the girl who is to become Wilkes Colleage's Cinderella. The choice of the youngest seniors are: Edith Lehet, Virginia Leonardi, and Ginny Brehm, Mary West, Marilyn Carl, Maryan Powell, Linda Passarelli, Peggy Stevens, Judith Younger, Carolyn Goeringer, and Virginia Leonardi.

NEVER SAY DIE

Anyone who reads the Beacon consistently will undoubtedly notice that our staff and the college have been operated in a peaceful and cooperative manner. English teachers not only have a better chance of landing a nice job, but they also can get a higher pay because they have been trained to do their jobs better.

High school teachers in most areas are given a substantial raise in pay if they are in a position to advertise the school paper. Being the only high school paper especially for high school students holds considerable weight with the people who are going to hire you when you graduate.

But remember, if you plan going to go on a limb and say that anyone who joins the Beacon staff next year will automatically become an editor in the following year, we would like to point out that there is only one step up the ladder on the stuff this year.

The 1958-60 Beacon editorial staff is a goal worth shooting at—beginning in September.

WILKES STUDENT DISCUSS DEMANDS OF LABOR UNIONS

by Philip Lear

Trade Unions are expanding their demands on our economy which will no longer be disregarded for the economy’s ability to meet them. The big unions in the basic industries make yearly demands for wage increases and other benefits for employees, in order to keep up with actual gains at crucial times of the year, at least some of the union’s demands.

These demands met by the key companies in the industry are bringing about a chain reaction for the entire economy. Labor unions, in general, have gotten too much. The country now is in the worst depression of American free enterprise since the depression of a collective form of economy. This will happen in direct proportions.

Because of the constantly rising prices, people will come to the realization that their savings and pensions are not as completely safe as they actually are losing precious buying power. Consequently, private saving will decrease. Without sufficient private saving, our economy will be unable to continue to expand.

In such a situation, the only solution is a change in our government’s attitude towards the labor movement; we cannot bring a widespread unemployment because the increase in prices would mean, even to the most productive conservatives, that the protective measure which the taxpayers pay the labor movement has been too late.

By this time, a large enough part of the economy will be in a state of depression to be able to stop the steady movement of dividends, or by taking care of the wages so that we will be able to cross the vague dividing line that separates a collective economy from that of free enterprise.

A collective economy is also likely to lead to a reorganization of the public’s own annoyance at the instability of inflation as caused by the wage-range patterns of labor relations. The public will demand compulsory government regulation of price levels. If these are to be fixed, prices must also be raised if wages are raised because if wages are raised, then the prices will also be raised to cover increased labor costs. Thus, prices will be fixed, we have controlled an economy.

The flood of imports into the country is an example of the problems that exist today. But if wages are raised, then the prices will also be raised to cover increased labor costs.

FOUR S. C. MEMBERS RETAIN POSTS

C. C. U. N.
The Wilkes chapter of the Collegiate Council of the United Nations elected new officers last week. Lois Betner will be the group during the next year. Assisting Miss Betner will be Vice-President Bob Asey, Secretary Mary Angeli, and Treasurer Al Luster. All of the new officers have been active members of the group during the last year.

BIOLOGY CLUB
Barry Miller, Biology Club president, announced the results of the recent election for next year's officers. Seniors were: President, John Salu; Vice-President, Jerome Gutterman; Treasurer, Nick Giordano; Secretary, Arlene Gallia; and Program Chairman, Cledith Miller.
The new officers also form the Executive Committee of the club.

The club's program for this year will be held on May 15 at the regular Thursday meeting. Dr. John Bierhaski, optometrist, will speak on this subject to the club.

The meeting will begin at 11 and will be held in 320 Hall. All students and faculty members are invited to attend.

HISTORY CLUB
Claude Fein, who heads the club, graduating history major, is announced that the club has recently purchased a Columbia Encyclopedia worth twenty-five dollars for the history department.

This is one of the many successful projects which the club has undertaken during the past year.
They sponsored the appearance of former French premier Camille Chautemps at an assembly program, sold historical plates in honor of the college's anniversary year, and sponsored a dance and several films.

At the club's recent elections, the officers were chosen as next year's officers: President, Dan Lewis; Vice-President, Art Evans; Secretary, Gil Davis; Treasurer, Bob Davis, who was reelected to this position.

Retiring officers are President
Michael, Vice-President Paul Tracy, and Secretary Dan Lewis.

Dr. Harold Thatcher is adviser to the group.

CHEMISTRY CLUB
The Wilkes College Chemistry Club was host to the annual Intercollegiate Chemical Society of Northeastern Pennsylvania last Tuesday evening at a banquet in the Commons.

The Intercollegiate Chemical Society of Northeastern Pennsylvania is made up of chemistry students from the four local colleges—Muhlenberg, King's, Scranton U., and Wilkes.

Speaker at the dinner was Dr.
David Heine, professor of chemistry at Bucknell University. Subtect of Dr. Heine's talk was, "The Chemistry of Lockjaw".

After the dinner reports on the activities of the chemistry clubs each of the four colleges were read. A featured speaker and social hour was also held at this time.

Ann Dixon served as general chairman for the dinner and was announced by Rai Valenti and Carole Lowaveage, tickets; Rita Matelik-ows, flowers; Gale Hughes and Maurice Jannes, table decorations; Judy Warnick, entertainment; Virgina Leonard and Bob Jonas, programs; and Mim Thomson, meals.

Mary Mathey is president of the club and Francis Salley is the club adviser.

CHEERLEADERS
The 1958-59 edition of the cheerleader squad has been announced by Captain Jean Brodsky. The "yellow team" will consist of the following new members: Mary Darling, Pat Sanders and Judy Allinkoff. Substitutes are: Marty Meneker and Judy Merker.

Returners to the squad will be Captive John Brodsky; The Colson,
Gene Stickler; Raye Thomas; Mary Anne Turner, Georgianna Seboila, and Muille Spinelli.

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE
The assembly committee has announced the election of four new members for the coming year. The four freshmen will fill the vacan-
members are: Nick Gatto, Bill Davis, Elizabeth Hovechek and N Sandra Unger.

Retiring seniors are: Chairman
Rita Matelikows, John Scanlade, Ginny Brehm, and Ruth Younger.

The assembly committee prepares all the details for each week's assembly. They are in charge of arranging for speakers and coordinating the club assemblies. At Tuesday's assembly, at the First Presbyterian Church. an award will be given for the best student assembly.
COLONELS TIGHTEN GRIP ON FIRST PLACE

"Forky" Roots
Eddie Binbaum

By DICK MYERS, Sports Editor

Before going into the business at hand, we'd like to make a public appeal to John Reese to follow up a red hot prospect for his 170 lb. wrestling squad. We got a hot tip last week that a new talent in the five-pound (plus) class put in an appearance in Beacon boss Janie Schuster Lahot. The future Colonel star was so anxious to start training that he arrived over a month before his official starting time. We are happy to report that his debut was a howling success and that Johnny and Jan are both doing well.

Welcome aboard, lad, and congratulations to Jan and John, Sr.

LET'S BE "COUTH"

At Monday's baseball game between the Colonels and the Lebanon Valley Flying Dutchmen, tactics begetting cheating methods were too obvious in the stands.

Perhaps the nasty weather had an unsettling influence on the shivering spectators, but it seems that some of the remarks passed on to the visitors by the onlookers were rather unnecessary.

At the time, we jokingly remarked that such comments should not go without editorial comment. Upon later reflection we wondered if this indeed might be the best course, since all we should have shown a bit better judgement. Even the Wilkes players were amused by the "bickerings" of the fans, especially a few sealed in the vicinity of this reporter.

Shouldeering an equal share of the blame, this writer extends the apologies of the Wilkes fans to the underammed, unhappy Lebanon Valley Nine, who were hampered by a rainy day, lack of personnel, a tiresome journey — and some slight pitching by Ed Binbaum, it could be added.

Golfers In MAC Tourney Tomorrow

Whip Warriors 13-5; For 2nd Straight Win After Edging M.S.T.C.

On Wednesday, at the rain-soaked Temple College Club, the golf squad splashed to a decisive, 15-5 win over the winning Warriors. The win was the second straight for the Colonels, who had never won a match before last Thursday's Mansfield contest. Four Wilkesmen curved shutouts: Art Bostick, second man; Bob Januszko, third; Pete Purpos, fourth; and Pete McLaughlin, playing sixth in his first starting assignment. Each won by 3-0 scores. Joe Hinny, fifth man, took the front nine for the final point. Today coach Furrer and the foursome of Ed Mikolaitis, Januszko, Purpos, and Art Belles traveled to Juniata, host school for the 1956 Middle Atlantic College Championships.

Last night, the squad was at Mansfield for a return match with the Teachers, but the meet was held too late to be shown. The press team was incomplete, as the fashion Sears, second man, Karl Henke, third, and Bill Woll, fourth, were unable to make the trip.

BASEBALL TWIN-BILL ON ROAD TOMORROW OPENS FINAL DRIVE

A busy week awaits the pennant-seeking Colonel nine when they see action in four games, three in conference play. Tomorrow, at 2:00 p.m., they travel to Carlisle for a doubleheader with the Red Devils of Dickinson. It is the second doubleheader scheduled for the season, the first was washed out at Lycoming on April 12. The Colonels go into the “home stretch” with a league-leading 6-0 record.

On Tuesday, May 15, Wilkes will host Upsala at 4:00 p.m. The game will be played at Artillery Park in Kingston. After a day’s rest, the Colonels take to the road again for a conference battle with the Ursinus Bears, at Collegeville, Thursday, May 16, at 3:15 p.m.

The Wilkesmen will be counting heavily on two left-handed hurlers to carry most of the pitching chores. Ed Bostick and “Pretty” Heats have been nothing less than sensational in their past two games. Bostick is riding a three-game streak; Heats has won his last two outings. Each has been stingy with hits, allowing a total of five between them in the last 15 innings, total of two runs.

With the remarkable ball-hawking of freshman Walt Folek at third, tight, keystone play of Rich Reisgeno and Joe Parnik, and the great stretch jobs by Mike Dwyo at first, the Colonels present a formidable infield.

Ray Knykanski, George Gage (he’s a fine pitcher, too), and Ralph Henderson patrolled the outfield and slugging John Harvey superseded from behind the plate in which appears to be one of the finest Wilkes squads in some years.

The season’s results and remaining schedule:

May 15—Dickinson Away—2:00
16—Upsala Home—4:00
18—Lehigh Valley Home—4:15
19—Susquehanna Home—3:00
24—Susquehanna Away—3:30

Tennis Squad to Oppose Red Devils Tomorrow; Home Monday, Friday

by Bill Wall

Sunday, the Colonels' tennis team dropped an 8-1 decision to the second-semester excursion of the Lehigh Valley in the Lehigh Valley area when they meet the Muhlenberg Mules at Allentown in a Middle Atlantic Conference meet.

Tomorrow the Colonels journey to Carlisle to do battle with the rugged Red Devils of Dickinson, return home for matches with Rider on Monday, May 12, and at Ursinus, Friday, May 17.

Ira Himel and Bill Savitsky played their usual fine games, but dropped close sets to their opponents.

The thrill of the day, as far as the Wilkes squad was concerned, was provided by freshman Paul Riefer, an Accounting major from New York City, who had never held a tennis racket prior to this season. In last week’s match the Wilkesman with a brilliant comeback after dropping the first set to his opponent. He placed his shots well, playing a crisp game after losing, 6-3, and regaining two sets in two straight sets, 6-3 and 6-2, to turn in one of only Wilkes point of the match.

The squad in general, however, showed vast improvement after being hampered at the start of the season by bad weather and lack of suitable practice courts. Many of
JOHN METCALF SPEAKS ON USE OF ATOMIC POWER

Mr. John Metcalf, newspaper correspondent from Washington, D.C., was guest speaker at Tuesday's assembly program. Metcalf's topic dealt mainly with international affairs and the positions of the United States and Russia in the atomic race.

The rather recent change in Soviet government and attitude, according to Metcalf, is not actually a change but merely a toning down or changing of gears in attitude. The Soviet leaders feel that the Americans realize that an all-out war would be the eventual destruction of their countries, thus the existing stalemate was formed.

The internal terrorism with the Soviet controlled countries seems to be down because of the existing set-up of government which consists of a large number of small dictators, none of whom approach the power of Stalin, being pressured by revolts in the satellite countries.

Mr. Metcalf answered the questions of fears of a war because of a blunder of some militarist connected with atomic weapons. Everything, according to the speaker, realizes that the next war could not be possible because of the number of countries involved in any move.

Mr. Metcalf also spoke on the use of atomic power for constructive purposes. He mentioned some of the advanced scientific inventions which are possible because of the new power. These include trans-Atlantic submarine journeys for 1000 passengers in two hours, trans-Atlantic trains for handling pulled by atomic-powered submarines and plans for a 1000-pound submarine, which are now underway.

T.D.R. Buffet Planned; Mary Homan Elected Sorority President

By Paul Sweeney

At the Tuesday night meeting, the outgoing officers of T.D.R. installed the newly-elected officers. Peggy Stevens, past president, presided over the meeting and presented a carnation to Mary Homan who will be taking her place next year as President of the sorority.

The other officers are Judy Richardson, Vice-President; Patricia Fushok, Treasurer; and Martha Menegus, Secretary. Each of the young women were presented with one long-stemmed carnation.

At the meeting the up-coming Senior Buffet, to be held May 14 in the Commons, was discussed. Pat Bedecki, chairman of the affair, announced that all T.D.R. members were invited to attend the banquet honoring the senior women.

The girls planning to attend should contact Bernadine Vidunas, chairman of the refreshment committee, and make arrangements about the food they will be contributing.

During the program, Maryellen Connell, a junior majoring in Elementary Education, will be presented with the T.D.R. scholarship. The officers and Executive Council will select Miss Connell as the recipient of the annual award.

The Dean's Cup will be presented to the outstanding Senior girl on the basis of scholarship.

Glen Alden Corporation Offices, Adjoining Home of President

Purchased Early This Week

By Marion J. Klewano

Welles College's Twenty-fifth Anniversary Development Campaign reached a total of three million dollars early this week with the addition of contributions from the Glen Alden Corporation, the Glen Alden Foundation, the Albert A. List Foundation, Inc., and an anonymous friend.

These contributions enabled the college to purchase the office building of the Glen Alden Corporation and adjoining house of the Ex-President, Mr. John Metcalf. Wilkes College Francis Case had previously purchased the house of the College President, and Welles College also included the parking lot now being used by the Glen Alden employees.

Dr. Eugene S. Farley, in an exclusive interview with the Beacon last Wednesday, stated that "we are beginning to realize the potential of the college of the future. The campaign was conducted, we never dreamed that this building was available but when we realized that it was, the Board took immediate advantage of the situation.

"By using the home next to the Glen Alden building, and by transferring cameras from homes in the block between South Street and Northampton, we will have space for an additional 125 dormitory students.

"Dr. Farley stated that within the next two or three years, Barcode, Hall, and Beech Halls will probably be converted to dormitories and the classes now in these buildings will be held in the Glen Alden Building.

"The Commerce and Finance department and several other business departments will be housed on the first and second floor of the new building. The fourth and fifth floors will probably be used by the Art and Art Department. Faculty offices will occupy the first floor.

"There is a possibility that the Comptroller's office may also be moved to the new quarters next year.

"Since the Art and Music departments will be transferred to the new building, Dr. Farley states that the plans for a new Fine Arts Building will be dropped. However, he remarked that sometime in the next future an auditorium large enough to seat the entire student body will be constructed on the college-owned property originally planned for the Arts Building.

"The house acquired by the college is located right next door to the Glen Alden building, 51 South River Street. Mrs. Getzoffe Allen, who announced that this house will be used as a dormitory next year. The addition of the new dormitory brings the total number of dormitories on campus to ten, six of these will be girl dorms next year.

"Weiss Hall, the upstairs of which is now a men's dorm, will be converted into a girl dormitory this summer.

"The parking lot which was purchased along with the Alden building will accommodate from sixty cars to sixty cars. The location of the lot is immediately behind the building, and will be across the street from the home.

"Dr. Brandbury, executive vice-president of the Glen Alden Corporation, stated that the corporation is making arrangements to move its home office to its nearby Colby College in nearby Ashley. He explained that the corporation is cooperating with the administration of the college and the city of Northampton. It is also possible that session of the River Street buildings to the college will be made as possible, probably by early fall.
