SOPHOMORES TO HOLD DANCE; ESQUIRES TO PROVIDE MUSIC

by Tony Scaramenzi

The Sophomore Class, hoping to reach the status of their more successful seniors, is sponsoring a dance tonight in the college gymnasium. The feature attraction of the event is the Esquires, who will provide music for the evening. The Sophomore Class, in an effort to distinguish itself from the freshmen, has organized this event.

Last year the present sophomore class conducted many successful activities, such as the Underclass Dance. The activity was held in the present junior class in which all proceeds were given to the United Fund of the United States. This year, the Sophomore Class will hold a dance in the college gymnasium, and a sport dance which they conducted themselves.

John Mulhollan, newly elected class president, is setting the tone for the affair with help from the other officers and class members. Carl Hafner, treasurer, handled the printing and distribution of tickets, while Betty Miller and Dorothy Boyle, both officers, took care of publicity.

Sophs, desiring to belong to the Executive Committee will be selling tickets at 50 cents each with details of the affair. The clean-up committee consists of volunteers.

UNITED FUND DRIVE WILL BEGIN MONDAY

by Dorothy Ford

The Wyoming Valley for the United Fund campaign is $1,299,000. This amount, Wilkes is expected to raise by the end of the month. Last year the student body contributed $898,000. This year, because of the greater enrollment, it is estimated that the students will be asked to contribute 50 cents for each dollar received last year. The various clubs, which in past years have contributed a large portion, have once again urged to participate to help make the drive a success.

Fred Roberts, director of the Department of the A.F.L.-C.I.O., has expressed confidence that the drive will be successful. He said, "The students are already interested in the drive and are anxious to help in any way they can."

Alumni Plans Schedule For Homecoming Affair; Queen to Be Selected by Jim Edman

One of the most important events of the college year, Homecoming week, has begun. The week always features a schedule of events, as it has done in the past.

Activities for the weekend will commence Friday evening, October 21, when the alumni will hold an Open House Party at O'Connell's, located at 124 Main Street. Also scheduled for that evening is the yearly Homecoming Dance in the P.K. Coven of Homecoming.

Saturday's schedule will include a dinner at the University, attended by alumni, followed by their annual meeting, and a tour of the recently acquired quarters of the campus. At 7:30 p.m., the Wilkes Colonels and Herftra.

Saturday afternoon will be high-lighted by the annual football game; this year the Colonels will play against the Penn State Nittany Lions. To complete the festivities, the Colonels will hold their annual dance at the Imperial Temple Club. A dance committee has been set up to members of the senior class to assist in planning the event. The orchestra will be on hand to furnish the music.

One of the main features of the affair will be the election of the Homecoming Queen, who will be selected from the best-dressed buildings on campus. Decorations are judged according to the following categories: adherence to the theme (5 points); originality (5 points); class standing, color, and class representation (10 points), both the Colonels and Herftra will share blue and gold as their colors, it is possible that there will be an abundance of these colors used in the decorations.

What is selected as the winner of the judges will receive the trophy and be named the winner of the contest. The trophy will be on display in a prominent place on campus.

The Colonels and Herftra will be represented by the best-of-the-best, and the color, class representation, and class standing are all factors to be considered in the selection of the Queen.

Letter to the Editor...

Dear Madam Editor:

We, the men of Warner Hall, both on and off campus, are apprised and grieved by the antics of a certain notorious senior. This character, by one's respectful position as one of the representatives of his class to the student council. One of the things that amazes us with this fellow is that he has been a member of the Tribunal. We all feel that there is no better way of being set up to administer justice, but apparently this is not so. We also feel that the Tribunal should be the first to uphold the philosophy of such an organization.

We were repulsed and disgusted when we heard that "red-mind" senior student council and Tribune representative had the effrontery and brass to compel a "lusty fresh" to get down on his knees and eat grass. We were doubly repulsed that the "fresh" concerned was a girl.

But, what really made us sick was the stomach, disgusted, repulsed, and words that we cannot use, was the recent action of this notorious individual at the Freshman Dance Friday evening. We'd like to extend compliments to the young lady involved, for holding her temper. We extend our sympathy to her, that she was subjected to a proposal by such an egotistical and such an inferior creature as the jackass involved.

We were reminded of the section in the freshman handbook that talked about social ostracism for the "fresh" who could not live up to the standards of a freshman. We suggest social ostracism for this egotistical sob who has become a senior in college, a sergeant in the Air Force, reached the centum manhood, and yet who has never been able to learn the social amenities of decency and humanity that characterize even the lowliest "fresh" who has ever entered Wilkes.

Joe, the men of Warner salute you.

Junior Class Reveals Plans for 'Club Oasis'... Phyllis Ruby Featured by Fran Bishop

The Junior Class has come up with an entirely different type of semi-formal dance. Bill Simonvitvitch, chairman, and David Wasserstrom, co-chairman of this dance, have announced the theme as "Club Oasis."

"Club Oasis" has been kept a deep secret but plans were finally revealed to this Beacon reporter.

The "Club Oasis" in the name of the club that the Class plans to open for one evening only on October 18. The night club format will be followed throughout the evening. There will be a "cover charge" for all couples who attend, payable at the door. There will be no one class member selling tickets.

The Junior Class plans to have women and men dance. There will be check chairs out for duty for most of the evening. There will be maitre 'de at the door to escort couples to their tables.

The clothes to be worn at the dance can be made by telling the owner of a thrift shop to whom you are going to cover charge the names of the people in the group that you want to dress. The table can be attractively decorated in the colors of their choice, and provided by the Diplomats, and Phyllis Ruby, recording star, will be featured. Dancing will be from 9 to 12.

Simonvitch and Wasserstrom have appointed the following committee to see that the "Oasis" is off hard: Helen Miller, Janice Reynolds, decorations; Jean Brody, punch; and Karen Harper, music.

Money Matters

It's that time of the year again. The student organizations have been committed to their budgets to the Student Council. As usual, the requests exceed the amount given by the Administration to the Council. Thus our representatives are stuck with the thankless task of paring the budgets, without impairing the services provided.

This year the council has $12,580 to distribute. Last year's council had to make a decision between 12 different activities. This was done with a minimum of confusion and a maximum of efficiency. But then, at the end of the "bookkeeping year," we were promised that the Extra Curricular Activities (ECA) Fund was some $1400 in the red.

In some cases the reported deficits were not as stated, although in others the situation appeared to have been remedied or at least improved by late receipts. So, that, in the final analysis, the fund did not fare as badly as the bookkeeping "system" would lead one to believe.

Be that as it may, it appears that this year's allocation to the fund has been based on last year's $11,000 with the $1,580 as the deficit.

To those interested, this report has been added to offset amounts that the activities allegedly will need to cover the hole last year. And this year there's another problem involved in advancing the fund!

By the way, did you ever notice that you became a dollar of one cent per that was cut from the ECA line? We still have nothing but rumors.

A Deserved Tribute

This department today salutes a man who has devoted the last three years to making the Class of 1958 one of the most unified and strongest classes ever to grace this campus.

Beginning in the Freshman year, he took the reins and led the class to a year of financial success. In the past two years the class has progressed in this vein, growing stronger and more sure of itself under his leadership.

He was originator of many novel and unusual events on campus; many others were not his ideas, but were pushed forward by him and his associates.

Among the many accomplishments of this individual we can list the establishment of the Class Memorial Fund (a fund initiated by the class called the annual Class Banquet and Dance; the creation of a Class Council, with representatives from all departments: and the ever-popular Beard Dance.

Besides his having worked for the Class of '58, he also has done a great deal for the college as a whole. This senior was the chairman of the School Spirit Committee, which attempted to get some positive response out of the students in the way of support for the athletic program. To this end, the idea of a parade and bonfire was brought up and carried out under his able leadership.

The list of his accomplishments could go on to mention that he founded the Wilkes College chapter of the Collegiate Conference for Social Justice, and carried out a campus program, started the selling of chrysanthemums at the Homecoming game and originated the Christmas holiday dance.

These are only a few of his achievements. We have not mentioned the numerous class meetings he ran, the work at dances, supporting himself with one or more jobs off campus, and coping up with studies.

We take this opportunity to load all 21 guns for a salute to--

Dave Vann.

The bowl on alternate Sunday nights, except when the Colonials make a change in the other altered plans of student director Dick Myers.

For the convenience and satisfaction of those whose names do not appear on the following roster, there will be an alternate list of bowlers drawn up for the purpose of filling the shoes of any bowlers who may be absent from their appointed nights of bowling. There would have been individuals who express a desire to be included on team rosters after the team had been drawn up.

There is a strong possibility that some of the individuals who originally signed the list may not appear on their scheduled nights of bowling. Should this occur, all those who sign for the alternate list will be allowed to take the place of the missing competitors.

Should any original signer of the list fail to appear on two successive nights without reasonable excuse, his place will be given to one of those who sign on the list of alternates.

Those who don’t see their names on the regular rosters and would like to bowl, should contact Dick Myers at once to be sure that their names are listed as alternates.

The bowling this Sunday night will be promptly at 7:30 P.M.

There seems that the bowlers should be at the J.C.C. at about 7:00 P.M. to bowl. There should be no reasons for delay.

Following people will bowl in the College League on Sunday:
- On allies 1 and 2: Team No. 1; Dave, Bill Duffy, Clint Miller, Roy Hayward, Elaine Williams, and Jim Shriver will oppose Team No. 4; Ron Weinstein, Al Ulman, Pete Greenberg, Paul Ackerman, Fran Bishop, and Jim Brody.

On allies 3 and 4, the Faculty team will bowl. The member of the Faculty team are: John Reese, Art Hoover, George Ellifit, Russ Pictor, Dr. Michelini, Dorothy Davison, Marie Opelon, and Elaine Weinstein. Their opponents on Team No. 2 are: John Bappe, Jim Ren, Dave Polley, Dick Salus, Carolyn Goeringer, and Mary Lou (Milty) Signet.

Ed Duncan and his “Begal-Benders,” otherwise known as Team No. 5, will take on Paul Katz’s “Trotters,” listed as Team No. 6. The Bagel-Benders are: Bill Wasserstrass, Larry Cooper, Dick Smith, Sandy Unser, Marie Cohen, and Duncan.

The Trotters are Hall Shaver, Doug Kushe, Dick Myrds, Sandy Schaffer, Jim Thomson, and Katz.

Each team captain will be before each contest, which of the six members’ scores will not count. A chance should be given to each member of the team during the season for his score to be included. The reason for naming five starters before each game of a series is for the purpose of determining a team’s handicap.

The second phase of the bowling season will begin on the following Sunday, October 13, with Barry Miller’s defending champions, the Ashley Aces, opposing Team No. 1.

The Aces are: Miller, Matty Kessman, Paul Schoetz, Tony Bianco, and the Schoft. The bowlers on Team No. 1 are: Emil Petreza, Don Wilkins, Ray Litarman, Jim Judd, Charlie Keast, and Don Logan. They will meet on allies 1 and 2.

Team No. 2 will oppose Team No. 5 on allies 3 and 4.

Team No. 2 is composed of: Len Genchar, Max Greenwald, Hildard Hoffmann, Charles Kichener, and Pete Melcher. Sam Weinstein heads Team No. 4. His teammates are: Richard Glidden, Tom Jones, Evan Janaitchuk, Marion Kloss, and Audrey Netter.

On allies 5 and 6, Team 3 will meet Team 6. Vince Cline heads Team 6 and has as his keylagers: Stan Yurkowitz, Tony Azmonato, Gene Chop, Mary Herman, and Marie Realman. Team 3 is led by John Mete. His bowlers are: Dick Lapkin, Carl Bohr, John Gaavari, Bob Aney, and Merri Martin.

The rest of the schedule up to the end of the year is posted on the bulletin board and will be available to each team captain.

All team captains are requested to have the seniors on their team as soon as possible to make sure that all personnel will be on hand on the appointed date. Any such person who will be absent must give their captain at least 48 hours notice to contact Dick Myers in order to see if need be met. Those who signed up late and are listed as alternates. These alternates will be assigned to fill the vacant bowlers made by any regularly scheduled bowler who does not attend when he is scheduled. Any two consecutive alternates will cause their names to be placed on the alternate list, and one of these alternates will place his plans.
by Dick Myers, Sports Editor

There is a growing current of disgruntlement on campus over the football team’s poor performance in recent games. This discontent is not necessarily complimentary, nor is it lopsidedly negative. Infact, it is the intention of this report to present arguments which cannot be backed up by cold, hard, statistical evidence. It does have the advantage of being laced with a variety of colorful anecdotes and experiences that should be of interest to a wide audience.

The main complaint, of a technical nature, seems to be that the offense, the defense and even the players are getting the best of the Wilkes team.

The single-wing formation is basically a power play, requiring a high degree of skill, good timing and plenty of backfield options to be allowed to rip through a line at high speed. The linemen must be big, heavy and fast. On paper, there is no reason why such a formation should be in any way useless for the team.

The Wilkes team is small. The injuries still plague the team and there are still going to be some concerns about the offensive line. Let’s hope that the team can get over the hump and come back with the win.

As far as this season is concerned, there are no complaints of a technical nature. Those concerns are mainly concerned about the wide-spread use of plastics and its effect on people in general.

We are personally opposed to the use of the single-wing. It is a "fumble-prone" play because the ball has a considerable distance to travel before the first handle occurs. From there, it can be handled three or four times more, in which time any of the defenders could make a bad hit without the ball moving out of bounds. So, the situation, a single-wing backfield is usually seen with more defensive men running in it than offensive, other than offensive. The situation can be troublesome.

This, to repeat, is a personal thought. We would welcome letters of opinion on the subject. There is too much non-credited opinion and lack of opinion samples to form any "Monday morning quarterback" analysis. We are not going to change the game as long as we play it the way it is, but the general public does have a lot of good ideas, and there is no way before these things can be brought to the attention of the people who need them.

ECONOMICS CLUB BEGINS NEW MEMBERSHIP DRIVE; MANY PROJECTS PLANNED

by Bill Zdanevicius

A membership drive was the main topic of discussion at a recent meeting of the Economics Club. For students interested in joining, the club represents students in the Commerce and Finance field.

The main purpose of the club is to develop and stimulate leadership and co-operation among its members; and to maintain the high standards of the college and the Economic Department through social and educational activities.

In light of the purpose mentioned above, a tentative format was drawn up listing this year's activities. Several local and overnight field trips are being scheduled, to view business procedures and production of various organizations. At their next meeting, October 27, the club will begin plans for a local trip in November.

Members have found these trips interesting and of great aid in providing a better understanding of the background of business. Trips made in the past were: Magee Carpet Co., Bloombug; International Business Machines (IBM); Endicott, N.Y.; Corning Glass Works, Corning, N.Y.; Bethlehem Steel Corp.; Stock Exchange in New York; local coal mines and Stegmaier Brewery.

Their calendar of events includes an informal coffee party, movies, dance, entry in the Wilkes Homecoming decorations, panel discussions and obtaining business personalities to speak at several meetings.

The Economics Club meets every Thursday at 11:00 A.M., except the first Thursday of each month.

All in all, the Economics Club affords each member a definite opportunity to become familiar with business and also his abilities as a future representative in this field.

TWO CO-EDS TO SPEAK AT ED. CLUB MEETING

by Ruth Younger

Indications predict that the program for the Education Club meeting October 17, at Sturdevant Hall will be exceptionally fine.

Mary Lou Spinelli and Carolyn Goeringer will speak on the social conditions of Europe and show slides of that continent. These two co-eds are well qualified to speak on this topic, since they traveled in Europe this summer with the National Student Council of the YMCA and the YWCA.

Their tour was quite extensive, including such countries as France, England, Italy, Germany, Yugoslavia, and the Netherlands. In these countries, the students observed several social and economic conditions which affect education. By understanding these conditions, it is hoped that our own American education system can be evaluated more thoroughly through comparison.

Joseph Lutedge, president of the club, will preside at a short business meeting following the program. Plans for the Homecoming Decorating Party, to be held October 22, will be made.

Last week, Rita Matiskella and Ruth Younger gave reports on the National Education Association convention which they attended with Joseph Lutedge on September 27th and 28th. They will also take part in the council meetings which will be held October 27th and 28th.

ROOMER'S RUMORS

by Marion J. Klawon

Apologies to Ashley Hall for not mentioning that they worked in cooperation with Callin in decorating the goal posts for the Lebanon Valley game.

Jim Mosler and the IDC have announced that the interdorm basketball season will begin as soon as the teams can be drawn up and the game arranged. Most of the dorms are enthusiastic about playing. Paul Schecter is in charge.

Immediately after discussing the basketball season, the council brought up the necessity of emergency first-aid kits for the dorms. Whether these two subjects have any connection or not isn't clear at this writing.

Speaking of basketball, Mary Rose Sidari tells us that she is thinking seriously about joining the girls' basketball team, the Colonettes. She claims that she is going to be the team's secret weapon because she is short enough to run under the opposition instead of around them—Misericordia, beware!
