Two Organizations Plan Big Spring Celebration

by Florence Gallagher

Tentative plans are now being formulated for a "spring weekend" to be held April 11. Sponsoring the school spirit committee and the inter-dormitory council, the "spring weekend" will provide an array of activities to be enjoyed by the student body.

Although no definite plans have been made, festivities will include a unique show of talents in the courtyard and open house in four Wilkes dormitories in each dorm to play for dancing.

Judges Name Her The Best-Dressed Of 13 Candidates

Four hours of careful deliberation by a panel of three judges culminated in the naming of Miss Joceyln King as the queen of Mardi Gras on the Wilkes campus. Miss King was one of the group of 13 candidates, who were chosen by a vote of the junior class. The queen was then named Miss America of the Sophomore Class.

The judges were: Helen McCafe, I.C.G.; Joceyln King, I.C.G.; Mildred Patrikson, Economics Club; Beverly Gates, S.A.M.; Carol Eminski, I.C.G.; Arlene Gallia, Male chorus; Mary Hooban, T.D.R., and C.G.L.N.; Mary Louise Bender, Jaycees; Audrey Bartlett, Manuscript; Judy Warnick, Chemistry Club; Pat Fugoli, the Beaco; Louise Pickering, and Priscilla McCormick, Letterman's Club.

The outfit worn by Miss King consisted of a red, white and blue sweater and a black straight skirt with a black panty. Miss Griffith, an active member of the junior class, majors in business education. Her extracurricular activities include the Society for the Advancement of Business and Career, Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Beaco. Miss Griffith is also a member of the Quill, the campus literary magazine, and the Business Women's Association. She is an active member of the National Honor Society and the National Honor Society in Business Education.

Miss King was graduated from Immaculate Conception High School, Tontent, New Jersey. Even then an active student, she played basketball, served as a class officer, a member of the National Honor Society, and a member of the National Honor Society in Business Education.

Following high school, Miss King attended St. Mary of the Woods College in Terre Haute, Indiana, where she studied business administration and physical education, and was active in the Equestrian Club. She then transferred to Marymount College in Tarrytown, New York, where she majored in business education.

Now a junior in the College, Miss King is a member of the Business Women's Association, the Equestrian Club, and the Student Council. The REASON joins the student body in extending sincerest sympathy to Dean George F. Ralston and his family on the recent passing of his father.

Our Reputation at Stake

After last week's letter to the editor and the facts contained therein, we begin to wonder at the obvious lack of thought by the student body in general. The request by the owners of Pocono Mountain Inn not to bring "hard" beverages to the Winter Carnival was ignored along with all other requests for the benefit of the community. Members of the student body not only found it necessary to bring their own, but they also found it necessary to take it out of the hands of the people who were managing. The exchange of merchandise was not equal, or do we have to mention it?

The reputation of the student body of Wilkes took a tremendous hit after the "episode" which debuted carnival. It seems someone managed to smuggle out several no parking signs, a bridge stick, and the stuffed head of a deer.

If this little incident doesn't cancel any future reservations that we might have made with the inn, nothing ever will. No one in their right mind will ever take on a Wilkes group after this year. Frankly, we can't blame the owners of carnival sites for refusing to allow their places to be picked clean of anything movable.

The All-Powerful

The first editorial we wrote way back in September advocated the acceptance of the revised constitution of the student body. Now, we will proceed to saw off the limb that we climbed out on at that time by finding fault with the constitution.

To be a member of the student government, one must have that mythical thing called the "cumulative 2 average." This, as we clearly explain in the constitution, is the student's average. As the story goes, the student with the 2 is supposed to be able to devote more time to the organization because he is not bothered by the big four. The study he has put in as a student with a 1.99, or lower, average is required to study so much that he will not be able to do justice to his position as a representative of the student government. This, we regret, is as we understand it.

Anyone who considers this and other reasons for the all-powerful 2, will begin to wonder just exactly what the individual student has to do with the matter. Right now, he has no business on the campus, or has a bad reason because he already had his say when he voted for the installation of the constitution.

With this being the case, there has to be a line drawn somewhere along the grade line if only for the protection of the extra-curricular crazy student. Some people can cheerfully plod along in three or four A's with the other grades and have fun, too.

The point is, this student body has to make some decision that will not beCRY. Any student who feels that this is no problem should make his know why he has decided to have a 2.5 average because he already had his say when he voted for the installation of the constitution.

VITAL LEADERS MEETING NEXT THURSDAY EVENING

A Student Leaders Conference, vital to the development of collegial policies and practices, will be held next Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in class 204.

Under the auspices of Student Government, the conference is designed to acquaint students with policies and problems through the leadership of various student organizations. A similar meeting in September proved interesting and informative.

All class officers, class council representatives, board officials — appointed or elected — and executive committee members are invited and urged to attend.

Gordon Roberts, general chairman, said that several important matters will be discussed. The Student Government policies; old policies still in effect; Administration policies; Y-FIK's; intercollegiate activities; and the present status of the Student Council will be discussed at the very important discussion.

NEW LIBRARY BOOKS

A wealth of new books, covering every aspect of the world, is available in the Wilkes Library during the school year. The following books are three of the most recent acquisitions which readers are bound to find amusing, informative, and most welcome.

This book is an intimate close-up of thirty-two presidential families — from John and Abigail Adams to Dwight D. Eisenhower — who have called 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue home.

An abundantly illustrated volume, it also contains many pages of humorous photographic documentation of little-known facts and humorous anecdotes about the occupants of the White House over the years.

Over a century and a half of United States history with a "be" of the "be" in every view is presented, and the reader is afforded a view of the presidential family's unique role in the political and social life of the nation.

Some of the lighter points: President Nixon has a pet Alaskan husky; "impassable" pranks of many White House children; Margaret Truman's guests often beat the writer of Lincoln's ghost. Here is a colorful book all will want to read.

The Short Story by Sean O'Faoile, New York; Devin Adair Company.

A work on the art of the short story literature, this book presents an analysis of the "personal problem behind the literary work".

The author, a prominent short story writer, states many of his points with fascinating chapters on the lives of past literary personalites. This is a book for the writer with a personal approach.

Mackenzie Plaza by Peter De Vries, Boston: Little, Brown and Company.

A literary work of the author of the popular The Tunnel of Love, this book relates some vintage episodes in the life of a university preacher.

The book opens with our hero (Reverend Mackrell) who detects the thought of being called "Holy Mc Elf" discovrs a distasteful revivalist billboard in his neighborhod. The author is a master when he finds out that one of his own parishioners has erected the sign. There are many situations in which the thought is persuasive to change his memorial gift, and he does. A huge momentum is built up for the book, and it is a great success.

SINGING TO SPRING AROUND THE WORLD

Russia

Rejoice Comrade, Spring is here
For the Party, give a cheer
Without the accent, there would be no increase
For we can increase your production.

France

Pass the bottle, mon ami
We drink to the health of France
Both Spring and wine will chase all sorrow
But what a head I'll have tomorrow!

Africa

Springtime in Mao-Mau Land
Is nothing short of grand
Whatever you do, look out for voodoo.

Spring has come to the newest State
Sergeant Preston thinks it's great.
I hope to make his illusion come true
But Alaskan Sprin is just like winter.

Ireland

A wonderful thing
Is Ireland in Spring
When the passing scene
Is twice as green.

England

Here Spring's announcement by a blast of trumpets
And the passing 'round of Tea and Crumpets
And upon the lips the shout of "Happy Easter"
Whisper softly "God Save the Queen."

Texas

A Team will give you the line
That Texas Springs are mighty fine
The air is full of lovely smells
And little, blossoming oil wells.

Spring's the time when the German fine
Fills to the rim, his old beer stein
And digests his pelvis
Milwaukee, Elyria

I'm sorry, but I can't think of any springtime activities in Egypt.

Egypt

Egypt's Spring is just
A continuation of the past
When Tony, Julius, and Cleo
Were a trio.

HONOR SYSTEM MADE BY LEADERS, FACULTY

By Connie Stankowski

After many months of preparation, Gordon Roberts, Chairman of the Student Council, submitted an evaluation of an honor system at Wilkes to the Student Council on February 11, 1959.

The report described the various steps taken to determine the desirability of such a system at Wilkes. The first Student Leaders Conference on September 28, 1958. At this time a form containing five precepts was given to each student leader for his unbiased opinion about the desirability of an honor system. The results of the student leader poll are as follows:

Forms distributed to Student Leaders: Total forms returned disapproving or approving an honor system at this time:

Total 25

Total 8

Forms returned marked "undecided":

Forms not returned:

Total 8

The Honor System Evaluation Committee also submitted the following recommendations:

1. That a poll of the student body be conducted.

2. That upon completion and tabulation of this poll the Student Government request the committee to enlarge itself by including representatives of all classes, and faculty members.

3. That the enlargement of the Honor System Evaluation Committee not take place until after the Student Council determines, on the basis of complete reports, that said committee should continue functioning.

Cap This One

Julius came home crying every day after school. In spite of his mother’s repeated assurances, he still took a lot of kidding. “They say I have a big head,” he’d wail. She assured him, “Now, Julius, don’t you believe them. It’s not true that you have a big head. Now run to the store for me like a good boy and get me ten pounds of potatoes.” He replied, “Okay, but gimme a bag to carry them in.” “You don’t need a bag, carry them in your cap.” Penn State Freshmen

Grapplers Seek Third Straight Title

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK
MORGAN PINS AT MORAVIAN, DECISIONS F. & M. GRAPPLER
5:18 Pin and 3-0 Defeat Earn Award for 137-lb. Point-getting Grappler
Joe Morgan is named "Athlete" with the adjective "tremendous" not inclusive enough to herald his talents. Joe’s 3-0 victory over the previously undefeated Hartman of Franklin & Marshall College was enough to secure his bearing fast; but the clincher came when Joe came on again Friday night to slap another good wrestling shoulder to the mat and held them for the requisite moments during the Moravian meet.

Joe is not a newcomer to the Wilkes athletics. He took the "Athlete" award during the soccer season and seems to have been clocked very nicely on last year’s championship wrestling team.

Although the wrestling team has had a long streak of victories, this is the first season that they have been unbeaten and untied and Joe is one of the major point-getters that has made this possible.
He has always been an aggressive type grappler, but this year his attitude on the mat seems to have changed enough so that he always has his opponent on the defensive.

Joe might have acquired additional motives along with a new pride. Last year he was married to a former Wilkes coed and they are presently residing in Fort York.

Before coming to Wilkes Joe attended Girard College where he lettered on the wrestling team four years running. He also captained the grapplers in his senior year.

The Rams also possess a free throw center in 6-feet-3-inch Bob Mihm who leads the team in rebounds.

A booster night is being planned for the big game, complete with a high school basketball squads and their coaches coming from the area.

Student participation is also requested to make this project a success.

He will be aided by Stan Kaminski and Sam Pakos who have also averaging scores in double figures.

Eighty-two points were scored on both ends of the court.

Wilkes vs. Moravian

On Tuesday, February 16, the Colonettes played their last game of the season at Moravian and were defeated, 69 to 32. Although the Colonettes played an outstanding game, Moravian took an early lead and kept it to win. One girl on the Moravian team made 32 out of the 40 points.

High scorers for the Colonettes were Beverly Major, twelve points, Sylvia Trewyn, eight points, Florence Bilings, seven points, and Carol Thomas, five points.

Colonettes made nine out of sixteen foul shots.

The absence of two first-string guards, Mary Ann Furey and Erin Ohrmahn, proved to be a disadvantage to the Colonettes this season.

Jocelyn King is the captain of the team with the captain of the team with the team's forwards for this season being comprised third center Ted Toluba and Morv Antinnes are the Colonettes' two unbeaten entrances.

Coach Recce's charges went unscathed in a brief, seven-point battle against the Rams, with the win the first of the season.

Bill Rinker, highly-touted 137-pounder for Moravian, gave Don Shaffer a rough time as Shaffer's puzzling style was too much for the flashy freshman from Bethlehem.

Stauffer spent much of the first period of the contest in the press clips of the Moravian Greyhounds and came out of the "Hounds kennel with a second place win.

Jerry Senick met game Corrnel Wonder at the starting line and picked up three points on a near-fall in the second.

Jerry won, but then lost on a near-fall in the third, then drove like a man possessed in a sudden victory.

Attorney Stephen A. Teller, Assistant District Attorney of Luzerne County, addressed the monthly meeting of the Wilkes Jaycees of the Greater Wilkes-Barre Chamber of Commerce.

The Wilkes Jaycees, meeting at the Continental Inn Monday night, heard Attorney Teller explain the details of current programs to increase the business of the Chamber throughout the Wilkes area.

He scored the lack of a program to acquaint campus clubs with problems confronting local communities, the Jaycees invited leaders of campus organizations to hear Attorney Teller outline the movement for municipal consolidation.

He stated that the main emphasis of the Jaycees as a young people's club is on the present economic situation locally, but one of the prime factors in the drive for consolidation is the failure to secure new industries, he stated, "means that more and more of the tax burden has to be borne by the individual taxpayer."

He added that that failure also accounts for the loss of many promising young people because they cannot find suitable employment, although they would gladly remain in the Valley if they could find work.

With regard to the area's position in State and Federal government dealings, Attorney Teller said, "Consolidation cannot help but improve our position with regard to State and Federal government. As a single unit, we will be in a position to demand and get governmental assistance we need for many different purposes. Divided we cannot hope to get such assistance and our experience in the immediate past proves this fact without doubt."

He concluded his remarks with the statement that consolidation would make it possible to erase the notion held by many that this is merely an area lessen composed of little country towns and villages with the formation of a consolidated community.

Following a question and answer period, the meeting was adjourned by the chairman of the evening, Mike Goobie.

At a future date, other speakers presenting other sides of the question, will be heard by the Jaycees. The first of these is scheduled for March 11.
