MISS MARY JEAN BROODY NAMED HOMECOMING QUEEN

Mary Louise Spinelli
And Barbara Federer
Will be Princesses

Barbara Federer and Mary Louise Spinelli have been selected to be princesses in the Homecoming court. The cords, selected by a vote of all campus organization presidents, were chosen on the criteria of personality, appearance, academic standing, and participation in extracurricular activities.

Princess Barbara and Princess Mary Louise will sit in the second row of the Beacon, the Alumni and the Inter-Dormitory Council during the week.

The two princesses will accompany Queen Mary Jean Broody in all the festivities planned for tonight and tomorrow. Among the activities they will attend are the Bonfire and dance tonight; the annual Homecoming game and Alumni party tomorrow and the I.D.C. after-game party.

CAMPUS LEADERS VOTE SELECTS DALLAS COED FROM LIST OF TWELVE

Miss Jean Broody has been selected by campus leaders to be Wilkes College's 1958 Homecoming Queen. Miss Broody was elected from a field of twelve other candidates in the voting that was held last week. Miss Barbara Federer and Miss Mary Louise Spinelli were chosen to reign with the Queen as princesses.

Queen Mary Jean, a senior elementary education major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Broody, Main Street, Dallas.

Miss Broody has been a cheerleader for two years and now serves as captain of the squad. She is also a member of Theta Delta Rho sorority and has been chosen as one of several activities held by the sorority.

Queen Mary Jean has been an active member of her class council and student government. She also is a member of the Student Government Committee.

Among the activities at which Miss Mary Louise Broody will reign is the Bonfire scheduled for tonight at Hanover Township High School athletic field. She will ride in the first car of the caravan leaving from the college and will be accompanied by the fire. Queen Mary Jean and her royal court will preside over the festivities from a platform that has been provided for them by the School Spirit Committee.

Immediately after the Bonfire, Queen Mary Jean and her court will assemble in the Bonfire area as special guests of the sponsors.

Saturday will be the big day for the annual Homecoming football game which will be played on the athletic field of the college.

The two princesses will be introduced on the field and will be the crowned as the queen of the event.

Attorney Savitz, President of the Alumni, will welcome the alumni and present a special spot to the Alumni of the University. Other gifts will be presented by the Student Alumni Association, the Student Alumni Council, and several local merchants.

After the game the royalty will preside over the Inter-Dormitory Council at the annual Alumni Dance and will hold the title of King of the Caravan.

Saturday evening Queen Mary Jean will be the guest of the Alumni Association of the Wilkes-Barre Alumni Club and will be hosted by the Alumni Club.

ELECTION RESULTS

In a special election held yesterday, senior students Dick Bailey and Wayne Griffith were elected to the Student Government to represent, respectively, Bailey, a commerce and finance major in accounting, and a resident of Ashle Hall; Griffith is a business major.

UF Dance Big Success; Solicitors Appointed by Class Presidents
by Lee Buire
The United Fund Dance last Fri-day night was the initial f r i c k off to the United Fund Drive. Through the efforts of the freshmen and the covering of the affair, an estimated one hun- dred thousand dollars proceeds was added to the fund.

In order to solicit contributions, the freshmen have been given special committees to con- tact each student personally. The college quota is $4,000, of which $1,000 to $2,000 is expected to be raised by the freshmen. Each student is urged to give a minimum of one dollar.

The Freshman Class program is a fairly simple one. Victor Turo- no, freshman class speaker, will make the address. There will be no names given to each member who is then expected to contact the student personally. The freshmen workers will be invited to the first floor of the cafeteria every day from 11:00 to 12:00.

Sophomore class president G. F. Davis has appointed an executive committee to handle the solicitation. The captains of the first two teams are Charles Sperber and Jim Skea- rns. These men will make up the list of the four executive officers.

The names of freshmen who will be contacting the students will be made available to the freshmen workers.

WELCOME BACK

The old familiar faces will again be seen on campus today and tomorrow as the grada wander back to take a look at the old alma mater. They will find that many changes in the campus have taken place while they have been out of business. We hope they find these changes pleasing.

The Beacon welcomes you back. We have been working hard to make this one of the biggest and best Homecoming cele- brations that the school has ever had. We have been planning for your enjoyment. A list of these activities is printed on this page for your convenience. Enjoy yourself.

M.G.A. AT WILKES COLLEGE FOR SECOND STRAIGHT YEAR

Lois Betner, President of the Wilkes College Chapter of the Col- legiate National Jaycees, has announced that the club will sponsor the 1959 Model General Assembly to be held at Wilkes this spring. This decision was given at the meeting held in New York on October 4, 1958, which Miss Betner attended.

The model General Assembly is patterned after the General Assem- bly of the U.N. Approximately 50 delegates will be elected by seven delegates and an adviser from the colleges in the Mid-Atlantic States.

The convention is open with a plenary session with a speech by a previously elected President. After this opening session, committees will be held to determine the policy of each country in the area of civilization, armament, and economy. These committee meetings are punctuated by cau- tionary and resolution debates which will be submitted to the committee and the ballot on voting in the final plenary session.

For those who are interested, a convention in the vari- ous world regions will be organized. For example, a secre- tariat, co-ordination office and publicity department will be established to insure the success of the M.G.A.
HOMECOMING PLANS

MANY GROUPS VIE FOR ALOMAUNIAWARD

by Richard J. Myers

Al Jones, chairman of the dorm decorative committee, reveals that before the permit position in the traditional Homecoming activity is at an all-time high. According to Jones, five new organizations are helping to dress the campus buildings in ubulous Homecoming day theme.

The Junior class, Weiss Hall, DISUSE Bohle Hall, the Amenia staff, and the Economy nation has interior decorators. The Collegians Fan Club have also returned to help restore the Dance, which has been incorporated into the Gies Hall Economics Club.

The Economics Club has chosen a rather appropriatime theme for their decorations. They will use a Wall Street safest idea for the future financiers.

The Junior class has picked the nickname of the visitor for tomorrow’s game to illustrate their design. They will have a mercy complete with fringes on top, drawn by a team of bow.

Butler Hall has gone a step further with the bear idea, introducing a poster of a real bear and a small, memo-diary theme, suggesting the National Quakers on the field "bearly" fit into the Ursa Bear

A TRIBUTE TO WILKES...

College Named after Patriot

Wilkes College received its charter on June 26, 1947, and in naming the college, the officials and trustees have honored John Wilkes, English patriot and defender of American freedom. John Wilkes was responsible for the establishment of three of the fundamental rights that belong to Americans today, namely: freedom from arbitrary arrest, freedom of the press, and the right of every man to choose his representatives without dictation from any authority.

Wilkes was born in England on October 17, 1725. Wilkes soon broke away from his family and entered political life and at a relatively early age became a member of Parliament. He is one of the great names in English history and his fight against King George III and his supporters forms one of the most fascinating chapters in the story of the struggle by American colonists for freedom.

During his entire life, John Wilkes advocated freedom. And he did more to obtain the freedom of the press than Wilkes, for through his paper the North Briton, he succeeded in his efforts to obtain many followers for the cause of liberty. The cry of "Wilkes and Liberty" became a household word on the lips of his countrymen, and his name aroused the deepest interest in the American colonies, where the cry reminded local patriots of their struggle to win freedom.

CONYNGHAM HALL, SECOND BUILDING

The Conyngham property, 120 S. River St., was given as a gift to the college on August 29, 1937, by Mrs. Bert Hord and Mrs. William Conyngham, widow of the late John N. Conyngham. The building was named "John N. Conyngham Hall." Conyngham Hall was the second building given to Wilkes, when the college was still affiliated with Bucknell University. The Conyngham residence was built by Mr. Charles Parrish, noted coal-mining engineer of Wyoming Valley.

Girls' Dormitories

Of the ten buildings presently used as dormitories by the college, eight are used by young women attending Wilkes from out-of-town. One of the first buildings to be used as a girl's dorm, when Wilkes was known as Bucknell Junior College, was Weckesser Hall, 78 W. Northampton St. This building was donated to the college by Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Weckesser in 1938, and it was first used as a music school by Wilkes and also as the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Eugene W. Farley.

In 1949, a bequest of Colonel Walter C. Sterling gave the college Sterling Hall, 72 S. River St. This building, with its lacy ironwork reminiscent of the New Orleans Latin Quarter, extended the campus into the first block of S. River St.

In 1949, Attorney Gilbert B. Milne, Clinclock, chairman of the college's Board of Trustees, donated his home at 44 S. River St., to the college, for use as a women's dorm.

Weiss and Catlin Halls are the latest dormitory additions to the campus, both being acquired in 1957. Weiss Hall, 98 S. River St., was donated to Wilkes by Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Weiss. Mr. Weiss is a trustee at the college and also a founder of the Triangle Shoe Company.

The Reynolds home, 22 S. River St., was purchased by the college and renamed Catlin Hall after George Catlin, one of our great native painters, who devoted himself to the Indian cause. George Catlin was born in Wilkes-Barre in 1796. Catlin Hall is considered to be the oldest buildings in the town, having been built in 1869.
DURING HOMECOMING, 1958

Chase Hall, First Building

Chase Hall, home of the late Fred M. Chase, was presented to Wilkes in 1897 by Rear Admiral Harold E. Stark as a memorial to Mr. Chase and his wife, who was Admiral Stark's sister. The building was the first to be donated to the college, and at that time, Wilkes was known as Bucknell Junior College, being affiliated with Bucknell University.

Mr. Chase built this three story building about 1917. He was then president and general manager of Lehigh Valley Coal Company. At the time of his death in 1921, he was Vice-President of Chase Brothers & Company; Vice-President and general manager of Wyoming Valley Water Supply Company; and a director of Miners National Bank.

Glen Alden Property, Most Recent

Between 1945 and 1946, Wilkes added three buildings to its ever-growing campus, namely Ashley Butler, and Barre Halls. All three are now being used as residences for men.

Ashley Hall, 164 S. River St., was deeded to Wilkes by the heirs of the Ashley estate, Mrs. Marion A. Atkinson, Dr. Henry A. Carr, and Mrs. Rosemary Wolfe. For a time Ashley Hall was used as a guidance center before becoming a dormitory.

Barre Hall, 164 S. River St., given to the college by the members of the Board, is named for the American officer, Zechariah Butler, noted for his military service against the Spanish at the Wyoming Massacre.

Sturdevant Hall

The gracious old Sturdevant Home, 139 S. Franklin St., was purchased from the heirs of Miss Jessie Thomas Sturdevant, in the summer of 1952. John L. Butler sold the building to Rev. John Dorance, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, in 1841. During this period, the building occupied the edifice now the Osterhout Library.

Rev. Dr. Dorance lived there throughout his ministry, 27 years, and upon his death, the property was acquired by Dr. Jesse Thomas and his wife. When Mrs. Thomas died at age 90, the house and lot passed to her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Sturdevant, mother of the late Miss Sturdevant.

Sturdevant Hall presently houses the Education Department.

HARDING HALL

The Board of Trustees of Wilkes College purchased the Harding Residence, 141 S. Franklin St., in 1924.

Funds for the furnishings of the building were provided by Attorney Gilbert S. McClintock, chairman of the Board, and Marian Murpin Winn, granddaughter of Judge Harding.

Judge Harding built this home over one hundred and seventy-nine years ago. The Harding Home is a landmark of Wyoming Valley. Harding Hall was first used as a snack bar for students and faculty. Today the building houses the college bookstore and a students' lounge.

Cafeteria

In the fall of 1955, the extension to the cafeteria was completed, connecting with the former Kirby garage. Constructed of brick and steel, the new structure is 42 feet long and parallels the walk from the cafeteria entrance to the Kirby Hall library.

The bottom level of the original cafeteria is used by dormitory students while the extension and the second floor are used by the day students. With the extension, about 500 to 650 students can be accommodated at one time.

Large picture windows beautify the exterior and furnish ample light, while inside knotty pine paneling and colorful modernistic wall paper create the attractive surroundings.

STARK HALL

The Wilkes new science building, Stark Hall, was completed and dedicated on September 27, 1957. This building, which adjoins the former Lecture Hall, was named Harold R. Stark Hall, after Admiral Harold E. Stark, former local resident, now retired, in recognition of his extensive generosity and service to the college.

Stark Hall is used by the Chemistry, Physics, and Biology Departments, providing ample facilities for laboratories, classrooms, and research. A greenhouse has been constructed on the roof.

The three-story structure is located in the center of the campus, between College and Northampton Streets.
SPUDIS CAPTURES SECOND AWARD FOR FIERY PLAY, VERSATILITY

Tackle, Guard, End Positions Conquered by 'All-East' Athlete

From tackle to guard to end and watch out backfield, Frank Spudis is Athlete of the Week again. Last Saturday's game proved that you can teach an old dog new tricks, and very well, as newly converted and Spudis caught one pass for two points and snagged another to set up the Colonels for their second TD of the afternoon.

Versatile Frank feels that the backfield might be a little more challenging for his varied and impressive talents. Last year Frank held down the tackle position, then when the season opened this year he switched his devastating bolt to tackle and then more glory came his way when he was moved to end for the Colonels. He might become the grid sport's first eleven position player as he worked out all week with the backfield.

Two weeks ago he was picked by the E.C.A.G. for All-East football honors, but this did not go to his head; he proved last week against P.M.C. that the conference had made a wise choice.

End-around plays made on his side of the field might have looked fairly long last week, but actually the opposing ball carriers were kept well back of the line of scrimmage as Spudis made them eat up their own yardage more than once. Cadet ball carriers actually did do a lot of Cadets running away from the tackling terror.

Frank attributes his fine physical condition this year to a summer camp, where he played basketball and reported to fall practice in excellent shape.

He starred on the powerhouse Pittston High School grid team of 1952 and also played two years of basketball, before his graduation.

INTRAMURAL BOWLER PRODUCES 'DUTCH 200', SHEMANSKI SETS EARLY LEAD ON 220-578

Intramural bowling began Sunday night with a few unusual games, a dropped team, and a good lineup for the bowlers who took the reins for the Pinbusters this season.

Joe Shemanski set the high marks with 220-578, Bill Hoffman curled a "Dutch 200", and the Rose Tatoes put out of commission before the night had really begun.

The "Dutch 200" is alternating strikes and spares throughout two frames, the only way in which an even 200 can be made without getting two strikes in a row.

The Tatoes were short-handed and it was decided that they would be dropped and their players put on the other squads so that a seven-team league would be formed. This eliminates the necessity of having a 6:00 p.m. series and gives one squad a night off each week.

Tatoes Select

In spite of being short of bowlers, the doomed Tatoes managed to take one game from the Pinbusters on the strength of Fred Wall's 184-477 effort. The point went down the drain, however, as all teams will pick up an automatic 4 points on the nights on which they would have met the Tatoes.

John Espingo and Emil Petrozek were high bowlers for the Pinbusters with 216-353 and 176-497 respectively. Don Wilkinson had 180-488, Bill Watkins 176-437, and Dick Dynacky 143-369.

Rose Weinstein had 146-433 and Bob Hewitt 150-355 for the Tatoes.

Playoffs Take Shape

Shemanski's 578 led the Playboys to a 4-0 rout of the Raiders. Jim Watkins was another 200 bowler, hitting 212-332. Ron Phillips had 177-436. Bud Hungarter followed with 143-387 and Fred Mountjoy hit 134-347.

For the losers, Pete Maholik was high with 175-460. Bob Lisotto had 142-413. Florence Korshalt 149-391, and Larry Cooper 127-345.

Tatoos Take Goldbricks

With a fast finish of 89 pins in the last three frames, Dick Myers led a Tatoos rally to take three points from the Goldbricks.

Have a real cigarette—have a CAMEL

"Only time he comes down is when he wants a Camel!"

For real, down-to-earth smoking enjoyment, there's nothing else like Camel. No other cigarette brings you the rich flavor and easy-going mildness of Camel's finest blend. More people smoke Camels than any other cigarette of any kind.

Today as always, the best tobacco makes the best smoke.

by Morgan B. Davis, Sports Editor

Too bad more fans didn't attend last Saturday's thriller at Kingston Stadium. The people who did go will carry with them the memory of a determined Wilkes squad going down under the burden of an injury-packed last quarter. The game was marred only slightly by a few of the miscalculations that are obvious only to us suppressed football coaches.

CONGRATS

Congratulations are in order for the coming marriage this month of Beacon Athlete of the Week Frank Spudis. Anyone know who the lucky girl is?

DEPARTED ONES

Two of last year's wrestling stalwarts, Keith Williams and Jim Ward, are due to make their debut coaching their favorite sport. 'Skeeter' is presently teaching at Coughlin but will take over mentor duties with the Myers team, while his former teammate, Jim Ward, will take the helm in Union, New Jersey. If these two fellows coach as well as they wrestle, we can look for some real improvement in two formerly mediocre grappling teams.

Jim Allerton, court star here a few years back, coached two years at Ferry High School, located near Carlisle, Penn. He brought an underdog team to a playoff berth. Recently married, Jim takes over the reins at Wyoming High School this year.

We also regret to inform you that Neil Dodorka will not be at Homecoming this year. Neil was playing for the Pensacola Naval Air Station team and injured his leg against a powerful Quantico Marines team two weeks ago.

NEW SPORTS?

Ted Kornowski and Ray Kramayni bring a ray of hope to this weary world with their campaign to enlist volunteers for a dart team or league. If anyone is interested please contact these two gentlemen in the Commons Monday between 12 and 1 o'clock.

There also seems to be fomenting in the brains of certain of our students a pet project that may develop into an archery team. Anyone interested in forming a bowstring contact Leon Voufich or Dick Bailey in the Commons Thursday between 6 and 12 o'clock.

Bowling isn't new at Wilkes, however, six out of our best intramural bowlers have formed a team to compete with other colleges. The six Wilkes' finest are: Dan Lewis, Emil Petrozek, Hillard Hoffman, Ron Phillips, Pete Maholik, and Dick Myers.
COLONELS “LOADED FOR BEAR”

Booters Nab First Win; Soldiers Edge Gridders In Final Seconds’ Play
by Jim Hennighan

The soccer team won its first match of the season last Saturday on a 4-2 victory over Wagner. The Colonels had lost two contests previous to this win. The match was played on the loser's field at Staten Island, New York.

The extent of the offense can be determined by the fact that the Colonels took 32 shots at the losing goal while less than 12 shots were taken at the Wilkes goal.

The Colonels opened the scoring with outside left Havira scoring on an assist from center forward Nick Giordano. Then Giordano followed with a goal on an assist by Havira.

The last two scores came on free play by outside right Ivan Pappanicholas. Again Havira’s fine play came to the fore, on an assist in Pappanicholas’s first score.

The free defensive play by backs Joe Morgan, Lou Davis and Don Pierce was overshadowed by the terrific work of the Wilkes forward wall: Havira, Giordano, Pappanicholas, Lou Zwielich, Seth Annot and Len Prankowski.

by Cliff Brothers

Wilkes football fans saw a heart-breaker last Saturday when the Colonels narrowly missed breaking the win column to beginning the season with two losses. Lemma 14 to 13, the Colonels received a Cadet punt and began to march again when an unthinkably fumble on their own 30 was recovered by the desperate cadets.

P.M.C. learned early in the game that there was no simple way to break through the strong Wilkes line. With only a few minutes to go the soldiers began a flank attack hitting the ends and picking up yardage. With the aid of added moments gained by Wilkes injuries stopping the clock, the boys from P.M.C. scored. By the time they chalked up the last score there were only 90 seconds left on the score board.

Unsuccessful Colonels passes ran out the clock, and with it their chances for a win.

It was a tough one to lose, and a tough one to explain, for the Colonels looked like a winning team. Their blocking was sharp, their running strong, and their defense was a credit to them. Even in defeat they looked good that day.

Soccer Team Faces Hofstra In Attempt To Even Record
by Don Hancock

Tomorrow the Wilkes soccermen travel to Long Island, New York, to play Hofstra in the final game of a three-game road stand. The booters will be out to make it an even two wins and two losses on the season and five straight wins over Hofstra against whom they now sport a 4-0 record.

After downing Wagner by a score of 4-2 Saturday, the team is especially optimistic about tomorrow’s game. Carl Havira who scored one of the Colonels goals against Wagner is now recovered from his ankle injury and will start tomorrow at outside right.

The team as a whole as well as the members individually has shown great improvement since the season began and the offensive teamwork is now working with greater speed and smoothness. The swift line attack and accurate passing were among the principal factors behind Wagner’s defeat.

In soccer, speed and stamina on the playing field are of the essence as there is much running involved and anyone who lacks this necessary hustle cannot possibly last long as an effective player. It is entirely an issue of getting to the ball before the opposition and then trying to keep possession of the ball and score a goal. The Wilkes forward line is fast and possesses the teamwork which results in goals scored and games won.

Nico Giordano, Carl Havira, and Ivan Pappanicholas, who scored two of the four goals against Wagner, all donated the net on short passes taken from their teammates.

This excellent forward line, supported by the strong backfield of Lou Davis, Joe Morgan, Bob Payne et al, should prove a hard team for Hofstra to beat tomorrow.

Next Saturday the team will open a four-game home stand with a match against Rider at 2:00 p.m. in Kirby Park.

Cheerless leader
Not a “rah rah” left in him! He’s just discovered there’s no more Coke. And Colonels with Giordano in the back is as sad as a soap opera. To put the sparkle back in his eye—somebody—bring him a sparkling cold Coca-Cola!

BONFIRE WILL OPEN ROUND OF ACTIVITIES

Tonight's Homecoming bonfire will officially set off the gala activities of the weekend. A car corona will leave Chase Hall at 7:30 for the bonfire site, Hanover Township High School athletic field. Transportation will be furnished for those needing it.

Among the activities planned are: presentation of the Homecoming Queen and her princesses, introduction of team coaches and captains, and a freshman skit. Two clowns, a colonel and a bear, will also be present. Not to be forgotten is a great deal of spirited cheering and singing of the Alma Mater.

The big blaze will be ignited by captains of the football Colonels. Following the end of the bonfire, at approximately 8:45, a car caravan will return the fans to the gym for the big free dance.

Mollie Spinelli, chairman of the School Spirit Committee, has served as the general chairman for the arrangements and has assisted by co-chairman Skip Gladstone. Additional committee members are Mike Bianco, Dace Schoenfeld, Art Kehkert, Herb Williams, A. Price, and Lorrie Talabelli.

The spirit committee has announced that special sections will be reserved at tomorrow's game for TDR and Biology Club members.

English: endorsement of Lucky Strike cigarettes

THINKLISH TRANSLATION: Other brands of cigarettes burn (with envy) over the matchless taste of a Lucky Strike. Luckes's taste is honest taste—the rich, full taste of fine tobacco. So any endorsement of Luckies is bound to be a Testimonial. Mmm!

English: SICK REPTILE

THINKLISH: Put in a good word and MAKE $25! Here's the easiest way yet to make money! Just put two words together to form a new one. Example: slub + lobster = SLUBSTER. (English terms: shellfish with bad manners.) We'll pay $25 each for the hundreds of Thinklish words judged best—and we'll feature many in our new book, Thinklish words (with translations) to Lucky Strike, Box 67A, Mt. Vernon, N.Y. Enclose name, address, college or university, and check.
