

Queen-Nominating Letters Due Tuesday at Noon

by Jean Shofranko

All letters for nomination of the Homecoming Queen must be submitted to the Beacon by Tuesday, October 20, at noon.

The selection of the sixth annual Homecoming Queen and two princesses is limited to senior coeds and terminal students. Any member of the student body who wishes to submit a nomination must write a letter of nomination to the Beacon Editor, seal it in an envelope, and place it in the Beacon mailbox, located in the student activities mailroom, basement of Chase Hall.

Letters need not be lengthy or involved. However, to be considered valid, all letters must be signed. If any student feels that he would like to aid the selection committee by stating reasons for his nomination he is urged to do so.

Students should base their nominations on the coed's personality, appearance, academic standing, and contribution to campus life. Last year's choice was Miss Mary Jean Broody, queen, and Misses Barbara Federer and Mary Louise Spinelli, princesses.

Although the identity of the queen and her attendants will be announced Friday, October 23, the royal court will be officially crowned Saturday at halftime activities of the Wilkes-Lycoming football game.

The Court will reign over all Homecoming activities, beginning with the bonfire Friday evening and concluding with the Alumni semi-formal dance and the

by Cynthia Hagley

The Student Government will review all budget requests at next Monday's meeting.

So far, all organizations except one, have handed in their requests for 1959-60. The total at Beacon press time is $9,815.55 requested, with an administration grant of $13,600. This does not include the Amnicola, whose budget request will approximate $4000 to $4500.

Monday night's meeting will be held on the second floor of the Bookstore in the Student Government Office. The heads of each organization have specific

Early Pioneer Of College Honored

Contributed Much to Growth, Science Building Bears His Name

by Stephen Cooney

Admiral Harold R. Stark was elected chairman of the board of trustees at a regular meeting of the board held in Parrish Hall.

Admiral Stark has been associated with Wilkes since 1937, at which time he and Mrs. Stark donated their former home at 184 South River Street to the college.

The home was named Chase Hall at the request of the Admiral as a memorial to Fred M. Chase and his wife, Admiral Stark's sister.

Admiral Stark is the former Chief of Naval Operations and Commander of European Naval Forces during World War II.

In his European naval capacity during World War II he played a vital role in the events which led to the final victory in Europe, and for his service, he was awarded two Distinguished Service Medals, one each for the Army and Navy.

In 1956 friends of Admiral Stark donated the necessary funds to the college for the erection of the new science hall and suggested that this building be named in honor of Admiral Stark.

The new Admiral Stark Science Hall has greatly improved the college's facilities, and it is significant that without the erection of this modern building, the college would have been unable to make commitments required to bring Radio Corporation of America to Wilkes-Barre.

Admiral Stark follows in the footsteps of the late Gilbert S. McClintock who had served as board chairman until his death recently.

Admiral Stark has been a member of the college board of trustees since 1949, and was born and raised in the city of Wilkes-Barre.

He has always maintained strong ties with Wilkes-Barre, ever throughout his varied and extended service career.

EDITORIAL —

The surprising new format is neither experimental nor permanent, but the result of a combination of circumstances over which we on the Beacon had no control. Our mechanical department at Schmidt's Printery is under an extensive — and expensive — modernization program.

Chief item in the program is the spanking new imported printing press, one which will increase the efficiency of our mechanical department by at least 100%.

The press comes from the cradle of modern printing, Germany. One of the results of the miraculous recovery of that defeated nation has been an upswing in industrial output. This modern printing giant from overseas will be a welcome addition to the Beacon's plans for greater papers, better journalistic principles, and a strict adherence to the quest for constant self-improvement.

Cause of the magazine style this week was the shift from the old press to the new. The old one is now completely dismantled and on its way to its metallic graveyard.

The new one is being assembled under the direct supervision of German workmen from the manufacturer. A certain amount of trouble was expected — and encountered. In ironing out the "bugs," unavoidable delays in assembly forced the Beacon to seek aid from a smaller press, capable only of handling pages such as make up this week's edition.

We hope that the students will bear with us in this brief transitional period. Although the casual observer, in all probability, will not notice the difference, we can assure our readers that the speedier, more efficient service will result in other improvements perhaps more noticeable.

When the modernization is complete, the Schmidts plan an open-house celebration. At that time, we would be pleased to see our readers drop in to get some idea of the methods used in printing the Beacon.

Your Newspaper... Freedom's Textbook

The 20th annual observance of National Newspaper Week takes place this year from October 15-21. The theme of the observance is as the above headline indicates, the role of newspapers in safeguarding Freedom.

While the humble efforts of your campus newspaper may fall far short of professional standards, a newspaper, regardless of its size or importance or influence, is echoing the ringing phrases of one of history's most stirring documents, commonly called the "Bill of Rights."

Observe your favorite papers closely. Read them well. The news reports are as factual and objective as human beings with human failings can make them. Special writers and columnists offer a variety of viewpoints on subjects universal in scope.

Look for the emblem of National Newspaper Week. Designed by Nick Ruggieri, staff artist of the Harrisburg, Pa. Patriot-News, it portrays the theme with the design of an open textbook and a hand bearing a rolled newspaper in the form of a freedom torch.

Let that light shine through the rolled pages and illumine your thoughts. Become aware of your surroundings and the day-to-day happenings in the world which affect your life directly or indirectly.

Being educated goes further than gleaning facts, dull and dry, from musty texts. Education demands a rounded person; education means more than simply learning. Being informed is vital, let Freedom's Textbook help you.

The Campus Observer

The Observer received a letter last Tuesday containing some excellent ideas and views on Initiation. The letter could not be printed. It was unsigned, except for the words "A Disappointed Upperclassman." Unsigned letters cannot be printed, although name will be withheld on request. Several pointed questions were asked concerning Initiation, such as: Who has the final say on the matter... the student government? The upperclassmen, for the most part, were left in the dark!

The announcement Friday night that Initiation was over startled most of the student body. What pressures were exerted, and by whom, to cause such an unscheduled and sudden ending to the Initiation program? The student body in general and the Observer in particular would like answers to these questions.

Open Letter

Open letter to C. Eugene Stickler, President Barre Hall:

Not wishing to continue his difference of opinion and finally, you will find here in a short statement in answer to your letter. In the second paragraph, you mention "fraternalism and spirit" as an attribute of Barre Hall.

Fraternalism and spirit should be standard procedure in all dorms. They are not standard procedure; thus the lack of school spirit. If Barre Hall is all you say it is, The Observer congratulates you, but that's a big "if." As the saying goes, "seeing is believing."

Another Open Letter

Open letter to Dave Roebuck, Secretary, Butler Hall:

For your information, The Observer did make a few sensible suggestions as to what the Initiation program should be like.

In your last paragraph, you state "... infantile displays, with a few exceptions, are within bounds." It was these few exceptions that were important. The Observer made a point of them because they were the exceptions, not the rule.

Sentence Carried Out!

Freshmen and many other students were surprised last Friday night at the United Fund Dance when Ira Himmel carried out his "sentence." Himmel had been told to learn to play a musical instrument, which he would play at the dance.

Himmel, who has played the banjo for several years, was well prepared. The freshmen somehow got wind of his ability on the banjo, and tried to "double-cross" the upperclassmen by presenting Himmel with a clarinet. Unknown to the freshmen, he has played the clarinet for nine years.

Moral: You can't outsmart an upperclassman.

Sign Those Letters

All letters addressed to this column will be printed the week they are received, and answered the following week in this column. Letters pro and con may be addressed to The Campus Observer, care of the Beacon.

Letters To The Editor:

October 11, 1959

Dear Mr. Editor:

May I comment on the headline in The Beacon of October the ninth which stated "Faculty, Students, Clubs Asked to Help Dr. Reif Meet Goal"? I wish to emphasize that it is Wilkes College, not Mr. Reif, which will meet its goal.

And, as you know, thirty-eight hundred and fifty dollars is the quota assigned Wilkes College as its share of the amount to be raised by the Private Schools Section of the Public Service Division in the 1960 United Fund Campaign.

Contributions on campus are credited to four groups: administration, faculty, maintenance, and students. Nearly everyone in the first three groups has given generously. Now we expect a good showing from the students who can raise fifteen hundred dollars easily if all the classes do as well as the Freshman Class has done thus far.

Outside of education which is, of course, the principal goal of Wilkes College, the annual United Fund Campaign is the only all-college function in which everyone on campus can and does participate.

Mr. Jervis' maintenance workers, the administration (including all of those wonderful office workers), each member of the faculty, and, I hope, every single student at Wilkes College — all make possible the attainment of our common goal.

As I see it, each of us in giving freely to the United Fund is demonstrating a loyalty without which we would be much the poorer. By contributing we express loyalty to the Wyoming Valley community, to Wilkes College, and to our personal aspiration of being educated men and women as expressed by Point Eight in the Marks of an Educated Man.

Thus to me the attainment of our goal in a United Fund Campaign is one of the grandest expressions of school spirit possible.

Even though promoting the United Fund on campus requires much time on my part, I am always gratified to be able to say at the final report meeting of the campaign that Wilkes College has "gone over the top." Thus I wish to thank everyone on campus for his share in what I am now sure will be a successful drive this year.

Respectfully,
Chas B. Reif

HOMEcomings DISPLAYS

Allyn Jones, chairman of the Homecoming Displays committee, urges all clubs and organizations to construct a display for Homecoming.

Information concerning theme, rules, and limitations on the displays can be found in last week's 'Beacon'.

Any organization planning to create decorations are asked to present their display before Wednesday, October 21.

Fund Drive In High Gear

Frosh Contributions Lead
As Student Gifts Hit 27%

by Gloria Zaludek

Wilkes College students are shifting into high gear in order to reach the goal set for the United Fund Campaign of Luzerne County.

The student contributions now total $402. This is approximately 27 per cent of the announced student quota of $1500. The Freshmen made the initial class contribution of $152 — the profit from the Freshman-sponsored United Fund dance held last Friday evening in the gym.

Donations from the Chemistry and History Clubs and individual contributions have been received. However, this year's returns are below the amount received at this time last year.

As announced, various class committees were organized to collect individual donations from day students. Chairmen of these committees are: John Mulhall, senior class president; Gilbert Davis, junior class president; and Murray Davis, sophomore class treasurer.

The Freshman Advisory Committee has appointed a committee for freshman collections, and dormitory students will aid the United Fund through Allyn Jones, president of the Inter-Dormitory Council.

On October 28, Dr. Reif, director of the 1960 United Fund Campaign at Wilkes, will attend the U.F. dinner where he will deliver the final report on the success of the campus drive.

Ex-'Beacon' Editor Queries Gov. Lawrence

Thomas I. Myers, Wilkes '58, was among a group of journalism students from the Pennsylvania State University who met with Governor David Lawrence and enjoyed a press conference as part of their training in the Penn State School of Journalism.

Myers, a former Editor-in-Chief and business manager of the Beacon, questioned the Governor on two points. He asked about tuition costs and their effects on married students in particular and about the Governor's budget allocation for the University in view of the universally accepted inadvisability of low faculty salaries.

Myers is in his final phases of work toward a Master's degree in Journalism. He lives in Pleasant Gap, Pa., a suburb of State College, with his wife, the former Shirley Baroody, Wilkes '59. The couple has a child, Thomas, Jr., and a new one on the way next week.

Band to Accompany Team On Collegeville Journey As Morale-Builders

by Pat Rossi

Yes, the band will be at the Wilkes College - Ursinus football game this Saturday afternoon at 2:00! Mr. Larry Weed, the band members, all of their instruments and music, and the cheerleaders will be transported to Collegeville, Pennsylvania, by two big 37 passenger busses. Ursinus will be celebrating their homecoming this weekend when they play host to Wilkes.

The band usually employs a car caravan to go to all of the games within a 60-mile radius. But for all games beyond the 60-mile radius, an allotment is made in the budget to cover the bus trip and an evening meal for the band members and cheerleaders.

School spirit certainly picks up when the band is around as proved by the exceptional spirit at the two games and three pep rallies at which the band performed. They will be at Friday's pep rally and at the rest of the games. As long as the team plays, the band will be there to play and to back them!

Wilkes Graduate Earns Commission

Ensign Samuel T. Buckman, Wilkes '58, was among 126 ensigns graduated from the Coast Guard Officer Candidate School at New London, Connecticut, last summer.

While attending officer training school the newly commissioned ensign was trained in theory and practical aspects of navigation, seamanship, gunnery, communications, law enforcement, and administration. His first assignment as a Coast Guard Officer was aboard the CGC Ingham out of Norfolk, Virginia.

A member of the class of '58, Ensign Buckman was graduated with an A.B. in Sociology. While at Wilkes he was president of the Psych-Soc Club and a member of the Education Club.

(Editor's Note:—Ensign Buckman is the fiance of senior elementary major Joan Llewellyn, who was Homecoming princess in her sophomore year.

Women Voters' League Will Exhibit Election Aids

The League of Women Voters of Wilkes-Barre once more plan to display election information for the enlightenment of Wilkes students on election procedures. The display, as last year, will be in the Commons on Tuesday, October 27, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

League members will be present at the display to distribute the League's Voter's Guide, to answer questions about the issues of the coming elections, or about voting procedures.

The Guide contains information supplied by the candidates themselves and will be useful in aiding new voters in the student body to decide which candidates will receive their first votes.

As college enrollments swell everywhere, more students than ever before are coming of age during their college careers. As a group they are probably the best informed on government and public affairs of any new voters added to the rolls.

This makes offering information on voting and issues to college students a similar operation to carrying coals to New Castle.

The League realizes, however, that not all potential voters register as soon as they are qualified, or begin promptly to exercise that most precious birthday gift of their adult lives, the right to vote.

A voter becomes of age on the day BEFORE his twenty-first birthday. The registration commission of the County boards of election may register any person whose birthday falls on the day after any election or prior thereto during the regular registration period, provided the elector is otherwise qualified.

Students are urged to take note of this display and to use the guides provided by the League.

The League, a non-partisan organization, is interested in seeing that the voters of the Valley are as fully informed of the candidates and the issues as possible. The League is not concerned with how or for whom the individual votes, but whether or not he does vote.

The Sophomore Class will hold a class meeting Monday at noon in the Jewish Community Center for the purpose of discussing plans for the Class dance to be held on November 6. All class members are urged to be present.

Dean of Women, Librarian, Retailer, Among New Members of Faculty

This is the fourth in a series of articles about the new instructors at Wilkes. The purpose of these articles is to acquaint the students with these instructors and their backgrounds.

Miss Beryl Cole, the new Dean of Women, holds an A.B. in sociology-psychology from Whittier College, Whittier, California. She has done graduate work at the University of Southern California and Sacramento College. Before accepting her present position, Miss Cole was assistant to the Dean of Women and Girls' Counselor at Redlands University, Redlands, California.

Miss Cole has various outside interests.

Undergrads in the Act; Plan to End Next Weekend With Buffet-Style Feast

by Jean Shofranko

Something new has been added to Homecoming! The Student Government has answered the undergraduate's prayer for a student activity to conclude the Homecoming weekend and is sponsoring an "Undergraduate Dinner-Dance" Saturday, October 24, in the gymnasium.

All undergraduates — this means seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen — are cordially invited to attend this affair. However, seniors have received a dual invitation to attend either the student dinner-dance or the Alumni Homecoming semi-formal dance which will be held at the Irem Temple Country Club that evening.

According to John Matthey, general chairman of the affair, an unusual, interesting evening has been planned. Among the many features will be the appearance of the Homecoming queen and her court, a dinner which will delight the hearts of all Wilkes gourmets, the swing and dream music of Herbie Greene, and an old-fashioned songfest.

Decorations will revolve around the central theme of Homecoming and autumn. Table centerpieces and decorations will be designed and manufactured by the TDR girls, under the direction of Bernardine Zapatoski and Beverly Butler. The senior class, which is sponsoring a dance the previous evening, has graciously offered its decorations to enhance the gymnasium.

Paul Klein and Betsy Hoeschele, ticket co-chairmen, have announced that tickets are being offered at the nominal price of $2.00 per couple — a bargain price in any man's language.

Committee chairmen are: Dick Salus, finance; Gwen Gould, food; Rhea Politis, music; Paul Klein and Betsy Hoeschele, ticket; John Mulhall, program; Beverly Butler and Bernardine Zapatoski, decorations; Mike Armstrong, arrangements.

including the Audubon Society and the Mental Health Association at Washington plus many other organizations.

Mr. James L. Eidam, the instructor-librarian, is not really new to Wilkes at all. He received his B.S. in Secondary Education here. Last year he was Feature Editor of the Beacon and a member of the Manuscript staff. During the summer, Mr. Eidam began studying at Columbia University for his M.L.S.

In addition to his work at Wilkes library, he plays the organ at Christ Lutheran Church. Formerly a native of Hazelton, he now resides on South River Street, Wilkes-Barre.

Mr. Frederick Flower, an instructor in the Retailing Department, is a former native of Philadelphia. He received his B.S. degree from Grove City College, Pennsylvania and his M.S. degree from the School of Retailing, University of Pittsburgh. Before coming to Wilkes he held a position as assistant buyer at John Wanamaker's, Philadelphia. He is a member of the Eta Ma Pi, a retailing fraternity.

His residence in Wilkes-Barre is at Hollenback Hall where he is the proctor of this boys' dormitory.

Hazing Grinds to Halt After Himmel Fiddles

by Marilyn Krackenfels

Last Friday at the United Fund Dance, the upperclassmen affiliated with freshman hazing carried out the sentences handed them by the frosh at last week's "turn-about" tribunal.

Judge Ira Himmel, sentenced to master a musical instrument within twenty-four hours, displayed talent heretofore unknown before the large crowd. He gave creditable renditions on both clarinet and banjo. Bob King, an executioner on the tribunal, accompanied Himmel on the bongo drums.

Steve Cooney, prosecuting attorney; Bill Roots, defense attorney; Bob Washburn, co-chairman of the hazing program, and several other upperclassmen campus leaders entertained the audience with two vocal selections, a parody on "Sweet Violets" and "On Top of Old Smokey."

The big surprise of the evening, saved for the last item on the intermission agenda, was Gordon Roberts' announcement that hazing was officially ended. However — and Roberts placed great stress on the word "however" — dorm hazing was decreed to be still in force, including the infamous "Tul Tuck."

Wesleyan University Unveils Plan For Giving Courses Without Grades

by Steve Cooney

Courses without a grading system is no longer a dream of the future, but a reality. Wesleyan University in Middletown, Connecticut has adopted a system of gradeless crediting on a limited basis to junior and senior classes. The "course without grade" system was first proposed to the administration by the student curriculum committee, which decided to give it a one-year trial beginning this fall. Under the plan, each junior and senior, as a part of his regular quota of courses, is permitted to elect each semester one course for which he will be granted the usual academic credit, but without an official grade on his record. This has often been confused with the credit-audit system, but under the audit system the records indicate that the course was only audited. Under the new plan the student is given regular credit.

If the student fails to achieve a minimum standing of performance sufficient for credit, the student would receive no credit for the course. All that is necessary to meet the requirements is that the student perform the work and otherwise fulfill all the regular requirements of the course to the satisfaction of the instructor.

The main advantage of the new system is a better outlook on the values of a college education. Students may concentrate fully on gaining a well rounded education, instead of concentrating their time on achieving grades.

Car Competition Set In Homecoming Parade

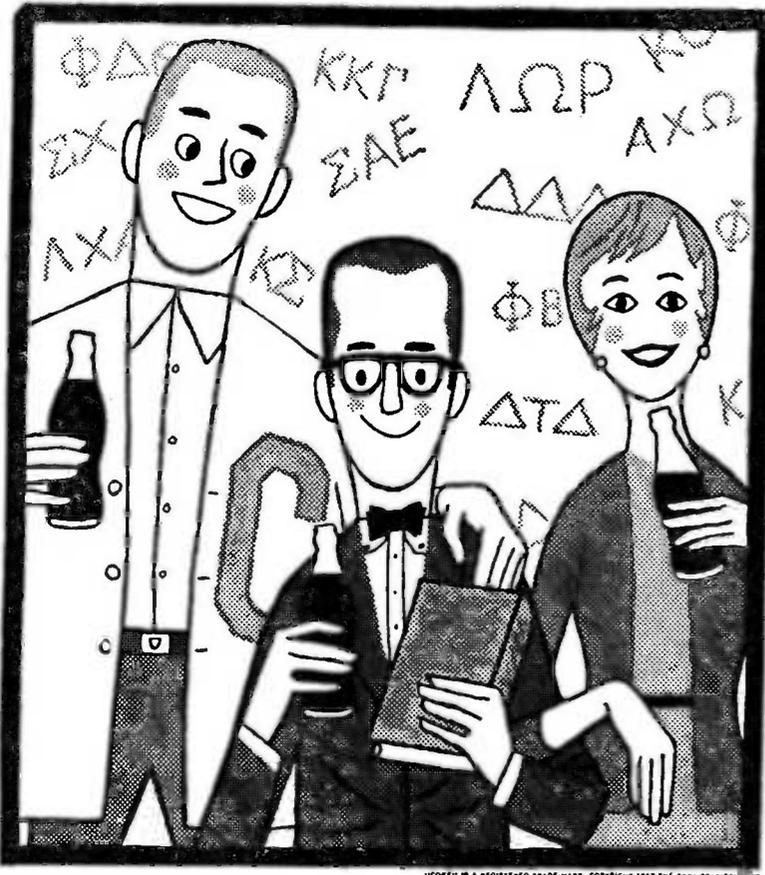

Preceding the Homecoming game with Lycoming, the students will parade in a car caravan from the campus to Kingston Stadium. The parade is under the direction of the Wilkes Chapter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Competition will be held for the best decorated car in the caravan. Judging will be based on originality of thought. All cars entered will be given numbers and will be judged en route. Announcement of the winners will be made between the halves of the game.

In the lead cars will be the Homecoming Queen, her court of Princesses and escorts, Dr. and Mrs. Farley, Cheerleaders and officers of the Alumni Association.

The Association has obtained the services of one of the East's top Drum and Bugle Corps to march in the parade.

Arrangements for the entire caravan were made by Skip Gladstone, general chairman and by Gil Davis and George Reynolds.

Female Bowlers Appearing In Intramural Coed League

Campus coeds have finally acknowledged the fact that the Intramural coed bowling league admits the feminine element to its Sunday night matches.

Several new bowlers appeared on the scene last week, a few of them girls as the league entered its third week of competition.

Two complete matches and a forfeit made up the night's action. Jerry Kulsea turned in a 221-487 to lead the Hotshots to a 4-0 win over the Eightballs.

Emil Petrasek rolled a 200-505 for the Pinbusters, but his mates had to settle for a 2-2 tie with the Molecules.

The Monarchs, who were formerly known as team number 2, took an automatic win by forfeit.

Scores:

Hotshots: Kulsea 487, Bob Licato 153-435, Adam Gajewski 153-412, Estelle Manos 148-409, Elva Chernow 122-346.

Eightballs: Dick Myers 173-459, Jerry Chisarick 190-446, Dick Barber 180-415, Lois Tremayne 133-351, Carl Borr 107-292.

Pinbusters: Petrasek 505, Fred Jacoby 162-467, Bill Watkins 161-449, John Saipiego 161-446, Carol Emanski 104-288.

Molecules: Bob Hewitt 187-476, Dave Gozdiskowski 155-435, Roger Cease 152-386, Jim Bogdan 140-369, Ed Stofko 118-331.

Forfeit winners Tom Dysleski and Bernie Shupp rolled 168-450 and 137-382.

Pete Jones, pre-dental major, was involved in a racing accident recently. While running his Corvette in a hill climb near Williamsport, it overturned and was completely demolished. Pete was uninjured.

Miss Marian Laines, June graduate, returned to the Wilkes campus this week to visit friends.

Nick Quackenbush, commerce and finance major, entertained a group of friends over the weekend at his home at Elk Lake.

Renee Walton, former resident of Sterling Hall, who is now studying medical stenography in Maryland, was the weekend houseguest of Rena Lewine, sophomore elementary education major from Scranton.

Colonels Go Bear-Hunting Tomorrow, Seek to Spoil Ursinus Homecoming

The Colonels carry their colors to Collegeville, Pa., tomorrow when they meet the Ursinus Bears at 2:00 p.m.

Both teams will be after their initial victory, the Colonel record standing at 0-3, and the Ursinus slate at 0-2. The Bears have been roughed up in their two outings, having lost to Susquehanna, 63-0, and to Johns Hopkins, 50-6.

Coach Ray Gurzynski started the season with 27 players, one of the smallest turnouts ever reported at the Collegeville institution. Included in this group are 13 lettermen, all of whom saw action against Wilkes last year in the Homecoming game. Wilkes was the victor in that contest, 8-0.

A situation which saw only four Ursinus freshmen report for football has been brightened by the addition of several upperclassmen who never played previously. This group includes senior heavyweight wrestler Wally Nielsen who weighs in at 285 pounds and junior fullback Jerry Leatherman, a transfer from Juniata.

Coach Gurzynski still has All-ECAC center Bob Peterson, tackle Holly Fitts, and junior John Brackin to plug the center of the line, and has two veteran quarterbacks in Ted Kershner and John Detweiler. Added help is expected from halfbacks Jack McCrae and Gary Leach, along with senior returnee Dick Boggio of Bogota, N.J.

Injured Colonels Return

The Colonels should find their forces bolstered this week with the return of tackle Jerry Loewen. Loewen has been working out all week and has shown that his leg injury is coming along better than expected. Also slated for action is quarterback Bill Schutter, who has been nursing an ankle injury for the past two weeks.

PMC turned the only Wilkes misplays into touchdowns as they countered after a fumble and two intercepted passes to come out on top of a grueling battle last Saturday at Chester, Pa.

Wilkes put up a gallant fight against the Cadets as they came back from a 6-0 halftime deficit to tie the score in the third quarter. However, a bad center on a Wilkes punt attempt put the Colonels in the hole again as the kicker was downed in the end zone for a safety.

Behind 8-6 in the final frame, Wilkes decided to go to the airways, only to have a pair of passes pulled in by the Cadets. Both interceptions led to PMC scores, as the Cadets put the game out of reach and went on to garner the victory, 21-6.

Sidelights of Saturday's Game:

Once again it was the running of fullback Marv Antinnes that led the Wilkes offense. Antinnes carried numerous times off tackle and up the middle to emerge as the top groundgainer for the Colonels with 40 yards in 12 tries. Antinnes also registered the only tally for the home forces when he plunged over a mass of bodies from the one-yard line.

The sprinting of freshman Tom Meyers from the right halfback slot was also a bright spot in the Wilkes attack. Meyers, in his first running play in college ball, set up the Wilkes touchdown with a 9-yard sweep around end to the one-yard line.

Brunza's Bull-like Blocking Sparkles Through Loss to Penn Military College

"Jungle Jim" Earns Honors For Steady, Solid Line-Play

by George Tensa

This week's Beacon award goes to Colonel right guard Jim Brunza. His performance against PMC was one of the finest displayed by a Wilkes lineman in many years.

Although he is not regarded as a spectacular-type player who makes the team's winning score or bats down the opponent's desperation pass, "Jungle Jim" is the steady-type player whom you find in the pile ups and throwing that key block to spring a fast back loose. He is the calibre player who, without gaining personal recognition, earns praise for the Colonel team.

Jim's athletic ability was definitely defined by a coach when he said "Jim is the type ball player you can depend on to play good, hard football that is a credit to Wilkes." This was further emphasized as the 5' 11", 195-lb. guard was named co-captain of the Blue and Gold squad for the season's opener against Lebanon Valley.

An aggressive warrior on the football field, Jim is very friendly and pleasant off the gridiron and can usually be found wandering around the campus with his "shadow," Rick Rees.

Jim graduated from Kingston High School in 1955 before playing soldier boy in Germany for Uncle Sam. He is now a sophomore at Wilkes, majoring in Secondary Education, and is also an active member of the Lettermen's Club.

Like most of the Colonel athletes, Jim is an avid Huckleberry Hound fan and never misses a Three Stooges comedy. Jim is often called the Beatnik of the ball team as he enjoys progressive jazz, but would rather trade all the cartoons and jazz for music by Johnny Mathis, especially "Misty."

Seek Third Win In Five Years Over Tough Bisons

by Donald B. Hancock

After being defeated by Stevens Tech on Wednesday, a high-spirited Wilkes soccer team bounced back Saturday and tied Wagner College by a score of one to one.

It was a fast game, with a good deal of action on both sides, Wagner breaking the ice with a goal in the second period. The Colonels' goal came in the third frame when a drive from Joe Morgan dented the net, aided somewhat by a deflection off the head of an obliging Wagner fullback.

The Wagner game showed that a great deal of improvement had been made on the Wilkes team in just a few days. However, the Colonel booters next come to what may very well be termed the game of the season; against one of the strongest teams Bucknell University has fielded in its soccer history.

Armed with ten returning lettermen, the Thundering Herd this afternoon plays host to the Wilkes soccer team at Lewisburg. Coach Henry J. Peters (Penn State '39), has built up a powerful machine since going to Bucknell seven years ago. Two of the team: Steve Flamhaft, center halfback; and Roger Mackey, fullback; both seniors, were named to the second team All-Middle Atlantic Conference team last year. They have the fortunate ability of being able to field a fully experienced team without having to add any freshmen or aspiring first-time-out upperclassmen.

This surplus of lettermen, most of whom are seniors, has perhaps one rather pleasant indication, at least as far as next year's soccer team is concerned. Because it is so top-heavy with seniors, the Bucknell soccer team stands to be hit just as hard if not harder by graduation than Wilkes was last year. This of course is pure speculation, and only time itself will provide an answer.

Aside from possessing two men who were second team All-Middle Atlantic Conference choices last year, they sport a 2-1 victory over Penn State, perennially one of the finest teams in the east. This particular victory marks the first time Bucknell has managed to defeat Penn State in twenty-three contests, the best they had previously done against the Nittany Lions had been a 0-0 tie in 1943.

Last year the Wilkes booters defeated the Bisons in two overtime periods, two to one. The total record against Bucknell over five seasons of play is two wins and three ties. This afternoon the Ferris-men have a real fight on their hands when they go against one of the top-rated soccer teams in the country.

Coed Bowling League Set for Reorganizing; Meets at J.C.C. Sunday

Intramural co-ed bowling moves to the Jewish Community Center lanes at 7:30 p.m. Sunday night. The new quarters are available at the 7:30 time for the first week only. After that the league will begin at 6:00 p.m. every Sunday.

Another new feature will be the addition of a sixth team to the league. To do this, it was necessary to rearrange the five existent teams. Teams have been drawn up with an attempt to balance averages as carefully as possible to avoid any one team becoming too powerful.

The directors of the league are drawing up a season's schedule and will have it published and ready for distribution at the JCC lanes Sunday night. Also to be distributed will be the new team rosters.

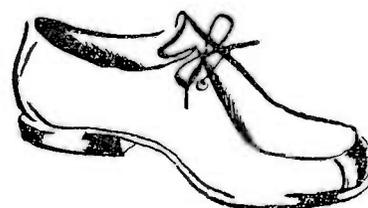

Every attempt will be made to keep teams as nearly balanced as possible while still honoring reasonable requests by individual bowlers to be on the same teams.

New Bowlers Sought

Attention of all bowlers is drawn to the fact that this is a new start for the league and new bowlers will be received gladly. Any person interested in joining the league is strongly urged to get in while the reorganization is being accomplished this week.

Econ Club Plans Outing

Fall Picnic Sunday At Rummage's Grove

by Carmella Insalaco

The Economics Club will hold its annual fall outing at Rummage's Grove this Sunday. The outing will begin at 2 p.m. with non-members invited at a small charge. Many activities are being planned by the outing committee including various games and contests.

Arrangements have been made to have a hayride in the afternoon. Sports will include softball, football, bowling, quoits, and card playing. Food and refreshments will be available throughout the day. Records will provide the music for dancing.

Chairman of the affair will be Bob Jones. He will be assisted by Rowena Simms, Peter Back, Anthony Greener, and Jerry Chisarick.

Everyone will provide his own transportation; however, any club member willing to offer a ride will meet at Pickering Hall at 1:30 Sunday afternoon.

The club holds two outings every year, one in the fall and one in the spring. The last outing was also held at Rummage's Grove.

SENIORS — NOTICE!

Attention Seniors! Mr. Whitby will be available in his office on Mondays from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and Fridays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. to check your graduation requirements with you. Please make an appointment with Miss Davies, his secretary.

Cheerleaders Choose 'Victory Rocket' Theme For Tonight's Dance

by Fred Jacoby

A dance, sponsored by the cheerleaders, will be held tonight from 9-12 in the gymnasium. Music will be provided by the Blue Notes, and the donation will be fifty cents.

The proceeds from this dance will be used for shakers, flash cards, and to further all phases of school spirit. The Lettermen, School Spirit Committee, and cheerleaders are supporting this dance.

This is the cheerleaders' first venture to raise funds to enable them to become self-sufficient. They will appear in uniform and act as official hosts and hostesses.

Decorations for this affair will theme, "Colonels Rocket to Victory." A pep rally will be held at noon and the dance will conclude spirit activities. Tomorrow the band and cheerleaders will journey to Collegeville for the Wilkes-Ursinus game.

General chairman of the affair is Gene Stickler. Committee chairmen are: Ruth Boorum and Anne Curley, decorations; Dick Barnes, tickets; Rachel Altavilla, refreshments; Priscilla McCormick, program; Raye Thomas, arrangements.

C.C.U.N. Meeting Features Debate on Reds

At last week's meeting of the Colleague Council for the United Nations, the first of many discussions of world affairs, in particular as they apply to the UN, was held with spirited debate featured.

The debate ranged over a wide field of discussion, with notable interest in the question of recognition of Red China. Opinions both for and against admittance of the Chinese Communists into the UN were voiced and the club showed a decisive split in feeling.

The meetings are held at Barre Hall Sundays at 2:30 p.m. Future meetings will try to bring some agreement between the two groups within the organization regarding the Chinese issue.

Further discussions about the group's social calendar and group activities took place, with emphasis on the club's annual dance. A proposal was also considered to hold a hayride later in the year.

Don Murray is president of the Wilkes chapter.
