Campus U.F. Drive Successful; Student Gifts Fall Far Short

Although the College United Fund drive achieved its set goal this year, student contributions, according to figures released Wednesday afternoon, have fallen more than 50 per cent short of the $1500 goal.

The total contributed by the students at that time was $722, compared to last year's total of $386. Final figures are still being processed and this amount will show an increase, but not nearly approaching the goal.

Dr. Charles B. Reif, campus drive chairman, reports that all student contributions have not been turned in and the final tally is incomplete. The set goal this year for the College is $4000.

The donations from the maintenance and janitorial employees to the fund have exceeded the goals, while students have presented a disappointing showing.

The $100 student goal may still be easily achieved if each student will contribute a dollar. The money collected will be used to support the annual service project, any local welfare agency in Wyoming Valley.

The United Fund drive was given a final official sendoff with the United Fund Dance sponsored by the freshman class, who made the initial drive.

On Wednesday evening, Dr. Reif attended the United Fund dinner at St. Brendan's and delivered the report on the success of the drive to the conclusion of the Wyoming Valley drive.

Frank Edwards Named Editor, Yearbook Staff Adds Photographer

Wayne Thomas

Frank Edwards, senior music educator major, has been chosen editor-in-chief of the 1959-60 Amnicola. Frank is a gradu- ate of Wyoming Valley Senior and has participated in various campus activities. This is his second year on the staff of the Amnicola, and he is also a member of the College and Education Club.

Besides his campus activities, Edwards is also a member of the Wyoming Valley Oratorio Society and serves as organist at the Forty Fort Presbyterian Church.

Beverly Major has been named as assistant to the senior editor. A junior, she is also active in campus affairs. She is a member of the Student Council, the Mixed and Girls' Choruses, the M a d r i g a l singers, and is a member of both the girls' and boys' basketball teams.

The business manager of the Amnicola will be Donald Bogert, a sophomore. He served the Amnicola as a member of the business staff in his freshman year.

This year's yearbook editor will be Paul Edwards, a senior, and art editor major, who was the art editor of the magazine during his sophomore year. She is a member of the Cue 'n Curtain, and is now serving as vice-president of the Education Club.

The Amnicola photographer this year will be Kenneth Evans, a senior. Other members of the art staff are: John McGimsey, Paul Edwards, William S., and Frank Beck.

Cue 'n Curtain plans to present a two-act play early in December. However, members of the Drama Group and Alfred Groh, club advisor, are in a quandary because of lack of student interest. Mr. Groh expresses hope that such lack of interest is due to insufficient forethought.

The play in question—and it definitely is—right now, in question is "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife." (The adjective refers to the lady's inability to speak, not to her stupidity.) The play is a two-act farce-comedy, set in the middle ages; it will very likely be done in costume. The cast requires eighteen people, including eight men.

Mr. Groh points out that he is not looking for people who are trained or experienced in acting or theater work. The purposes of the college theater are educational, and interested students will have the opportunity to learn about theater and to develop any latent talent they may possess.

The play selected is one that would not be done by a high school group. Mr. Groh hopes that a lack of mature interest in theater by the students is not the problem.

For Cue 'n Curtain's officers plan to do any personal pro- spective. Any student interested in trying out for a role should contact one of the officers of Cue 'n Curtain or Alfred Groh in his office at Chase Theater.

Although the men of Ashley hope to have many costumed guests, a YMCA club will be necessary. The af- fision also include costumes for the students. Costumes will be sold to the students, and proceeds will be used to support the various events.

Admission to the affair is free; the name of Ashley is trying to promote a good time, nothing else.

A full evening of entertainment and prizes is promised. There will be dancing to the music of "Wyoming Valley," a popular dance contest, heroing for prizes, dance contests, "pass" dances, miscellaneous relay contests and many other entertaining activities are scheduled.

Letters To The Editor:

OPEN LETTER

Since Wilkes College encompasses the entire block of Parrish Hall, much more difficulty arises when one must park for one of the classes, especially in the morning.

Steps should be taken to allow students to leave their respective classes as soon as the bell rings. All the bells should ring at the same time. Respectfully yours,

Ronald Diamondstein

Seniors Reminded Of Scholarships

Applications are still available for those who plan to continue their education. Fellowships consist of a $2200 scholarship. Applications are available for Taiyu Shi, who is a senior residing in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania. Please see the career office for more information.

MARY JEAN QUARTET SIGNS TOUR CONTRACT

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Yanchus Sparkles in 12-0 Loss; Passes, Runs Wild in Muddy Tilt
by George Temu

Ray Yanchus' sparkling performance in the Homecoming contest against the 'overpowering' Lycoming squad earned him this week's Beacon award.

The 6’-4” quarterback, who never played high school football, proved to be the Colonels’ most potent offensive weapon as, throughout the afternoon, he thwarted attempts by a muddy Mother Nature and a large Warrior squad to put "Finky's" gridiron out of contention in the contest.

With the "keeper" play to perfection and utilizing an effective option, Ray picked up 87 yards in 17 carries. This gave him a 5.1 yard per carry average and crowned him the leading Blue and Gold carrier. Ray proved to be equally dangerous with his aerial antics as he completed 4 passes to gain an additional 10 yards. In all, Ray was responsible for 84 per cent of all yardage gained by the Colonels, running for 5 first downs and passing for three more.

This one game performance is a typical example of the effective work Ray has done with the Wilkes offensive machine with a seasonal average of 2.33 yards per carry and his aerial wizardry has connected 47 of 75 passes, with 14 completions in 20 attempts for 203 yards. This tremendous play has placed him in the top five MAC passers and the top seven ground-gainers.

All in all, Ray proved to be equally effective on defense as he continually covered would-be receivers like a "wet blanket" and intercepted one pass. Ray is a two-year letterman on the Wilkes gridiron and has proven to be just as "dashing" on Coach Davis' hooper squad, where he has lettered two years and two as a rebounding specialist and an avid book shot fan.

Kinship dinners from Coughlin High School and later served for United States Navy as a member of the Marine Corps before coming to Wilkes. He is a Senior Secondary Education major, and is also serving as President of the Letterman's Club and Sports Editor of the Beacon.

Columnist Offer Opposition for Susquehanna Homecoming Contest; Lynching Triumphs in Rain, Mud

Coach Pinkowski's charges take to the river tomorrow when they travel down the Susquehanna to play a college bearing the name of one of the largest manufacturers of Wilkes Barre University of Selinsgrove, Pa. Game time is 2:00 p.m.

The contest will be the highlight of the Colonels' remaining festivities which will be in full swing all weekend. Wilkes played the Fayetteaters three years ago in another Homecoming tilt and were defeated 47-17 in the mud.

Susquehanna will be throwing one of the highest scoring small colleges in the nation at the Colonels. The Crusaders have tallied 104 points in four games for an average of close to 40 per contest.

Their overall record stands at 4-1-0, one loss.

Coach Henry "Whitney" Keil has depth, power, and speed to go against the Colonels. Heading the Crusaders will be co-captains Bob Evers and Bob Seabrook of Selinsgrove.

The Crusaders are packed with offensive stars and are led by sophmore quarterback Barry Hacken- burg who was out in front in total last week in the Northern Division of the MAC with 293 total yards.

Most prominent in the Susquehanna attack is quarterback Dick Deal, who has compiled 241 total offense figures and halfback John Yanchus, the leading point getter in the MAC, with 41 points, a 6.9 yard average per rushing carry.

The Colony. The Lycoming Warriors matched the weather last Saturday as they were hit by their worst gridiron and on the sports final of their Homecoming activities, when they defeated the home team, 12-0, in the rain and mud.

Powlaws prepared quickly for one score on a first quarter fumble recovery, there being no necessary points for the victory.

The Colony offense was minus in the mud throughout the first half and didn't get stung until the second quarter on a fumble recovery by fullback Carl Coughlin at the point that the Blue and Gold pushed Lycoming all over the sea and silt. It was a goal-line drive for six points that brought the Colonels a goal after a Drexel fumble.

Outstanding in the Wilkes offense was end Frank Spodick who scored on a 5-yard run for 50 yards and quarterback Ray Yanchus, who led all runners with 87 yards after passing for an additional 59 yards. The Colonels played a fine defense game, stopping the Warriors numerous times in scoring territory.

The final score duplicating Wilkes' tie with Wagner of two weeks previous seemed a certainty for two teams who played their opponents but the unexpected weather element created the game to a point that the game represented the presence of a difficulty which the Ferrell Football Team was unable to break into the win column of the Colonels.

Ferrismen "Hungry" For Win, Test ESSTC, Elizabethtown Away

The Colonels (4-0-0) go to the gridiron tonight in search of their fifth straight win, and the team is highly optimistic about the season's prospects.

The team has already won three straight games and drops this week to the third-place Elizabeth towns, who are also 4-0-0 in the MAC.

The Crusaders (5-0, 4-0) are the only undefeated team in the MAC and are currently ranked third in the nation.

The game is expected to be a close one, with both teams playing well in the early part of the season.

The Colonels are led by quarterback Rick Pavlik, who has completed 57 of 85 passes for 1,074 yards and 12 touchdowns. The team also features running back Mark Johnson, who has rushed for 636 yards and 7 touchdowns.

The Elizabeth towns are led by quarterback Tom Bowers, who has completed 113 of 200 passes for 1,450 yards and 10 touchdowns.

The game is expected to be high-scoring, with both teams averaging close to 30 points per game.

The Colonels have scored at least 42 points in each of their last three games, while the Elizabeth towns have scored at least 41 points in each of their last two games.

This is the last in a series of Beacon articles introducing the new faculty members added to the Wilkes College staff this semester.

Joseph H. Saburge of Wilkes-Barre has been named to the position of instructor in the mathematics department. He studied for two years at Wilkes College in the department of mathematics, Bucknell University where he received the bachelor of arts degree. Professor Kossuth M. Williamsen has been named to the Economie Department at Wilkes College as a New York Foundation Visiting Professor of the John Hay Whitney Foundation.

Doctor Williamson was formerly on the faculty of West Virginia University and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is the author of numerous articles on the subject of taxation, which have appeared in economic and tax journals. At present he is working on a book, with Professor B. H. Hallowell, on economic effects of Federal debt management, under a grant from the Marshall Foundation.

Professor Williamson received his bachelor of arts degree from Alabama University and his master of arts degree from Harvard University.

His professional affiliations include membership in the Economic Association, the Statisticians' Association and the Tax Association. Miss Marta Zanookiski, Kingston, was named to the position of instructor in Physical Education at the College.

Miss Zanookiski graduated this June from Stail Teachers College, East Stroudsburg, with a bachelor of science degree in Health Education.
