DeYoung, Koo, Edgerton
Among New Faculty Members

by Lewis A. Bisset

Robert H. DeYoung, Yunsu Koo, and William L. Edgerton have been appointed to the faculty and administrative staff of Wilkes for the 1960-61 academic year.

Mr. DeYoung, a native of Wilkes-Barre, was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1949 and his M.A. from Columbia University in 1958. From 1955 to 1958 he was in the military service in the world-wide role of a managerial capacity. He is presently working on his doctorate.

Yunsu Koo, a native of Korea, received his certificate in Civil Engineering from Wilkes in 1950. He received his B.S. in Civil Engineering from Swarthmore in 1958 and his M.S. in Civil Engineering from the University of Illinois in 1960. He has been a Research Assistant 1958-60 at the University of Illinois College of Engineering.

William L. Edgerton, Northfield, Vt., was named Professor of English. Dr. Edgerton was graduated from Swarthmore College and Protestant Seminary in 1934 and received his doctorate from the same institution in 1938. Since that time he has been teaching English at Norwich University, Northfield, Vermont. From 1938 to 1948, he was a reporter-promotion writer on the Philadelphia YMCA Women's Auxiliary Staff Sergeant from 1947 to 1950, and has been an instructor at the Modern Language Association, Renaissance Society of America, and Shakespearean Text Society.

Anthropologist At Next Assembly

by Cynthia Hasley

Dr. Ethel J. Alpers from New York University will be the guest speaker at Thursday's assembly. She is a nationally recognized authority on anthropology and social behavior.

Holder of such titles as “Woman in the Year,” “1960 in Anthropology,” 1960, and “Outstanding Woman” 1960, Dr. Alpers has done research among the Modoc Indians and has made a study of the life of the Halai tribe of British Columbia.

The Modoc Indians are located in the general area of Northern California near Shasta National Park. They perhaps the greatest resistance to the United States Army of any Indian tribe in the United States, produced during the late nineteenth century.

The engagement of Dr. Alpers is part of the cooperative program with the Kiwanian Club which was granted this year to provide students with more entertaining and informative assemblies.

IDC Dance Helps Student Union

by Paty Ross

The Inter-Dormitory Council is sponsoring the 1960 homecoming dance, “The Big Swing,” which will be held this year on Saturday night, October 15, at 9 p.m. in the gymnasium. The Hill Jerome Quartet, a student musical group, will provide music for dancing. Admission is fifty cents.

Peter Greenberg, president of the IDC, stressed the importance of a large attendance at the dance. All proceeds will then be used to defray the costs of the student union which is to be located in the basement of Shaw Hall. The student union will be available to dormitory and day students.

The committee chairmen working to make the dance a success are: Perry Sproul, chairman; Alice Powell, assistant chairman; John Shilling, vice chairman; Jane Palma, maintenance; and Tom Kamus, band. Other officers of the IDC are: Robert Via, president; Betty Holleman, vice president; Sandra Smith, secretary, and Dave Peters, treasurer.

Peoria’s La Boheme. A stellar cast includes Phyllis Curtin, leading lady for the New York City Opera Company, and renowned Canadian soprano Lois Marshall, who will alternate in the role of Mimi. A company of forty-five, in costume with scenery, chorus, and orchestra will complement this Boston Opera success.

Tickets for these outstanding productions may be purchased at the campus commons and at other public places. The benefit performance will be held on October 15.

One 'n Curtain to Present “Matchermaker” in November

by Frances Oake

New costumes, greasepaint, fresh scenery, and even a new lighting effect! kaynote the prearrangement Cue 'n' Curtain is making in anticipation of its initial dramatic offering of the season, Thornton Wilder's famous comedy, "The Matchmaker." The Matchmaker," which will be presented in Chase Theater from November 16-19, is an adaptation of the earlier effort, "The Merchant of Yonkers." The plot is based on the life of an old rich merchant who finally decides to marry. He subcontracts the matchmaking to his son, but the headwaiter of the expensive restaurant, and an assortment of other people $5 per person. The headwaiter makes the matchmaker shifts farce reading complications. "The Matchmaker" employes 16 dancers, which is the largest number of dancers ever featured in an engagement at W.U. and received his doctorate in 1958. Dr. Kishel worked as a reporter on the Philadelphia YMCA Women's Auxiliary Staff Sergeant from 1947 to 1950, and has been an instructor at the Modern Language Association, Renaissance Society of America, and Shakespearean Text Society.

Misericordia Plans ‘Theatre 3’

by Gloria Zeladek

College Misericordia begins its 1960-61 theatrical season by once again presenting an, "in the round," production of "Theatre 3," the organization which imparts students with experience in the professional performance of acting, singing, dancing, music and mime which could not otherwise be obtained.

The premiere production, which will be presented in the Iven Temple Monday, October 11, will be the exciting Ballet Espanol, featuring the famous dancers of Madrid. New and imaginative ideas are being brought to the dance theatre by the proudest of Madrid's famous companies. Two of the leading male dancers in the world today — Roberto Kissenes and Manolo Vargas. These co-stars are supported by a company of twelve dancers, singers, and mime artists, all originated by the beautiful Maria Alba, who joined the company this year.

The second "Theatre 3" presentation on Tuesday, December 13 will feature the highly acclaimed young artist Marcello Mancini and his Company de Mimes. Perhaps the most difficult of all the arts, mime is the epitome of every art form. Simply the ability of a telling story or expressing an idea through the art of mime, which amazes the decadent words that raise barriers against comprehension between men.

The final theatrical offering on Friday, March 3 will be a show entitled "Theater of Death," which will be a special appeal appeal to the "in the round" technique. The production will be directed by the late Robert Kissenes, who was a member of the original "Theatre 3" organization.

Dean Cole Speaks At First TDR Meeting: Sorority Plans Hayride

by Wayne Thomas

The annual campus student United Fund Drive got underway last week with a goal set at $1200. Kishel was chairman of the 1960 drive. Under a new system in effect for the first time this year, the campus has been divided into five sections, D, Dorn, Dorns, Clubs, Classes, and Dorns, Classes, Clubs. An award will be presented to the team in each division which makes the greatest contribution in its respective group.

Division "D," composed of the freshman class and representatives in the various classes new, Bill Morris, senior; Robert Beller, junior; Brent O’Connell, sophomores. Freshman executives will take place at the tribunit meeting on Monday. It is expected that the Dorns in the classes will be from day students only, as the dormitory students will be divided into other than the dormitory. There will be also on a per capita basis. The contributions made by dormitory students will also be divided into the individual dormitory as well as the individual as dormitory students are monopolized. In this year, both the class and the dormitory contributions will be divided. Division "D" is comprised of all campus clubs and organizations and other Greek, the classes and dormitories. These contributions will be taken from the treasurers of the organizations. It is the belief in this division will be presented to the organization which makes the greatest contribution to the size of the club.

Division "E" is a special group which will include the profits realized from the United Fund Dance which will be the major division of the Freshman Class. Revenues from the entire division will be tabulated on a large thermometer which will be placed in the campus commons. The thermometer will be presented to the college if the goal of $1200 is reached. This would be presented to the individual dormitory as well as the individual as dormitory students are monopolized. In this year, both the class and the dormitory contributions will be divided. Division "E" is comprised of all campus clubs and organizations and other Greek, the classes and dormitories. U. S. Marine Corps Recruiters Here Next Wednesday, Thursday

by Lillian Rodke

Next Wednesday and Thursday, October 18 and 19, the Marine Corps Officer Selection Team will visit the college to interview those who are interested in becoming officers in the Marine Corps.

The program will consist of the following: a personal interview, an inspection of the college and its facilities, and a tour of the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at Quantico, Virginia.

Military and civilian authorities of the Marine Corps will discuss the duties and responsibilities of this country's armed forces. The officers will also explain the educational opportunities offered by the United States Marine Corps.

Presentation of the Issues

by Jerome Kruka

Foreign policy is the primary issue of this presidential campaign. A thorough evaluation of the record of both candidates is necessary. Let us first consider the experience of Mr. Nixon.

Much has been made of his "kitchen debate" with Mr. Khrushchev, but what really went on? In the kitchen? Mr. Nixon agreed that this country was behind in such fields as development of rocket thrust, but made it clear that in the field of color television Western Europe is already ahead.

In South America, he provoked hatred both to himself and the country he represented. In other parts of the world, he presents a very unfavorable image.

The Democratic Party has always embodied the element of bipartisanship in foreign policy. Recent Democratic administrations have used the best the Republicans had to offer, including John Foster Dulles and Dean Acheson and Austin, Senator Kennedy would continue this bipartisanship. He would also have available a wealth of experience to serve him. Such men as Adlai Stevenson on Western Europe, Chester Bowles, whose specialty is South-East Asia; Averell Harriman, an authority on Russia; and others would be prominent in his administration.

It might be logically argued that these experts would be available even to Nixon administration; however, it seems that even with the best our country can offer, worldwide, any Democratic assistance in this manner, President Eisenhower has not used even one Democratic advisor and Nixon will continue this same policy. Again the best Democratic brains would not be used.

And they are needed. The Republican Party has a lack of foreign policy experience. With Senator Kennedy, Robert Kennedy is an expert on the problems of the United States, and Senator Kennedy's brother, Senator Edward Kennedy has the international experience that is essential.

In an analysis of Eisenhower's foreign policy, we find an error which, it seems, Mr. Nixon will continue to make. This country will give economic aid only if the recipient country is a democracy. If a country is not democratic, we will not give economic aid to that country. Is this really the policy we should be following? Do other countries have a right to decide whether or not their country is democratic? Is it wise to use economic aid as leverage in this manner?

The Democratic Party will continue to give aid to this people who are interested in freedom and democracy. The United States will continue to be the leader in our hemisphere.

The most fitting testimony to his inexperience come from none other than Dwight Eisenhower himself. Asked at a news conference earlier this year to portray the image of Richard Nixon's that he adopted, the President answered, "If you gave me a week I might think of one. I don't remember."
Colonels Face Moravian at Bethlehem

High-Spirited Gridders Seek First; Downed by Lebanon Valley, 14-8

Tomorrow afternoon the Colonels football team will travel to Moravian College in an effort to pick up their first win of the season. Wilkes, bolstered by eleven returning letterman, of which only three are seniors, lost to Lebanon Valley, 14-8, in the season opener.

The Colonels’ spirits have been high, with only a few minor injuries up until Tuesday afternoon. Coach Francis Pinkowski, in switching to an “I” from the straight “T” formation from which the Colonels operated last season, has switched Frank Spudis from end to quarterback to plug the gap left by the graduation of Ray Yantsch. In other changes made, Al Dobrowalski has been shifted to end and Bob Herman has taken over at center with Don Eller moving from the halfback position to the line as guard. Paul Aquilino will continue to call the signals quarter-back along with Spudis and Jim Brunza has been shifted from guard to halfback. Tom Krivolice continues as halfback, Mary Antiones as fullback, Ed Gavel as tackle, Jerry Mohn as guard, and Rick Rees as an end.

The game tomorrow shapes up to be another tough one for the Colonels as Moravian, a strong team which has weak spots only in pass defense and offense. Top-heavy with fifteen freshmen, the “Hoards” are building for the future but are looking to 1964 as the year when they hope to have a powerful team. Last Saturday the Colonels opened their 1960 season by dropping a 14-14 decision to Lebanon Valley College at Annville. The lone Wilkes score came early in the third quarter when Ray Marchakaitus ran forty yards with a ball which had been deflected by the area of Lebanon Valley quarterback Wesley MacMillan by Wilkes linemen Jerry Mohn.

The two teams engaged in a scoreless first quarter before Brooks Fletcher recovered a fumble for the Blue Devils in the second second. The Lebanon Valley team made the game’s first deep penetration midway in the second period after taking a Colonels punt on their own thirty-eight yard line. Moving behind a series of three first downs, the home team was on the Wilkes two with about only two minutes left to play when halfback Lester Holstein took it across and Dave Miller added the extra point with a boot between the uprights. The major portion of the second half was a nip and tuck battle and with three minutes left in the third period Wilkes mounted a serious thrust which moved the ball to the Lebanon Valley 11 but the Colonels were stopped on downs. Marchakaitus’ touchdown run was the highlight of the game for Coach Pinkowski’s men. Mary Antiones plunged for the two extra points.

About halfway through the final frame of the game, Coach Frank Spudis sprains his ankle and is unable to play due to an injury suffered in a previous game. The two and John Yajko added the extra points with a subsequent kick.

CCUN Holds First Meeting

by Jerry Shlanski

The Collegiate Council for the United Nations held its first formal meeting of the year on Tuesday of this week. At this meeting, Vincent Capo, president of the club, outlined the problems and topics to be discussed for this semester. He also emphasized the purposes of the CCUN, which is to educate American college students about the United Nations and the inner-workings of the international forum.

Plans for the upcoming United Nations Day and Week, October 24, were discussed. It was announced that Mr. Clark E. Eikelberger, one of the foremost authorities on the United Nations, will be the guest speaker.

The Wilkes College Council, with its twenty members, one of the nine student branches of the American Association for the United Nations, is membership open to all students interested in doing something about the problems and future of this country and the world.

Meetings are held weekly, at 11 a.m., in room 104, Pickering Hall.

Junior Class Meets, Elects S.G. Reps.; Good Year Predicted

by Lorna A. Raben

The Junior Class held its first meeting of the year this Tuesday. Joseph Shimizu, junior class president, opened the meeting by outlining the programs for Student Government representatives to fill two vacancies. Those appointed are: Mike Bianco, Bob King, Elva Chenez, and Ralph Pinkus. Elections for Student Government representatives will be held this Wednesday from 3 to 3 at Chase Theater.

Plans were then discussed for the annual meeting of the Junior Class Book Sale at the beginning of the fall semester. The meeting was adjourned.

President Joseph Shimizu then announced that this year's class council will be comprised of those people who will voluntarily give their services to the class. Anyone interested may join, and any qualifications being that members must remain active in the class council in the year they are elected.

The executive committee of the Junior Class Book Sale at the beginning of the fall semester showed a profit of $15.00.

Tentative plans for bringing a movie into the campus last year's Junior Class did, was discussed. More information on this plan will be available at a future class meeting.

The meeting closed with a few words by the President on his ideas for a successful year.

Bio. Club Plans Field Trips

by Pat Rossi, Mary Alice Ingalls

The Biology Club recently held a meeting to discuss future trips. Forthcoming plans will include a trip to the Muncy State Fish Hatchery on October 16, and a trip to the State College on October 23. The club leader, Dr. Charles B. Reif, professor of biology, will guide the group.

A similar trip is also on the agenda to visit a Philadelphia medical school and a laboratory for work in the surgical fields.

One of last year's programs will be continued this year's agenda. Representatives from various other departments will present lectures to the club. One of these lectures will be given by Dr. Raynes, professor of English, on the subject of Symposia, professor of sociology.

A second trip will be to the Biological Club at the University of Delaware, which will be held on October 23.

The election was adjourned, and an announcement was made that all members wishing to attend the Medical Club must have their membership forms by October 18.

Cheifs Held Meeting

by Mary Frances Barone

Trips on Acct. Club List

by Lyne Dete

The Accounting Club, which meets every Tuesday at 11 a.m. in Room 210, under the leadership of Fred Pello, is planning many interesting events for the members. Included are trips to the New York Federal Reserve, the stock market, and to a business meeting with the Association of Corporate Treasurers. A very interesting survey of the accounting profession is included.

Other plans for the coming semester include going to the Mid-American College on October 19, and the Ohio State University on October 26.

L.C.G. Outlines Plans

by Gloria Zonouz

At the regular meeting of the Economics Club, the members discussed the election of officers and the program for the coming year.

The decision was made that the college students would be able to purchase corporation stocks for the club.

Also, at the meeting, a number of forthcoming club activities were discussed. Lois Agostini, chairman of the Homecoming display committee, produced several tentative plans for the club's exhibit. Also, however, nothing to further suggest the form of the display was decided.

Plans for the club outing, which will be held after the advent of the homestead, were brought up and a number of suggestions were made on the nature and location of the affair.

The club has decided on one of these suggestions for the near future.

Finally, the group discussed the annual leadership dinner. Among the places the committee members are considering as possible destinations for the trip are Bethlehem Steel and the Metropolitan Life Insurance building in New York City.

Kickline Tryouts Held;
Jan Bronson to Lead Group

by Lyne Dente

Econ. Club Elects Folek and Sokira

by Jim Jackie

At Tuesday's regular meeting of the Economics Club, the members elected Walt Folek and Paul Sokira, both commerce majors, as the organization's new co-presidents. The new men were elected by a vote of 2 to 1, as the club's student advisor, David Kozemchak, had been absent.

Other members elected were Donald Leggett, Gloria Silverman, Sandy Ricker, and Ralph Pinsky. Elections for the student advisor will be held at the end of the meeting.

The Kickline was charged collectively with stealing the penalty box from the cafeteria. This is truly one of the most terrible crimes ever witnessed on campus.

As their penalty, the whole Kickline was informed that they would be required to carry the penalty box to school with them on the following Thursday. These plans were then enacted at the end of the day and donated to the Salvation Army.

Many of the freshmen received the penalty of working on the new Kickline program and attending the Inter-Dormitory Council. These projects are all part of the new Kickline program that the college is initiating.

Trips were held last week and more are to be completed this week: The laws were: Shirley Downing, Barbara Filipakis, Jean Pitts, June Winters, Pat Chapurka, Rosemary Hug, Barbara Brown, Eileen Rutter, Betty Kozemchak, Sue Sadek, Carolyn Warren, Mary Anne Richardson, Jan Dene, Lynne Dente, Lynn Jeffron, and Jeanne Benomo. Last year's members who will rejoin the Kickline are: Tony Table, stanislaw, Linda Reiner, Bianca Balsamo, and equally good. Football games, baseball games, and basketball games.

Peggy Churchill is co-captain of the Kickline, and is the Student Carolina, student treasurer, Linda Reiner is corresponding secretary, Nancy Tinklepap is publicity chairman.

The Kickline will complete the week by holding a dinner on Saturday night. All members of the club will be present.
