Music Major in Carnegie Recital

by Bob Bomboy

Thomas Hrynkiw, sophomore music major, headlined a lecture-recital program in Carnegie Recital Hall yesterday.

The program — "Teaching Technique at All Age Levels" — was directed by Mrs. Anne Liva, wife of the conductor, Ferdinand Liva, a former Wilkes instructor presently on tour in Europe.

Modeled along the lines of a recent Wilkes assembly program, the lecture-recital brought national attention to our area.

Accompanying Mrs. Liva and Hrynkiw were Gina Barbini, age four; Richard Barone, age six; and Edward Polochick, age eight.

As Mrs. Liva lectured on piano technique from the elementary stage to that of the young artist, the pianists demonstrated their ability.

Mr. Hrynkiw, the feature soloist of the program, presented a half-hour recital following the lecture. Demonstrating his virtuosity, Hrynkiw played works of Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, and Scriabine. The Scriabine piece, "Nocturne," played with only the left hand, called for complete control.

Yesterday's recital, Hrynkiw's first in New York, gave him a favorable introduction to New York critics.

Often a guest soloist with local orchestras, Hrynkiw will appear with the Concordia Singing Society in December.

The Carnegie recital is the first in a series of six programs to be presented by the Associated Music Teachers League of New York.

Scandinavian Seminar Plans Subject Variety In Study Program

by Leona Ann Baiera

The Scandinavian Seminar recently announced from its headquarters in New York that it is accepting applications for the 1961-62 study program in Denmark, Finland, Norway, and Sweden.

Started in 1949, the Scandinavian Seminar is incorporated by the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York, and has grown to be one of the largest overseas study programs in the United States.

Those eligible for the program include teachers, college graduates, and college undergraduates interested in a junior-year-abroad program. The intermingling of college students, college graduates, and professional persons is made possible by the highly individualized program developed for each Seminar member.

During most of the nine months in Scandinavia, students in the Seminar study separately from each other, so that, with faculty guidance, all are able to develop their specific interests without conflict.

The Seminar is conducted in a completely Scandinavian environment and in the language of the country of residence. Several months before their departure, members of the Seminar begin language study with records supplied by the Seminar.

They are given intensive, accelerated language instruction in the first weeks in Scandinavia. Language learning continues in two family stays of three to four weeks each, which are alternated with short courses.

At these short courses, in addition to intensive language study, the Seminar faculty and guest authorities lecture on the history, literature, art, and social and political problems of the country and Scandinavia as a whole.

The Seminar students gain a good command of the language which enables them, after three months in the country, to study side by side with Scandinavians in one of the famous folkehojskolen, adult education centers.

In residence at the folkehojskole for six months, members of the Seminar take courses in the humanities and social sciences, live with a Scandinavian roommate, and participate in the life of the school. They also carry out independent study projects in their fields of interest, such as Scandinavian history, adult education, the cooperative movement, physical education, and art and design.

The cost for tuition, room and board for the nine months, language materials, and transportation from New York to Copenhagen, is $1480. A limited number of scholarships and loans is awarded each year to qualified applicants.

Those interested may write to the Seminar's headquarters at 127B East 73 Street, New York 21, New York.

ICG Exec. Committee Plans State Convention At Meeting in Commons

by Cynthia Hagley

The Executive Committee of the Intercollegiate Conference on Government from this region will meet at the college Commons this Sunday at 2 p.m.

Approximately 60 delegates are expected to attend this meeting at which plans will be made for the regional and state conventions of the I.C.G.

Michael Bianco, junior political science major, is Northeastern Regional Director of I.C.G. and it is tradition that the college which the director attends should host the committee meeting.

Representatives will be present from King's, Misericordia, Marywood, Moravian, Bryn Mawr, Lycoming, Muhlenberg, East Stroudsburg State College, Mansfield State College, Kutztown State College, Keystone Junior College, Scranton University, Lehigh University, and the Hazleton campus of Pennsylvania State University.

Plans for the state convention in Harrisburg will be on the agenda. This will be in the form of a model state legislature with delegates acting as state representatives and senators.

This model legislature will have a general assembly of over 600 students. Its primary objective will be the introduction and debate of bills written by the students themselves.

Various model legislative committees will be set up for the introduction of these bills. The three best bills presented in each committee will be sent to the model assembly where the best bill will be chosen and awarded a plaque.

Another main feature of the state convention will be the election of a speaker for the legislature. This involves nominations and the normal politicking of a convention.

The person elected to the speakership will preside over the model general assembly. It is most likely that a nomination for this position will come from the North-eastern Region, probably a student from Wilkes.

Shupert, Myers to Judge Beat Outfits

by Mary Frances Barone

Interpretive dancing will be the main feature of the Beatnik Bop this evening. During intermission Barbara Piledggi and Sharon Downing will do an interpretive dance to the music of the Bill Jerome Quintet.

Another attraction at intermission will be the judging of the beards and "beat" outfits. Bill Shupert, Scranton disc jockey, and Dick Myers will be the judges of the contest.

Bill Shupert officiates at his own musical court, Shupert's Alley, on Scranton radio station WGBI. The other judge, Dick Myers, is a 1960 graduate of Wilkes and was last year's editor of the Beacon.

Three contests are to be judged by the distinguished guests. Prizes will be awarded to the man with the best beard and "beat" outfit, the beardless man with the best "beat" outfit, and the woman sporting the best "beat" outfit.

As a finale to the intermission, Dr. Charles Reif, Professor of Biology at Wilkes, and another surprise faculty guest will read original beatnik poetry.

In order to provide a proper atmosphere for these beatnik activities the decorations committee has planned a unique beat interior for the gym. Persons attending the Bop will find the gym transformed into a Greenwich Village scene. There will be an exhibition of original modern paintings.

Chairmen of the various committees are the following: Gerald Burkhardt, publicity; Barbara Phillips, decorations; Evelyn Hudyck, refreshments; John Nork, band; Richard Fisch, tickets; and Kenneth Napersteck, chaperones.

Members of the Psychology-Sociology Club originated the idea of the Beatnik Bop last year. Last year's dance proved to be one of the outstanding dances of the social season, and the Club hopes to repeat its success.

Tickets can still be purchased from any member of the Club or at the door. The admission is the usual fifty cents.

beautiful reproductions of Parrish Hall, McClintock Hall, the Gymnasium, Chase Hall, and two views of Stark Hall.

Within the next few weeks the post cards will be distributed to stores in central Wilkes-Barre, and the Public Relations Office will mass-mail the new issue to all alumni.

SINGERS SCHEDULE EVENTS

The Madrigal Singers of Wilkes College will be featured at three programs throughout this area during the coming Christmas season.

On Sunday, December 4 at 8:30, they will sing for a Christmas program at the Shavertown Methodist Methodist Church; a Town and Gown program at the First Presbyterian Church on Sunday, December 18, at 3:30; a secular program at Beavertown, Westmoreland County, Pa., on Saturday, January 11, at 7:30 p.m.

New York Times Education Editor To Address Next Student Assembly

by Wayne Thomas

Fred M. Hechinger, noted author, lecturer, and education editor of the New York Times, will be the guest speaker at next week's assembly in the gymnasium. Mr. Hechinger attended New York University, New York City College, and did graduate work at the University of London.

While in London, he began to write for the Educational Supplement of the Times of London. Returning to this country in 1946, he served as education editor of the Bridgeport (Conn.) Herald and education columnist for the Washington Post.

Mr. Hechinger served as special consultant to the Director of the Educational and Cultural Relations Division of the U.S. Military Government in Germany in 1948.

He was awarded the Education Writers' Association annual prize for outstanding writing for two successive years. He also received the George Polk Memorial Award twice and the Fairbanks Award. He is a past president of the Education Writers' Association.

He received the honorary L.L.D. degree from Bridgewater College in 1955 and the L.H.D. from Bard College in 1956.

Mr. Hechinger is co-author of the "Handbook of the German Police", published jointly by the British War Office and the U.S. War Department. He holds the British Empire Medal and a U.S. Army Citation.

Dean Cole to Outline Hopes for the Future at Women's Assembly

by Cynthia Hagley

Next Tuesday a special women's assembly will be held in the gym at 11 a.m. This meeting is sponsored by Theta Delta Rho and will feature an address to the women of the college by Dean Cole.

Miss Cole's topic will be entitled "The Highroad", and in it she will outline her hopes for the future of the women of the college.

Part of her discussion will deal with a national organization known as the Associated Women Students, which has chapters on most college and university campuses. Miss Cole will also discuss other goals that might be looked forward to in the role of women on this campus.

Entertainment at this assembly will be provided by two members of the music department: Miss Patricia Lutz, junior music education major, and Miss Mary Jean Saksowski, senior education major.

They will sing the duet from Tchaikovsky's opera "Queen of Spades". This opera is rarely performed in its entirety, but the duet is well known.

Attendance at this assembly is required and role will be taken.

New Color Post Cards Portray Wilkes Campus

by Bob Bomboy

In answer to requests from students and from the public in general, the College Bookstore will soon have a series of post cards featuring scenic views of our beautiful and growing campus.

The post cards, in full color, will tell the story of our campus life pictorially.

The cards were printed by Bill Bennett, Philadelphia and Pennsylvania, the photographic artist who did the cover on the last issue of the Beacon.

The scenes portrayed include

Susquehanna Trailers Plan Series of Hikes; Students Invited to Join in Fall Program

The Susquehanna Trailers hiking club, an organization sponsored by the Playground Association, is planning a series of hikes to nearby areas in the near future. Both men and women are invited to attend any of the hikes which are scheduled to leave from the Kirby Health Center, 71 S. Franklin Street, every Sunday, weather permitting, at times designated below.

The club has established the following schedule for the next several weeks. On November 13, a tour of covered bridges in Columbia County has been planned. Joseph Hogarth is the leader of the tour and of these bridges which will soon be extinct. The group will leave on this date at twelve noon and lunch is optional.

A tour of Red Rock Road, Ganoga Glen, will be conducted on November 20 beginning at 1 p.m. Sam Sockut will be the leader of this hike through an area which has been described as beautiful hiking country.

On Thanksgiving Day, the group will meet at 10 a.m. at which time they will leave for the McKendree Grange, Shickshinny, where they will attend a Thanksgiving dinner. Hiking on this day will be led by Dick Ward.

Thurston Hollow near Tunkhannock will be the site of the hike on November 27. This is a rolling hill crossed by country lanes and bridle trails. Frank Clark will be the leader of this four to five mile hike which will leave at 1 p.m.

The hike scheduled for December 4 will be in the Thornhurst State Game Lands. Joseph Kasulaitis has been named to lead this hike which will leave at 1 p.m.

Sturdy shoes, rubber overshoes, drinking cups, and flashlights are recommended for all of these trips.

The Susquehanna Trailers hiking club is an organization whose members are interested in canoeing, swimming, camping, ice skating, skiing, and hiking. More information regarding the club may be obtained from the Playground Office, Bennett Building, Wilkes-Barre.

Library Lists New Book Selections on Folklore Which Combines Reading Pleasure, Information

by Gloria Zaludek

For anyone interested in reading for pleasure and enjoyment, among the new books which the library has purchased are The Realm of the Incas by Siegfried Huber, and The Aztecs: People of the Sun by Alfonso Caso. Both of these intriguing books are accurate and living portrayals based on original sources.

The Realm of the Incas

Peru has always been a land of mystery with its snow-capped Cordilleras, hot valleys, man-made terraces exploiting every inch of soil, and megalithic remains whose riddle has never been solved because the Incas never had a script.

Siegfried Huber has written a lively and scholarly account of the Inca Kingdom from the arrival of the Conquistadors to the final capitulation of the last Inca, Tupac Amaru. He delves deeply into the myths and legends in an attempt to prove that the kingdom of the Incas fell into the hands of the Spaniards like a rotten fruit.

This white-skinned race of autocrats had produced a fossilized constitution, in which there was no possible chance for human freedom and initiative. The Incas lived in a dream world of grotesque and bloody divinities.

Huber is a keen observer and obviously fell under the spell of the country. The result is an entertaining, readable study which contains a number of plausible and intriguing theories.

Having taught in South America for many years, the author knows the surviving remains of Peruvian culture at first hand. Above all, he has worked on the old Spanish documents and literature of the period. He concludes that the impassive natives today have changed little since the days of the Incas. They are still indolent, poor, and enigmatic; their noble faces differ little from those found on their pottery, or on the rare stone sculptures at Tiahuanaco.

The Aztecs: People of the Sun

At the time of the Spanish conquest of Mexico, Hernando Cortez and his lieutenants found there a people committed to the human sacrifice occupying a city so magnificent that the Spaniards viewed it with wonder and amazement.

Here, illustrated with colored drawings and photographs, is a brilliant account of the Aztec people, their art, customs, religion, and practice of magic. Alfonso Caso, an archeologist and author of the book, surveys the gods that appear in the codices and archeological remains — the gods who make up the pantheon of the Aztecs.

Being fundamentally a religious people whose daily lives were shaped by their gods, the Aztecs considered worship of the gods essential to their way of life.

Letters to the Editor . . .

Mr. Editor:

The Students for Nixon - Lodge organization would at this time like to thank you and your paper, the Beacon, for the opportunity of expressing the Republican views for this presidential campaign. Editor of the Beacon, Today, November 8, I attended my sophomore class meeting, one at which attendance was not required. I would guess that there were 50 to 60 present.

The main topic of discussion was consideration of consolidation of the sophomore and junior classes for the proposed "jazz concert" of this coming April 8.

Our president, Brent O'Connell, declined to present his opinion concerning this consolidation, but did invite the president of the junior class, Joseph Shambe, to express the opinion of the junior class. Ralph Pinsky also attended the meeting as a representative of the junior class.

A rather heated debate arose between sophomore class members and the two junior class representatives. Points in this debate were efficiency, prestige, profit, and cooperation versus animosity. Supposedly — the efficiency remains at the same level, whether or not the junior class helps the sophomore class; the prestige of the sophomore class is not increased by consolidation; the profit is cut in half by consolidation; and the reaction of individual junior class members, upon refusal of consolidation, will be either cooperative, or uncooperative.

Obviously, all of these points can be contested from two different points of view.

My purpose in this letter is not to condemn or approve the final decision which refuted consolidation. I simply would like to point out a lesson which I learned from this meeting. It is connected with political science.

We have learned from study of political science the fact that American national politics is partisan. We have learned that party politics often disregards national welfare.

I see our Wilkes sophomore class meeting as a miniature imitation of our national party politics. To make myself clear — we, the sophomore class, considered the benefits which our class will derive, — did we consider the benefits which the student body, as a whole, will derive, — did we try to benefit the college as a whole?

Respectfully submitted

Ania Symmons

Sophomore

P.S.—I reasoned out my feelings about the subject after the meeting was over, and use this opportunity to express my views now.

'BEACON' NOTICE

There will be a very important meeting of all 'Beacon' staff members, Tuesday evening, 8:00 p.m., in the 'Beacon' office.

ELECTION ANALYSIS

by Michael Bianco

A record turnout of some 67,000,000 voters contributed to what may be called the most crucial Presidential election in this century. The results of the election are fairly evident, but the unpredictable factors—personality and religion—may never be measured accurately; these factors may have been the most important determinants in the election. Nonetheless, a close analysis of the evident factors in the campaign will point to several highlights.

Foreign affairs was one of two areas where the candidates clashed directly. Within the foreign affairs area the issue of policy toward Quemoy and Matsu was probably the most hotly debated. Mr. Nixon, you recall, maintained that not one inch of free soil ought to be ceded to the Chinese Communists. Mr. Kennedy stated that the islands were indefensible and not worth the lives of our men. Eventually both men moved closer to the policy of President Eisenhower and the issue ended. Mr. Nixon attacked Mr. Kennedy's position on Cuba when he deplored armed intervention as tantamount to world war. Mr. Kennedy changed his initial position from armed intervention to the use of propaganda in Cuba. Mr. Kennedy suggested that the prestige of this country was at the lowest level in the history of the country. Mr. Nixon maintained that the status of the United States in world affairs was at an all time high.

In domestic affairs, the main issue centered around the role the new administration would play in the nation's economic and social problems. Vice-President Nixon stated that the Eisenhower administration had given America great prosperity. He pledged to build on this foundation through programs encouraging individual responsibility in the "business section" of the economy. Senator Kennedy assailed the inertia of the Eisenhower administration in the economy and advocated greater government spending in areas such as education, agriculture, and medical care for the aged. Both candidates urged greater development of the economic and social aspects of the nation.

Other factors were the elections for the Senate, House, and governorships. In the Senate thirty-four seats were at stake, twenty-three of these were held by Democrats, eleven by Republicans. With twelve of these seats certain to be Democratic, it appeared as though the Senate would have a Democratic majority. In the House all 437 seats are up for election, but, continued Democratic control is likely even though the Republicans gained several seats in the election. Twenty-seven governorships are at stake; fourteen of these positions are held by Democrats, thirteen by Republicans. With governors divided at thirty-three Democrats and seventeen Republicans, a Democratic majority seems assured. Early returns show that Senator Kennedy's large vote in several states swept in underdog Democrats in local and gubernatorial contests.

Perhaps in no other Presidential election has the personality and image of each candidate been so vital; this factor was borne out by the widely televised debates. More than Mr. Nixon's stumping 65,000 miles and fifty states or Mr. Kennedy's travels of 78,000 miles and forty-four states, the television debates gave the electorate a closer glimpse of the image and personality of the candidates. Political observers seem to agree that neither candidate "won or lost" the series of four debates; however, Mr. Kennedy greatly benefited from the joint appearances since he was less well-known than the Vice-President. Nixon aides said the debates were disastrous for the Vice-President because Kennedy was given equal footing with his opponent.

Although both candidates tried admirably to disregard the religious issue, the "silent religious vote" was decisive. Senator Kennedy's religion would undoubtedly be the sole reason for millions of votes being counted for and against him. A fifteen to thirty per cent increase in the Catholic vote over 1956 aided Kennedy's win in the large industrialized states; the Jewish vote was 85 to 95 per cent for Kennedy. The latter may have swung South Carolina, Texas, and Maryland; these and other states with large Negro populations could have negated the rural Republican vote for Nixon. This religious issue may be one of the factors contributing to the record turnout but it is not unlikely that the televised debates and get-out-the-vote drives aided in diluting the religious factor.

Consolidation Denied In Sophomore Meeting

by Doug Keating

Plans for bringing in a famous name musical group were the main topics of discussion at the sophomore class meeting, held Tuesday at 11 o'clock in the Jewish Community Center.

President Brent O'Connell reported on the progress made so far in regard to the concert. He said that the administration had approved the class's having the concert, and Saturday, April 8, 1961 had been set aside on the school calendar as the date on which it is to be held. O'Connell submitted a list of musical groups which are available. Among those mentioned were Ralph Martieri's orchestra, Duke Ellington's combo, and the singing groups, The Brothers Four and The Four Freshmen. The class came to no decision on which group it wished to have. This question will be definitely decided at the next class meeting.

The Junior Class had also planned to have a similar program, but, since the administration will allow only one concert during each school year and since the sophomore class had been first to receive permission to hold one, the junior class proposed that the two classes should cooperate on the concert. Junior class president Joseph Shambe and junior class member Ralph Pinsky were present at the meeting to present the junior class proposition to the sophomores. After discussing the matter, the sophomore class voted not to make the concert a

Freshmen Meet Tuesday As Official Organization

by Neil Castagnaro

All freshmen are urged to attend the first official meeting of their class which is tentatively scheduled for this coming Tuesday, November 15 at 11 o'clock in the gym.

Edward Rogalski, president, outlined the immediate purpose of this meeting; that is, to mold the largest freshman class ever to enter Wilkes into a well-organized solid-functioning unit which will be able to satisfactorily fulfill its obligations.

The procedure for appointment to the Freshman class Executive Council will be explained at this meeting. The first duty of this group will be to draft the constitution of the Class of 1964.

Another important topic of discussion will be the class project. Rogalski stated that this project promises to be a successful one which will aid the community as well as bring prestige to the class.

The newly elected Student Government representatives, Dick Emmel, Lou Coopey, and Fred Smithson, assumed their representative duties by attending their first Student Government meeting last Monday night. They will report on their present and proposed future activities on Student Government at this class meeting.

The final topic of discussion will concern planning the class social activity, a dance, scheduled for Saturday, February 10 of next

Gridders At Home Against Haverford

Booters Host Franklin & Marshall; Defeated by Gettysburg Bullets, 3-0

The curtain falls on the 1960 soccer season tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock when the Colonel soccer men play host to a strong Franklin & Marshall squad at Kirby Park. The Diplomats from Lancaster won last year's rough and tumble affair, 3-2. Wearing the Blue and Gold uniform for the last time will be center-forward Lou Zwiebel, center-halfback Bob Chew, left halfback Jim Neddoff, and goalie Bob Ontko. These Colonel legmen will graduate in June, 1961.

With a cold drizzle and muddy field setting the scene, an aggressive Gettysburg College soccer

Antinnes Named Athlete; Fullback Scores TD, Carries Ball 120 Yards

Laurels for this week's Beacon "Athlete of the Week" have been bestowed upon "Mustang" Marv Antinnes. Marv, the bread-and-butter ball carrier of the Colonels, gained 120 yards — 61 in the important touchdown march — and scored the touchdown in Wilkes' 6-0 win over Dickinson last Saturday.

He was lost to the team after the first two games of the season when he injured his shoulder during an intra-squad scrimmage. After he returned to the team, he quickly regained his form and has since done the bulk of the ball-carrying.

The amiable gridder ranks second in the MAC in yards gained by rushing and is averaging 3.5 yards per carry. This is especially impressive when one realizes that he missed three contests because of his injury.

Football isn't his only claim to fame. He became the first Colonel wrestler to gain national honors when he was crowned 177-pound class champion in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics tournament. He also gained top runner-up honors in last year's Wilkes Open Wrestling Tournament, was 177-pound Middle Atlantic Conference champion last year and was named the Beacon Athlete of the Year for 1959-60.

Marv is a senior secondary education major and graduated from Forty Fort High School where he won honors in football, wrestling, track, and debating. He is active as vice-president of the Lettermen's Club and is a member of the Education Club.

Colonels Down Dickinson, 6-0; Antinnes Leads Way, Scores TD On Plunge to Cap 81-Yard Drive

Tomorrow the football team takes on the Mainliners of Haverford College in the first game of a two-game home stand which will close the Wilkes 1960 football season. Haverford, which holds down last place in the Southern College Division of the Middle Atlantic Conference, has no victories against six setbacks. There is no football record between Wilkes and Haverford.

While the Colonels were picking up their first victory of the season last Saturday at Dickinson's expense, 6-0, the Mainliners suffered a 22-0 defeat at the hands of Ursinus College. Despite the fact that they possess one of the top ten pass receivers of the MAC in end Bob Jenks, they have been plagued by scoring difficulties, a 20-6 loss to Pennsylvania Military College being the only game in which they have managed to score.

Last Saturday the team won its first game of the season as it defeated the Demons of Dickinson College to ruin their homecoming weekend. Fullback Marv Antinnes, leading groundgainer of the afternoon with 120 yards, put the game on ice in the final seconds of the second quarter as he capped an 81 yard Colonel drive with a plunge through the Red Devil line for a touchdown. The drive came after Wilkes had held Dickinson on the eight after center Durbin Wagner had blocked a punt.

The game had opened with Wilkes launching an early drive. The Colonels took the Red Devil kickoff on the 25 and returned it 30 yards to the Dickinson 45. A series of line plays took the ball deep into Dickinson territory but the drive was stopped when fullback Bob McNutt intercepted a Colonel pass on the 25.

The game was played in a slight drizzle that turned into a steady downpour in the final period. The Wilkes touchdown drive in the second period was the only sustained drive that either team was able to mount throughout the game. The second half saw both clubs bog down and exchange punts near the midfield marker.

The only casualty of the game was Colonel guard Don Eller who suffered a slight concussion in the final period and was kept in the Carlisle General Hospital overnight for observation. Don, however, will be able to play in tomorrow's game with the Haverford Mainliners.

Intramural Football Leaders Pull Away As Season Nears End

by John Tensa, Jr.

In intramural football competition last week Ashley Hall defeated Gore Hall, 16-6, to just about wrap up the American League title. Ashley is led by the offensive power of Ludmar, Naugle, and Kemps. Their defense has allowed only one touchdown in league play and has been sparked by "Flash" Rosen, Schneider, and Halperin. They are backed by a strong bench composed of Burns, Gropper, Dexter, Gallet, Panken, and Cohen.

The Shawneeites, in quest of their third straight title, lead the National League and need only one more victory to clinch the league pennant and to meet the American League champs for the title. Their powerhouse offense has scored 58 points in two games and is led by "Legs" Karmalovich, "Sweetie" Pugh, Hock, Ron Roski, Ciolek, and Evans.

The Shawneeites' defense has not allowed a score all season and is composed of Mattey, Russo, Tensa, "Fingers" Polanoski, and Fry.

In American League play last week, Ashley defeated Gore, 16-6. On Wednesday, the Shawneeites defeated the Human Beans by forfeit, 2-0, when only three members of the Beans appeared on behalf of their team. The current league standings are listed below.

'Dusters Take Lead, Defeat Playboys, 3-1; Guss Has High Game

The first and second place teams clashed in intramural bowling Sunday night with the Gutterdusters emerging victorious and taking over first place as a result of their 3-1 victory over the Playboys. Dave Guss' 222-568 was high for the night in league competition as he led the 'Dusters into the lead.

The Pinbusters dropped the third place Alley Cats to fifth as they swept four points. The Ebonites rolled over the Boozers, 3-1, taking the last two games and total pins, thereby achieving a second place tie with the Playboys. The Tornados emerged from the cellar as they took three from the Screwballs, winning total pins by only one pin.

Gutterdusters 3, Playboys 1
Behind Dave Guss' 222-568, the Gutterdusters came on strong after having to forfeit the first game because of lack of bowlers and downed the Playboys, 3-1. Bill Watkins led the Playboys with 196-570.

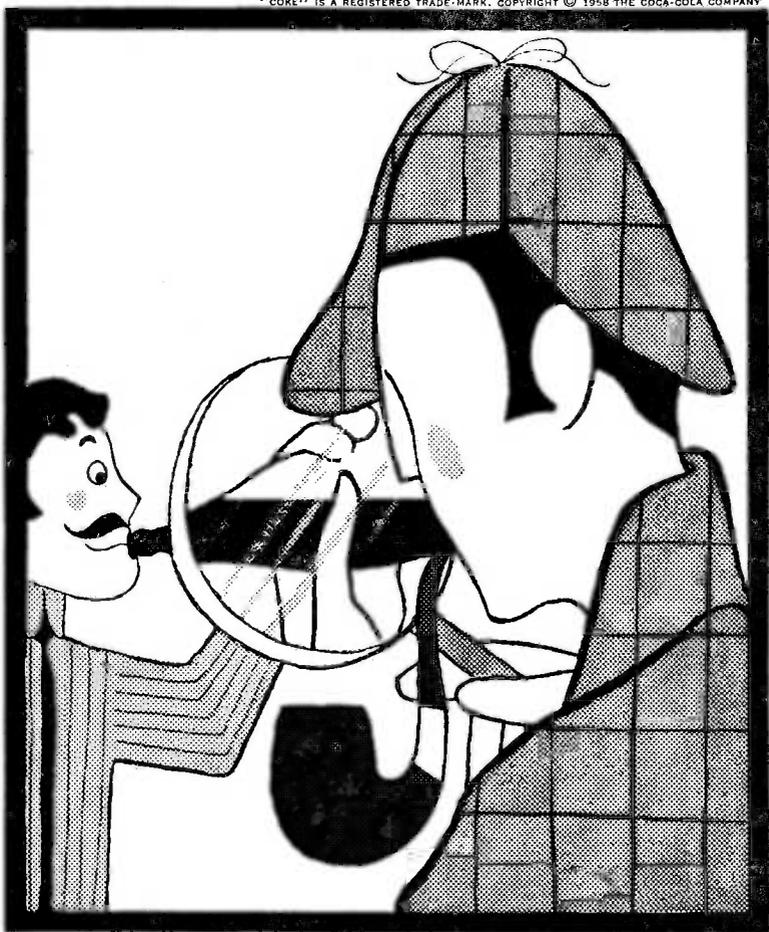

Pinbusters 4, Alley Cats 0
Emil Petrasek with 209-529 powered the Pinbusters to a 4-0 clean sweep over the Alley Cats. Sam Book fired a 189-534 for the losing 'Cats.

Ebonites 3, Boozers 1
Dave Sokira with 197-523 and Bob Schechter with 177-515 teamed up to hand the Boozers a 3-1 beating. Howie Williams tossed a high of 185-510 for the losing Boozers.

Tornados 3, Screwballs 1
With Captain Jerry Chisarick and Bob Hewitt rolling identical series of 444, the Tornados copped a 3-1 squeaker from the Screwballs. Mike Ardoline led the Screwballs with a 186-524.

Varied Topics Discussed on Student Government Agenda

by Gloria Zaludek

At the Student Government meeting held last Monday night it was announced that the new budget was approved by the administration. Also announced was the Student Leaders Conference which will take place Thursday, November 10 at 6:15 p.m. in the Commons.

Members were reminded of the All College Dance on Friday night, November 25. Other reports which were given at the meeting were: both activities and chaperon forms must be submitted to any Student Government member two weeks in advance of the affair; the Student Government's balance is $1,413.00.

Three points of information were brought up. The first point was that anyone wanting dittos must pay twenty cents per each fifty copies. This money will cover the cost of ink, paper and mechanical repairs. The second point was that anyone purchasing articles for various clubs and organizations must turn in the bills to their treasurers who will, in turn, submit them to the finance office. If this is not done, bills will not be paid.

The third was that the chairman for the Winter Carnival, Ralph Pinsky, with Lorraine Rome, Jim Walters, and Al Kishel have been contacting various winter resorts to find a possible location for this year's mid-semester weekend. No vacancy has yet been found. Al Kishel has also mentioned that the United Fund drive at the College was $47.00 below the goal.

Christmas Formal In Offing

by Bob Bomboy

Mary Antinnes and Ted Toluba, co-chairmen of the Lettermen's Christmas Formal, have announced that the dance will be held on Friday, December 9.

The Lettermen have divided their preparations into five categories: tickets, publicity decorations, refreshments, and entertainment. A special committee has been set up to supervise each category.

Co-chairmen Bernie Kosch and Ron Roski will head the ticket committee. They will design, print, distribute, and collect the tickets for the yuletide spectacular.

Paul Aquilino and Tommy Pugh, co-chairmen of the publicity committee will be responsible for publicizing the affair through all advertising media on and off campus.

Arranging for the decorations on the ceiling and walls and table centerpieces will be Mike Armstrong and Brooke Yeager, co-chairmen of the decorations committee.

The refreshment committee, under Frank Spudis, will arrange and operate all concessions at the dance.

Finally, the entertainment committee has been empowered to hire a band and arrange special vocal music during intermission.

Ted Toluba Nominated For District President

by Leona A. Baiera

Ted Toluba was nominated for president of the Northeastern District of the Pennsylvania State Education Association at their district meeting last Saturday, held in the Commons.

There are 7 schools in the district: Wilkes, King's, Misericordia, Marywood, Scranton University, East Stroudsburg, and Bloomsburg.

Toluba has set a precedent since this is the first time that anyone from Wilkes has been chosen for such a position. At press time, Toluba was running unopposed. This meeting is usually held in the Commons once a month on Saturday.

Women's Chorus Plans Church Recitals

by Patsy Rossi

The College Women's Chorus, under the direction of Nancy Thomas, gave its first musical program at the First Baptist Church, South River Street, on Friday evening, November 4. The chorus was accompanied by Sheila Rosen. The program, which was well received, consisted of the following songs: "Let Us Praise God" by W. B. Olds; "Veni Jesu" by Cherubini; "Thanks Be To Thee" by G. F. Handel; "Adoramus Te Christe" by G. Palestrina; "Verdant Meadows" by G. F. Handel; and "Give Ear O Lord" by H. Schutz.

Plans for the future include appearance at the Evangelical Congregational Church in Nanticoke — November 27; the Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church on Grove Street, city — December 11; the Christmas Program with the combined college choruses — December 15; and the Women's Chorus Assembly program — January 16.

The chorus meets every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday at noon to rehearse for one hour. They appear at many civic and church functions. Mr. Chapline is the faculty advisor. Officers of the Women's Chorus are: Gail Hughes, president; Pat Lutz, vice-president; Bonny Jenkins, secretary; Marilyn Craze, treasurer; Alice Cole, librarian; and Christine Bialogowicz, assistant librarian.

Michelini Stresses Importance Of Undergraduate Research

by Wayne Thomas

The necessity of research projects for undergraduate students was one of the major points of a talk given by Dr. Francis J. Michelini recently at the directors' meeting of Undergraduate Research Programs in Washington, D.C.

Dr. Francis J. Michelini

Dr. Michelini stated, "One of the things that every student should learn is that the sciences are not a static thing to be learned once and for all, but a continually growing thing in which new developments require periodic overhauls of our ways of looking at, and understanding, the world and universe around us. One of the most important things that a young person can learn in school is the necessity of keeping up with his field, and probably the most important things that such a young person can learn are the methods of study and the habit of study which make it possible for him to do so."

Michelini pointed out that research experience has an important influence upon the undergraduate student. He stated that our goals should be a shift in emphasis from acquired knowledge and techniques as an end in itself to its proper role as means to an end and the inculcating of an awareness of the static nature of our knowledge.

Michelini told the group that Wilkes has approached this problem by stimulating faculty research and encouraging students to participate in or select a research project. He went on to state that one of the advantages of a small college is the opportunity for close and frequent faculty-student contact.

Buyer from Local Store To Speak to Retailing Club Members at Dinner

It was announced this past Tuesday that the Retailing Club will hold its monthly dinner-meeting on November 16 at O'Connell's Kingston House.

Guest speaker for the affair will be Mr. Hamer Mainwaring, buyer for Bergman's Department Store. Mr. Mainwaring will recount his experiences concerning retailing in the New York market.

Recently elected as this year's club officers were: Joe Hiznay, chairman or president; and John Salsburg, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Frederick Flower will serve in an advisory capacity to the club.

The Retailing Club plans several future field trips, but these plans are still in a tentative stage and details of them have not yet been disclosed.

Sr. Dinner Dance Planned

by Leona A. Baiera

The Senior Class will hold its annual dinner dance on November 19 at the Kingston House from 7:00 to 12:00 p.m. Jack Melton and his band will provide the music. Tickets are $3.00 per couple.

Ray Litman, chairman of entertainment, will be toastmaster for the affair. Bill Shupert of WGBI's Shupert's Alley will be the main speaker. The following are committee members: Peggy Churchill and George Watson, co-chairmen of the dinner dance; Joan Leggetts, tickets; and Jan Bronson, publicity.

Concert Tickets on Sale

The Wilkes-Barre Philharmonic Orchestra under the direction of Ferdinand Liva will open its season on Monday, November 21 at Irem Temple with a program in celebration of the tenth anniversary of that organization.

A series of programs has been planned, the first of which will feature Jennie Tourel, world famous soprano as soloist. Miss Tourel will sing the exotic "Scheherazade" by Maurice Ravel, a work recently performed with the New York Philharmonic.

In addition, the orchestra will feature the Symphony No. 2 in D major by Jan Sibelius, one of the monumental works of contemporary symphonic literature.

Tickets to these concerts are available to students at a fee of seventy-five cents.

Time for Pictures Altered

Contrary to previously announced plans, seniors may make their own picture appointments at the Ace Hoffman Studios, West Market Street (VA 3-6177). This system will facilitate arrangements for all involved. The studio can take appointments from 9 through 5 daily. Sittings will take no longer than fifteen minutes. Seniors must have had their pictures taken by the Thanksgiving recess. This change in plans has been made primarily to accommodate the variant senior schedules; it is hoped that the seniors will take advantage of this change and will have their pictures taken as soon as possible. The price of the sitting is $3.00; this price will be applied to the total cost of the picture order if the order totals ten dollars or more.

A schedule of club pictures will be placed on the main bulletin board near the Cafeteria entrance. All club pictures will be taken in the gym, unless the club is notified otherwise. Club presidents are urged to check this schedule and to notify their club members of the date and time of the picture.
