New Representatives Needed For Student Government Posts

by Mary DiGiuseppe and Barbara Lore

The forthcoming election of three new Student Government members was announced at the first official meeting of the Student Government for the 1961-62 school year, held on Monday evening on the second floor of Harding Hall. The new members will fill vacancies caused by recent resignations. The date for the election has been set as Friday, October 6.

Ted Begun was elected secretary for the new term, and Mike Bianco was appointed permanent parliamentarian.

A motion passed at this first meeting added a new facet to the Student Government body. For the 1961-62 school year an official record will be kept of the votes of every Student Government representative on each motion passed. This will enable interested members of the student body to check on their representative's vote on pertinent issues, to insure proper representation.

Topics on the agenda included reports from the standing committees. Jim Walters announced that the extra-curricular activities budget had a balance of $471.66, which may be donated toward a scholarship fund, if so voted by the Student Government. Jerry Shilanski, representing the School Spirit Committee at the meeting, proposed that a portable public address system be installed on campus for college activities. Reports were also submitted by the policy, calendar, publicity, constitution, and evaluation committees.

An External Affairs Committee was created to consider matters off campus, such as state or federal legislation, or an event of national importance, which would involve the interests of the college. Mike Bianco was appointed chairman. Ed Rogalski was put in charge of a Bulletin Board Committee, to investigate the possible role of the Student Government in maintaining the bulletin board on the Commons.

Reports were also heard from Special Events Committees. The Orientation Committee, headed by Ted Begun and Jim Walters, announced that a rope-pulling contest between the freshmen and upperclassmen will be held at the football game Saturday, September 30. Bonnie Jenkins reported that a Student Government sign will be posted at Harding Hall in the near future. Other committees discussed plans for the Undergraduate Dinner Dance, Homecoming, Dr. Farley's Day, and the United Fund.

Nominations for the Court of Appeals were opened, and Activity forms from various organizations were accepted. Both the Calendar Committee and President Kishel stressed the importance of submitting these completed forms as soon as possible, as it facilitates planning of the activities calendar, and indicates the organization and forethought of the club involved. The Student Government recommends that jackets be required for all dances scheduled, except novelty affairs.

Seniors Present Assembly

The senior class has undertaken a project that no other class has done at Wilkes. Aware of the criticism often directed toward assembly programs in the past, the senior class has taken what it hopes will become a tradition for this class in the years to come.

With this in mind, the class has obtained Dr. Dorothy J. Lipp, Dean of Women at Pennsylvania State University, to address next Thursday.

Executive Will Speak To Interested Students On "The Obvious"

Louis P. Shannon, manager of the DuPont Company's Extension Division, has chosen "The Disappearance of the Obvious" as his topic when he speaks here next Tuesday.

A member of Phi Kappa Phi, an honorary scholastic society, and the Public Relations Society of America, Mr. Shannon was secured through the office of Dean Ralston to speak to the Economics and Retailing Clubs and SAM.

However, officials of each of these groups emphasized that the entire student body is welcome to hear this address, which will be given in Stark 109 at 11 a.m., by a man who has made a mark in both the business and education worlds.

Mr. Shannon will discuss the factors that have spurred the nation's economic growth and will show how these factors have become obscured almost to the point of disappearance.

When asked if he had a preference as to addressing a student or a faculty audience, Mr. Shannon pointed out that he thought the student body at Wilkes could profit more from this talk than faculty members could. For this reason, he hopes to address a large group of students.

Receiving his bachelor's degree from Southern Illinois University and his master's degree from the University of Florida, he has gained much experience abroad as an educator and a school administrator.

Lettermen Drink to Raffle

by Julie Evans

The Lettermen's Pre-Season Punch Party will be held today from 1 o'clock to 4 o'clock at Chase Lawn to kick off the coming football and soccer season. Yorath Evans, senior secondary education major, is the chairman.

The club held teas and punch parties in the past, but the tradition was stopped a few years ago. There will be no charge of admission and the lettermen will serve the refreshments. All students and faculty members are cordially invited to attend the party.

The Lettermen are also sponsoring a raffle that began Tuesday, September 26 and will continue until Homecoming.

Group to Charter Buses

Busses to take students to away athletic events are being chartered this year by the School Spirit Committee.

Tickets for next Saturday's game with the Pennsylvania Military Academy will be on sale in the Bookstore until Thursday. The price of this ticket for the trip to PMC which is located in Chester, Pa., will be $3.00. Admission to the game will be free for students on the busses.

The future of this program depends on the participation of the students on this initial trip.

New Instructors Aid College Atmosphere With Past Experiences

by Jerome Krasa

The college continued its tradition of striving for excellence in education by again adding a substantial number of new instructors to the faculty. This year, ten men and women joined the ranks of full-time Wilkes professors.

That our faculty member are selected on the basis of what they can contribute to the student body in the way of new and varied ideas is made amply evident with just a glance at the educational background and prior experience held by these new instructors.

Dr. Frederic E. Bellas, a native of Edwardsville, is typical of the new faculty instructor. After receiving his terminal degree from Wilkes in 1947, Dr. Bellas transferred to Pennsylvania State University, where he soon obtained his Bachelor and Master of Science degrees and also his Doctorate in Physics. At Wilkes, he is an Associate Professor of Physics.

Mrs. Wanda Hilner typifies the beauty and charm of the new women instructors. Reversing a trend common in the Valley, Mrs. Hilner went to high school in New Jersey (Teaneck) and then came here to teach. She received her Bachelor's degree from Hood College in Frederick, Maryland in 1960 and, explaining that she recently got married, she said that she came to the area as her husband's work is situated here. She is an instructor in the Biology Department.

A new instructor who left the hills of North Dakota for the valleys of Pennsylvania, Mr. Kent Kirby is a signal addition to our Art Department. He completed his studies in his home state and received his Bachelor's degree from Carleton College and his Master's degree from the University of North Dakota. His previous teaching experience includes two years as art instructor at Muskingum College in New Concord, Ohio. His hobbies include painting, sports, and the theater. Home life is divided between his wife, Lynn, and two young children, Kalin Louise and Jeffrey Bruce.

Mr. Albert Stralka is by far the youngest among the new instructors. He attended Hanover Township High School and is still a resident of the Township. Entering Wilkes in 1957, he received his Bachelor's degree just this past June. His major hobby is golf and he can be found professionally in Conyngham Hall carrying out his duties as a member of the Mathematics Department.

Another bright addition to the faculty, Dr. Bernice Leagus, is also from this area. A native of Wilkes-Barre, she attended Wilkes for two years, then transferred to Bucknell to obtain her Bachelor's degree. Her Master's and Doctor's degrees were obtained at Pennsylvania State University. A former instructor at Wilkes, she also taught part-time at Penn State. At Wilkes, she is an Assistant Professor of Biology and Coordinator of our Nursing Program.

Mr. Robert Lovett received his Bachelor's degree from Ithaca College and his Master's degree from Teachers College of Columbia University. His prior experience includes several positions in colleges around the country. Between high school and college, he found time

by Joe Klaiaps

Jerry Shilanski, a member of the sophomore class, was appointed state chairman of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations.

On June 14-22, Shilanski, representing Wilkes, along with representatives of the C.C.U.N. organizations all over the nation, attended the Sixteenth Annual Intercollegiate Leadership Institute of the United Nations. Held at Sarah Lawrence College in New York, this year's institute with 165 representatives, was the largest ever held. Here, Eleanor Roosevelt addressed the group.

Jerry Shilanski

In addition to the time spent in conference and discussion groups on the college campus, the representatives spent two days at the United Nations headquarters. A detailed tour of the United Nations building was conducted and several delegates from various countries addressed the group. At the conclusion of the Institute, elections were held and a regional director was elected; it was he in turn who appointed Shilanski to coordinate the activities of the C.C.U.N. in Pennsylvania.

Incidentally, although Shilanski has only been a member for one year, he was appointed to this position because of his outstanding qualifications of leadership and his sincere interest in the organization.

When asked what the position meant to him, Shilanski replied, "It gives me an opportunity to work for an organization which has, within its power, the possibility of bringing a lasting peace in the world."

Discussing the subject further, Shilanski stated that it is the objective of the C.C.U.N. at this time to increase active participation in the organization by more colleges throughout the nation.

In addition to serving as state chairman of C.C.U.N., Shilanski is vice-president of the organization here on campus. He is chairman of the School Spirit Committee, a member of the Beacon staff, chairman of the committee for Sane Nuclear Policy, and publicity chairman for the class of 1964.

From the academic angle, Shilanski is enrolled in the liberal arts program and plans to enter the field of journalism upon graduation. The experience he is gaining now as state chairman of the C.C.U.N. by corresponding with member colleges will undoubtedly be an asset to him in the journalistic field.

Bringing a touch of internationalism of the new instructors, Carolyn Morris, after receiving her Bachelor's degree from Wellesley College, attended the summer school divisions of L'Ecole Polytechnique and the Sorbonne: — Louvre in Paris. Formerly a part-time instructor at Wilkes, she was also Department Manager of Children's Wear Merchandising at Abraham and Straus. Very active in community affairs, she has one lively son who manages to keep her busy at home. At the college, she teaches economics and retailing.

Mr. Harvey Bresler, in addition to his duties in the Commerce and Finance Department, is the college's Director of Development. He received his AB and LLB degrees from Columbia University. At various times, he has studied at the University of California, New York University, and Columbia University Graduate School. A former member of the New York Adult Education Council, his non-professional hobby is book reviewing.

Edward Benson Lewis is another of our new faculty members who has studied abroad. After getting his Bachelor's degree from Earlham College in Richmond, Indiana, he spent some time at Trinity College in Dublin, Ireland in special studies on James Joyce, W. B. Yeats, Anglo-Irish novels, and Anglo-Irish drama. He received his Master's degree at Ohio State University, and is a member of the English Department.

USMC Team Coming

A Marine Corps Officers Selection Team will be on campus October 4 and 5 to interview students who are interested in becoming officers in the United States Marine Corps. This Selection Team will be available during these two days in the Commons.

Three basic programs are available: two for male students and one for female students. One male program is for freshmen, sophomores, and juniors; the other for seniors and recent graduates. The female program is open to juniors, seniors, and recent graduates. A complete description of these programs can be had from the Team when it is on campus.

Jose Ribas studied at three of the major schools in Spain, the Universities of Salamanca, Madrid, and Barcelona. This native of Gerona, Spain holds Bachelor degrees both of law and of arts. He taught for several years in his native country. A Fulbright scholar, he was head of the Spanish Department at the Gilman School in Baltimore last year. At Wilkes, he is a member of the Modern Languages Department.

"Toy Day" Fulfills Useful Purpose

The annual freshman "toy day", conducted last Friday on campus acquired an added significance this year as the Inter-Dormitory Council transformed the day into a project for charity.

The freshmen were instructed to wear their "Sunday best" and as usual, they attracted the attention of many an upper-classman as they appeared on all parts of the campus on Friday morning. At noon, a contest was held to select the nicest and most unusual toys. The winners were awarded with an exemption from tribunal attendance, but the story does not end here.

This year, "toy day" was only the beginning of a project which was to gladden the hearts of many children as well as to bring credit to the students of Wilkes, particularly the freshmen and the members of I.D.C.

Following the noon contest, the freshmen were invited to place their toys in a container for distribution to charity. The toys were then taken by two I.D.C. members to two local institutions. Half of the 250 toys collected were donated to the St. Stanislaus Institute at Nanticoke, and the remainder were given to the Plymouth Salvation Army for distribution among the needy.

This project certainly brings a great deal of credit to the college and the I.D.C. members who arranged the project as well as the freshmen who participated are deserving of recognition.

Thanks to them, this year's "toy day" fulfilled not only the purposes of the orientation program, but also brought a great deal of pleasure and enjoyment to those less fortunate. Once again, congratulations to all concerned for a job well done.

Baltimore Chamber Orchestra Well Received by Students

by Bob Kundreskas

The Baltimore Chamber Orchestra under the direction of Elliott W. Galkin presented a varied program at Tuesday's assembly. The program was void of the usual "workhorses" generally expected at such presentations.

The opening work, a rarely heard overture by Sacchini, established the fact that the ensemble was a first-rate group. The tempi were crisp and the bowings precise.

In the "Concerto for Piano and Orchestra in C", by Paisiello, pianist Daniel Abrams proved himself more than equal to the demands of the composer. His playing was strong and precise.

Bela Bartok's "Roumanian Dances" were a joy to the ear. The dances are highly expressive and Mr. Galkin exacted this expressive feeling with precision in the various Rubati.

"The Concert Piece for Bassoon and String Orchestra", by Phillips, was another matter. The bassoonist, Stanley Petrusis, and the conductor had, at times, difficulty in agreeing on a common tempo.

The student body, as delighted as myself with the performance, expressed their appreciation with their hands. The warm applause awarded to the orchestra upon its completion of the program prompted a well-deserved encore.

Letter to the Editor . . .

We, as representatives of the Inter-Dormitory Council, wish to thank the class of '65 for donating their toys at the pep rally last Friday. More than 250 toys were collected. Both Dr. Farley and Dean Ralston congratulated the student body on this phase of the "hazing" program, saying it was rewarding to see such responsiveness from the freshmen and cooperation between the classes.

Half the toys were contributed to the Salvation Army to be distributed to needy families in Plymouth. The remaining toys were taken to the St. Stanislaus Orphanage in Nanticoke.

We wish all the Freshmen could have seen the children's genuine delight as they received the toys.

Yours truly,

Europeans Interesting Co-ed Finds on Tour

by Roz Deretchin

"Any traveler who has been to Europe can tell you about the famous sights, but Europe is not just a world of churches and museums; it is a place where life and customs are different from ours in the United States."

Miss Roz Deretchin, a sophomore psychology major, who toured Europe with a group of American college students last summer, went on to tell of the interesting people she had met in Europe.

Unlike most conducted tours of Europe, Miss Deretchin's group visited many places which were off the beaten tourist path; this gave her an opportunity to meet students and natives of each country through which she passed.

Recounting her adventures, she said, "One night in Edinburgh, Scotland, we visited a women's dormitory at Edinburgh University. We introduced ourselves as American students interested in talking to Scottish students. Within a matter of minutes, we met a group of girls who were eager to talk with us about what America is really like."

Though she found that many of the people that she met believed Americans to be rich and spoiled, she quickly added that everyone did not share this opinion. "For example," she said, "in the small towns, people were extremely friendly and went out of their way to please us."

"In fact," she added, "aside from seeing the many famous places, what I really loved most about Europe were those small towns, where the people wore costumes indigenous to their country, and where their way of life has changed little

by Jerry Shilanski

Did you know that Wilkes College can claim the distinction of having "The Girl With The Most Satisfying Smile in Luzerne County" as a senior coed?

Well, we can! Thanks to Lee Baiera, who says she has brushed with that certain brand for years. Her thirty-two conforming pearls that sparkled when she giggled was enough evidence to convince me that I had been using the wrong toothpaste. Needless to say, I rushed out and bought three tubes of Lee's brand. I know I can't brush after every meal, but you know how those commercials influence one's thinking.

Leona A. Baiera

This whole thing started way back in 1957 when Lee was a junior at West Pittston High School. The Luzerne County Dental Association ran a contest, and guess who won?

Her "gleamy" smile was undoubtedly one of the contributing factors that helped the judges choose Lee as one of the "Ten Best-Dressed Coeds" at the college last year.

Surely Lee's satisfying smile will prove to be a valuable asset in the future. Particularly when she enters her chosen field of elementary education. What a visual aid she'll have for third grade hygiene, especially for the chapter on teeth.

Although this was reason enough, it was not the primary purpose she elected elementary education as a major. Lee explained that she loves small children. "They are constantly surprising; and so innocent, they say anything spontaneously, they just don't hold anything back the way adults often do. Kids' curiosity and desire to learn has always amazed me.

"I'd like to have four children someday because you really can't get to know a child's problem unless he is one of your own."

After a summer of working as a playground instructor, Lee can speak as somewhat of an authority on the subject of 'Kids'. "I taught arts and crafts, conducted doll and pet shows, played 'Farmer in the Dell', and settled fights for two months," Lee commented.

At the beginning of this interview, Lee was worried about how she was going to find enough answers. By the time we came to the proverbial question, "What has your college education done for you?", "What do you think of Wilkes?", and "What would you like to see done here at the college?", she was bubbling over with candid replies.

"College has taught me to evaluate all phases of my life. I now search for new meanings to life. Anyone that does not search for better horizons and higher goals, has not learned much.

"I feel that college has given me a more liberal outlook on life. I have rid myself of prejudice and have become a more well-rounded person because of the many (continued on page 4)

Art Club to Hold Outing

The Art Club of Wilkes is going to hold an outing on Sunday, October 1 at Dr. and Mrs. Farley's farm at Beaumont, Pa.

A car caravan will leave from Conyngham Annex at 12:30 for the farm. All members are requested to bring their sketch pads.

Carolyn Rhone is in charge of refreshments. Diane Schonfeld is making the arrangements for transportation. All members in need of a ride should contact her.

Mr. Chester Colson and Mr. Kent Kerby will accompany the students. Regardless of what weather conditions prevail, the picnic will be held over the years."

"To me," she concluded, "seeing a Scotsman wearing a kilt; an Italian farmer taking his noontime siesta at the side of a road; a French peasant woman carrying unwrapped loaves of bread under her arm; farmers working on their hands and knees in the fields; couples in Holland riding their bicycles, arm in arm; this constitutes the European way of life which I found so very attractive."

How Severe Is Hazing This Year?

"Although I am pleased with the sincere efforts of Al Kishel and the orientation committee that helped him reorganize the 'hazing' program, I would like to see more effective application of the committee's suggestions. Upperclassmen in general have been apathetic toward the orientation portion of the program and overzealous toward the hazing portion. I strongly urge that anyone who wishes to improve the program contact Al Kishel or write to the Beacon. —Steve Schwartz

"I feel that the upperclassmen should have a fuller understanding and appreciation of the goals of the hazing program and take a more active part in it. The Student Government has taken the first step in informing the Student Leaders, but the program should be carried through to the upperclassmen as a whole. I don't think that hazing has been too severe this year; however, those upperclassmen who humiliate freshmen and single individuals out are not serving any useful purpose by doing this." — Ted Begun

Booters Have Tough Test With Wagner Today;

Gridders Open Against Moravian Tomorrow at 2 P. M.

Hounds Feature Passing Attack; Colonels Have Balanced Offense

The Greyhounds of Moravian College will provide the opposition for the Blue and Gold gridgers as they raise the curtain on their 1961 season tomorrow afternoon. Kickoff time is listed for two o'clock at the new Wilkes College Athletic Field. The Greyhounds downed the Colonels, 14-2, in last year's contest and hold a 9-1 series edge over the Wilkesmen.

The Greyhounds started the season last week and were edged by C. W. Post, 21-19. Although they tasted defeat the scouting reports indicate the Greyhounds have a strong team with depth at each position.

For the first time the visitors are operating from the wing-T formation with quarterback's option. Andy Semmel got the starting nod at the quarterback slot last week-end and responded with nine completed passes, good for two touchdowns. Jim Frank, Bill Hino, and Jim Kelyman fill out the remaining backfield posts. The Greyhound line shows good size, fair speed and experience.

Of course the Colonels will have to take a backseat to no one as they attempt to bob above the .500 mark for the first time in recent years. Last year the Colonels utilized primarily power plays up the middle to lead their offensive thrust. This season the power is still there but a better-rounded attack is expected.

A sharp passing attack, quarterback Ted Travis-Bey to Rick Rees and Larry Turel, mixed strategically with the bronco-busting type running of fullback Tom Krisulevich and halfback Frank Wallace will give the Wilkesmen their best balanced attack in years. Wallace, a converted quarterback, gives the Blue and Gold a halfback with which to operate the option. He has the speed to make sizable gains around the end and can throw accurately to spell nothing but trouble for the opposition.

The nucleus of a winning team is a good line has been the cry of successful coaches down through the years. This year's team has a solid nucleus on which to build. Jim Brunza, Ed Gavel, Pete Winebrake, and Chuck Cherundolo give the Colonels plenty of "beef" at the tackles. The guards—Don Eller, Jerry Mohn, Len Kibildis and Len Richards and Len Rishofski are small by college standards but have the speed and experience to offset this seemingly deficit.

Three-deep are the centers with

Lepore Gains Nod as Athlete of the Week

This year on the Wilkes soccer team the emphasis is on close teamwork. One of the players who exemplifies this endeavor is senior Retailing major, Frank Lepore. "Sweetie Pie", as he is called by his teammates, serves almost as a cheerleader for the team in addition to handling his outside right position with a great amount of skill and determination.

In Wilkes' 1-0 victory over Susquehanna University Wednesday, Frank repeatedly initiated drives that ended with the Wilkesmen hammering at the Crusaders' goal. He was instrumental in the Wilkes scoring thrust, as he helped bring the ball past the Susquehanna defenders into scoring position. Late in the game Frank made several crucial defensive moves as the team staved off a rejuvenated Crusader attack.

INTRAMURAL BOWLING

Intramural bowling will begin on Sunday at 5:30 p.m. at Jimmy's Central Lanes. All interested persons are requested to be present.

lettermen Bob Herman and Bill Meneeley battling sophomore John Evanish for a starting berth. After tomorrow's contest the Colonels travel to Ursinus and P.M.C. before returning home to meet Lycoming in the Homecoming tilt.

Ferrismen Perform Well in Clash Against Fast Susquehanna Team

With only one day of rest after Wednesday's clash with Susquehanna, the Colonel soccer team will be seeking their second straight triumph in as many games when they tangle with Wagner College this afternoon at 3:30 at the Wilkes College Athletic Field. The Colonels shut out Susquehanna, 1-0, in their season's opener.

The Blue and Gold booters will definitely be up for today's contest. Not only will they be out to score their second victory but they are eager to have the winning season that has escaped them the past two years.

TOUCH FOOTBALL LEAGUE TO SWING INTO ACTION

John Reese, director of athletics, announced yesterday that the intramural two-hand touch football league would swing into action in two weeks. In the past quite a bit of student interest has been aroused in intramural play and it is hoped that this year's league will be a good one. All the managers should turn in their rosters this week to Mr. Reese. "The sooner the rosters are turned in," Reese said, "the sooner we can get the league underway, and the better the schedule will be."

Coach Jim Ferris was pleased with his squad's hustle and drive against a much taller Susquehanna team. He is expected to field essentially the same starting lineup that defeated the Crusaders on Wednesday.

The line, paced by Clyde Roberts and "Athlete of the Week" Frank Lepore, worked well together. Wings Pete Eckhart and Lepore handled the ball neatly from their outside spots while George Tensa, Bob Erwich, and Walt Prusakowski looked good at their inside positions.

The defense was strong with Ted Toluba, Dick Morgan, Tom Tomalis, Jim Jones, Chuck Weiss, and Erwin Guetig turning in sparkling performances. John Adams registered fourteen saves in scoring his first shutout as a goal-tender.

After this afternoon's game, the booters will have a week's rest before traveling to Easton to meet the mighty Lafayette team on October 7.

Travel, History, Art Offered Through Informative Books

by Gloria Zaludek

Books which the library has recently added to its section of "Reading for Fun and Enjoyment" offer a variety of engaging topics. People of the Sun by John Blofeld is a study of contemporary Siam — the transition from its ancient ways to a type of Westernization.

Characters introduced in the novel lead us to a country where the scents of flowers and incense mingle with an ever-thickening miasma of petrol fumes; where the chanting of Buddhist monks alternates with the blare of radios relaying the latest "hits"; and where, in an emerald setting of rice fields and jungle, the jeweled spires of royal temples rise above rows of concrete office blocks.

On April 19, 1775, Adam Cooper, aged fifteen, signed the muster roll of the Lexington militia. April Morning by Howard Fast is a story of the unbearable tension of the next twenty-four hours of his life.

This is the story of a battle, but certainly unlike any battle story you have ever read. In addition to the portrait of Cooper's coming of age, of his first knowledge of love and death, and of his struggle to triumph over his own youth, it is an account of the heroism of an unheroic people.

For those of you practical readers who are searching for new job opportunities, the library has purchased Walter de Sager's Making Pottery. The author offers a series of photographs of the processes involved in this age-old craft.

Examples of work by ancient and modern craftsmen show application of method and the inspiration of line and form.

Another book for the practical-minded is Metalcraft for Amateurs by Peter Manzoni. Contained in it is a comprehensive treatment of the entire art, concise and carefully prepared.

Glenn C. Nelson, who teaches ceramics at the University of Minnesota, has written Ceramics, a book covering all the phases of ceramic production, glazing, decorating, and firing. He also includes a list of dealers and suppliers of the equipment needed to start the ceramist on his way to fame and fortune.

Students, Alumni Plan Homecoming Weekend; Bonfire Included

by Mary Alice Isganitis

Plans for the 1961 edition of the annual Alumni Homecoming are now being formulated, according to Fred Smithson, student chairman. The events of October 20 and 21 are the results of months of planning by both student and alumni committees.

Smithson has announced that all clubs and organizations who are planning displays must contact Jim Jones, sophomore class president, to make arrangements for sites of displays.

This year four trophies for prize-winning displays will be awarded. Awards will go to the best display by the women's dormitories, men's dormitories, clubs, and the best decorated automobile in the car caravan.

The Homecoming Queen and her court will be chosen from a list of nominees submitted to the Beacon by the student body. All senior girls and senior terminal students are eligible.

Committee chairmen include Wayne Thomas, the Queen and her court; Conrad Wagner, gifts and flowers; Jim Jones, decorations; Jerry Shilanski and Barbara Stevens, bonfire.

Although plans are not complete, the tentative schedule is as follows: on Friday, October 20, the Homecoming displays will be judged, the annual bonfire and pep rally will be sponsored, and the Chemistry Club will hold a dance in the gym; on Saturday, the activities will include a car caravan, soccer and football games, and the annual undergraduate dinner-dance.

"Roaring Twenties" Dance at Gym; Charleston Costumes Featured

by Lillian Bodzio

"The Roaring Twenties" will be the theme of tonight's dance to be held at the gymnasium.

Sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the dance will feature decorations commemorative of the twenties era, including beer kegs and bottled candles. To further carry out the theme, the chairmen of the affair, Jules Heller and Benjamin Weaver, urge all students to wear costumes depicting the twenties.

thought-provoking courses I have taken. However, at times, I get feelings of inadequacy because I realize how much there is to learn and how little I really know.

"I say what I think and I think that the biggest problem at Wilkes is that most of the students are commuters. I don't think I would come back to Wilkes if I couldn't live in a dorm," she frankly admitted. "I get terribly tired of driving. I also feel that commuting hampers social participation and creates a barrier against the unity of students. Perhaps more Student Leaders Conferences could help make campus life more interesting for day students.

"The scholastic facilities are very good at Wilkes, but the dating and social situation could stand some improvement. Again the dorm-day student barrier comes into the picture.

"The college has grown tremendously, and I have seen much of that growth take place during my three years here. I would like to see a fine arts building erected and possibly a student union," Lee offered as suggestions for further expansion.
