Detwiler to Direct New Civilian Defense Organization on Campus

by Julie Evans

Dr. Daniel Detwiler, chairman of the department of physics, has been named chairman of the Campus Survival Committee by Dr. Eugene S. Farley in accordance with the Luzerne County Civil Defense Program. Dr. Detwiler, who is also chief of the Luzerne County Amateur Radio Civil Emergency Service, will also serve as communications chief.

He has begun to select his committee for their specific activities. Dr. Francis Michelini, associate professor of biology, and Dr. Sheldon Cohen, M.D., associate professor of biological research, will be in charge of medical supplies and treatment.

Shelter arrangements will be directed by William Jervis, chief of maintenance, with William Denion, cafeteria manager, acting as commissary director. Dr. Hugo V. Mailley, director of Institute of Municipal Government, will be responsible for discipline and evacuation, and Mr. Al Groh, assistant professor of English, will head warden supervision.

Livingston Clewell will direct public relations, morale and public information. Dr. Howard Swain, assistant professor of chemistry, will be in charge of water supply, ventilation and sanitation.

Public interest in protection has increased rapidly, because of the existence of the cold war and the resumption of nuclear weapon testing. Action on the part of Wilkes College administration follows public action nationally.

Fellowships Offered To College Seniors For Graduate Study

Dean George F. Ralston announced today that applications are being accepted for Danforth Graduate Fellowships worth up to $12,000; as many as three college men may be nominated before November 1.

The fellowships, initiated in 1957 by the late William H. Danforth, St. Louis businessman and philanthropist, are open to male college seniors or recent graduates preparing for a career in teaching, counseling, or administrative work at the college level. Applicants should not have already begun graduate work, but may be planning to major in any recognized field at the American graduate school of their choice.

Approximately 100 fellowships will be awarded to candidates from accredited colleges and universities in the United States. Nominees will be judged on intellectual promise and personality, integrity, genuine interest in religion, and potential for effective college teaching.

Winners will be eligible for up to four years of financial assistance, with an annual maximum of $1,500 for single men and $2,000 (as well as $500 per child) for married men, plus tuition and fees. Students without financial need also are invited to apply.

In addition to the annual stipend, winners will be guests of the Foundation and at an annual educational conference. Leading scholars will appear at the conference for lectures, seminars and personal contact with the Fellows.

Danforth Graduate Fellowships are unique in that they may be held for life, with certain benefits after completion of graduate work, such as financial assistance to attend educational conferences and

ENGINEERING STUDENTS VIEW RUSSIAN FILM

Engineering students were afforded a rare treat last week when Professor Cromwell Thomas projected a Russian film on welding. This film was made possible by the Susquehanna Valley Section, American Welding Society.

The film was shown last Friday evening and on Monday evening in Room 109, Stark Science Hall. Unique in its fashion, the film projected titles in Russian while commentary was handled in English.

Students may hold a Danforth Fellowship concurrently with other appointments, such as Rhodes, Woodrow Wilson, Fulbright, and National Science Foundation. Winners will become Danforth Fellows without stipend until these other awards lapse.

School Spirit Buses to P.M.C. Leave Tomorrow At 9 from Gies Hall

by Frances Corace

Jerry Shilanski, chairman of the School Spirit Committee, expressed satisfaction at the weekly meeting over the school spirit demonstrated at last Saturday's football game. The meeting was held in Stark 109 on Monday at 4:30.

Under discussion at the meeting was the Homecoming Bonfire. Barbara Stevens, chairman of the event, gave the bonfire date as October 20, at 7:30. At that time, the members of the football and soccer teams, Cheerleaders, Majorettes, Collegians, and the Kickline will be introduced. The band will also participate.

Freshman Don Ungemah was presented before the Committee as the new Wilkes Colonel. He is expected to appear at the forthcoming football games.

Transportation has been provided by the School Spirit Committee to the PMC game. The bus will leave on Saturday at 9 a.m. sharp from the Gies Hall parking lot.

An additional television set for student viewing of the World Series has been secured by the School Spirit Committee. The set, donated by Pomeroy's Department Store, will be placed on the second floor of the Commons.

Annual Poetry Contest Opens Again on Campus

Attention poets! The National Poetry Association announces its annual competition for any student attending either junior or senior college.

There are no limitations as to form or theme; however, shorter works are preferred by the board of judges, because of space limitations. Each poem must be typed or printed on a separate sheet, and must bear the name and home address of the student, as well as the name of the college attended. The closing date for the submission of manuscripts by college students is November 5, 1961.

There is also a contest for teachers and librarians for possible inclusion in the Annual National Teachers Anthology.

The closing date for the submission of manuscripts by college teachers and librarians is January 1, 1962. There are no fees and charges for acceptance or submission of verse. All work will be judged on merit alone.

"Magnificent Mazowsze" Shows Here for First Time

Poland's most celebrated and most traveled song and dance company, the Mazowsze Ensemble, will have its American premiere at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Irem Temple Auditorium on North Franklin St.

Mazowsze has performed before more than three and one half million people during the eleven years of its existence. Tomorrow's performance marks the initial appearance of Mazowsze in North America as it opens a three week tour of the United States and Canada.

Established in 1948, the Mazowsze Ensemble did not make its first public appearance until 1950 in Warsaw. The colorful company has enjoyed unbounded success since that time.

In addition to folk music from all parts of the country, the repertoire of the ensemble includes songs and dances taken from the region about the Polish capitol. The director of the ensemble is Mira

Direct Grant Is Result Of Alumnus Employed By Eastman Kodak

by Jeanette Bucholtz

Once again, Wilkes has received a subsidy which will enable it to meet its increasing expenses. Eastman Kodak has endowed Wilkes with a direct grant of $2,400 under the company's annual aid-to-education program.

Wilkes is one of 58 colleges and universities to receive grants from Kodak this year. The grants are based on the number of graduates from these institutions who joined Kodak five years ago and are presently employed by the company.

Kodak has contributed a total of $3,400 in direct grants to Wilkes since 1959. This year's grant is based on I. J. Swicklik, a 1949 Wilkes alumnus who was graduated with a B.S. degree in chemistry. Mr. Swicklik is now a research chemist for the Eastman Kodak Company of New York.

The company's 1961 aid-to-education program calls for direct grants, fellowship awards, and special contributions totaling approximately $1 million. No plans have yet been made at Wilkes concerning how the grant will be used.

Art Club Fills Roster; Plans Overnight Trip To Visit Art Museums

by Leona A. Baiera

The Art Club started this year with a "bang" by going to a picnic at Dr. Farley's Farm, Beaumont, on Sunday, October 1. The thirty who attended the picnic played touch football and sketched and painted the beautiful scenery. Mrs. Eleanor Farley served as hostess.

Approximately 45 members comprise the Art Club, and reports show that membership has doubled this year, half the members being non-art majors. For its first project of the year, the Art Club is preparing a set of 14 signs for Civil Defense. The signs will be placed throughout the city to inform residents of survival units. Other projects will include the United Fund and tentative plans to decorate the athletic field for Homecoming.

Tentative plans for an overnight trip to New York, Washington, or Philadelphia to visit art museums are being organized. Art Club meetings will be held on Tuesday at 11:00 a.m. in Co. Annex. Brief films on watercolor, pottery, pen and ink, and other interesting topics will be featured at the meetings.

Officers of the club are: Ed Kajkowski, president; Len Yoblonski, vice-president; Romelle Gomba, secretary; Nancy Tinklepaugh, treasurer; and Bill Pucilowsky, public relations. Mr. Chester Colson, head of the art department, is club

The examinations will be of two kinds. A special type has been designed for those desiring to teach on the secondary or college level. Only those holding a bachelor's degree will be permitted to take this test. However, the candidate does not need to be an accredited teacher.

The other type is for all other candidates. This test has no set passing grade, and the Corps members will be selected by background, special skills, and character ratings, as well as examination results.

Dr. Nicholas Hobbs, Director of Selection for the Peace Corps, hopes to attract many citizens to the agricultural and industrial aspects of the Corps' work. In relation to this issue Mr. Hobbs stated, "We are receiving an increasing number of requests for such skills from prospective host countries. We will have to turn down these requests if we are unable to meet their needs."

Even though a prospective candidate has not filled out a questionnaire, he is eligible to take one of the examinations tomorrow, provided he sees the person in charge of the Civil Service Commission testing center at the main Post Office tomorrow morning before testing begins.

Jaycees Conduct Program On Fire Prevention Week

A meeting of the Wilkes College Chapter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was held on Monday, October 2, at Parrish Hall. Bob Chamberlain, rotating chairman, called the meeting to order.

The Jaycees have many new activities planned for the future. A book drive for the patients at Retreat State Hospital will take place in November. Students will be asked to bring used books and deposit them in containers which will be placed throughout the campus. Nick Alesandro and Frank Kline are the Jaycees in charge of the drive.

Next week, the Jaycees will conduct a program in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week. Russ Singer, chairman of the event, announces that members will speak on radio and television explaining methods of fire prevention.

Clyde Roberts, president, thanked the members for putting up signs advertising the United Fund Air Show which was held on Sunday, October 1.

At the next meeting, the Jaycees will discuss future plans, including activities for Homecoming Week.

LETTERS OF NOMINATION NOW BEING ACCEPTED

Letters of nomination for Homecoming Queen and her court are now being accepted. All senior girls are eligible and any student may submit a letter of nomination. Students are asked to keep in mind qualities of personality, leadership, scholarship, and participation in extra-curricular activities when making their nominations. EDITORIALS—

Homecoming Once Again

A glance at the college calendar reminds us that the annual Homecoming Weekend is just two short weeks away. Many campus organizations have already begun to plan for the affair which promises to be one of the best yet.

One of the functions of the Beacon staff with regard to this weekend will be the selection of the Homecoming Queen and her court. Nominations for queen may be made by any member of the student body and should be made in the form of a letter submitted to the Beacon.

Students are asked to keep in mind the qualities of personality, academic ability, appearance and participation in extra-curricular activities when submitting their nominations. Only coeds who are members of the senior class are eligible. From the list of nominees, the members of Student Government and the members of the editorial board of the editorial board of the Beacon will select the Homecoming Queen and her court.

The cooperation of the student body is requested in this effort and we are asking everyone to begin now to carefully consider his choice for the coed who will reign over the Homecoming celebration.

The 'Beacon' Mailbox

An unusual and welcome sight greeted us this past week in the form of some nine letters to the editor which were received on Tuesday afternoon. Unfortunately, space did not permit our publishing of all the letters received. Needless to say, we are pleased to see the interest which has been generated in campus affairs. We are pleased also that students have recognized the Beacon as a means of communicating their opinions to their classmates as well as to the faculty and administration members.

It is our sincere wish that such letters written on any subject which will appear frequently in the Beacon mailbox. All letters submitted for publication must be signed, however, the name of the author may be withheld upon request.

Dear Editor,

I feel it is my duty to lodge a complaint about the apathetic and immature forces that are directing the 1961 Orientation Program. Too many upperclassmen have shied away from responsible actions and are guiding Freshmen to carry trays and shine shoes while neglecting to guide them in the traditions of Wilkes College.

If the goal of the orientation program is the annoyance of Freshmen, then the 1961 program has been successful; but if the goal of the program is the assimilation of the Freshmen into the strange world of college life, then the program has failed.

The only reasonable cure for the errors of the program is the individual responsibility of each member of the upperclass. As amusing as it might be to have a lackey for three weeks, the Freshmen were never meant to be responsible for the needs of the upperclassmen. Strange as it might seem, it is the upperclassmen, as experienced college students, who are responsible for the needs of the Freshman.

Respectfully,
 Marc Hirschman

Letters to the Editor . . .

Dear Sir:

I have postponed writing this letter for a number of weeks, but I now realize that I should have spoken up last year.

I am a senior at the college, and for the past few years have had the opportunity to witness the hazing period. The spirit of hazing is traditionally accepted as it should be, but when tradition oversteps the bounds of personal dignity, moderation is called for. It has reached that point. Let us examine the spirit of hazing.

Is it not true that the purpose of that institution to create an atmosphere of good will among the students at the college? Why then must certain students seize upon this opportunity to impress upon the hapless freshman that he is an "all-powerful" individual who must be cow-towed to or else beware of the consequences.

Another reason for hazing is to force the student to make friends more quickly by pulling the freshman class together through their common, unfortunate situation. In theory, this is a fine idea, but in practice that is not the case. The day students form cliques, not because of hazing, but because they are from the same section of the area. The dorm students form close friendships within their own dorm and through inter-dorm rivalry. Both day and dorm students form friendships through class association. Therefore, how necessary is hazing?

Yours truly,
 Harvey Stambler

Dear Editor,

After reading last week's article on hazing, it made me realize that our program has much to be desired. Instead of making the Freshmen feel that they are a part of the college, it ridicules and sets them apart from the rest of the students. If upperclassmen would spend as much time helping the Freshmen as they do ridiculing them, not only the Freshman, but the college itself would certainly benefit.

Respectfully,
 Barry Witt

Dear Editor,

In response to last week's article on the subject of hazing, I agree with those students who feel that the program needs modification. Because many dormitory students become intoxicated with power, the entire program falls short of its objectives. It is because of this, that the power of the over-zealous students must be curbed.

Sincerely yours,
 Carl Hirsch

Dear Editor,

Needless to say, our library staff was very pleased to see that three articles featured the Library in the first issue of the Beacon.

We were particularly in agreement with Phil Siegel's plea to the student body to be more considerate of their colleagues, and particularly to check out books when removing them from the library. Our books from the main collection for two weeks, after which reminders are sent to the culprit and a fine of two cents per day is charged for every overdue book.

Faculty members do not receive any overdue notices, but as soon as it is known to us that a student wishes a book which is taken out by a faculty member, we call up the faculty member immediately. Reserve books and special assignments circulate for a restricted time and cannot be renewed. It is gratifying that from the students themselves comes a courageous voice stressing: "Only through co-operation, veracity, self-abrogation, and assiduous toil, can we retain and secure our well-cherished democratic ideals."

I have visited many countries and university campuses where democracy is not fully understood. I was

STUDENT SKETCH

Senior Saxophonist Gives Recital; Classics Featured in Concert

by Jerry Shilanski

A rare treat of mellow melodies, coming from the bell of Ed Yadzinski's classical saxophone, will be available to the ears of Wyoming Valley next Thursday.

The "swingin' cats" from TV Bandstand may not recognize the sounds that flow from this senior music education major's horn, but the lovers of "long hair" will be amazed by the unusual potential and techniques that can be demonstrated by a classical saxophonist. As Ed put it, "It's entirely different from 'rock and roll'."

Ed, who is known at the college as somewhat of a virtuoso on the saxophone and clarinet, will climax his ten years of musical study on the evening of October 12, in the college gymnasium. The repertoire for his senior instrumental recital will contain many contemporary French works.

In the past, very little classical music has been written for the saxophone. The saxophone is seldom heard in American or non-French symphony orchestras. Some of the selections on the program are: Concerto for Saxophone by Glazounov; Concertino for Saxophone and Improvisation et Caprice by Eugene Bozza; Rapsodie for Saxophone, without accompaniment, by Debussy; Pavanne by Maurice Ravel; Miniature Viennese March by Fritz Kreisler.

The difficult orchestral accompaniment will be rendered by Tom Hrynkiw at the piano.

Ed began his musical career at Hanover Township High School.

He was chosen to represent this school in the District and State Bands and he also received a superior rating in solo competition at the Annual Pennsylvania Forensic and Music League recitals in 1958. At the college Ed has been studying under the direction of Mr. William Gasbarro.

Summarizing his past years at Wilkes, Ed remarked, "For anyone who is looking for varied opportunities in musical performance and study, Wilkes is ideal. Another important fact I believe is that the music department is closely knit and the faculty members are friends of the students as well as teachers and advisors."

At Wilkes, Ed is president of the Band, participates in most of the campus music organizations, and pursues his hobby as a "radio ham" with the Radio Club. He is also president of the local chapter of the Music Educators National Conference, and serves as College News Editor for the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association.

Ed takes part in many community musical activities as a member of the Wilkes-Barre Philharmonic Orchestra, the Stegmaier Band, Nanticoke Little Symphony, and the recently formed Wilkes-Barre-Scranton Young Musicians Society.

In reply to queries about his future, Ed stated that he is hoping to attend graduate school and possibly teach at the college level. In his spare time he presently gives private instructions on woodwind instruments.

Ed is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Yadzinski of 8 Van Horn Street, Lynwood, Wilkes-Barre.

college physician will make a house call at the dormitory of the student who is ill.

Local residents are encouraged to continue under the care of their own family physician. However, the college physician will be available, if needed.

The college physician has been asked to re-evaluate students requesting excuses from gym or swim classes and will continue to do so without charge. In these cases, it is helpful to have a note from the student's own physician explaining why, from the medical standpoint, the student should be excused from gym and/or swimming.

To each and every student, the very best wishes for an intellectually stimulating, joyful and healthful academic year.

Very truly yours,
 Robert M. Kerr, M.D.

grieved to see libraries with closed shelves where the privilege of trusting the students was denied to them, and they had to wait till the desired book was brought from closed (locked!) stacks. Please, do not force us to take such measures!

To All Wilkes College Students:

It is a pleasure to look out over our campus and to observe that it once again bustles with young people eager to continue their academic careers and to improve their minds and bodies. The college physician hopes that this will be a most successful and healthful year for each and every student. However, since we are all heir to illness and accident, Wilkes College has made available to all students a plan for medical care when and if needed.

The Wilkes College health care plan is exactly the same as in the school year 1960-61, that is a deductible plan. Briefly, this means that the individual student is responsible for the first $10 incurred in the treatment of any illness or accident. Thereafter, additional costs will be borne by the insurance company insuring all the students. Dormitory students are insured both for health and accident, whereas students who are local students and commute to Wilkes are covered only in the case of accident.

The office of the college physician is located on the corner of South and South Franklin Streets. The address is:

Robert M. Kerr, M.D.
 204 S. Franklin St.
 Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
 Phone: Code 717, VA 3-0929

Because the college physician is engaged in the private practice of Internal Medicine and sees his regular patients by appointment only, it is necessary that he adheres strictly to the regular hour (9 a.m. to 10 a.m.) Monday through Friday, for seeing all students.

In case of serious emergency, the college physician will, of course, be available or will have medical coverage which will be available. In an emergency, do not rush or be rushed to the college physician's office — telephone and state the kind of emergency that exists. If the college physician is not in his office, he will be contacted immediately and he will suggest what to do and how to do it. In case of serious illness or high fever the

Gridders, Booters Play Away Tomorrow

Colonels Bow, 14-7, On Late Quarter Surge By Greyhounds' Squad

After a heartbreaking loss to Moravian last weekend, the Wilkes gridders will attempt to hit the victory road tomorrow when they meet the Cadets of Pennsylvania Military College at Chester. Last season the Colonels outplayed the Cadets only to drop a 12-0 decision on a blocked punt and a fumble.

This will be the third outing of the season for the Cadets who have emerged from their gridiron battles with Wagner and Western Maryland with victories. These wins have been impressive enough to get the Cadets a ninth place rating in the battle for the Lambert Cup, the symbol of Eastern small college football supremacy.

Coach George Hansell has a veteran squad with twenty lettermen forming the nucleus of this year's squad. Al Brewster and Al Filoreto are battling for the quarterback slot with sophomore John Hamilton looming as a top threat as a sleeper. Walt Crate will lead the halfback corps again with twelve lettermen leading the parade of linemen returning to action.

Last Saturday afternoon the Colonel gridders looked like a team of pros and then with two big errors hanging on their ball playing in the final period bowed to a seemingly defeated Moravian College eleven. The Colonels pushed their touchdown over the line in the opening period when quarterback Ted Travis-Bey kept the ball and danced his way twenty yards to touchdown and. This display of broken field punning was the greatest displayed

Athlete of Week Sparks Defense; Leadership, Play Dictate Weiss

Chuck Weiss

In last Saturday's soccer game with Wagner College the Ferrismen's defense sparkled to provide the team with its second consecutive victory and second shutout in as many games. Instrumental in this performance was one Charles "Chuck" Weiss, right fullback and co-captain.

Chuck, a junior business major, time and again boomed the ball out of Wilkes territory when the Seahawks attempted to break the quick-acting Colonel defense. He played spirited and determined soccer in conspiring with his fellow defensemen to hold the Wagner squad scoreless.

As co-captain, with Ted Toluba, Chuck aids in knitting the team together. A well-conditioned athlete, he always displays a maximum effort both in games and during practice sessions.

Because of his capacity for field-leadership and inspired play, Chuck Weiss has been selected as the Beacon Athlete of the Week.

on the Colonel gridiron in many a year. Frank Wallace split the up-rights with his kick to give the Colonels a 7-0 lead after three quarters.

The last eight minutes of the final period proved to be the downfall for the Wilkesmen as a miscue on a punt cost them the ball and led to the first Greyhound score. An intercepted pass in the final three minutes cut a Colonel rally and set up the second Moravian score.

The Colonel line played great ball with Jim Brunza, Don Eller, Pete Winebrake, and Larry Turel playing like Goliaths. Rick Rees, standout performer at end, suffered a pull in the left hip and will be lost for an indefinite time.

Defense Excels as Colonels Win, Seek Third Win at Lafayette

Coach Jim Ferris' soccermen have been girding all week for tomorrow's match with Lafayette College which will be played at Easton. After winning their first two games, the Ferrismen are eager to extend their victory skein by defeating the Leopards who bowed to the Colonels last season, 3-2, in a closely-played contest. In their only outing this year the Lafayette soccer team dropped a 6-0 game to a powerful Seton Hall eleven.

Last Saturday Wilkes defeated a big and fast Wagner team, 3-0, in a game in which action was the keynote. The Seahawks opened the match by keeping the ball in Wilkes territory for most of the first eight minutes. Their attack failed however, inasmuch as they could not move past fullbacks Chuck Weiss and Erwin Guetig.

The fast Wilkes line took over then, moving the ball downfield in a drive which ended with a goal by Frank Lepore on a pass by Pete Eckert. The next tally came four minutes later when Clyde Roberts blasted the ball out of a flood of players in front of the Wagner goal. Roberts completed the scoring with a penalty kick in the third quarter.

Weiss, Guetig, and Toluba combined on defense to stymie the Wagner offense, causing goalie John Adams to register relatively few saves. Wilkes outplayed the Seahawks throughout the contest to give them their second victory in as many starts.

Visit with Nehru Highlights Global Tour of Faculty Members

by Jerome Krasa

"Very personable" is the way that Mrs. Edith Namisniak, a member of our Biology Department, described Jawaharlal Nehru, Prime Minister of India. Since few of us will have the opportunity she had of personally interviewing Mr. Nehru in his home, we shall have to accept this description.

It is understandable that Mrs. Namisniak would pick this incident as the highlight of the summer tour that took her and thirty-one other college and high school professors 33,000 miles around the globe. This tour, sponsored under the auspices of the NEA, was open to all professors, on both the college and high school levels, who cared to go.

Although the visit with Mrs. Nehru was the standout of the tour, many other high points suggested themselves to Mrs. Namisniak as she thought back over the trip for the benefit of this reporter. She said that she could never forget standing on the same road that the Apostle Paul took to Corinth, the Indian school children who sang 'God Bless America' for the group in English, or the students she encountered who cherished the gift of a pencil.

To show that the tour was intended to be more than the travelogue it must have seemed, Mrs. Namisniak pointed out that the group met the heads of various educational institutions in every land that they visited. In addition, she pointed out that most of the countries visited conduct summer classes and, that whenever possible, the group sat in on these.

It is virtually impossible to travel for two months and not form any impressions of the things you have seen. Having visited approximately eleven countries, stretching from Portugal to Japan, Mrs. Namisniak was candid in her appraisal of what she saw and felt. A general appraisal of the trip is in order for the group did obtain a better overall understanding of the countries it visited.

Mrs. Namisniak pointed out that the group were never treated ungraciously, that they always felt at home, and that they never encountered any anti-American feeling. People were anxious to meet the tour members and always wanted to try out their English. The transportation facilities and the food were good, but coffee was only available in the American embassies; that is the coffee that Americans are willing to drink. She pointed out that Turkish coffee is strong enough to stand by itself.

Although the trip did show the group that these countries have come a long way in developing, there still is much that can be done, not the least of which is a mutual understanding of the problems that face us. Through trips like this, in which Americans meet and talk to natives, many misunderstandings can be cleared away.

Applications Are Being Accepted for Fellowship

by Mary DiGiuseppe

The Institute of International Education announced that only a month remains to apply for over 200 fellowships offered by foreign governments and universities for graduate study in 15 countries. Applications will be accepted until November 1.

The fellowships, which are for study in universities all over the world, cover tuition costs and varying amounts for living expenses. In some cases, American students may receive U. S. Government Travel Grants to supplement maintenance and tuition scholarships.

General eligibility requirements for these programs, in addition to a good academic record, are: (1) U. S. citizenship at time of application; (2) a bachelor's degree or its equivalent; (3) knowledge of the language of the host country; and (4) good health. Preference is given to applicants under 35 years of age who have not had extensive experience abroad. The stipends are geared to the needs of single grantees.

Applicants will be required to submit a plan of proposed study that can be carried out profitably within the year abroad.

Students enrolled at a college or university should consult the campus Fulbright Program Adviser for information and applications. Others may write to the Information and Counseling Division, Institute of International Education, 800 Second Avenue, New York 17, N.Y. Requests for application forms must be postmarked before October 15.

NOTICE: Students are asked to send cards to Victor Turoski, a Wilkes student, who is recuperating at his home after a recent illness. The address is 425 Washington Avenue, West Wyoming.

United Fund Campaign to Begin; $1200 Desired Goal for College

The student United Fund campaign on campus will begin next Friday and end Friday, October 27. Lou Coopey, heading the student campaign this year, is working in conjunction with Dr. Charles B. Reif, who is over-all chairman of the drive.

Initiating the drive, the Freshman Class will sponsor the United Fund Dance next Friday evening featuring Bobby Baird and his band, including a jam session.

Beachcombers Will Bop in Tonight's Sport Dance

by Sandy Faux

Tonight, from 9 to 12, the Inter-collegiate Council on Government is holding a dance in the gym. "The Beachcombers Bop" will feature a limbo contest, and six prominent male students will be instructed in the art of hula dancing by Barbara Riledggi. They will be appropriately dressed for their lesson.

Co-chairmen for the bop are Estelle Manos and Jeff Gallet. Ticket chairman is Fred Smithson. Gail Roberts is in charge of publicity. Mimi Wilson is chairman of the refreshments committee.

Jeff Gallet also announced that since this is the "Beachcombers Bop", anyone may come dressed as a beachcomber, if he so desires.

Officers of the ICG are Richard Rees, permanent chairman; Ed Rogalski, president; Estelle Manos, vice-president; Fred Smithson, treasurer; and Pat Rossi, secretary.

Dinner-Dance Planned

Plans are now being formulated for the annual Undergraduate Dinner-Dance which traditionally brings to an end the student participation in the Homecoming program at the college.

This year the Dinner-Dance is to be held in the Gym on Saturday evening, October 21, from 7 to 12 o'clock. Present plans call for a buffet style dinner and for music by a name band.

Publicity Chairman Jerry Shilanski announced that Ed Rogalski is chairman of the affair and Dick Emmel is in charge of arrangements. The affair, which is open to all undergraduates, will be explained further in future editions of the Beacon.

The Art Club will construct a lucrometer which will record progress toward the desired goal of $1200. Day students, dorm students, and campus organizations will be called upon to donate approximately one dollar per student.

General solicitation will take place during the dance on Friday night and at the Commons for the rest of the drive. The final day of general solicitations will be October 19 at the compulsory class meetings.

Dr. Reif has announced that the faculty drive has been completed and that eighty-eight faculty members contributed an average of $44.79 each. The maintenance crew drive is approximately half completed and the responsibility for the success of the drive now rests with the students.

Student Television Programs Begin

A series of television programs entitled "The Open Mind" will be presented by the students and faculty members of Wilkes throughout the semester on Channel 16, WNEP-TV. Panel members will attempt to explain the nature of ideas in a free society.

The first of these series will be held on Sunday, October 22 at 3:30 p.m. Mr. Alfred S. Groh will be moderator of the discussions. Dr. Daniel Detwiler, Dr. Francis Michels, and Dr. Julian Ripley will join with the students in discussing the sciences and humanities.

Personal Charge Account Featured for Students

One of Wilkes-Barre's larger stores is making a personal charge account available to the students of Wilkes.

The Hub, popular clothing store on South Main Street, announces in its ad (which appears on page 3 of the Beacon) this practical, convenient charge service. It is hoped that many of the undergraduates will take advantage of this opportunity to acquire their own personal charge account at this fine store.

The plan is a very simple one. It permits purchases up to $35, and the student is required to pay only $2 weekly on his or her account. Parents are not held responsible for any payments under this plan. The responsibility rests solely on the account holder to take care of his balance.

The Hub has instituted this service as a reflection of the confidence it has in young people to handle the responsibility of their own charge account; to help young folks manage their budgets and establish their own credit rating in our community.

Merchandise in all departments at The Hub may be bought on the student's charge account. It will come in handy for the many extra items one wishes to add to his or her wardrobe. It also will be invaluable when gift purchases are necessary.
