Barbara Lore Named ’63-’64 Editor

Baccalaureate Services to Culminate Career Colleges for Many Seniors

For many students, the next few weeks merely signify the close of another academic year, but for the two hundred fifty-nine seniors who will receive their degrees, the next few weeks signify the culmination of their college career at Wilkes.

Commencement week activities will get under way on Thursday evening, June 6, when the senior class will host a semi-formal dinner dance at the Hotel Sterling. Any senior wishing to bring a guest may purchase a ticket to the Bookstore no later than June 5. The cost per person is two dollars and seventy-five cents.

Commencement rehearsals begin at 10 a.m. at the gym on Friday is the next event on the busy schedule. Pictures of the seniors attired in their caps and gowns will be taken at 11 a.m. on Chase lawn. Following this will be an informal luncheon for graduates, faculty, and friends at 12:30 p.m. and a class meeting to elect permanent officers.

Dr. Farley's farm in Beaumont will be the site for the Senior Class picnic on Saturday, June 8. The outing will feature outdoor games and other recreational activities. Following a day's activities in the outdoors, the seniors will return to campus on Sunday evening for the Baccalaureate services. Schedule to begin at 5 p.m. the services will be presided over by Dr. Francis Michelini, Dean of Academic Affairs and Professor of Biology, who will speak on the "Alphabet of Wilkes College." Recognition for all seniors and their families will be held between Kirby and Chase Halls following Baccalaureate.

All of the aforementioned activities lead up to the high point of the week, Graduation, to be held on Monday, June 9 at 8 p.m. in the gym. Admiral A. G. Mumma, retired officer of the United States Navy and a graduate of this college, will be honored at this memorable occasion.

The senior class's social activities will be the Alumni Party, which will be held in the Duram Room of the Hotel Sterling Friday evening, June 6, at 8 p.m., Commencement exercises.

Alumni-co-chairman for this affair is Attorney Gifford Capellini and Dr. Frank Spricher. The Mark McManus orchestra will provide music for dancing. Seniors, faculty, family, and local alumni are all invited to attend.

Students' Opinions on the Honor Code Announced

The induction of an Honor Code system at the College was the subject of much recent student body vote. This issue has stirred up much controversy and discussion on a campus large throughout the past several months.

Of the 854 students who voted, 205 favored the negative aspect. Of those, thirty-six checked "no opinion." Of the 649 who voted for the Honor Code, 169 stated that they would accept general and specific conditions of the Honor Code. Eighty-nine favored specific conditions with 185 indicating that they would accept the Honor Code generally rather than a specific system.

Student Government representatives have stated that the probability of an Honor Code has not been defeated, but it may be revised for a period of three months.

Local Alumni to Begin Scholarship Campaign With Dinner on Monday

The Annual Alumni Scholarship Campaign will begin its work to raise funds with a kickoff dinner meeting to be held Monday, May 27th, in Parlor C of the Hotel Sterling. Dr. Detweiler will speak at this meeting.

The local Campaign is going to be held in Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, and Hazleton Areas. Chapter areas include Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Newark, Long Island, New York, Holmesburg, Binghamton, Allentown - Easton, and other areas where various alumni live. This campaign will last throughout the summer and will involve personal solicitation by mail and telephone.

Two co-chairmen, G.P.A. Elmo Clements, of class of 1942, and Leonard Malinsky, class of 1958, will head this project.

There will be five captains under each co-chairman. They include: Attorney Eugene Roth '97; Dr. Carl Urbanski '97; Attorney Frank Lord '97; George Marocco '90; Ronald Tramonte '98; Attorney Charles Carlini '96; Attorney Gifford Capellini '45; Dr. Frank Spricher; Russell Hill '50; and Attorney Tom Brillian '41.

A total of 430 alumni are going to take an active role in the solicitation which is to be used to assist able sponsors in their financial aid. Mr. Robert Gordon stressed the importance of all alumni to participate in this project, thereby supporting the development of the campaign.

Since the founding of the Alumni Association seven years ago, $60,000 has been contributed.

Kreiger Receives Post With Flood for Summer

Alan Kreiger, a junior Political Science major, has been awarded a summer internship in Washington, D.C. Congress of Congressman Daniel Flood for the summer of 1963. Kreiger received his experience during the 1962 campaign.

The internship is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Center for Education in Politics, which is supported by the Pennsylvania State College Foundation. The College Internship is partially supported by the College Inter-University Science Foundation.

The position is open to all national political science students at the University and to all faculty and staff members of the University who wish to gain first-hand experience in the field of political science.

The student will have the opportunity to work on the campaign of Congressman Flood, a Democrat, who represents the 10th Congressional District in Pennsylvania. The student will assist in the planning, organizing, and conducting of the campaign.

The student will work closely with the campaign staff and will have the opportunity to participate in all aspects of the campaign, including field work, voter registration, and voter education.

The student will receive a stipend of $750 for the summer, and expenses will be paid for transportation, housing, and meals.

The student will be expected to attend two meetings per week with the campaign staff and to prepare reports on the progress of the campaign.

The student will also be expected to attend two meetings per week with the campaign staff and to prepare reports on the progress of the campaign.

The student will also be expected to attend two meetings per week with the campaign staff and to prepare reports on the progress of the campaign.

The student will also be expected to attend two meetings per week with the campaign staff and to prepare reports on the progress of the campaign.

The student will also be expected to attend two meetings per week with the campaign staff and to prepare reports on the progress of the campaign.

The student will also be expected to attend two meetings per week with the campaign staff and to prepare reports on the progress of the campaign.

The student will also be expected to attend two meetings per week with the campaign staff and to prepare reports on the progress of the campaign.

The student will also be expected to attend two meetings per week with the campaign staff and to prepare reports on the progress of the campaign.

The student will also be expected to attend two meetings per week with the campaign staff and to prepare reports on the progress of the campaign.

The student will also be expected to attend two meetings per week with the campaign staff and to prepare reports on the progress of the campaign.

The student will also be expected to attend two meetings per week with the campaign staff and to prepare reports on the progress of the campaign.

The student will also be expected to attend two meetings per week with the campaign staff and to prepare reports on the progress of the campaign.
Ta Ta

VIP’s (GMZ, JLI, MBF, RJS) to RLP.

We, the editors, are tired. After an exhilarating, exhausting year at "pseudo-jack-on-the-spot" news reporting we look forward to entering the "cold, cruel world" at last. In leaving this "model" world of flourishing minds, we regret that many things we wanted to see this year just didn’t happen.

As retiring reformers, we feel that a few last remarks can be made concerning the things we would like to see changed. After the merging of "great minds", your illustrious editors come back with a few brilliant suggestions, comments, and observations:

A snail running a race with the elevator in Parrish
More short-winded speakers everywhere
Quiet study halls in the new library

Students recognizing that "Keep America Beautiful" applies to the campus as well
More six-page newspapers, meaning a larger budget for the newspaper

Entire football and basketball team named "All American"
A little less school spirit, so it can be completely done away with Fine Arts Building finally completed

A constructive criticism rather than the usual "This paper never has anything in it."

Students electing Student Government President
Student leaders doing one thing well rather than having the time of my life financial loss I have purchased of them will fail.
People reading things into Beacon articles when they just aren’t there.

Finally, a request from the female editors — more male reporters.

Travelling incognito — with Wilkes beacons (blinks) and sunshades changing into blue bulbs which are then blue.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

October 6, 1963, is the date set for the first student planned Parents’ Day at Wilkes. This event is completely in the hands of the students and it is for this reason that the student body should give the event their complete support.

We are counting on seeing you and your parents at Parents’ Day.

Stephen Van Dyck
Planning Committee

Dear Editor:

It is encouraging to note the implications of the outcome of the honor code survey poll. Two hundred forty-three students feel that further attempts at establishing an honor code on a trial basis should be made. The matter has been publicized and discussed fully. One personal observation — the over whelming consensus is that the poll results are the expression of the student’s feeling on the result of the discussion. The question of whether to accept it as a form of reality or not, although various opinions and interpretations of the same data seem to suggest that the student body has asked for an honor code at least to some extent.

Sincerely,

Gail Roberts

The Apathetic Onlooker

writes a 'Student Sketch'

Jack Harkes
Olsen Schroeder

We feel that by this time everyone is surely familiar with the name Olsen Schroeder; as he spends most of his time in the library, however, most people have never met the ‘real’ Olsen and we have therefore selected Mr. Schroeder as subject for our ‘Student Sketches’ this week. Olsen doesn’t like the idea but did agree to our proposition and is an artist and answering a few questions.

In this present article the problem as we found it upon putting to Olsen the usual questions that we ask everyone, as in the words asked, as ‘What do you especially like about student body in general’?, ‘How do you feel about the proposed Honor System?’, or ‘What do you want to be when you grow up?’ our sketch will then continue to content itself with the less important aspects of this student’s charming personality.

Olsen Schroeder, a junior English major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Threlkild Mong Schroeder and a couple of other people who live in Netcong, New Jersey. We asked him what he was doing in his non-academic career, ‘Wilkes’, and Olsen, removing his cigarette to give us one of his winning smiles, said that ‘I think I belong to a school I have never attended.’ We asked him as well whether he was not being aware of the existence of other schools, but he contended that he has been in the library at the Jack and Jill Day Nursery School in Wilkes Barre all the week the inquiry was made as how Jack and Jill compared with Wilkes. Olsen answered by saying that the boys have never been a student parking problem. He has a job, he says, and more rewarding. Now take those answers as you will.

Olsen Schroeder

was a course; ‘Each block represents a day, a week, a month, he said, that actually built-up itself out of the blocks rather than just putting it together. I won’t say it is a novel idea, but it’s a good one.

Dr. Bennington

Lord of the Flies, written in 1954 by British novelist William Golding, tells the story of a group of English boys who, while on a pleasure trip during vacation, were cast on an uninhabited island somewhere in the Pacific. Their survival without adult aid in their new ‘state of nature’ requires some sort of self-organized social order to prevent attempts to establish order which would hold the boys together until they are rescued. Jack, jealous of Ralph’s leadership, and his assistant, the half-caste, toftee-nosed Piggie, who suffers from the original group and takes most of its members. The actions of these hunters become increasingly primitive, until, by the end of the novel, the boys have exterminated the object of a ‘hun’. His life is spared by the timely arrival of a British war ship which rescues the boys.

This is an exciting and horrifying novel which expresses Golding’s pessimistic view of human behavior. It has paved his way toward a situation in which he has shown the dehumanization and cooperativeness of society as described Lord of the Flies as ‘...an attempt to trace the defects or society back to the defects of human nature. The moral is that human individual and not in any political system however logical or respectable. The whole book is symbolic in nature except for the last page of the novel and the last chapter. It is apparent to all that this book is a cautionary tale, and in reality emphasized in the same way as the symbolic life of the children on the island...

Remember, you will undoubtedly draw various conclusions concerning its meaning; some may see it as merely an adventure story, while others may see it as a description of ‘original sin’. This is the story of man’s inhumanity to man, which shows itself when certain conditions are present. Since the novel expresses the author’s views through carefully selected words, it is always essential to know the temptation to either accept its theme as literally true, or to reject the book as too morbid or far-fetched.

‘Good’ or ‘evil’

is a good or ‘evil’ has been raging for centuries among philosophers, theologians, and laymen. Evidence for and against both beliefs has been written with the centuries, but that either concept exists in fact, the evidence of the twentieth century would seem to support those who believe that the nature of men, with few exceptions, is evil, destructive, murderous, if not controlled by an external force. The horror of Lord of the Flies is increased when one realizes that Golding has diabolically placed young boys in a situation where there are none of the restrictions of the adult world. Without the restrictions of ethical nature, the boys behave as though they were adults at war; the corruptions and evils of the adult world apparently found an outlet in these children, whose supposed innocence of mind, soul, and spirit, as an uneducated disease will destroy healthy, normal men.

Lord of the Flies is open to various interpretations, depending on one’s viewpoint. It is a source of knowledge to this reviewer, it represents a subtle, if horrifying reminder that there are destructive forms of human behavior which can spread and cause a great deal of human misery to the future generations. The novel expresses Golding’s despondency and his pessimistic view of human nature.

POLITICAL SCENE

by Vince McAuley

France: Democracy or 1964?

Hidden amidst all the fuss and furor over the prospect of small national elections this spring, a small event is scheduled to take place one day at the end of this month when, in all probability, the future of the Free World will be decided. This is the legal state of emergency at the end of this month according to official sources.

Most of the world, and indeed a majority of Frenchmen, have forgotten that there is still a state of emergency in France for the past two years. It is a testament to the complacency of the Algerian conflict and President De Gaulle’s supercilious effort to get the French to forget his program for the eventual settlement of the Algerian war which drained France for seven long years seems very distant, and the idea of a French state of emergency has subsided into virtual extinction.

How did this state of emergency arise and what did it entail? For this reason, the state of emergency had merely been applied in Algeria, when in 1962, as a result of the Morcian rebellion, Parliament authorized the French Government to impose a state of emergency. In the last few months, the emergency measure provided for the virtual suspension of all public life and function in cases of persons or organizations suspected of any political and territorial neglect. A military revolt in Algeria in April, 1961, however, led President De Gaulle to announce an emergency in all of Algeria to combat the threat of a communist organization. The extension of the law, however, was due to Francois Mitterand’s policies, and the state of emergency was extended to cover continual terrorist attacks.

Under the stringent provisions of the law, scores of persons were subjected to surveillance. The French police, however, were sent to ‘interim’ camps simply on administrative decision; in many cases, they were interrogated and tortured. The police conducted a census of several hundred thousand on the basis of an arbitrary list. In addition, the decree also authorized the seizure of all publications considered offensive. This was done by the police with the approval of the Paris police. In any case, this week, in turn, prompted the promulgation of a new law which would allow the government to close down any newspaper, reviews, and books.

The law also observers whether measures such as these are compatible with the spirit of democracy.

(continued on page 4)
Music Major Accepts Offer to Play With Leopold Stokowski at Scranton

The College Concludes Debat ing Season; Coaches Look Forward to Next Year

The College Loses Mademoiselle Dowski

Music Major Accepts Offer to Play With Leopold Stokowski at Scranton

Senior pianist Thomas Hrynkwiz has accepted an invitation to play the "Tchaikovsky Piano Concerto" with Leopold Stokowski in Scranton next September. It is regarded by most musicians as a high honor to have the opportunity to perform with a man of such distinction. Hrynkwiz will present his senior recital at the gymnasion on Sun day, May 28. To begin at 4:00 p.m., the program will include compositions by Bach, Beethoven, Brahms, Ravel, and Saint-Saens.

A student of Mrs. Anna Livy, Hrynkwiz is the accompanist for the Mixed Chorus and for the College Woodwind Ensemble. He also is musical director and accompanist for the Wilkes-Barre Ballet Guild, violinist in the Wilkes-Barre Philharmonic, assistant conductor of the Young Americans Symphony, and Wilkes-Barre's chairman of the Young Musicians Society.

Hrynkwiz won in the competition of the Pennsylvania Music Teachers Association for Northeastern United States. He also merited three cash awards in the National Recording Contest.

A past performer in the Wilkes-Barre Philharmonic, he has played with the Philharmonic of Niagara Falls. On June 2 he will perform with the Binghamton Philharmonic and will enter the Koczunek Foundation's competition on June 5.

Education Teacher Feted; To Seek Ph.D. at Temple

Miss Jessie Roderick, an instructor in the Education Department, was guest of honor at a surprise dinner given for her by the Education Club last week. Miss Roderick, who is leaving the College after this term to pursue her doctorate degree at Temple University, is the co-advisor to the Education Club. The dinner was in appreciation of all that she has done for the College. The dinner was attended by Pat Hoss, chairman of the event.

Speakers at the dinner included Mrs. John Doone, former Dean of Women; Dr. Eugene Hammacher, chairman of the Education Department; Mr. Francis Pinkowski, a former instructor at the College; and a friend of Miss Roderick; and two former students. The guests also included: Miss Ethel Roberts; Dean of Women; Miss Roderick's sister; Miss Roberta West, an education instructor, and Mr. West's wife.

NEW EDITORS (continued from page 1)

The student newspaper, publicized chairman of IIG, and a former editor. A graduate of Hanover Township High School, the student newspaper, publicized chairman of IIG, and a former editor. The College deputing to the elections, has participated in the history of the Philharmonic, and is a member of the Philharmonic Society.

The College debaters closed the season with the Rutgers University (Camden branch) tournament. Participating were Rosemary Bush and Douglas Kinsler, affirmative, and Claire Sheridan and William Holmes, negative. Outcome of the three-round tournament was a split of three wins and three losses for the College.

The debaters attended tournaments at Harpur, Lehigh, Temple, Marywood, City College, King's, and Bucknell University. A tally for the academic year shows twenty-three wins and six losses for the affirmative, and twenty wins, nine losses for the negative.

Some of the teams defeated were Colgate, Harpur, St. Bonaventure, LaFayette, City College, St. John's, Penn State, Temple, New York University, Marywood, and Kings.

The coaches, Miss Lord and Mr. Budd, feel the teams did "admirable" work.

At the second tournament at Harpur College, Doug Kinsler and Dave Levy received awards for individual speaker performances. Kinsler ranked fourth in a total of twenty debaters. At City College, New York, Levy was voted second best affirmative and was first in the three-round tournament and was three points away from the top advisor. The Debate Society is looking forward to a strongly variegated lineup next year and to an increased number of novices trained for competitive debate.

Registration Plans Made

The College, has announced registration plans for next semester. He stated that tuition must be paid in full by Sept. 6.

IBM machines will computer students' schedules, which will be mailed to the home. Any change in the schedule should be made by Sept. 12. Students who are taking summer courses should keep in contact with the administration to avoid conflicting schedules.

Grand 'Partage de Midi' For Mademoiselle At Saint Mary's College

Having served the College for fifteen years as professor in the Modern Foreign Language Department, Mlle Sylvia Dowski, has been "adieu" to Wilkes this June.

In an exclusive coup for The Beacon, Mlle Dowski revealed that she has accepted the chairmanship of the French Department at The University of Notre Dame, Indiana. "Working for fifteen years at Wilkes, Miss Dowski, Chairman of the Modern Foreign Language Department, will be impossible to me in my position," she remarked. In her new capacity as chairman, she will supervise five full-time and two part-time teachers as well as di ners, which will number with thirty-six fully equipped booths.

Before joining the Wilkes faculty, Mlle Dowski was professor in Romance Languages at the St. Mary's College of the University of William and Mary, Sweet Briar College, and the New Haven State Teachers Evening College. A member of the Phi Beta Kappa, Mlle Dowski was graduated with highest honors from Connecticut College.

The College Loses Mademoiselle Dowski

Mademoiselle Dowski

She was to have accompanied a tour of the United States of America, Women, Who's Who in the East, Who's Who in American Education, and the Register of American Scholars. She will re main in France until September, in June when she will be among those included in the Directory of Interna tional Students published in England.

A native of New Haven, Connecticut, Mlle Dowski has been residing in Kingside, since her ap pearance and has been traveling for four summers in Europe. France and Spain, and has been on Wilkes College's foreign trips. In addition, she has visited Spain, Monaco, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, and England. Students have remarked that she has been a "greatest foreigner" in the Modern Foreign Language Department, and that she has been a "best and strongest in departments in the College."

Evano, Van Dyke, Sisco, Aebli Elected To Serve as IDC Officers

Campus Clubs Select Next Year's Officers

Chemistry Club

The Chemistry Club has announced that the club officers have been re-elected for the coming year: David Simpson, president; Francis Segarra, vice-president; and Kenneth Zawadski, treasurer.

Plans were also completed for the club's outing which will take place on June 5.

Psych-Sci Club

At a recent meeting of the Psych-Sci Club, the following officers were elected: Bob Vincenti, president; Ronni Cipriani, vice president; Elena Mendel, treasurer; and Ariene Siano, secretary.

Shown above from left to right are: Lloyd Aebli, George Evano, Van Dyke, Stephen Van Dyke, and Judy Sisco, newly elected IDC officers.

A combined vote of old and new members of the Inter-Dormitory C-camp chose these four to be the dormitory students' governing body.
Nick Alejandro presents the I.D.C. Award for outstanding service to Jerry Berk, President of I.D.C.

At the Inter-Dormitory Council's banquet which hosted Hampton Institute students on May 4, Jerry Berk, addressed as "Mr. I.D.C.", received a trophy for his dedicated leadership in guiding I.D.C. through the most successful year in its history. "Concerning the trophy, Jerry says, "It is the most meaningful award that I have ever received. I cherish it so highly because it is a tribute from the council members themselves." He admits that with out his cooperative group he never would have been able to attempt to combat the apathetic attitude on campus. Jerry remarks, "When considering the sixty-eight students who donated their time and efforts to the recent 'Work Day,' which was sponsored to augment the scholarship fund for I.D.C. foreign orphans, 'Zoes,' I believe we've come a long way from a totally indifferent mood.

Jerry has been Warner Hall's I.D.C. representative for four years, and he has served as President of the council during his senior year. The group's achievements during his presidency exemplify Jerry's complete dedication of himself to I.D.C. Among these accomplishments are the completion of Student Union, the orientation of the present freshmen, various projects which have realized $500 toward the "Zoes" fund, a successful Hampton Exchange Program, and an ever increasing weekend for prospective freshmen.

The College Chapter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce also claims the young man as an active member. This past year Jerry was very involved as "Community Chairman" by the Jaycees. During this same successful year for him, he was elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. Besides serving as a member of the Assembly Committee, he has been a part treasurer of the Radio Club, a member of the Biology Club, and a recipient of the Student Government scholarship.

Son of Mrs. Ida L. Bev of Brookyn, N.Y., Jerry is a Business Administration major who presently is concentrating in the field of economics. He remarked that "the Economics department is the best department on campus because every member really is dedicated to his profession.

Upon graduation Jerry will enter Albany Law School, Albany, N.Y. His objective plans include either law practice or politics, a subject which fascinates him. Equally stimulating to Jerry is the future of democracy, on which he commented: "Democracy will fail unless the American people cease to be ungrateful for the freedom which fathers of our country fought so hard to achieve." Again he stresses his opposition to apathy.

As a first-year orientation chairman and 1962 tribunal judge, Jerry came in contact with many newcomers and shared with them his first-hand knowledge about the College. "Education here is tops," he says. The relationship between faculty and students is ideal to maximum scholastic output. Study, join organizations, work for the College, and you truly will become a part of it. Appreciation of and reward from the qualities of a fine educational system will be yours."

An example of the verity of this concept is in his own life. He has practiced what he preached, and as a result, he has reaped the satisfying benefits.

by Mary Alice Gahos
A fresh point of view toward the United Nations is to be found within the country. Wilkes campus, however, offers nine opinions which aren't likely to be jettive.

These exist in the persons of the College's foreign students: Ayo E. Ayangade, Nigeria, West Africa; Kuniko Ishihara, Japan; Ed W. Kabungo, Nyeri, Kenya, Africa; Jung Hae Kim, Kyang Hui, Korea; Carol Major, Johannesburg, Union of South Africa; Kyriak-Naon Satsuk, Ok, Seoul, Korea; Rudolf Schonfeld, Bolivia, South America; and Sanjo Shoyinka, Nigeria, West Africa.

When asked about the United States, or what they thought of their country, each made upon them, each saw the country with a unique view. Only a few aspects of the United States were mentioned by all.

An example of the variety of points mentioned by the student is Ayo Ayangade's surprise that Americans wear "badges" in God on her coin -- "In God we trust". He feels that this is a significant indication that the majority here believe in God.

Kuniko Ishihara recalls the aggressive manner of girls when making social contacts -- especially quick to add that she realizes this is quite natural in American culture.

Elid Kabungo made the traditional comments about the cities of the United States -- "they're so big." But he was even more struck by our frozen and canned foods. "He's sure we'd never have to fear famine." And Hogen Oh added an opinion that was disconcerting. He sees the United States college student -- via his experience at Wilkes -- so little concerned about his future that he even before his summer job or the next "beer party." He freely remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.

Education

Naturally, the various aspects of education were on most lips. Kyriak-Nanou made the point that Wilkes is "far behind" in their summer job or the next "beer party." HoFighter remarks by saying, in effect, that this sort of attitude is likely to destroy the American way of life, which hasn't had to claw to survive.
Baseball Team Loses; To Play Royals, ESCC

The three-game winning streak of Coach Schmidt's baseball team genomically came to an end Thursday afternoon as the Colonels were defeated by Muhlenberg College in a 7-0 contest. The Colonels, who fell to the 12th ranked Wilkes fell one tally short and the Mules gained the final edge. The Mules also garnered six runs in the seventh.

The hardballers will wind up their season with contests against Scranton University today in Wilkes Barre, Saturday in State College and tomorrow evening. East Stroudsburg has already clinched its division championship and were invited to the NAIA Tournament. Scranton is one of the top teams in the MAC, and proved it by hanging Stroudsburg an 11-5 pasting a few weeks ago.

Tennis Team Drops 3rd

The tennis team lost a close match to the Muhlenberg College team, 5-4, on the Wilkes courts Wednesday afternoon. Muhlenberg with its strongest team in the past 20 years, defeated Wilkes to a 5-1 lead in the singles. However, Wilkes came back with a 3-2 triumph in the doubles and three doubles matches.

Bill Douglas, the only winner in the singles, extended his unbeaten record to 10 straight wins. Coach Reesie maneuvred this Saturday when they play host to Scranton.

Singles: G. Einhorn, W, lost to D. Schoenly, 8-6, 6-0, 7-5, B. Klein, W, lost to T. Carr, 6-8, 6-2, D. A. Austin, W, lost to M. Brashear, 6-3, 6-3, J. Einhorn, W, lost to D. Wall, 6-4, 6-4. B. Einhorn, W, lost to J. Einhorn, W, 7-5, 6-1, 6-3.

Doubles: B. Austin and Klein, W, beat Simon and Schoenly, 8-6, 6-5, Einhorn and Brashear, 7-5, 6-1, 6-4.

Einhorn, Self-Taught Tennis Player Gains 'Athlete of the Week' Honors

Gary Einhorn, junior business administration major and member of the Colonel net squad, has been named Beacon 'Athlete of the Week,' a honor, which he holds for dolls, Delaware, New York, attended For Rockaway High School where he began his tennis career at the age of fourteen. He explained that tennis players may be divided into two classes, those who have had instruction and know all the shots and lines points of the game, and those who are self-taught, playing much by instinct with an unorthodox style. Gary is of the latter school. His first contact with tennis was at a park near his home where he watched the game and decided to try it. His first year on the high school team was rather uneventful but after a slow start he continued to improve and is considered to be one of the best in the county this year. In his last outing against Moravia.
Hrynkiw Plans Summer Publication To Give '64 Amnicola Fuller Coverage

Bob Hrynkiw, a junior art major, has been selected as next year's editor of the Amnicola. He has already begun to make plans for the yearbook. The main change he intends to introduce will be the publication of the Amnicola during summer vacation instead of distributing the yearbook at the end of the semester. This will make it possible to include commencement activities in addition to the activities of the entire second semester.

The books will then be mailed to graduating seniors and dorm students, and arrangements will be made for the rest of the student body. Although this will mean increased work for the staff, the students will have a more complete picture of the year's activities. Next year's staff will include: Kerth Ackerman, assistant editor; John Landesman, business manager; Bill Williams, photographer; Henry Wilson, picture editor.

ATTENTION SENIORS!

Seniors must pick up their copies at Lehigh Valley Bank between 8 and 10 A.M. this Saturday.

POLITICAL SCENE

(continued from page 2)

For ten years in secret, it is interesting to note that ordinary suspected criminals are held for a mere two days before being either charged or released.

Many supporters of the regime claim this is the only alternative to insure political stability, and point out that it is only the radical ultranationalists who are being curbed.

Yet, even under Nkia Khrushchev's state visit to France in 1959, the systematic roundups of thousands of left-wingers who were given convenient vacations (really forced out of metropolitan France during K's stay) indicates that K is not so.

The political future of France remains a riddle for it is predicated upon the personality of Charles DeGaulle, who alone can command the unquestioned loyalty of the French people. As an ally and a cornerstone of Europe, France and her future have caused much concern in the United States, for after DeGaulle . . .

---

Plans Formulated for New Library

Wednesday marked the beginning of preliminary plans for the transfer and expansion of the library collection, presently located at South and South River Streets, as architect William Keely of the Lacy, Atberson, and Davis Company officially visited the library personnel to start discussions.

The new site will be located on South Franklin Street, near the Red Cross Building and opposite the rear entrance of Stark Hall. Additions will be made to the home, which was recently bequeathed to the College by the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Weckesser. Plans include building over the lawn, a wing which would blend well with the older portion.

Contained in the new wing will be most of the stacks, reference, circulation, and reading facilities. The first floor will, in general, be a large reading room with good lighting and ventilation facilities as well as card catalogues and periodical shelves, circulation and reference desks, a reference room, and lounges, all within range of a centrally located circulation department.

The second and third floors will be additional stacks with shelves of metal, which could be added to as required, in order to meet the eventual goal of 350,000 books and bound periodicals, which would represent an increase of 180,000 volumes over the current 170,000 pieces.

The library staff believe the Weckesser home will provide fine facilities for special collections, faculty study rooms, and seminar areas, none of which exist in the Kirby residence. The valuable collection of the deceased Gilbert McClinton, one-time President of the Board of Trustees, will assume its new home at the Weckesser building along with Admiral Stark's Pearl Harbor library as well as Polish books now maintained by the Committee for the Polish Room. Books donated and autographed by Mrs. Paul Bedford will also take their place there together with other rare and precious books, such as those of local history.

Architect Keely will spend one afternoon each week during the next three months with Mrs. Vujica and Mr. Ermel of the library staff to discuss the needs for expansion of library facilities and will then draw up blueprints for the new academic center. He estimates that construction will last approximately one year and will probably begin next spring, since that is the most ideal time to begin construction work. It is believed, then, that transfer of the collection from Kirby Hall to the Weckesser home will begin by Spring, 1966, at the latest date.

---

KWIK KOOK

ROSS'S 2-FOOT HOAGIES

138 S. Main St.
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Open 7 days a week
10 A.M. to Midnight
Free Delivery
Call 825-4746
100 Varieties of Takeouts including Fish and Chicken
...

---

Greeting Cards

MAIN SUPPLIES

96 South Main Street
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Phone 825-5625

For Your School Supplies

---

WILKES COLLEGE BEACON

Friday, May 24, 1963

Perugino's Villa

Italian-American Restaurant
A. Perugino
Roem Prima — 823-6772

384 S. Main St., Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

DALONE'S FIRESIDE ROOM

ONE OF THE NICHER PLACES TO DINE

Steaks including 100 OF THE FINEST PLACES TO DINE

Try Our Specialties

Weckesser Home

Shelves of metal, which could be added to as required, in order to meet the eventual goal of 350,000 books and bound periodicals, which would represent an increase of 180,000 volumes over the current 170,000 pieces.

The library staff believe the Weckesser home will provide fine facilities for special collections, faculty study rooms, and seminar areas, none of which exist in the Kirby residence. The valuable collection of the deceased Gilbert McClinton, one-time President of the Board of Trustees, will assume its new home at the Weckesser building along with Admiral Stark's Pearl Harbor library as well as Polish books now maintained by the Committee for the Polish Room. Books donated and autographed by Mrs. Paul Bedford will also take their place there together with other rare and precious books, such as those of local history.

Architect Keely will spend one afternoon each week during the next three months with Mrs. Vujica and Mr. Ermel of the library staff to discuss the needs for expansion of library facilities and will then draw up blueprints for the new academic center. He estimates that construction will last approximately one year and will probably begin next spring, since that is the most ideal time to begin construction work. It is believed, then, that transfer of the collection from Kirby Hall to the Weckesser home will begin by Spring, 1966, at the latest date.

---

KWIK KOOK

ROSS'S 2-FOOT HOAGIES

138 S. Main St.
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Open 7 days a week
10 A.M. to Midnight
Free Delivery
Call 825-4746
100 Varieties of Takeouts including Fish and Chicken
...

---

Greeting Cards

MAIN SUPPLIES

96 South Main Street
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Phone 825-5625

For Your School Supplies

---

WILKES COLLEGE BEACON

Friday, May 24, 1963

Perugino's Villa

Italian-American Restaurant
A. Perugino
Roem Prima — 823-6772

384 S. Main St., Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

DALONE'S FIRESIDE ROOM

ONE OF THE NICHER PLACES TO DINE

Steaks including 100 OF THE FINEST PLACES TO DINE

Try Our Specialties

Weckesser Home

Shelves of metal, which could be added to as required, in order to meet the eventual goal of 350,000 books and bound periodicals, which would represent an increase of 180,000 volumes over the current 170,000 pieces.

The library staff believe the Weckesser home will provide fine facilities for special collections, faculty study rooms, and seminar areas, none of which exist in the Kirby residence. The valuable collection of the deceased Gilbert McClinton, one-time President of the Board of Trustees, will assume its new home at the Weckesser building along with Admiral Stark's Pearl Harbor library as well as Polish books now maintained by the Committee for the Polish Room. Books donated and autographed by Mrs. Paul Bedford will also take their place there together with other rare and precious books, such as those of local history.

Architect Keely will spend one afternoon each week during the next three months with Mrs. Vujica and Mr. Ermel of the library staff to discuss the needs for expansion of library facilities and will then draw up blueprints for the new academic center. He estimates that construction will last approximately one year and will probably begin next spring, since that is the most ideal time to begin construction work. It is believed, then, that transfer of the collection from Kirby Hall to the Weckesser home will begin by Spring, 1966, at the latest date.