Gershenowitz To Speak; Major Social Problems And Science Are Topics

"Breakthroughs in Modern Science and Their Effects Upon Humanity" will be the topic discussed by Mr. Harry Gershenowitz, a new member of the staff of the Wilkes College Biology Department, at next week's assembly program, presented by the Biological Society.

Mr. Gershenowitz is the recipient of several degrees: B.S. in Pharmacy and A.B. in Philosophy, and an M.S. in Science Education from Long Island University. Presently he is working on his doctoral thesis in Science Education at Columbia University.

Mr. Gershenowitz will discuss certain major social problems of importance to the layman as well as to the scientist, and the ways and means by which science will overcome these problems. Some of the topics which will be discussed are the origin of life; population explosion and genetics, which is concerned with the aged population; cancer and heart disease; and the future of mankind on other planets, beneath the oceans, and on the surface of the Earth.

Jaycees Announce Plans For Coming Months; Revise Constitution

The Wilkes College Division of the Greater Wilkes-Barre Chamber of Commerce, under the chairmanship of Charles F. Dunkin, has issued a revised edition of the present constitution and by-laws of the Jaycees, recently adopted by the Board of Governors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce for their approval.

The organization is composed of members of the Juvenile and Senior classes, and its purpose is to promote the interests of the men of Wilkes a medium for training in leadership, citizenship, a broad civic betterment program, an educational aid to the industrial, and the educational activities of the college and the College; and to foster good will and mutual understanding among its members and among the people of Wyoming Valley.

Three projects, the club is under taking at present are: the sale of booster pins for the Neshab Park redevelopment program, a dinner-speech meeting, Oct. 17, and a trip to Washington, Oct. 26. Future events are: the annual Christmas party for the privileged children, a dance on Jan. 29, and an assembly program during Lent.

The officers are: Paul Haug, president; Gerald Matusz, vice-president; William Space, secretary; Nick Alexander, treasurer.

Personal Relationships Of Small College Preffered by Professor

Although chemistry commands most of his attention, Dr. Robert G. Soeder, in addition to teaching at Wilkes chemistry department, also enjoys classical music and long, quiet walks, both of which provide periods of relaxation and relief from the daily grind.

His prime interest in the sciences is evidenced by his association with the American Chemical Society, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and Sigma Xi, a professional fraternity.

A former resident of Philadephia, Soeder received his B.S. degree at Ursinus, and later pursued graduate work in General Chemistry at the University of Delaware.

Building Construction Begins On Research Addition to Slark Hall

Last week work began on the Wilkes College Graduate and Research Center. The more than $1,000,000 building will be constructed as an L-shape addition to Slark Hall, South River Street. Larry, Albertson and Davis are the architects.

Raymon Hedin, Dallas contractor, low bidder, will construct the building. Subcontractors are Baldwin Electric Company, Kitttong, J. L. Turner, Nanticoke; plumbing; Kewaunee Technical Furniture Company, Stateville, N.C.; laboratory equipment; Hughes Corporation, Forty Fort, heating, ventilation and air conditioning.

Anticipated completion of the center, which will be constructed in two separate sections, in August of 1963. The first section, the Graduate Center, will be an extension of Slark Hall, built south of Stark to what is now Chase Theater. The Research Center will be a separate wing extending west from South River Street. Once excavation is made, all work will go forward immediately.

Dr. Farley announced the forthcoming conclusion in a progress report made before Wilkes Alumni who had returned to the campus for the 16th annual Wilkes Homecoming. Included in the report was the statement that the Fine Arts Building will be taking form on the southwest corner of River Street at South Street sometime this month. A final approval of plans which are now being prepared, the initial cost of the building will cost $500,000, which has already been given by an anonymous friend of the college.

In a review of events leading to the construction that construction of the new graduate and research center, Dr. Farley told the alumni that almost one year ago he addressed a meeting where Milton J. Shapp, chairman of the board of directors, Jerrold Electronics Corporation, Philadelphia, and president of the foundation bearing his name, met with industrial and civic leaders of the Greater Wilkes-Barre area to discuss the importance of research and development in the present space race.

Shapp pointed out that "industry is clustering around those cities which support colleges and universities having graduate and research centers." The Philadelphia-based Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Boston, San Francisco, and co other localities.

It was at this meeting that the Wilkes College president, upon the advice and promise of cooperation apply for and receive a grant from the A. Development Authority, Washington, of $400,000 for construction of the center. The grant contingent upon the success of the college raising $600,000. Some 125 individuals and foundations were contacted toward this and at the moment, sufficient funds have been received to permit groundbreaking.

In the matter of the Fine Arts Center, Dr. Farley, together with Mrs. Farley and Alfred E. Grosh, English instructor and director of the dramatics of the college, visited various colleges this summer to get an idea of how the center could be done. The consensus of opinion was to begin the Fine Arts Center first with a circular theater at a cost of $500,000 and to add to it as monies permitted. It is anticipated that these plans will be completed in March of this year and the building construction will begin shortly thereafter.

It is expected the educator continued, that the Wright Street project, which includes a new dormitory for 250 students and a new dining hall, will get underway with in the next three years. The low court was mentioned.

Among the discussions of the Concerto Program, an interesting new feature this year is the invitation of outstanding performers to Wilkes. The first such performer is Karl Fogmose who will appear in the second concerto and will also be Karl Fogmose as his accompanist. Last June Jean Ann was awarded the Paderewski Gold Medal for $100.00 cash award for her ten years of Superior Ratings on annual programs of from ten to twenty members in the String Quartet. She is a member of the String Quartet. She has been studying ballet since the age of three and is an accomplished dancer. She has appeared with ballet companies in the East and with a unit sponsored by troops of dancers and instrumentalists.

Senior piano major Miss Jean Ann McMahon will perform the Longo Variations of the second concerto and will also have Karl Fogmose as his accompanist.
Senior Pianist Wins Top Honors
In Eastern Division Competition
by Mary Alice Gabis
When John F. Kennedy became president of the United States, page after page was written by those who knew him when.

Judging from the talent displayed by Thomas Hrynkiw in winning the recent Eastern Division piano competition sponsored by the National Music Teachers Association, students and teachers will probably someday be requested to reveal intimate tidbits about Tom while he was sweeping toward success.

Tom, a junior at Wilkes College, 112 North Empire Street, Wilkes-Barre, began his pursuit of a major in music education at Wilkes with recognition of his talent. He was awarded a scholarship upon entering the college and has been re-meriting it ever since.

The course of Tom's most recent achievement was initiated last June when he was chosen as a participant in District 2 which includes Eastern Pennsylvania counties. On September 23, he competed in Philadelphia with other district finalists and won first place for the State.

On October 10, at the Peabody Institute, John Kennedy, at the Knob Hill Philarmonic Orchestra, assistant conductor and the Wilkes-Bare-Baal Baritone, performed Beethoven's C major, Opus 110 Sonata in the ballroom of the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore October 11.

Mr. Hrynkiw's itinerary is a full one, including accompanying the Wilkes College Mixed Chorus, the Wilkes College Baritone and accompanying of Wilkes-Bare-Baal Baritone. The University Symphony Orchestra, and a friend of Sleeping, Upcoming is a concert program at Wilkes College on October 20 that features Beethoven's "Ode to Joy" with the Wilkes College Baritone, and accompanying of Wilkes-Bare-Baal Baritone.

Counted among past credits for Tom are his performances at the Mozart Club, an accompaniment of the Concordia and Apollo Clubs, his first appearance as vice-president at the District 2, and his performance as president of the District 3.

Surely Anne G. Mrs. Hrynkiw is a source of pride in his pursuit. He participated in the victory in the March Finals.

In the Clearing is Robert Frost's first collection of new poems to appear in fifteen years. Of these poems, she says: "Robert Frost's poems make the New England countryside with the simplicity and freshness typical of the region in which his poems are set. The voices of his people who pooled their thoughts, as well as soliciting the donation of a few moments of their time which may prove a lifetime to the person receiving their blood.

Blood Donor Day on campus is not enough, especially when the goal set has not been reached. Since another drive is planned for the spring semester, it is hoped that whatever finances are realized. It only takes a little

by Jane Edwards

Two living ex-governors of Pennsylvania are from this immediate region: Arthur H. James of Plymouth and John S. Flynt of Na nicole. The next governor will be from eastern Pennsylvania also, for either Republican William Scranton of Scranton or Democratic Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia will win in November.

Area residents benefit by this situation; they are probably better informed about campaigns issues and the conditions that are most citizens living elsewhere in Pennsylvania.

Secretariat Member
Defends UN in Assembly

The existence of the United Nations is justified by the fact that it is the only way to prevent the destruction of the world. This thesis formed the basis of an address by Lt. Col. Victor DeGuinebourgh during the United Nations assembly yesterday.

Lt. Col. DeGuinebourgh, a member of the Secretariat of the UN, traced the history of settling internation disputes from the personal battles of knights of the Middle Ages to the 20th century forum - the UN. He cited several examples of the success of the UN confer-ce machinery in reconciling modern nations.

His appearance on campus, both at last week's assembly and Wednesday night's meeting of the local Association for the United Nations, was sponsored by the CCUN in conjunction with United Nations week.

Col. Guinebourgh replaced Philip Arne, director of the United Nations Information Office, Washington, who was a UN Day observer. Mr. Arne was delayed en route but will rapidly developing Cuban situation.

Saturday's tickets were sold out long before they were available.

Professionals To Judge
Art Work Submissions

TRES CHIC
by Maryann Wilson

Mike Mag. College Board Member of the Art Foundation of tional contest, Modemiste Maga-zie will judge the student's contest. The contest is designed to discover and encourage imaginary and artistic talents.

Entries must include five or more slides, drawings, or pen and indu. Entries will be judged by two professional illustrators. Entry in the art content could lead to national publication and to discernment by leading editors.

Professionals will win first prizes of $500 each. Runners-up will receive honorable mentions and their work will be kept on file for possible commission by Mademoiselle.

The work of winners, honorable ment, and finalists will appear in a special issue of Mademoiselle.

The winning student's work will be in the form of a full-page illusture, gallery owners and educators. The winning artist will have his name," she claimed.

CAMPUS

Cory advises "undetermined" students to take electives in fields in which they are not exposed to any form of major during their first two years. He feels that this problem was discussed at the University of Texas and it was common to the students who are not sure of what they want to major in when they come to college. He feels that the students should not worry or feel guilty about the indecision. Arthur M. Corry, College of Business, Senior, said, "I know what I want to major in while in college. I am not sure what to do after graduation."

"The decision is not made until the following year. I am not sure which field I am most interested in."

Fortunately, the required basic courses such as English, mathematics, foreign languages, physical science, social science, and art can help the student get a general idea of what he may want to major in major through 60 semester hours of work - or almost his entire college life.

Today some college students are asking themselves "What will I do with the money and time to go to college if I don't have any idea of what I want to do in life?" "I have been asked by many students that are wondering whether to go to college or not."

Soller's first clue in The Catcher in the Rye. "If you really want to hear a quote about art," she quoted, "it's grammatically incorrect."

"The best phrase to describe our humanities department is Miss Charlotte Lord, a native of Kingston, Penna. Miss Lord received her bachelor's degree in English and the dramatic arts from New York University. In English was obtained at Bucknell, while her master's in Italian was from Middlebury College. She spent a year at the University of Florence and the University of Rome, studying her subject of Italian language, literature, history and culture."

She taught French and Italian in Berlin, Paris. At the Abington High School she taught French and assisted in directing French dramatics and speech. She took a party of students from this area on a whirlwind tour of Europe for eight weeks.

"During July and August having at Meyers High School as director of activities and drama, she directed educational programs on WBRE television."

This captivated audience of one was surprised to learn that, during World War II, Miss Lord served as a Naval Officer stationed, among other places, in Texas and Washington. "I left Miss Lord replied, "I felt I had to do something at this time; I had to be of service to my country."

"I found the experience gratifying." Since returning to Wilkes, one of the student artistic organizations is the "Art League," which Miss Lord initiated. "In my opinion it is an excellent idea."

Miss Lord taught piano for many years and would like to continue a special love for Bach and Sibe-

Realizing the next question was "What is your favorite Fair," this reporter was still motivated to do whatever is necessary to satisfy her curiosity. She asked one of the students what is the most important thing that Miss Lord has learned from her experiences. Miss Lord said, "One thing that has impressed me is that there are many opportunities for the girl who is looking for a career in the arts."

When asked what Miss Lord would like to do in the future, she said, "I would like to travel to Europe and the Orient."

Colonel Slates 4-1, Will Meet Muhlenberg To Avenge Only Loss

by Harry W. Wilson

The girls' hockey team will meet Muhlenberg in a return match Thursday at the Wilkes College Athletic Field. The Mules shut out the Colonettes, 4-0, in their initial encounter, the only loss suffered by the hockey team this season.

Friday the hockey team will host Wyoming Seminary, one of the strongest hockey teams in this area.

Tuesday the girls shut out Moravian, 1-0, at the Wilkes Athletic Field. Betty Jo Complex scored the only goal of the game midway through the first half. Goalie Carol Rhines registered the shut-out, and Wilkes displayed good teamwork to bring their record to 4 wins and a loss.

The classic, of course, is the old one of the college freshman who wrote enthusiastically about a new poison "so powerful that only a bare pinch of it on the tip of a dog's tongue is enough to kill a man."

Colonel Slates to Open Season Dec. 1;
Grapplers Practice on Monday

Both the wrestling and the basketball squads will begin workouts on Monday afternoon at 4 in the gymnasium. Wrestling Coach James Watson and head basketball mentor Eddie Davis are hoping to post better records than they did last season.

The basketball team, led by the high-scoring Harvey Rosen, will begin their season on December 1 in a home game with the Lions of Albright College. Coach Davis will be assisted this year by assistant coach Jim Ferris, who is currently head mentor of the soccer team.

A lack of height hampered the basketball squad last season. This year the problem is expected to be remedied, in part, by the addition of 6'6" Lee Wasilewski and several other big men. Fully recovered from his knee injury is playwright Dick Marigan. A sizable group of freshmen is expected to further bolster the team.

Wrestling practice will commence at 4:30 Monday after equipment is distributed. Coach Reiner expects a winning season from the squad, barring injuries, of course.

On December 1, the grappers will engage in an exhibition triangular meet with Stevens Trade School and Western Maryland College. December 7 and 8 will find the Reesemen at West Point to meet Cadets in an exhibition match in final preparation for the season's opener on December 14 at Ithaca.

...for a life of pride and purpose

Among the young people being graduated from college in these times, there are some who think and feel—perhaps a little more deeply than the others—about the world we live in, the future we face. They ask, "How can I make my career really meaningful? More than just personally rewarding?"

And many of today's most successful young people are finding a fulfilling answer to these questions as officers on the Aerospace Team... the United States Air Force. They can tell you that no career could better combine the opportunity for achievement—and the deep inner satisfaction of knowing that they are helping preserve the very future of America.

How can you become an Air Force Officer?

If you are a college senior and not currently enrolled in ROTC, Air Force Officer Training School provides an opportunity to qualify for a wide variety of career fields. The graduate of this three-month course receives a commission as a second lieutenant. As the Air Force continues its technological advance, officers with college training will move into positions of increasing responsibility.

For full information—including the opportunity to earn graduate degrees at Air Force expense—see the Air Force Selection Team when it visits your college, visit your local Recruiting Office, or write: Air Force Officer Career Information, Dept. SC210, Box 805, New York, 1 New York.

Wilkes Gridders Suffer Defeat
On Tech's Two-Point Conversion

Tomorrow afternoon the Colonels will clash with the gridders of Juniata College in the athletic field of Huntingdon, Pa. Game time is 2:00 p.m.

Coach George K. Wilkes Jr. expects his charges to put up a good fight against Wilkes using either quarterback Barry More or Ron Forbush on the key to a successful offensive battle.

Wilkes locked the boys, fierce competitors and very polished players.

End Garfield Hoye, 6-1, 185-pound, a “Speedy Gon- sales” and last year gained enough yardage to give the Indians a 3-4 record.

Colonels Edged

Even though Wilkes won the battle in the first period, Drexel Institute prevailed on the scoreboard as they rang up a thrilling 14-12 verdict in the contest last Saturday at Philadelphia.

The Colonels, after receiving the kick, drove 60 yards for a score in nine plays. A 34-yard pass from Brominski to John Gardner capped the drive, but Gardner’s attempt for the extra point was blocked.

Miners Gain

In the second period, Frank Crockett of the Indians heaved a 50-yard pass to halfback Joe Buffa who traveled to the Wilkes 10 before being stopped. Three plays later, Crockett barged in from the one, but Buffa’s PAT was blocked.

Drexel kicked twice, the second third, climaxing a 61-yard advance with a 6-yard Crockett to Gallo pass. The conversion pass from Don Harmatuck to Frank Gallo for the vital extra two points proved to be the winning margin.

Wilkes Rebounds

Wilkes bounced back in the third on a Brominski to Grohowski pass. With 3 minutes left in the half the Colonels out¬posed a Drexel defender on each side. This score was set up by Frank C. Wilkes to Grohowski in the end zone despite a Drexel defender on each side. This score was set up by Frank C. Wilkes.

WILKES COLLEGE BEACON
Financial Aid Offered Under New Code To Future Librarians

College seniors interested in library careers have been invited to investigate The Library Code which Governor David Lawrence signed into law last year. This program has many advantages, including a provision in which trainees receive approximately $4,120 to defray tuition and living expenses during the year they attend graduate school. Candidates must hold a college degree, be accepted by an accredited school or library, and meet requirements for employment set by the State Library to be eligible for selection. The library is now accepting applications for library trainees.

Job opportunities vary from administrative activity to specialized work in reference, children, and other fields. Additional information on the traineeship program is available from F. A. Post, Eastern Division, State Library, Room 1001, Harrisburg. Library career consultants will visit colleges and universities during the year.

Public Relations Assistant enjoys feature role in "The Music Man"

by Maryann E. Wilson

When the curtain goes up on the all-college production of "The Music Man" at Irem Temple, those who bount the recesses of PRO will recognize a familiar figure in the role of Ethel Tuffley and as a member of the chorus.

Barbara Fritz or "Barb" as she is affectionately known to the students on campus knows in glowing terms of her part in "The Music Man." She expresses optimism that "The Music Man," being sponsored for the benefit of the Kiwanis Club of Wilkes-Barre, will be well received by the public of Wyoming Valley as well as by the students of Wilkes College.

"Barb" is best known to both students and faculty as secretary to Mr. Livingston, Director of Public Relations, a position she has held for the past three years. Her outgoing personality and good sense of humor make her well suited to the public relations field.

Residing in this city with her husband Mr. Daniel Fritz, she successfully combines marriage and career, but claims that her first duty is to her husband and home.

Barbara Fritz

From a list of many hobbies Barb rates reading as her favorite. She enjoys all kinds of music, but her preference rests with classical music.

Her ability to get along well with people and with her interest in participation in community affairs and college affairs led her to enter into the production of "The Music Man" with vigor.
