

Ten Incumbents Unseated In Elections

by Jeff Gallet

In an election distinguished by very heavy voter turnout, half of the incumbent class officers and Student Government representatives seeking re-election were unseated. Among those who went down to defeat were Junior Class president Ed Gilmore, Sophomore Class president Bob Deets, and Student Government secretary Vicki Zawadski.

The Sophomore Class retained only three of its nine officers with elections won by bitter campaigning. Joe Chaneca, a dormitory student from Wilmington, New York, defeated the incumbent Bob Deets and the incumbents Robin Dugan and Marcie Bozich for the presidency in a close race. To the Student Government, the elected candidates are Ron Saxford and Marlious Snee, who unseated Vicki Zawadski, an incumbent and present secretary of the Student Government. The Sophomore Class vice-president, Jody Morrison. Treasurer Ron Grohowski was re-elected by acclamation.

Harry Russo, in an impressive show of strength, defeated incumbent Freshman Treasurer Judy Rock, by a sixty-four vote margin, the largest plurality of all the winners. In turn, the brother of Sophomore representative, Senior Class president John Hough, defeated his brother in the Sophomore race, and incumbent Freshman Vice-president, Bob Zbrowski, squelched his own hopes by winning as a sophomore. The victors were Ron Grohowski, Freshman; Ron Saxford, Sophomore; and Ken Antoni, a dark horse, John Hough, and Leslie Tobias, Seniors.

HAMPTON EXCHANGE COMPLETED AS 16 SPEND WEEKEND AT WILKES

This weekend Wilkes will serve as host to sixteen students from Hampton Institute in Virginia. The weekend will complete the annual exchange program between the two institutions, with the friendship between Dean Falston and Dean Hawkins of Hampton. A. C. West, president of Hampton, sent an active weekend at Hampton as guests of the Hampton students.

The Wilkes students left by car after classes Wednesday afternoon. April 15, spent the night in Bowie Ml, and arrived at Hampton on Friday, about 4 p.m. The weekend’s activities began immediately after dinner with an informal fellowship hour aimed at giving the Wilkes visitors a chance to meet as many students as possible.

Friday was one of the busiest days of the entire weekend. The morning was devoted to visiting classes and the afternoon featured a tour of the beautifully landscaped campus. In addition to the 1960’s beauty of the campus, the visitors were treated to a tour of the new two-million-dollar communication building. This modern concrete structure, eventually to house all departments of oral and written communication, contains one of the finest little theaters in the country, complete with a revolving stage, a fully-equipped television studio, and a cooperative radio station. In addition, it houses the music department, including practice rooms and a small recital hall. The modern language lab.

The social highlight of the weekend was the dinner-dance Saturday night in a private club near the campus. This was the last official event of the weekend for the visiting students, who left Virginia the next morning. The gathering was held in the Snack Bar to which all Wilkes students were invited.

Today, the Hampton students are free to visit classes on our campus, and there will be a free dance in the Gym, featuring the Concept, a singing group.

Saturday, the students went to Hampton and the I.D.C. which supplies the gin, and spent a few hours in the church and Mrs. Rosenberg. Saturday night, the same group will attend a buffet dinner at the Wilkes-Barre Club.

The visitors from Hampton plan to leave for home at 12 Sunday morning, but judging from past years, both the guests and the hosts will visit at least until departure is delayed for some lengthy good-byes.

PROSPECTIVE FRESH PREVIEW COLLEGE LIFE

by Sandra Gustare

Over 1,000 prospective freshmen and resident students were on hand to view college life on campus last weekend, when local students participated in the I.D.C. sponsored “Freshman Weekend.”

As the students began to arrive early Friday afternoon, they were welcomed in the different dorms where they were to stay for the next few days.

Friday evening these future students were served dinner at the C.S.B. and some time to rest and prepare for the evening ahead. At 7:30 they were entertained at a film given by the V.I.P. @ V.I.P. This marked the first event of the weekend.

As the prospective freshmen were guests at the “Freshmen Frisch,” a dance sponsored by the Accounting Club. Members of the different student organizations were on hand to make everyone feel at home and have a good time. The music was provided by the “Warriors” and the Wilkes Institute Band, under the direction of Dr. Robert Hylle.

The Saturday program for Saturday began with a meeting of both the day and resident students in the gym, where Dean of Women, Margaret Aliborn, passed on the tradition of Wilkes University. Afterwards, a “Meet the Professors” session was held in the Hesburg and students had a chance to talk to the faculty.

The junior class of finance was the first group to be greeted by the faculty. They were followed by the members of the Economics Club, the Accounting Club, and the Business and Management Club. Each group was given a chance to introduce themselves to the prospective freshmen.

The afternoon was punctuated with a tour of the campus, led by members of the student government. The tour included visits to the administration building, the library, and the science buildings.

The evening concluded with a social event at the campus dining hall, where the students were able to mingle and get to know each other.

The Sunday program began with a tour of the science buildings, followed by a visit to the computer center. The day ended with a tour of the campus, which included visits to the administration building, the library, and the science buildings.

Throughout the weekend, the students were able to experience the different aspects of college life, from academic to social. The weekend was a great opportunity for prospective freshmen to get a feel for what college life is like at Wilkes University.

The experience was a great success, with many students expressing their interest in attending Wilkes University. The I.D.C. is planning on continuing to host similar events in the future to welcome prospective freshmen to campus.

SPECIAL MEETING OF STUDENT BODY

Tuesday, 11:00 a.m. -- Gym

Cathy DeAngelis and Don Ungenbach, Student Government President, nominated Barbara Bosworth, Student Government Secretary for the position of assistant secretary, to speak to students. A question and answer period will follow. The meeting will also feature a special guest speaker.

Letter to the editor: I am writing to express my concern about the National Security Agency (NSA) and its activities. The NSA's broad surveillance powers raise serious questions about privacy and civil liberties. I urge students to be more aware of the implications of this agency's operations.

Parody of 'Last Supper'
Bunel most powerfully infects any society anywhere that reduces men to mere tools for the manipulation of animals. The bacchanalian orgy staged by the neoclassical and theological order, physically and spiritually denigrated, exemplifies our times. Bunel's films are a mockery of our world.

Viridiana Portrays Cynicism Through Anti-Christ Theme
by Charlotte Lord

The reviewer sat through two showings of the Spanish film Viridiana, the last of the manuscript's series for the annual academic, and described it as a think piece. The film is not aycopical and has been described by many as an erotic, other-worldly past. Certainly what Bunuel, director and collaborating script writer, had to say has been said that way in the past. The film is a work of art that has been overly praised. The film is the work of art that has been overly praised.

NOT A PANACEA — JUST A THOUGHT

Aside from the fact that last week's elections resulted in the largest turnout at the polls to date, the election itself, carries with it another message. We are referring, of course, to the enthusiasm which was generated by the candidates at each class level.

Posters were so numerous that many students had difficulty recognizing the various buildings on campus simply because most of them were not currently occupied by them that it was impossible to decide whether they were class buildings or political head quarters. In addition to the posters, parleys, political rallies, and personal contact were all part of the campaign. The results were the largest Student election vote in the history of the college.

Analysis of the cause and effect relationship of this event discloses the fact that the result of this over-whelming turnout at the polls was the enthusiasm generated by the respective candidates. This conclusion raises a very interesting question regarding the other "activities" conducted by other campus organizations.

If candidates were able to encourage a large turnout at the polls, why, we ask, can't club members use the same technique to insure the success of their club sponsored projects. With the proper amount of honest enthusiasm internally generated, financial failures would be unheard of, and clubs would function more coherently, both as an operating unit and financial success. Money problems would disappear and apathy would be non-existent.

A remedy is known, the procedure is simple... let us just follow in the path which has been cleared for us by our leaders.

NO 'THING

Sixteen students from Hampton Institute arrived at the toll exchange, the purpose of which is to promote understanding and to offer an experience not derived from mere academic studies. While not undermined, the purpose is perhaps relegated to the rear during the exchange, for, after speaking with those who visited Hampton, left feeling as though something was left unsaid. Few mention the word "understanding." This in itself is understandable for many Things are designed for the promotion of understanding. And Things spend the rest of their time endeavoring to prove.

College yesterday to complete the ninth annual Wilkes-Hampton

Understanding itself, however, is a feeling, no "doing." Such adjectives as "gratifying" and "pleasing" do not clearly explain what happens in the Wilkes-Hampton exchange program. But then, how do you explain the Wilkes spirit in the sky reflected in a raindrop?

Welcome, Hampton.

TEN INCENTIVES

in the closest race of the day.

The election's large turn-out was almost entirely responsible. Levering the spirited campaigning, an abnormally large number of races, the competition was intense throughout the controversy over the proposed amendments to the Student Government Constitution. It was generally held that the high vote was a good sign and a blow against criticism.
BLISS DENIES ANY CONNECTION BETWEEN 'BEATLES' AND MUSIC

by Ruth Parrilla

Who could possibly be loyal to England and not be a loyal Beatles follower at the same time? Dr. William Bliss of the History Department readily admits to the former and heartily insists upon the latter.

Born in Kandy, Ceylon, Dr. Bliss was totally illiterate until the age of nine. As a child he insisted that his name was spelled B-I-L-I-S, and bought anyone who dared to correct him. Finally learning the correct spelling of his name, he decided to go to England to become educated.

After completing his basic education in a public school, he enrolled in Oxford University where he received his B.A. degree. Referring to the six years and two days spent in the Royal Navy, he proudly admits that he was an officer and served on various battleships, cruisers, destroyers, and a short term on a submarine.

Klick Gains Nod As 'Athlete of Week' In 14 Inning Tilt

Baseball produces an atmosphere of its own, especially when the game runs into extra innings. The Wilkes College baseball diamond had this atmosphere last week as the Colonels romped to a 6-4 victory over Lebanon Valley, where the Colonels showed their "stuff" in all positions.

The Beacon sports staff covered this game and from it the selection of 'Athlete of the Week' was made. This issue's choice is southpaw Rick Klick.

Rick attended Kingston High School and lettered in football, basketball and baseball. He was a member of the Key Club and the National Honor Society. In his senior year at Kingston, he co-captained the football team, which produced a winning season. In 1962, Rick enrolled at Wilkes and in his freshman year played football and baseball. His performance on the baseball team earned him a letter that year. Now in his sophomore year, he intends to put his main efforts in baseball.

Lefty starts slow
Rick, a lefty, pitches true to form in most games, starting slow and ending strong. He states that the first inning is his most difficult, but he gains control as the game progresses.

Klick has begun to rely on his curve ball to pull him out of tight spots.

In the game with Lebanon Valley, Rick pitched every inning in the 14 inning contest. In that game, one of the 4 runs scored against him were un-earned. Rick credited the win, but the staff feels that his coolness under pressure was the outstanding factor in the victory.

The team sports a 3-4 record, and Rick predicts the team will end the season with a majority of wins. The standing line-up is all veterans, and the prospects do look good.

Rick is a sophomore Commerce and Finance major. With two more years to go, he is one of the reasons for optimism on the Colonels baseball squad. For this reason and for performance last week, the Beacon presents him with 'Athlete of the Week' honors.

by Don DeFranco

Turning in its most commanding performance of the season, the Wilkes College tennis team romped to a 9-0 shutout over Scranton University Wednesday afternoon. The Western team play was evident as the Colonels completely overwhelmed their opponent.

In the singles competition, Wilkes won the six contests in straight sets against a defeat. Austin and Clouter, however, turned in exceptional performances as they sauntered to victory while holding their opponents scoreless.

In doubles, the No. 1 and No. 2 teams continued the torrid pace, winning their respective matches without losing a set. For the second time in as many matches, Don Austin bullied his way to victory while holding his opponent scoreless. Junior Bill Douglas once again performed perfectly as he extended his winning streak to 18 straight.

In the doubles, the No. 1 and No. 2 teams continued the torrid pace, winning their respective matches without losing a set. After two hard fought matches in which the lead changed several times, the No. 3 team of Yeager and Ruskin bowed to their foes, 7-5, 7-5.

Next week, the Colonels racket men will engage in only one contest, traveling to Moravian College on Saturday afternoon.

Himlin Singles in Winning Run

TWO CONTTESTS TOTAL 30 INNINGS AS WILKES WINS IN 14, LOSES IN 16

Coach Rollie Schmidt's hardballers rolled their way to a hard fought 5-4 win over Lebanon Valley Sunday. This set the stage for a continuation in a contest which required 14 innings to complete.

Klick appeared as if he was breathing along on his record win, gaining 6 of his 13 strikeouts in overtime.

Lebanon Valley drew first blood on a freak infield error in the 5th. The three runs plated by the Flying Dutchmen in that inning wiped out a 1-0 score which had been earned. In the home team half of the same inning, Del Girkerman smashed a long drive to centerfield ending up on 2nd with 2 B.R.I.'s to his credit.

Bill Douglas tied the score in the 6th to take a 4-3 lead, but Lebanon Valley knotted the score in the top of the 8th inning after an extra inning.

Matt Himlin put the clincher on the game in the 16th inning. Snapping John Uhl who opened the frame with a single. Rick's basis his own cause by sacrificing Uhl home after the Colonel backstop advanced to 2nd on a wild pitch. Klick allowed only 7 hits.

On Monday, the fortunes of the Colonels were to bright as one heard. The team bowed to ESSC 7-2. Trailing 2-1 going into the 8th, Wilkes tied the score. The team continued extra innings and in the 16th Stroudsburg produced 5 tallies to cap the victory. Coach Schmidt commented on the game, crediting Joe Kruczik with having pitched his finest game in two years and adding that it was unfortunate that such a well played game should have been distorted by such an inaccurate score.

Klipp's fine fielding control in going the game for ESSC, striking out 12 and walking none. Kruczik struck out 6 and walked 4 for Wilkes.

The Colonels next contest is slated with the Ursinus Bears tomorrow at Ursinus. Play is scheduled to get underway at 2:30 p.m.

SPORTS SHORTS

The league baseball player once batted over .400 for a season, and still did not win the batting championship. He hit .408 in 1911, but didn't win the title. Ty Cobb hit .420 that same season.

Golfers Win First

by Don DeFranco

After dropping the first two matches, the Wilkes golf team rebounded to gain its first win of the season, a 192-235 victory over Scranton University.

The win brought the Colonels' record to 1-2 for the season.

Frankhaber and Stover turned in outstanding performances as they swept their respective matches without losing a point. The efforts of coach Wilton Farrar jumped to an early lead on wins by Perego and Ward and were never headed.

Next Tuesday, the Colonels travel to Lycoming to engage Lycoming and Juniata in a triangular meet.

Thursday last week the Greyhound points were struggling to a 4-9 record, and this year's schedule looks just as bleak.

Graduation cut deeply into Coach Kilpatrick's squad and as a result, the Colonels are relatively inexperienced. The Honour's are pinning their hopes on lettermen Bill Carrier and Steve McKeever, both New Jersey who paced Moravian last year, scoring wins in 12 matches while suffering only one defeat.
