

Circle K's Challenge Spurned, Campus Organizations Fail To Respond To "Bearing Of Arms"

by Ruth Partilla

After strenuous campaigning by Dean Ralston and the Circle K Club, Blood Donor Day, which is now taking place in the gym, should be a success. Participating students have already scheduled appointments between 9:45 a.m. and 3:45 p.m.

Freshmen to Re-Meet Big Brothers, Sisters

by Harry Russin

An event which has never taken place in the history of the college will occur this Sunday afternoon from 2 until 4:30 in the gymnasium. It will be a re-meeting of the freshman with their Big Brothers and Sisters at an informal gathering. Entertainment and refreshments will be provided and as Rich Shemo, representing the Freshman Orientation Committee, stated, "will serve as a supplement in meeting once again with your counterpart in the Freshman Big Brother/Sister Program."

In the past, the Big Brother/Sister Program has not gone beyond the first group meetings. Individuals have, in some cases, maintained personal contact; but occasionally freshman did not see their Big Brother or Sister for months at a time.

A letter was sent out to each freshman telling them of this event. TDR offered assistance by addressing and stuffing the envelopes. The affair is being sponsored by the Student Government.

The occasion will provide the freshmen with an opportunity to re-establish contacts, compare experiences, pose questions, and in general, have a good time.

The success or failure of this meeting will determine whether or not it will be continued in the future.

A new feature added this year to stimulate interest in the program is the Circle K Club's Challenge of Arms. They have stated that the members, as a group, will donate more blood than any other campus organization or group. It is hoped that campus organizations will take on this challenge, and the winners will be awarded a trophy for their efforts. The number of members in the organizations will be taken into consideration, and judgement will be decided by percentage.

Seeking to go beyond last year's attainment of 137 pints of blood, the campus as a group will try to surpass the present goal of 200 pints.

Any student who has donated blood will be given the right to obtain blood for his own or his family use. In order for this plan to be effective, the College must have a sufficient number of pints deposited in the blood bank.

For those students who for some reason cannot donate blood today but would like to do so in the near future, information concerning this may be obtained by contacting Dean Ralston or any member of the Circle K Club.

NOTICE

Anyone who wishes to give blood, but is unable to do so Friday, October 18, can make arrangements with Dean Ralston or Circle K for a different time.

ICG Holds Dance Tonite

A unique activity is being held in the gym tonight. A dance. This dance is being sponsored by I.C.G. This dance will feature Bobby Baird. Along with Bobby Baird will be his band. Along with his band will be an admission charge of fifty cents. Along with this admission charge will be a person holding fifty cents. I.C.G. hopes it's YOU.

Stuart A. Jed and Jim Lisowski, chairman and co-chairman respectively, announce that plans for a hootenanny during intermission are being formulated.

Homecoming Weekend Nears; Four Display Awards Offered

Charlotte Wetzel

The weekend of October 25 will mark the celebration of the Sixteenth Annual Homecoming on campus. Student Government, which is in charge of this affair, has been arranging the final details.

Members of Student Government and the Beacon staff will cast their votes to determine which coed will reign as Homecoming Queen. From a list of ten finalists, the Queen and her court will be selected.

Activity will commence next Friday night after the arrival of the alumni who will tour the campus to view the various displays set up by the dormitories and campus organizations. Four awards will be presented in the following categories: men's dormitories, women's dormitories, club displays and best over-all award. Jim Jones of Student Government is in charge of the display awards committee.

After the alumni have had an opportunity to judge the displays, there will be a car caravan to Kirby Park, where a Bonfire and pep rally will be held. Those who wish to participate are asked to convene in front of Butler Hall at 7 p.m. The Homecoming Queen and her two princesses, as well as members of the football and soccer teams, will be the guests of honor. Members of Kickline, Cheerleaders, and Majorettes will also be introduced. In addition, the winners of the campus displays will be announced.

Immediately following the bonfire, TDR will sponsor a sport dance in the gym. Marie Shutlock and Leslie Tobias are completing the plans for Friday night's program.

Meanwhile, the alumni will gather at the Host Motel for a Warm-Up Party. This affair will be the prelude to the alumni dinner dance which will take place at the Dorian Room of the Host on Saturday night.

For alumni and undergrads alike, Saturday's activities will begin at the athletic field with the soccer game in which Wilkes opposes Hofstra at 10:00 a.m.

Before the football game which features Wilkes vs. Drexel, there will be a car caravan to the athletic field at noon. The Queen and her court will ride to the game in convertibles. Dr. Farley will officially crown the Queen during the pre-game ceremonies.

At half-time awards will be given to the winners of the Homecoming displays and to the owner of the best-decorated car in the car caravan. The Kickline and the Majorettes will perform to the accompaniment of the Wilkes College Band.

Highlighting the close of Homecoming Weekend is the undergraduate dinner dance sponsored by Student Government. John Campbell, chairman of the dance, has announced that tickets will cost four dollars per couple. There will be dancing to the music of Bobby Baird from 7 to 12 p.m. A dinner featuring roast beef, Italian and Swedish meat balls and Hawaiian pork, will be served from 7 to 9 p.m.

Four awards were recently given for outstanding academic achievement. Mrs. Daniel Detwiler, President of the Wilkes Faculty Women, presented an award to the highest ranking woman student from the previous year's Freshman class. The award was given to Lois Anne Petroski.

Mrs. Iva Heale, former President of the Wilkes-Barre Business and Professional Womens' Club, presented the second award to the outstanding Junior or Senior woman student. This award was given to Catherine D. DeAngelis.

A third award was presented by Mr. Herbert J. Morris in memory of his daughter who was born and died on this campus. This award went to Joyce Ann Cavallini. Joyce maintained an average of 3.80 for three years straight. The final award was presented by Rosemary Hagel, President of Theta Delta Rho, to Clare Helen Draper, the most outstanding T.D.R. member.

TAKE PEN IN HAND

The recent news that the National Defense Education Act is up for renewal should be of interest to many of us, since nearly 500 members of our student body are now benefitting from the National Defense student loans.

Needless to say, the advantages of the NDEA — low interest rates and long-term repayment period — would be difficult to find elsewhere. And discontinuance of this government assistance would "throw a kink" into many students' well-laid plans.

We all know this just as we all realize the importance of the Act. Let's let our Senators know that we are alert and interested in the outcome of the extension proposal.

Take your pen in hand right now and urge your Representative to support the retention of the NDEA as part of HR 4955 when it comes up shortly for Senate floor action.

THE HEAT'S ON

No longer can minors caught in establishments serving liquor skip blithely through the raid, the subpoena, and the hearing itself with no scars and perhaps even a check for testifying against the owners.

For the State Liquor Control Board has finally taken the "fun" out of fooling cafe owners — with a "crack down" on minors and a tightening of the state laws.

A recent change in the statutes makes the minor in such a situation responsible for his own conduct and liable to as much as a $100 fine and several days imprisonment.

Hence when he testifies against the cafe owner, he also testifies against himself — leaving him wide open for a lot of trouble and expense.

IS IT WORTH IT?

TWO PLUS TWO EQUALS THREE

Since each of us is aware that enrollment at our college is steadily increasing, we are apt to presume that the impact created by student movements would also increase in the same proportion. This, however, is generally not the case, and to substantiate my statement, I would like to compare the student conducted United Fund Campaign results for the past three years.

In 1960, the total amount contributed was $1,148; in 1961, it dropped to $1,090, and finally, last year, we reached our lowest total of $736. These facts definitely show a lack of interest on the part of the students in their campaign, for if each student had contributed his $1.00, the increased enrollment would have been evident in an increase of total contributions.

Our problem, as it exists, can be remedied, and this remedy can be administered immediately. The procedure would be a simple one, and would merely involve the effort on the part of each student to contact his class representatives, and make his individual contribution. Once this has been accomplished, this year's campaign totals will begin a new trend in the right direction. J.J.K.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Dear Apathetic Onlookers (Creeps):

The men of BUTLER HALL, to whom you were obviously referring in your frivolous undertaking of last week, resent your likening Millie Gittins to an inanimate statue or bell. We might add that if anybody stole Miss Gittins, we'd come and take her back, even if we had to miss our CORE meeting to do so!

Speaking of CORE, we were surprised to see your enthusiastic endorsement of this organization. After all, you're supposed to be apathetic (unfeeling, indifferent, unconcerned). What would people say if they found out you weren't playing your role? They might call you hypocrites, or even worse, nice guys.

The men of BUTLER HALL will continue to fight the worst enemy a campus can come to know — apathy.

And despite any delusions you may have, we will continue to do so without lowering the level of modern education.

Dear Editor:

Mrs. Koerner and I would like to congratulate those responsible for Parent's Day for the truly outstanding job that they did. It was a most enjoyable day from start to finish. As our son is a senior, our only regret was that it had not been inaugurated three years ago.

As parents, we are greatly interested in the school our child attends. Through our participation in Parent's Day we feel that we have learned a great deal about Wilkes College, its faculty and students.

We sincerely hope that Parent's Day will become an annual event at Wilkes College.

Sincerely Yours
Milton Koerner

The Apathetic Onlooker

by Jack Hardie and Olsen Schroeder

In the cafeteria the other day we chanced to overhear our two Sophomore friends discussing faeries and brownies and, because we have interest in W.B. Yeats too, we thought we would join the conversation.

'Yes,' we interrupted, 'Irish folk-lore was one of the formulating influences on Yeats' poetic imagination; of course you must remember that . . .'

'W.B. Yeats?' asked Miss Dover.

'A genius, Eilene, of course,' we continued, 'deeply affected by . . .'

'But we weren't discussing an English course,' explained Lena.

'If not English, Miss Genster, what other course includes Yeats' poetry? Wilkes has no course in Folk-lore or Mythology.'

'Faeries and Brownies,' said Lena tersely, 'is a game we play in the gym.'

'Oh, of course,' we exclaimed, 'an Education course. Learning games to show the kiddies at recess when you begin your teaching careers.' We were confused no longer; certainly, an Education course. Probably get three credits for it, eh?'

'This,' cried Eilene indignantly, 'is our physical education course. We play these games in the girls' gym classes!'

'Adults? Playing faeries and . . . Do you write poetry?'

Miss Dover picked up a book and began to read. Lena lit a cigarette. We tried to look casual as we quietly left the cafeteria, hiding Yeats under our coats.

THE BALLOT BOX

by Vince McHale

"In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and in that district where in the crime shall have been committed, . . ."

One does not need a course in Constitutional Law to realize this is the Sixth Amendment to our Federal Constitution. But what is a "speedy . . . trial" and what constitutes "an impartial jury?" It is true that the amendment specifically refers to "criminal prosecutions," but what of its application in the equally important area of civil litigation?

In this area, these are perhaps the two most important problems facing the American judicial system today. For example, is there such a thing as an impartial jury? Let's find out.

In addition to the multitude of man's imperfections, current history seems to point to one outstanding fault that apparently knows no bounds — prejudice. Bearing this statement in mind, it is not surprising that this is the result of finding by a group of researchers who recently concluded an extensive probe into the fears and biases of 500 men and women from various parts of the nation. The main focus of this scientific study was on a most delicate subject — our American jury system.

Research On Prejudice

The research study was carried on at Rutherford, N.J. by the Research Center of Fairleigh Dickinson University's College of Business Administration. The principle aim of the study was to determine the interplay of conscious and unconscious prejudices in the Nation's jury boxes.

The findings of the study revealed eleven basic traits or characteristics which tended to "stack the cards" against the claimant. Briefly these were found to be sex, age, education, occupation, religion, race income, ethnic background, marital status, and political affiliation. Among these, the largest bias factors tended to revolve around sex, income, religion, education, and occupation.

Some of the conclusions reached in the study are worth noting. For example women have LESS chance of getting a fair trial than men. Women jurors and low-income male jurors tend to be hostile to women claimants. Negro claimants tend to win more sympathy from women jurors than from men. Perhaps the most surprising of all was that housewives were found to be secretly hostile toward the rich.

In addition to these findings, a number of interesting observations were made with respect to income. Those earning between $7,500 and $15,000 are least likely to arouse money prejudices in jurors. Jurors in the $5,000 - a-year bracket are found to be more biased against those with elementary educations than they are against claimants who are unemployed. Salesmen subconsciously tend to scorn those who fall into the lower income brackets and, conversely, those whose incomes are high.

Religious Prejudice

In the area of religion, the study revealed evidence that few jurors are biased against Jews, whereas there is a definite tendency to make it difficult for claimants adhering to certain fundamentalist religions such as Seventh Day Adventists and Jehovah's Witnesses.

From the brief description of the study, the conclusions made can be stretched one more notch. Can one obtain a fair trial under the conditions set forth? This is a very difficult matter to decide, for how does one go about eliminating the prejudice factor? Perhaps it is the quality and administration of our juries that needs overhauling, not the system itself. With so many categories of persons excluded from jury duty, it becomes extremely difficult if not impossible to obtain the cross-sectionalism so vital in a fair trial by one's peers. Whatever the answer the problem remains. The verdict is yours.

Comstock Shines For Wilkes, But Colonels Lose To PMC 15-12

Vie With Ursinus At Collegeville Tomorrow

Ed Comstock was outstanding in last Saturday's game with PMC, but the West Pittston athlete's exceptional effort was not enough to provide a margin of victory for the Wilkes Colonels, who dropped their third game in as many starts. Comstock rolled up 170 yards on 21 carries for an 8.1 yard per carry average, which earned him the "ECAC Outstanding Back" award and also the BEACON "Athlete of the Week" award.

PMC capitalized on a Wilkes fumble to draw first blood in the game. In the second period, with four minutes remaining, the Colonels rebounded on drives by Comstock and Don Brominski drove into paydirt from the one. The score at the half was a 6-6 tie, as Ed Brominski's PAT attempt was wide.

After a scoreless third period, Frank Wallace returned a punt to the Wilkes 48. On the next play, Comstock carried the pigskin on a 52 yard touchdown jaunt through the middle of the PMC defense. Wallace missed the PAT.

The Cadets, fired up by a Homecoming crowd, roared back with a drive that covered 62 yards in 9 plays and resulted in another PMC score. Bob Heiser iced the game by booting the PAT, but just for insurance the Cadets trapped Frank Wallace back to punt and added two points to their total.

At Ursinus Tomorrow

Tomorrow afternoon the Colonels meet the Bears of Ursinus in a game at Collegeville, Pa. Last season the Wilkes team displayed a tremendous effort on two goal line stands to turn back the Bears 12-6.

Last year the Bears were lucky to score even once against the Colonels with all the breaks going their way. Ursinus had the ball twice in succession inside the five yard line and failed to score on the terrific defensive effort of the Wilkes line.

Coach Richard Whatley, in his 4th year at Ursinus, has 13 returning lettermen. Included among these veterans is senior quarterback Ron Emmert, who scored the only Ursinus touchdown last year. The game will get under way at 2 p.m.

Pat Davis Sparks Hockey Team In Moravian Win

by Lillian Bodzio

As a result of quick thinking on the part of freshman Pat Davis, the Girl's hockey team recently scored a 4-3 victory over a tough Moravian squad.

Pat, knocked down within inches of the goal, tapped the ball home from her prone position when the opposing goalie moved aside. This action, within the last few minutes of play, broke a 3-3 tie to win the game.

Pat also put in two of the other goals. Betsy Jo Crompton also scored.

Beacon 'Athlete' Award Goes To Ed Comstock

by Merle Bolen

Due to his brilliant display of offensive running in last Saturday's heart-breaking defeat with the Cadets of P.M.C., Ed Comstock has been chosen as this issue's "Athlete of the Week."

ED COMSTOCK

Filling in for injured Gary Popovich, Comstock carried 21 times for 170 yards. On a drive which led to the first Colonel tally in the last four minutes of the opening half, Ed dominated a barrage of Colonel runs by consistently carrying the ball into Cadet territory for good yardage.

In the fourth quarter after a punt return by Frank Wallace to the Wilkes' 48, Ed then blasted all the way on a bolt up the middle for 52 yards to the Cadet end zone.

In the past Ed has proved his value as an asset to the Colonel squad many times. On frequent occasions he provided the team with the spark which was needed to produce Colonel victories. Ed is a workhorse whose efforts the Colonels should capitalize on in the future.

Now in his Junior year, the five foot eleven Biology Education major is now residing in Butler Hall. Ed attended high school at West Pittston where he lettered in football and track.

Although Ed has been somewhat overshadowed by Gary Popovich this season, he has shown his value to the team once again. For his efforts as the Colonels' workhorse and an 8.1 yard per carry average which earned him the ECAC "Outstanding Back" award, Ed Comstock has been chosen BEACON "Athlete of the Week".

Booters Reach Halfway Mark With 1-4-1 Log After Draw With FDU

by Donald DeFranco

Barre Wins In Dorm League; Rummys-Macedonians Tie

Barre Hall scored heavily in the early part of their game with Miner Hall, and then coasted to an easy 40-20 victory. Pass defense was the key to the Barre victory. Barre scored 3 touchdowns on interceptions. Evans scored three times for Barre, while Dunn, Witt, and Douglas added one apiece. George played a good game for Miner, scoring two touchdowns.

The Independent League showed two strong teams this week as the Macedonians and Rummys played to a 7-7 tie. Both teams posed a scoring threat throughout the game, but the defenses rose to the occasion. The Rummys scored first on a long pass from McAndrew to Zabonski, with McAndrew adding the PAT. The Macedonians came back to immediately tie the score on a pass to Himlin. The extra point by Jim Vindunis was disputed. Ray Sorokanich and Harry Vogt led the Rummys' defense.

Other games played thus far in the Intraumural League resulted as follows: Dorm Division—Butler over Slocum 2-0; Hollenback over Ashley 12-0; Barre over Miner 40-20. Independent Division—Rummys and Macedonians 7-7 tie; Macedonians over Spartans 38-0.

With the season half completed, the Wilkes College soccer team brought its log to 1-4-1, but the Ferrisemen feel they can improve on this record during the second half of the schedule. The Colonel booters dropped a 1-0 squeaker to Stevens last Wednesday but bounced back on Saturday to battle the Madison campus team of Farleigh-Dickinson to a scoreless tie.

The contest with Stevens indicated, as in previous tilts, that a scoring threat is definitely lacking in the offensive team. The one-point edge was all that Stevens needed to clinch the contest, as the Colonels absorbed their third shutout in four games.

The defense, as in all previous games, was the mainstay of the team, as they time after time stopped the charging Stevens' offensive unit. Undaunted by the inability of the offense to score, the Colonel defenders never ceased to perform admirably.

In the game with Madison, the Wilkes defensive unit sparkled as they shut out their opponents. The Colonel offensive team, however, was similarly blanked, and at the end of regulation play, a scoreless tie prevailed.

Two five-minute overtime periods were played, but neither team was able to score in the contest at the New Jersey college.

Outstanding defensive play by left fullback Larry Gubanich and halfback Dick Bucko, while the offense was led by the fine play of Dick Morgan and Walt Prusakowski.

The booters will play two games at home this week, meeting Muhlenburg Wednesday afternoon and challenging Hofstra tomorrow morning.

Astrology Book Antequated In Switch To Intuition For College Grid Picks

by David Dugan

After another disastrous week, I decided to close my astrology book and rely solely on my own intuition. Without further ado, I begin on this week's selections.

Texas over Arkansas—An important game which will decide the Southwest Conference championship, and perhaps the National Championship.

Penn State over Syracuse—"Z" back, Don Caum, should be able to break through Syracuse's line, which averages 228 pounds.

Princeton over Colgate—The Tigers sport one of the finest backs in college football in Cosmo Iacavazzi; that should be enough for Princeton.

Wisconsin over Iowa—It will be Wisconsin's backfield against Iowa's line.

Pittsburgh over West Virginia—Pitt is too powerful both up front and in the backfield.

Oklahoma over Kansas—Joe Don Looney and Jim Grisham are the Sooners' backfield threat, while the Jayhawks will be depending on the gifted running of Gale Sayers.

Mississippi over Tulane—The Rebels have too much for Tulane, which has nothing but a tough schedule.

New College Art Club To Hold Meeting, New York Trip Topic

The New College Art Club is holding its first reorganizational meeting this Tuesday. The club, created for all those interested in art, will discuss such plans for the academic year as Saturday workshops, field trips, movies, demonstrations, and lectures. The club, announces Bill Pucilowski, will undergo a complete change, calling for a "more dynamic and exciting" policy.

Next Wednesday through Friday, the members of the club are holding an art sale and exhibition in Conyngham Annex. All media will be on sale at reasonable prices.

On Saturday, Nov. 9, the Art Club will make the first of two planned trips to New York City. A bus has been chartered and cost of a round-trip ticket is five dollars. Anyone is welcome to go. Reservations should be made by Nov. 1 with Jan Pethick, president of the Art Club, or Ron Kucirko, treasurer. A registration blank has been placed in Conyngham Annex for those wishing to sign.

The group as a whole will visit museums and art galleries; there will also be time for individuals to visit other points of interest.

Accompanying the group will be Miss Charlotte Lord, a member of the English department, and Mrs. Marini, the secretary in the Placement Office.

Debate Team

Miss Charlotte Lord, advisor to the Debate Club, has announced the autumn agenda for the teams. The topic for this year is: Resolved, that the Federal Government should guarantee an opportunity for higher education to all qualified high school graduates.

The College varsity and novice teams will travel to Marywood Wednesday for inter-collegiate debates. No decisions will be given.

Nov. 1 and 2, the varsity team will travel to LaSalle. They will again debate at Villanova Nov. 22 and 23.

The novice debaters will compete with Temple University Dec. 7.

Representing Wilkes in varsity debating are Jim Tredinnick, Rosemary Rush, Doug Kistler, and David Levy.

Members of the novice team are Gerald McHale, Al Airola, Paul Bachman, and Paul Mocko.

In his lecture entitled "The Physiological Effects of Alcohol" Dr. Francis Michelini discussed the problem of alcoholism and the effects of alcohol upon the body at a recent AWS seminar.

For future lectures AWS hopes to engage such authorities as marriage counselors and other prominent citizens of the community to speak on topics of general interest to Wilkes students and the public.

The College chapter of AWS as its purpose the attempt to form a cohesive unit of women students who can strive to promote a well-rounded and well-informed student body.

The College chapter of AWS is a member of the national organization of AWS. Sister members of AWS include Wilkes College, Bucknell University, the University of Pittsburgh, and a host of others.

As of yet, no official AWS meeting hour has been decided upon; however, Miss Kaaran Graham, Secretary of AWS, has announced that all women students are invited to join. Those women students interested in joining can contact either Dana Saladen, president, or Kaaran Graham.

Biology Professor Enjoys Fine Arts

by Alis Pucilowski

A new professor in the biology department, Dr. Grace C. Kimball received her A.B. from the University of Rochester and her doctorate from Cornell University. A native of Rochester, Dr. Kimball entered the field of bacteriology because she was interested in it and because of "lots of ideas that I wanted to try out." She also referred to a certain interest in public health.

Her doctoral thesis involved the effect of the magnetic field on yeast, parts of which were published in the Journal of Bacteriology.

Her other publications include articles on the diseases of the aged rat, a review on nutrition literature, a review on a book concerning the pus formation in ancient Egyptian medicine, and a paper on the factors for pyorrhea. She has also presented papers at dental meetings.

Dr. Kimball, who minored in pathology, is greatly interested in the history of science which, along with bacteriology, she taught at Evansville College in Indiana. She has previously taught at the University of Akron, also.

Interests

When asked of her favorite type of music, Dr. Kimball replied, "I enjoy symphonies, in preference to other varieties." She has played the piano for many years, an accomplishment which she has "let slip recently." Among her favorite composers she lists Beethoven and Grieg.

She also confesses to "dabbling in charcoal portraits," but regrets that she hasn't more time for it.

Dr. Kimball reads voraciously. The area in which she expresses the greatest interest is history. In considering the best novels in this field, she feels that Fall of the Dynasties and This Kind of War stand out.

Concerning current topics, Dr. Kimball feels that Madame Nhu's theory of ridiculing the Buddhist to make him stop protesting has no effect because,

Class of '66 Plans Hayride

The Sophomore class is holding a hayride at O'Connell's Twin Lakes on Saturday, October 19, from 8-12. The activity is open only to members of the Sophomore class and those people accompanied by a Sophomore escort.

A car caravan will leave the Parrish Hall parking lot at 7:30, and rides will be provided for those people without transportation. The charge of $1.50 per person includes refreshments.

The hayride is not restricted to couples.

the diseases which attack those people in middle and old age.

In comparing Wilkes-Barre to Ohio, Dr. Kimball said, "Wilkes-Barre has a more rugged up-and-down countryside." She considers Wilkes a very good college because of its "high academic standards and its excellent equipment for research." She also stated, "The students here seem to have more enthusiasm for college and for college events than usually found in a city college."

Student Govt. Has Irregularity Problem

by Richie Kramer

The fact that the freshman elections for class officers and Student Government representatives will be held on November 5, was a topic for discussion at the Student Government meeting, Tuesday evening.

Richard Burns, President of Student Government, requested that members observe their posted office hours with as much regularity as possible. Student Government members are available in the S.G. office on Tuesdays and Thursdays to discuss problems, questions, or comments that any student may have regarding all phases of academic and extra-curricular life on campus.

Dr. Grace C. Kimball

"Ridicule doesn't touch people that are dedicated. We must decide, first, whether it is a purely religious issue or a Communistic one."

Pertinent Discoveries

In the field of biology, Dr. Kimball stated, the great breakthrough has been the recent discoveries made concerning DNA factors in cancer and virus work. Another breakthrough she cited, though not as recent as the above, was the development of the sulfa drugs and antibiotics for diseases. Today, she added, the field which is demanding a great deal of study is that involving
