

Serendipity Serenade For Sunday Afternoon; Classes Receive Proceeds

by Mary Quinn

The Spring Weekend will culminate Sunday afternoon, May 9, with the Serendipity Singers concert. The concert is being held at 3 p.m. for the benefit of enabling those visitors who have traveled a distance to attend the concert and have adequate time to return to their homes and colleges.

The Serendipity Singers are a folk-singing group who present a symbolic panorama of the American scene, both past and present. The group consists of nine singers, seven male and two female, ranging from the ages of 17 to 28. Many of the male members of the group supplement their songs with banjo and guitar accompaniment.

Elections for SG Pres. Next Friday

Elections for class officers, Student Government representatives, and the Cinderella queen are being held today in the cafeteria lounge. Gift Pax for the men will be distributed there also. The polls are open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Nominations for Student Government president will be held at the meeting Monday at 5 p.m. The candidates will speak at assembly May 6; elections will be held May 7.

The deadline for entering the Mother's Day Contest, in which five free tickets for the Serendipity Singers will be given away at a drawing, is May 1. All mothers are eligible to enter; submit the name, address, and telephone number to Student Government, Wilkes College, or have this information submitted to Millie Gittens in the Bookstore.

Tickets for the Cinderella Ball will not be sold after 5 p.m. on May 6. Those who wish transportation to the Spring Carnival can register for free bus transportation with Millie Gittens before 5 p.m., May 5. The bus will leave from the Gies Hall Parking Lot at 11 a.m.

Since the administration reimbursed the dormitories that sponsored the party for the pre-freshmen Saturday night, Student Government granted the same amount, $65, to the Accounting Club and Collegians for their dance Friday night. The organizations had given away 270 free tickets to pre-freshmen.

The constitution of the Young Republican Council was passed, and the club was granted $50 for an inter-collegiate conference.

New Features This Year Will Escort Queen Cinderella Through De Mille

by Barbara Simms

In the words of Ron Czajkowski, chairman of the forthcoming Cinderella Ball, "This year's ball will be better than a Cecil B. DeMille pageant." He stated that several features have been added to this year's affair, and he expressed the hope that some of these additions will become part of the tradition of the annual crowning of Cinderella.

One of these new features is the return of last year's queen, Jo Signorelli Russin, to crown this year's Cinderella. The queen's crown will rest on a red satin pillow surrounded by the candidates' pictures and placed next to the throne.

Just before the stroke of midnight and the announcement of Cinderella for 1965, Mrs. Anne Kish and Sumner Hayward will introduce the former queen and the ten candidates, who will each receive a dozen pink roses. The name of the first runner-up will be revealed this year for the first time. "We hope to have this year's queen return to crown Cinderella for 1966," stated Czajkowski. "In the case that she would be unable to attend the dance, the first runner-up could take her place. For this reason, we felt it necessary to reveal her name."

The queen will receive a dozen long-stemmed American Beauty red roses and gift certificates and gifts provided by local merchants.

In the receiving line will be Dr. Francis Michelini, Dean of Academic Affairs; Dean of Men George Ralston; Dean of Women Mrs. Margaret Ahlborn; Assistant to the Dean Arthur Hoover; Cathy DeAngelis, president of Student Government; Don Ungemah, vice-president of Student Government; Ron Czajkowski and Judy Simonson. The Amnicola will have a booth at the dance where couples may have their pictures taken for a nominal fee as souvenirs of the affair.

The candidates are Mary Lou Searles, Pamela DeHaven, Jerri Jean Baird, Nancy Czubek, Elena Mendel, Lois Kutish, Molly Boyle, Lydia McCloskey, Dolores Chickanosky, and Mary Russin. Students may vote for their choice today in the Commons at the general election polls before the 4 p.m. closing time.

At Country Club

The ball will be held at the Irem Temple Country Club, Friday, May 7. Music for the formal affair will be provided from 9 p.m. until midnight by the Modern Aires, a ten-piece orchestra. During the next week a map will be posted in the Commons showing directions to the Country Club, and fliers giving directions will be distributed.

Tickets for the dance are $3.50 per couple, or $2 if a ticket for the Serendipity Singers Concert is bought at the same time. Tickets for the ball may be bought only at the Bookstore, and none will be sold after Thursday, May 6.

Tuxedos may be rented at Baum's, 78 E. Northampton St. for $8 with a shirt or $7 without. Since its recent fire, the store has been entirely restocked with new merchandise.

Ron Czajkowski, Judy Simonson, and Jack Brooks are general chairmen of the affair. Other committee chairmen are: Sumner Hayward and Mrs. Anne Kish, commentary; Ned Williams, refreshments; Darlene Moll and Norma Falk, decorations; Jaqui Rubin, invitations; Ken Antonini and Molly Boyle, favors; John Cavallini, program; Jane Jancik and Lois Petroski, gifts; John Lore, tickets; and Al Saidman, publicity.

Hampton Students Here for Exchange

Stage two of the Wilkes-Hampton student exchange program is in progress this weekend; 18 representatives of the Virginia institute are on campus for a four-day visit.

The Hampton students arrived yesterday and attended a welcome party held in their honor by the students at the College who went to Hampton several weeks ago. Today they circulated about campus to attend classes and particularly to meet the students.

Plans for the rest of the weekend include the dance at the gym, an outing at Dr. Farley's farm, and a banquet.

SG Sponsors Event At Hanson's Grove; Free Buses Offered

The Spring Carnival, sponsored by Student Government, will be held at Hanson's Grove, Harvey's Lake on Saturday, May 8 from noon until midnight. No admission will be charged for this event; all activities, including rides and boating, will be available at reduced rates.

A dance featuring the Starfires will be held from 8 to 11 p.m. with admission at 25 cents. Free buses will be available for anyone needing transportation; students should see Millie Gittens at the Bookstore before May 6 at 5 p.m. Joe Kiefer is chairman of the event.

FUTURE FRESHMEN INCLUDE WELL-ROUNDED SCHOLARS

by Charlotte Wetzel

During the spring, the College is faced with the problem of selecting next year's freshman class from hundreds of high school applicants. The decision to admit incoming freshmen is made on the basis of a combination of several factors. The main criteria used at the College are similar to those of many other colleges across the country.

The student's high school record over a period of four years is of the utmost importance. This record tends to be more accurate than a single entrance test. The student's record must show that he is in the upper one-fifth, two-fifths, or certainly one-half of his class.

The College requires merely the aptitude section of the College Board Entrance Examinations; the achievement test is optional. A candidate to be eligible for acceptance must achieve a score of 500 or better in both mathematics and English.

Poor Board Cases

If a student's College Board scores are poor, he may still be eligible for acceptance on the basis of a sound high school record. On the other hand, a high College Board score will influence the administration to have a more flexible attitude with regard to the student's high school record.

The College emphasizes its interest in the well-rounded student. Such attributes as a sound character, pleasant personality, and academic promise are desirable in an applicant for admission.

Although a student is not accepted on his activities alone, they do help to enrich his overall record. The student's activity record helps to enhance his diversity as an individual at the College.

Whenever there is a question concerning the admission of a particular student, a committee composed of administration members weighs the student's overall record. The percentage of such questionable students which is admitted is about 25 per cent.

Although a personal interview is not mandatory, it is definitely advantageous for the students and are arranged whenever possible.

Cheering Squads Completed for '65

Mrs. Doris Saracino, advisor to the College's Women's Athletic Association, has announced that the following women have been selected as new members of the 1965-66 W.A.A.:

Cheerleaders — Rosemary Leaser, Mary Fogli, Alicia Ramsey, Harriet Lyons, and Eileen Gardner. Norma Falk has been appointed head cheerleader; co-captain is Jean Kardos.

Kickline — Donna Thomas, Shari Schrader, Janet Blaire, Toni Supchak, Barbara Kluchinski, Leslie Calamari, and Elsie Goodman. Captain of Kickline for 1965-66 is Mary Lynn Srebell; co-captain, Diane Wynne.

Majorettes — Barbara Dorish, Nancy Wiltshire, Edith Miller, and Sally Corbishley. Head majorette is Ann Niehoff, who is also president of W.A.A. Co-captain is Barbara Dorish.

NOTICE

Applications for positions on the BEACON are now being accepted. They are to be placed in Joseph Salsburg's mailbox in the Bookstore by May 5. Those positions open include: editor, news editor, feature editor, sports editor, business manager, copy editor, and circulation editor.

Incoming Frosh Hosted

This past weekend the College hosted the incoming freshmen. One of the first affairs held in their honor was a dance on Friday night which was well attended. The following day, the pre-freshmen were invited to an Accounting Club seminar and an Art Show at which the upperclassmen displayed some of their work. The pre-freshmen were also shown displays and demonstrations at a Biology show held by the upperclassmen. Boyd Aebli showed slides of the school and gave a history of some of the buildings on campus.

A much larger group of prospective freshmen came than was expected. Last year 70 students stayed at the dorms; this year the number is expected to be 100.

Editorial

THE NEW HUB

The library is the hub of all campus intellectual activity. There both students and faculty alike seek further knowledge in their fields of interest. No Wilkes graduate has gained his diploma without using the facilities of the library. Those students with inadequate home or dormitory study rooms hope to find a somewhat peaceful atmosphere in which they can concentrate. Most courses require term papers; we defy anyone to find source material for a term paper without the use of the library. We challenge any freshman to write a weekly History 101 book report without a library book.

Thus, we agree that the library is essential to the Wilkes student. Thus, with the number of term papers assigned by the faculty, we would assume that we are expected to spend some part of our weekend at the library.

But, as scores of conscientious students consult the tiny white card on the door of the library, they find that they are restricted to only six hours on weekends in which they can use the library. When are those six hours? From 9 a.m. until noon on Saturdays and from 1 until 4 p.m. on Sundays. And when has this change in library hours been made? In the middle of term paper season and immediately before finals.

After that sorely-needed and certainly well-deserved Friday night "relaxation", the weary student must get up at 7:30 a.m. on Saturday morning to come to the library. Then, when he finally finds a table at which to sit and the books he needs and has just begun to take notes, he is callously informed that he must leave. The library closes at noon.

But the busy student still has one more library day to finish his term paper. Sighing, he dismisses all thoughts of a leisurely Sunday afternoon drive in his new MG. He forgets about that baseball game in Kirby Park or lying on the roof of the dorm in the warm spring sun. He consigns into oblivion that extra sleep before another week of study. The term paper must be finished, at all costs.

There are many special situations in which the weekend library hours are inconvenient for certain members of the student body. Students with part-time jobs find the Saturday hours useless. Those who take part in extracurricular activities during the week must do most of their studying on weekends. Night school students who work during the day depend completely on weekend library hours.

If the student is not given enough time to complete his work in the library, the next logical step is to "borrow" source books that are not to be taken out of the library. The more honest students will flock to the King's College library which, incidentally, is open from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. on Saturdays and from 1 until 5 p.m. on Sundays. Finally, will the College be able to preserve its all-important image for the community when its students are being turned away from their library?

We recommend that the library be open until 9 p.m. on Friday evenings. We further recommend that it be open on Saturdays from 9 a.m. until at least 5 p.m. — until 9 p.m. if possible. We, as students at the College, want to use our library. Will we, be deprived of this use? R.E.P.

History Department Head Retires; Thatcher Plans Authorship, Reading

by Judy Valunas

"I am a part of all that I have met" — Tennyson.

After eighteen years as chairman of the College's history department, Dr. Harold W. Thatcher, outstanding teacher and scholar, has announced his retirement.

Dr. Thatcher is a product of his education. After receiving his Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees in English from Columbia University, he obtained his Ph.D. in history from the University of Chicago. During his last year in Chicago, his outstanding academic ability was recognized by the conferring upon him of the Henry Milton Wolf Fellowship.

But one does not learn from books alone; before coming to the College, Dr. Thatcher had a many-faceted career. He gained a great deal of teaching experience as an instructor of English at a private boys' school and as an instructor of history at the University of Maryland. For three years, Dr. Thatcher traveled to colleges around the nation as a representative of the Henry Holt Publishing Company informing department chairmen of new books being placed on the market by Holt. During World War II, he was employed as an historian in the War Department's history program, and distinguished himself by becoming chief of the historical section in the office of the Quartermaster General.

Published Articles

His knowledge and exceptional writing ability have resulted in the publication of many of his articles in nation-wide periodicals. In addition to writing three monographs for Q.M.C. Historical Studies, Dr. Thatcher has had articles printed in Diplomatic America, American Political Science Review, Freedom and Union, and most recently, Worldview.

DR. HAROLD THATCHER

Dr. Thatcher concerns himself to a great extent with world affairs, as evidenced by his membership in such organizations as the Wyoming Valley United Nations Association, the Wyoming Valley Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, the Commission on Christian Social Relations, and the University Professors' Committee on Problems of War and Peace. With such notable accomplishments, there is little wonder that Dr. Thatcher has had biographical sketches printed in Who's Who in the East and the Directory of American Scholars.

In 1947 when Dr. Thatcher became head of the history department at the College, there were only three members in the department. During the Korean War, when all able men were drafted, the department was reduced to two men. Next year the addition of two new professors will swell the number of members to six. Asked to make a few comments on his retirement, Dr. Thatcher replied, "I will leave farewell addresses to such people as Dwight Eisenhower." As for the future, Dr. Thatcher gestured with his hand and said, "I have a stack of books this high that I would like to read." He would also like to fulfill a request from the editors of Nation magazine to submit a series of articles.

Students Profit

Those who have been students of Dr. Thatcher will admit that they have worked a little harder for his courses, but they have profited from his knowledge. Perhaps Dr. Thatcher seemed a bit too strict about the form of book reports. Those who became perturbed when they received their note cards back because of failure to place a comma after an introductory adverbial clause, did not realize that they were learning to become more precise and grammatically correct in their use of English. Students did not always agree with Dr. Thatcher's "editorial asides" on current events, but they were interesting and informative. His lectures were characterized by those periodical clippings which provided a welcome relief to the rushed note-taker. His humor, often dry, but always successful, was enjoyed as much by the teller as the audience. Their smiles were matched by the glint of amused satisfaction in his eye.

Dr. Thatcher leaves behind him a heritage of a "lecture style" which students have and will always look for and appreciate in a professor. But more than this, he can be justifiably proud that for eighteen years the presentation of his scholarship has moulded the proficient history majors for which the College has come to be known and respected.

Letters to the Editor

Candidates Play for Student Votes

Letter to the members of the Class of '67:

You are a talented, spirited group of individuals. You have contributed your services, both singly and collectively, for many of our class' successful events in the past two years. To mention a few, the Freshman Spring Weekend, the Sophomore Dinner Dance, the athletic victories of our teammates in '64 and '65, the Sophomore Hayride, the Day-Dorm Exchange Program, the Freshman Class Dance, and the hazing of the Class of '68.

How do I know these facts about our class? Why do I repeat them to you? First, it is my duty to know the facts as your Class Historian and as a reporter on the Beacon. Second, it is my pleasure to say them as a member of the class who has also participated in and attended these events.

If elected as your president, I pledge to fulfill the duties of such an honorable position with honesty, with my utmost energy, and with sincerity.

Remember, EXERCISE . . . your right to vote.

Sincerely,
Mary A. Quinn

Dear Editor:

We are again in the midst of campaign and election of officers of the class of 1968.

Since I have not had the chance to do so personally, I would like to take this opportunity to wish the best of luck to my opponents and all other candidates for offices.

I would like to see a large turnout for the elections on Friday. No matter who your favorite candidates are, please take a minute out of your day to cast your ballot. Support the class of '68. It is your class, and it can only be good to us if we are good to it.

Take your time and think about each of the officers and the candidates for them. Then cast your ballot for the one you believe to be the best for the job.

Sincerely,
Leigh Goodman

Dear Editor:

This is a letter of intent. I, Ralph Hendershot, wish to let you, the class of 1967, know that I will carry out my duties as president to the best of my ability if elected by you. I humbly beg all who have not voted as yet to go to the polls and cast your ballot.

Sincerely,
Ralph Hendershot

Dear Editor and fellow members of the Class of 1967:

Although my accomplishments and assets are too numerous to mention here, I pledge that if elected to the office of secretary I will attend every class meeting, keep my pen filled with ink, and write legibly.

Seriously — today is election day and I would appreciate your vote. If I should be elected, I will earnestly try to capably perform my duties as secretary.

No matter who you choose today though, please vote.

Sincerely,
Joyce Lennon

Dear Editor:

I want to thank the sophomore class for allowing me to serve as their vice-president for the past two years. I hope I have fulfilled your faith and confidence in me.

Today I am asking for your support in my campaign for the presidency of the class of '67. I feel that my two years as vice-president has well acquainted me with the goals of our class and will make me capable of serving as your president.

In any case, no matter how you vote, please try to get to the caf and vote in today's election.

Sincerely yours,

Wilkes College BEACON

Richards Exhibits Art in New York

The American Watercolor Society has recently chosen the personal work of J. Philip Richards, a member of the College art department, for exhibition in its 97th Annual Exhibition presently under way at the National Academy Galleries, New York City.

Mr. Richards is a graduate of the College of Fine Arts of Syracuse University, and has worked with many internationally renowned artists. He is a member of the American Watercolor Society, New York; the York Artists, York, Maine; the Ogunquit Art League, Barn Gallery, Ogunquit, Maine; and the Wyoming Valley Art League. He was recently chosen for listing in "Who's Who in Art In America," and is a newly elected member of the Torch Club, a national cultural society.

Mr. Richards works are included in many private and public collections throughout the United States and Canada.

C & C Presents 'You Never Can Tell'

by Steve Gavala

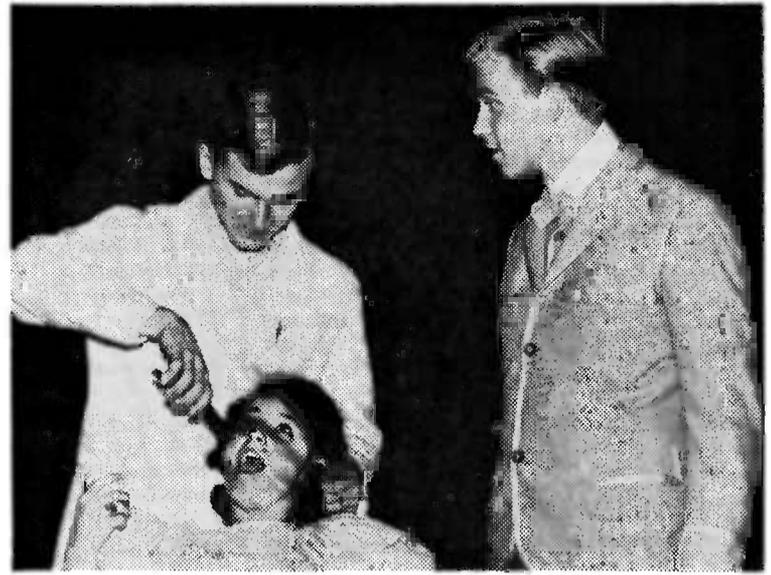

Under the directorship of Alfred S. Groh, the College's Cue 'n Curtain will present the George Bernard Shaw comedy, You Never Can Tell. Scheduled to be presented on April 30, May 1, 2, 3, the performances will begin at 8:15 p.m. in Chase Theatre.

Centering around the transformation of three individuals (Valentine, Crampton, and Gloria Clandon), the play takes place in an English sea-coast town at the turn of the century.

The play concerns the misadventures of a family returning to England after an eighteen-year, self-imposed exile in Madeira. The family is headed by a staunch matriarch, Mrs. Margaret Clandon (Pauline Homko), who is the epitome of the "modern" woman. Her eldest daughter, Gloria (Mary S. Russin), is noted for her high-mindedness and has been carefully educated to follow in her mother's footsteps by championing the same causes. The family is completed by the two younger children, Philip (Edward Lipinski) and Polly (Jean Kardos), who are perfect examples of promptitude itself.

Characters

Among the many characters who become involved in the action are: Mr. Valentine (Robert Smith), a thirty-year-old struggling dentist who falls in love with Gloria and spends most of the play in pursuit of her affections; the waiter (Sumner Hayward), a participant in the familial fun, is commentator on social mores; Mr. Bohian, an eminent lawyer with an overpowering manner, who has established his reputation by being right when others are wrong.

Mr. Fergus Crampton is a sixty-year-old aristocratic gentleman (Stephen J. Gavala) with an atrociously obstinate, ill-tempered disposition. Other characters are Mr. Finch M. Comas (Hermon George), the trusted family solicitor who is a staunch and settled individual; Susan Kempner portrays Mr.

Crampton's maid; and Brooke Evans is the waiter's assistant.

Fate, having some fun with these mortals, confronts the Clandons on their return to England with Mrs. Clandon's ex-husband, who was the main reason for their leaving England 18 years ago. The various reactions of these individuals when placed in this situation and their adaptations or lack of adaptation to this new environment provides a plot filled with sophisticated familial humor.

Kaslas Theorizes That some Tensions Result of Semantics

Thirty-two students attended the organizational meeting of International Relations Clubs recently. The club, under the sponsorship of Dr. Bronis Kaslas, has as its purpose studying international relations and issues and improving relations between countries through special projects.

Dr. Kaslas, opening the meeting with a few remarks, stated that many international tensions are merely a problem of semantics. He compared American foreign policy to Columbus. Columbus set out for Spain and didn't know where he was going; he landed in America and didn't know where he was; when he reached Spain, he didn't know where he had been. So, too, American foreign policy seems to be aimless, but like Columbus, our foreign policy has a vision, with the hopes that the result will be good. Dr. Kaslas then proceeded to read the club's constitution, which is a standard text issued by the National Association of International Relations Clubs.

The assemblage also appointed a nominating committee composed of Michael Konnick, Bob Zebrowski, Dennis Quigley, and Carroll Cobbs to select candidates who will run for the club's offices. The next meeting will be held on May 11.

ALUMNI SEMINAR FEATURES ISSUES & CONTROVERSY—1965

The theme of the Fourth Annual Alumni Seminar to be held Saturday, May 15, is "Issues and Controversy — 1965." The purpose of the Seminar is to provide alumni, students, and faculty of the College the opportunity to come together for the purpose of intellectual stimulation through the discussion and exchange of ideas on contemporary and provocative issues. The Seminar wishes to present the opportunity for continuing education: the rate of increase of our knowledge makes imperative a continuing concern for self-improvement.

The Seminar will begin Saturday morning with registration and coffee from 9 to 10 a.m. in the lobby of the research center of Stark Hall, adjacent to Chase Hall. At 10 a.m. there will be seminars discussing automation, population increase, and poverty and its implications. Lunch will be held in the Commons from noon to 1 p.m. The second seminars at 1:15 p.m. will concern American diplomacy in South East Asia, ethics, and morality. The last seminars will discuss voting, behavior control, and world order. All seminars will be held in Stark Hall; room numbers will be announced later.

IDC Dance Tonight Honors Hampton

IDC will sponsor a dance this evening in the gym at 9 p.m. in honor of the Hampton exchange students. Chairmen of the various committees are: Pam Eustis, decorations; Boyd Aebli, tickets; James Mason, refreshments; and Stephen Gavala, publicity. Mr. George Elliot, IDC advisor, will act as chaperone. The Comets will supply the music; admission is 50 cents.

Netmen Challenge Susquehanna U. In Return Match

Tomorrow the Colonels' tennis squad travels to Susquehanna for a return bout with the Crusaders, in an attempt to avenge an earlier loss this season.

Coach MacFarland is confident that Sheldon Lawrence, Joe Bent, and Paul Samuels will find themselves in the win column.

The netmen have been doing exceptionally well this season, considering the exodus from the squad after last season. Tom Rokita has performed exceptionally well thus far, and should go far in intercollegiate competition.

Colonel Golfers Host Stroudsburg At ITCC Today

The Wilkes golfers will be at home this afternoon for a match with East Stroudsburg at 2 p.m. The match will be a return bout after an encounter at Stroudsburg earlier this season in which Wilkes emerged the victor. On Thursday, May 6, the golfers challenge the Moravian team on the Greyhounds' home links.

Coach Welton Farrar has been having some difficulty in forming his young squad, but the team should begin to shape up. After the Moravian meet, the squad will participate in the Middle Atlantic Tournament at Delaware on May 10, returning home to finish the season with two home meets. The Colonels' home meets are held at the Irem Temple Country Club.

Schmidtmen Vie; Juniata To Host Wilkes Tomorrow

The Wilkes baseball squad heads to Huntingdon, Pennsylvania tomorrow to challenge a strong Juniata team at 2 p.m. The Indians have had good success so far this season, winning over Lebanon Valley, Lock Haven and Dickinson in their first three outings.

TENNIS TEAM COPS FIRST WIN BY NARROW MARGIN AT HOME

ALBRIGHT BOWS 5-4 AS ROKITA CONTINUES SKEIN

Coach Tom MacFarland's net squad copped their first victory of the young season by edging the Albright University team 5-4 on the Colonels' home courts recently. Wilkes won the first three singles matches and the first two doubles matches to bring its record to one win and two losses. The netmen had previously been beaten by Lycoming and Susquehanna by identical scores of 7-2.

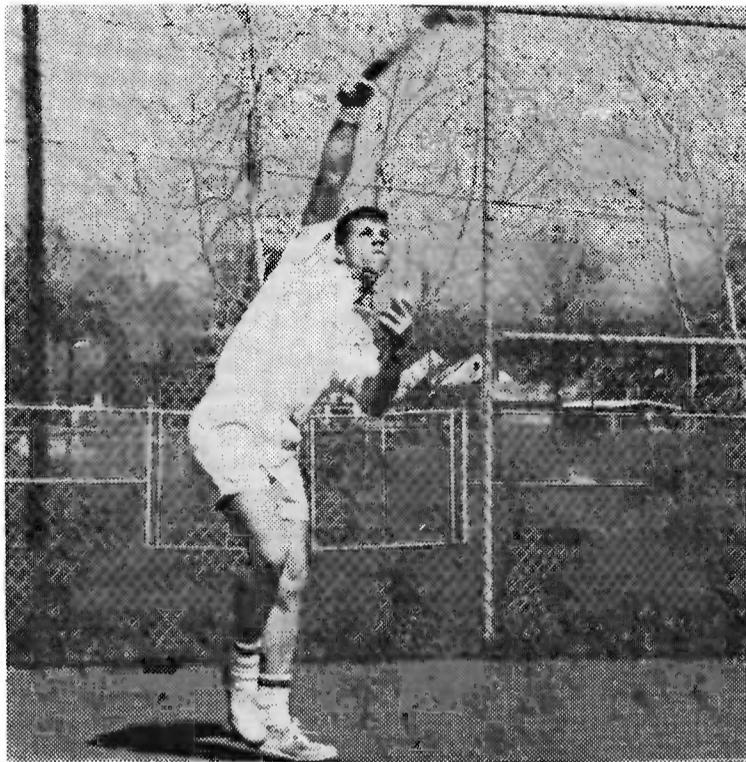

Dave Closterman, playing in the number one position, won his second singles match of the year, having little trouble in downing Robert Levin 6-3, 6-1.

Freshman standout, Tom Rokita, had some difficulty in the opening set, but rallied to defeat Albright's Gary Wasserman 10-8, 6-1. Rokita is undefeated this season.

Playing in the number three spot, co-captain Bill Douglas won his first singles match as he outplayed Victor Uymn 6-4, 7-5.

With the score tied at 3-3, the netmen won two of the three doubles matches to gain their first victory of the campaign, with Closterman and Rokita winning their first doubles match of the season, and Douglas and Dan Klem copping their second doubles win.

BASEBALL SQUAD WINS FIRST; DEFEAT LEBANON VALLEY 6-4

Juniata appears to have a respectable mound staff this season, but has been faced with the difficulty of getting their offensive attack on the road. The Indians are a late starting ball club hitting-wise.

Don Engle, the Indians' speedballer, and Bill Kaufman head the mound staff for Juniata. In the hitting department, Denny Albright, who got a pinch double against Lebanon Valley and three hits in the Dickinson encounter, and Ernie Mayer, who drove in two runs against Lock Haven and hit twice against Dickinson, seem to be the workhorses.

Last Saturday the Wilkes baseball team defeated Lebanon Valley College 6-4 on Lebanon Valley's home diamond. This was the Colonels' first win of the current season.

Ron Grohowski, first-baseman, tallied the Colonels' only 3 hits of the game. Wilkes, however, was able to capitalize on their opponent's errors to score 6 runs. The Wilkes diamond squad tallied 6 runs, 3 hits, and 4 errors, while Lebanon Valley collected 4 runs, 5 hits, and 3 errors.

Golfers Log Drops To 1-4 Following Susquehanna Loss

The Colonel golfers dropped their fourth of the season, bowing to Susquehanna at the Irem Temple links. Susquehanna is now 5-0 on the season, while the Wilkesmen have a 1-4 log.

Bill Perrego downed Susquehanna's Doug MacCuish 2½-½ in the number one spot for an impressive victory. Other winners for the Colonels were John Galinus and Bob Stover.

RACING CLASSIC AT CUMBERLAND ON MAY 14-15-16

Sports car enthusiasts, attention! The thirteenth annual Cumberland National Championship Sports Car Races will be held in Cumberland, Maryland on May 14, 15, 16, with over 50,000 sports car fans expected to converge on the area.

The event is held for charity and sponsored jointly by the Cumberland Lions Club and the Steel Cities Region of the Sports Car Club of America, Inc. of Pittsburgh. The profits are donated to the Cumberland Lions Foundation, Inc. for distribution to charity.

According to the press release, the Cumberland National has become a classic among the sports car set, and only Sebring and Daytona realize a larger entry of drivers. Over 300 drivers from 25 states, the District of Columbia, Canada, and Germany were entered last year. An even larger racing card appears to be in the making this year.

Many of the top notch drivers, including Roger Penske, have acclaimed the course as one of the roughest in the East. The race is held at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, on a 1.6 mile concrete-base track, with a 2,200 foot straight. There are seven turns, and the racers negotiate the course in clock-wise fashion.

To date, not one entrant has been hurt in the three day affair. However, there have been thrills a plenty. In addition to the race itself, festivities of the event include a dance sponsored by Allegany Community College, with music by The Admirals of Baltimore, Md. Prior to the dance and during the band's intermission, talent from east coast colleges will provide entertainment. There will be a nominal charge for admission to the dance, which will commence on May 15 at 9 p.m. Information regarding tickets may be had by writing:

"Y" Announces Sr. Life Saving, Judo for Women

Kenneth Young, physical director of the YMCA, has announced the opening of the final senior life saving course of the school year. The class is generally well received by Wilkes students as it provides an excellent source of summer employment.

The class will begin on Monday evening, May 3, at 7:30 p.m., and will be conducted by the YMCA aquatic department. For further information, contact Mr. Young at the Central YMCA.

The "Y" will also begin a 6-week judo class for women on Wednesday, May 5. Details for the 1½ hour classes may also be obtained from Mr. Young at the "Y."
