SG Begins Work On UF Drive
by Vicki Tatn

Student Government elected the members of the Court of Appeals for this year. Students on the Court are Ed Pastinski, Harry Rusin, and Bob Zebrowski. Stephen Rask is the faculty member; Dr. Francis Michelini is the administration member. All were elected by acclamation.

The idea of subsidizing clubs was discussed and informally approved by Student Government. If given a body of from Student Government, clubs could set up a better program, thereby supplementing their educational value. This program might increase membership in clubs and would insure that money be spent on club programs instead of social affairs. Administration approval must be obtained before the plan can go into effect.

The United Fund drive is under way with Joe Bellinger as chairman. Donors will receive their pledge cards through TOC. Pledge cards will be distributed among the day students through the executive council of each class. Each day student may pick up their pledge cards on the first floor of Chas Hall from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Funds raised from the sale of smoking permitted to freshmen will also go to the United Fund.

Plans are proceeding for Homecoming. The queen and princesses will ride in the game in new convertibles, the cheerleaders in antique cars. Students are urged to join the car caravan. The alumni committee will award a prize for the best-decorated car, and there will be a Colonel for the game. Elections for Homecoming queen candidates were held yesterday at class meetings.

Approximately 975 people attended the Four Freshmen Concert last Saturday, November 30. Approximately $4000 was contributed to Student Government. According to John Carvall, Harry Wilson, and Al Saldurn, the director of the band for the concert will be paid $5 each.

William Webb attended the Five College Council meeting last week. Each member college will grant $10 to the Council, with the money remaining at the end of the year to be redistributed. A permanent delegate to the Council will be appointed soon. Clubs who sponsor dances will be asked to admit the Student Government representative.

Reps. regulations will be enforced. After the recent election, Phil Dahlmann said, “Any college that votes in future elections be required to present their activities cards to prevent using someone else’s name.”

The Young Democrats were granted $60 to attend a conference in New York.

Skits-phantia Hits Fresh

Steve Groll and Helen Dugan

In the decorous, formal atmosphere of the gymnasium, a therian extravaganza was presented on Thursday, September 30 — Skit Night. As the first skit was to be presented, a hush fell over the audience as they anxiously anticipated the entertainment that they were about to witness. Sadly, however, this silence, barring few exceptions, never seemed to leave the audience.

Variety was the element of the night, for the skits appealed to all areas of interest. For those inclined to the realm of fantasy there were the Grimms’ Fairy Tales of “Cinderella” and “Snow White.” “Rumpelstiltskin” was let down by her haired by the girls of Sloum Hall.

The members of the audience were geographically oriented by Susquehanna University student, “Rugby.” The skit, enlightened by “Peacly,” O’Connor, aired the scandal of the College.

Although many hours of work were put in by eager freshmen, it was unfortunately that their final presentations were of a lower quality than was expected or had been presented in previous years. Their effort is appreciated but their product was uneven.

Through the audience persisted in their cries of “Beat, Beat,” “Boo,” and “Give them the Hook,” the players still blundered forth. For the TV addict there was Weckesser Hall’s Place tracing the latest trials and tribulations of the College.

The prize-winning Y.M.C.A presented its version of James Bond and consort to the enjoyment of all. Denison’s prize-fighting skit unfortunately flopped because of audio deficiency.

Several groups should be quite happy over the night’s presentations for the publicity alone. Gillette should be happy to know that James Bond uses Right Guard; Sanitary Laundry Service should not only be grateful for the extra day service, but also thrilled with the number of new ways to utilize its laundry service — as loin cloths, fashionable dresses, etc.

The trophies were presented to the Y.M.C.A., and to Hollenback Hall for its reminiscent song of the gifts left to the dorm by former male residents.

Although many hours of work were put in by eager freshmen, it was unfortunately that their final presentations were of a lower quality than was expected or had been presented in previous years. Their effort is appreciated but their product was uneven.

Greatest love hath man than to lay down his life for his f’rous.

Chief: John Rucelle, Bill Webb, Joe Gatto were selected by classes in the recent elections.

Young Dems
To Assist Candidates

The Wilkes College Young Democrats will soon embark on a full round of political activities. In the coming municipal and county elections, the group will campaign actively on behalf of Democratic candidates, staffing the local Democratic headquarters, and distributing campaign literature.

The activities of the Young Dems will not stop after the ballots are counted. Besides their role as a veritable arm of the Democratic party, they also have an educational function. Through panels, discussions, and debates, the Y.D’s will apply the principles of the Democratic party to contemporary issues.

The Young Democrats are chartered member of the College Young Democrats, which is affiliated with the National Young Democratic Federation. The national conventions of both the College Young Democrats and the National Young Democratic Federation will be held simultaneously in October. The Wilkes group will mail several students to the convention being held in New York City.

The Young Democrats will soon be chartered with the State College Young Democrats’ organization and will attend the state convention of that organization next semester.

The officers of the Wilkes Young Democrats are Joe Gatto, President; Vernie Shiposh, secretary; and Howard Sipko, treasurer.

Fill Class Vacancies

On Friday, October 1, the campaigns for the vacant sophomore and senior class offices were culminated. Voting was held in the cafeteria for both the sophomore and senior class Student Government representatives, and the sophomore class president.

The Student Government vacancy in the junior class has been filled by Bill Webb, a first-year education major planning to teach biology and chemistry. About his new position, Webb said, “The class elected me Student Government representative and then again didn’t and then again I guess they did. I’m relieved. I would like to express my appreciation to all who contributed to any eventual election.”

Concerning his recent victory in being elected sophomore class president, Jay Ruckel stated, “I feel obligated because of the responsibility placed on my shoulders. I appreciate the effort put forth last year by the class of 1968 and feel that its energy can be compared to that of a wild stallion — endless, inexhaustible. I plan to mount this steed, take a firm grip on the reins, let him have his head and wander in whichever direction he may wish to go.” Ruckel is a resident of the Y.M.C.A. while attending the College.

Joe Gatto was elected sophomore Student Government representative. He is a biology major and is also residing in the Y.M.C.A.

"The Price Is Right"

The Price Is Right is known by now at the College that our football team is finally winning some games. We offer our congratulations to the players and the coaches and wish them more of the same in the remaining games.

The team's achievement at last year, so we're told, was the result of dissatisfaction beneath the general tide of optimism and good will that has been brought about by the team's victories. The essence of the complaints seems to be this: The team is finally winning some games, probably because we have better football players. We have better players because we have been offering athletic scholarships to prospective students. To get the money for these scholarships, we must call on more prospective students' financial aid. Here lies the problem — are we really offering scholarships to athletes and are we really depriving other needy students?

The committee, after a careful study, has determined this year's admission policy which it has held to be rigid for years; this policy is that no student shall be considered for financial aid until he has been accepted for admission, and acceptance is based upon the applicant's former academic record. All financial aid is granted according to the individual student's needs, so that full athletic scholarship is nonexistent, at least at the College.

Mr. Arthur Hoover, Director of Financial Aid, has described the new policy: "It's a continuation of our regular policy based on need, but for the first time we have attempted to recruit and encourage the academically qualified student athlete to consider Wilkes. We have decided to participate actively in the intercollegiate sports program." He added that this recruiting has not been confined to prospective athletes, but has included prospective artists, musicians, physics majors, and even economists from time to time.

Is anyone being deprived of his fair share of financial aid? Mr. Hoover stated emphatically, "No. We look for ability in scholarship connection with this program." So this complaint is invalid.

We endorse this policy as stated by Mr. Hoover, and be assured that results in other areas prove as fruitful as those achieved by the football team.

United, We Fund

With the approach of another United Fund Drive on campus we wonder if this year's goal, a failure in a failing movement, may have in the past. Failure has been blamed on poor organization, overly enthusiastic aims, etc. To insure that the students' quota be reached, the efficient and effective dissemination of the message must be insured. Thus a specified amount could be included in student tuition at the beginning of the school year and, voilà! We would have a ready-made contribution to the United Fund from the College's student body.

These excuses and panaceas, however, are not about to solve the underlying problem. When the result, it is assumed that he does not develop his intellectual capacities alone. It is also expected that the student complete the development of his character, which character implies self-discipline, independence, integrity, and responsibility. Ah! Responsibility, now there's the rub. Responsibility to whom? Responsibility to one's very family — to one's college — and most important, responsibility to one's fellow man. Perhaps it is true that the students of Wilkes begin accepting this particular job, that they may fully realize the purposes of a college education.

Student Recommendations Discussion On Hazing

Recently many upperclassmen complained of the gross "lack of spirit" displayed by the current junior-senior class. The following is a discussion of this matter.

Cavallini, the junior-senior class president, expressed the opinion that the class in its endeavor to please was bound in total if there was such a decline, and that the class was indeed doing much worse than others, considering the circumstances involved.

Cavallini referred to certain factors in clarification of this point. Noting that the College is largely a commuter college, he stated that day-hofp frosh could much more easily escape detection than frosh from the dorms — hence the abundance of freshmen without dinks, etc. Also, as expressed in the previous issue, much of the lack of cooperation on the part of some freshmen was due to the fact that these students could be effectively controlled through reports of their activities to the Student Government. As a result of this situation, many parents have observed the administration with interest and have not been impeded by the lack of cooperation which would have called off hazing completely, had it not been a Student Government activity.

According to Cavallini, the disruption of the organized plans also contributed to the tragic nature of this whole affair. The "cancelled" first tribunal and its subsequent im- prompts rescheduled caused many freshmen to lose faith in freshman activities and procedure. This policy was em- phasized by the lack of dink wearing from the time of the first tribunal on and also by the sparse attendance at the second tribunal.

Because the schedule did not allow any other occasion, the tribunals for the freshman class to convene as a group, those who worked on tribunals failed to acquire as first-hand knowledge much important information, some of which became distorted in the retelling. This emphasizes the need for a constructive change in freshman policy. The problem remains to be handled in accordance with honored traditions.

During the ensuing school year, representatives of the various classes will meet to discuss this problem. Therefore it is important that the members of the student body express their opinions on the matter.

Some recommendations which have been offered are: more effective dissemination of information about hazing practices to incoming freshmen; a briefier period for hazing; more reason- able upperclassmen.

Whether students agree or disagree with these recommenda- tions, or can offer something better, remains to be seen. With the student lies the responsibility to express his opinion and aid the freshman program.

Twaddle?

Dear Editor:

Oooh! How that nomenclature stimulates me! But, dearies, for cookies' sake, may I address you as one and all, for ever and ever to discover clever, feasible solutions to the effective curbing of this intelle- tual haven, for no greater love hath one than to accept the opinion of another or otherwise. Let us flee the affec- tive confines of this rudimentary college and let us extrin- titize the proposed twaddle until we perceive a cogent re- sponse from the powers that be and sweetest, propose to dismantle a fragment of the rive bed and pave the river bed for a bolt and an emissary! Should we conjecture that the administration commission the construction of a seventen- story parking garage on the Geis lot? Should we ascertain the feasibility of changing a shaft to the nearest mine for parking facilities for pontooned automobiles? Oooh! These abominable enigmas which engulf us in asinine twaddle! We must seriously disgorge us into abject mis- ery and perpetual conflict. Let us leave this present paper- work and its insatiable hunger for theories to the inhabitants of earth, and let noither Messerschmidt and the park-iners. Let them plunge to the depths of indecison or ad- dore to the pseudo-gratification of the dictates of fruitless de- cision (for who ever has status quo anyway). Let us be united in spirit, but divided in opinion, for conformity is out-of-vogue, the minute the lip! For he who renders help, my Fig., to some remote asylum and let us analyze our lives away.

Workshops in acting and three-act arts (lighting, sets, makeup, etc.) are being planned and will be given periodically during the year. These workshops will enable inexperienced students to acquire skill in all areas which contribute to complete theatrical knowledge. They will be conducted by theatre members with specific abilities that lend themselves to some aspect of the theatre. These workshops are the groundwork for future college accreditation in theatre participation.

Are You More Than Just Another Number?

By Stephen J. Gevala

Cur and Curtain has made many plans for the coming year, and due to the construction of the Pine Arts Theatre, many new areas of endeavor are now open to its members. In addition to continuing the production of their own plays, the members will be involved in all programs presented in the theatre during the year. They will be completely responsible for all backstage technical work, lighting, staging, and sets for all productions.

Under the direction of Al Groh, and with members of the executive council acting as general chairman of the major committees, the students will be involved in every aspect of production. These chairman are Al Groh, staging; Stephen Gevala, house and program; Joanne Margolis, costumes and make-up; Margaret Klein, props and workshops; Bob Salisbury, sets; and Beverly Hanko Wisnioski, publicity.

Immediate undertakings include several major theatre tours conducted by members of the Executive Council for local clubs and organizations; the dedication ceremony on October 25; and the Wilkes-Barre Ballet production, with guest artists, scheduled for October 31. Casting is now under way for an Edward Albee play, "The Death of Beatrice Smith," which will be presented on Friday, November 5, for the enjoyment of the Alumni.

Luncheon, Game, Dean's List Announced For Spring Semester

The Third Annual Parents' Day, originally instituted by Arthur Hoover, was held at the College last Saturday. A committee of students, headed by co-chairmen Claire Line and Robert Weston and assisted by Gordon E. Roberts, planned the program.

Registration was held at the Commons Saturday morning, at which time coffee and doughnuts were served. The Lettermen and members of T.D.R. conducted tours for interested parents. "Academic Studies at Wilkes" was the topic of informal seminars given by Dean George Ralston and Dr. Francis Micheline.

Dr. Eugene Facely spoke at a noon luncheon held in the gym. Steve Van Dyk acted as master of ceremonies. The door prizes awarded at the luncheon were donated by the Dana Corporation.

The College played host to a full schedule of athletic events. Although they put up a good fight, the soccer team was upset by Lafayette 4-3 in a morning game. Our football team, however, defeated Marryland 16-7 in a fast-moving afternoon game. A tug-of-war between the freshmen and upperclassmen of the upperclassmen emerging victorious, highlighted the half-time activities.

The Four Freshmen entertained at a concert held at the gym in the evening.

Nine students achieved perfect average during the Spring semester. They are: mathematics majors, John C. Pelman, Leon J. Potenkoski, and Joanne T. Shultock; chemistry majors, Kenneth V. Layhun, Carl V. Pollock, and Faith E. Sabol; psychology majors, Larry D. Rhiand, and Jay C. A. Watson; and Drama and Dance, Smith, H. and Robert M. Pianta, respectively.

Stiff Defense Repels Tough Greyhounds

by Walter Narcum

The combination of Rich Roshong’s running and passing plus a stout defense brought the Wilkes Colonels a 14-7 victory over the Greyhounds of Moravian last Saturday before a large Parents Day crowd. The win was just the second for Wilkes over the perennially tough Moravian squad in the past fifteen years.

The Colonels displayed an especially strong defensive game in forcing the Greyhounds to 27 net yards gained in rushing. Al Yatko, a former Colonel, returned the ball nine unassisted first hits. The hard hitting defense allowed Moravian only one scoring break in the entire game.

The only lapse in the Colonel defense came in the opening minutes of the second half. Ralph Eltringham, the Greyhounds quarterback, fumbled the kickoff on his own 6-yard line but recovered and raced 94 yards for Moravian’s only touchdown. Brian Pary added the extra point.

The Colonel offense seemed doomed to be stalled on or inside the Moravian 10-yard stripe. In the first quarter, with the ball on the Moravian five, the Colonels failed to make the needed yard and a half for a first down and the ball went over to Moravian. Midway into the second quarter, Wilkes took over the Moravian line. Rich Roshong completed two passes to Connolly and Purtia for a total of 30 yards. Reduced to field goal position, Pary kicked the ball down to the Moravian 2-yard stripe from where Ray Lowery slanted off tackle for the Colonels’ first score. Paul Purtia added the extra point.

In the third quarter, with the score tied 7-7, Wilkes took over on their own 35-yard line. The Colonels then proceeded to march 64 yards to Moravian’s 1-yard stripe. After a holding penalty put them back to the 16. The Colonels scored on a 12-yard run by Dave Purta. Williams’ attempted field goal from the 20-yard line put them back at the 16. The Colonels’ defense held and forced the Greyhounds to punt.

Wilkes took over on the Moravian 48-yard stripe and from there marched down to the finishing line. A fake field goal attempt was stopped on the Moravian ten. With all the breaks going against Wilkes, it seemed that the Colonels would never get one of their own, but the hard hitting defense forced a Moravian back to humble and Wilkes recovered on the Greyhounds’ 21. In three plays, the Colonels moved the ball to the 1-yard line. In a do or die attempt, Paul Purtia plunged the ball and plunged over for the winning touchdown. Purtia again added the extra point.

Last week’s victory puts the Colonels’ log at 2-0.

Athlete of the Week
Leads Colonels’ Defensive Efforts

by George Pawlush

This week the Beacon has chosen Al Yatko as the Athlete of the Week. Yatko is a 6’2”, 195 lb. linebacker hailing from Wilkes-Barre. A junior accounting major, he is a welcome addition to the Colonel line, transferring from Temple, where he played on the freshman team. After setting out his year of ineligibility, he has become captain and mainstay of the Wilkes defense.

Coach Rolf-Schmidt maintains that Yatko is the finest linebacker in the M.A.C. Few that have seen the first two Colonel games, will doubt him.

Ferrismen Bow to Upsala

by Bill Bush

The Wilkes booters suffered their second defeat of the season by bowing to the Vikings of Upsala College, 6-3, in last Saturday’s Parents’ Day contest. Although the score was in favor of the opponents, the Colonels outplayed the Vikings at every turn. The Wilkes offense was sparked by Rich Beck who scored all three of the Colonels’ goals.

Upsala was the first to draw blood in the opening minutes of play. The Vikings scored again in the second quarter to take a 2-0 lead. Wilkes stormed back in the closing minutes of the second quarter to even the score, 2-2, when Rich Beck scored two quick goals.

With only four minutes gone in the third quarter, the Colonels took the lead when Beck scored again. The Vikings, however, had a strong second half and were able to score in both periods despite the outstanding play of the Wilkes defense.

Last Tuesday the Colonels scrimmaged with Keystone Junior College in preparation for their match with Madison-FDU tomorrow. Game time is 2 p.m. at Madison.

Intramural Rosters

Students interested in participating in intramural touch football are reminded today is the final day to turn in team rosters and captains to Mr. Reeve or Mr. Rainey. Competition will begin on Monday. As in the past, the teams will be divided into the Dorm and Independent Leagues.

Any students interested in acting as officials for the games are also asked to contact Mr. Reeve.
