

SG Begins Work On UF Drive

by Vicki Tatz

Student Government elected the members of the Court of Appeals for this year. Students on the Court are Ed Pashinski, Harry Russin, and Bob Zebrowski. Stephen Rasi is the faculty member; Dr. Francis Michelini is the administration member. All were elected by acclamation.

The idea of subsidizing clubs was discussed and informally approved by Student Government. If given a budget from Student Government, clubs could set up a better program, thereby supplementing their educational value. This program might increase membership in clubs and would insure that money be spent on club programs instead of social affairs. Administration approval must be obtained before the plan can go into effect.

The United Fund drive is under way with Joe Brillinger as chairman. Dorm students will receive their pledge cards through IDC. Pledge cards will be distributed among the day students through the executive council of each class. Freshman day students may pick up their pledge cards on the first floor of Chase Hall from 9 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m. Funds raised from the sale of smoking permits to freshmen will also go to the United Fund.

Plans are proceeding for Homecoming. The queen and princesses will ride to the game in new convertibles, the cheerleaders in antique cars. Students are urged to join the car caravan. The alumni committee will award a prize for the best-decorated car, and there will be a Colonel for the game. Elections for Homecoming queen candidates were held yesterday at class meetings.

Approximately 975 people attended the Four Freshmen Concert last Saturday night. Student Government lost about $800 on the concert. John Cavallini, Harry Wilson, and Al Saidman will investigate the possibility of holding another concert this year. The five people who worked with the lights for the concert will be paid $5 each.

William Webb attended the Five-College Council meeting last week. Each member college will grant $10 to the Council, with the money remaining at the end of the year to be redistributed. A permanent delegate to the Council will be appointed soon.

Clubs who sponsor dances will be asked to admit the Student Government chaperone free of charge. Dress regulations will be enforced.

After the recent election, Phil Cheifetz, elections chairman, suggested that voters in future elections be required to present their activities cards to prevent using someone else's name.

The Young Democrats were granted $60 to attend a conference in New York City.

Budget Group To Consider Club Finances

by Vicki Tatz

The Student Government budget committee would like one representative from each of the following organizations to meet with them this Sunday afternoon, October 10, at the time designated to review its budget request for the 1965-66 school year. The meeting will be held upstairs in the cafeteria at the following times:

- 2:00 Annicola
- 2:20 Beacon
- 2:40 Collegians
- 3:00 Inter-Dormitory Council
- 3:20 Manuscript
- 3:40 Women's Chorus
- 4:00 Cue and Curtain
- 4:20 Debating Society

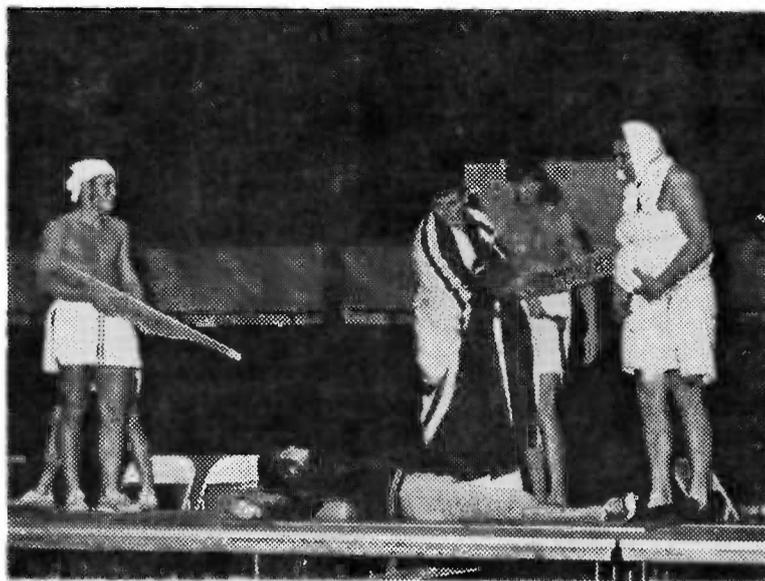

Skits-ophrenia Hits Frosh

Steve Gavala and Helen Dugan

In the decorous, spacious atmosphere of the gymnasium, a thespian extravaganza was presented on Thursday, September 30 — Skit Night. As the first skit was to be presented, a hush fell over the audience as they anxiously anticipated the entertainment that they were about to witness. Sadly, however, this silence, barring few exceptions, never seemed to leave the audience.

Variety was the element of the night, for the skits appealed to all areas of interest. For those inclined to the realm of fantasy there were the Grimms' Fairy Tales of "Cinder-umbrella" and "Snow Blue." "Repulsive Rapunzel" let down her hair aided by the girls of Slocum Hall.

The members of the audience were geographically orientated by Susquehannock Hall with a tour of the points of greatest interest in the Wilkes-Barre area. Sterling Hall's skit, enlightened by "Peachy" O'Connor, aired the scandal of the College.

"Greater love hath no man than to lay down his life for his dorm."

Though the audience persisted in their cries of "Beast, Beast," "Boo," and "Give them the Hook," the players still bounded forth. For the TV addict there was Weckesser Place tracing the latest trials and tribulations of the College.

The prize-winning Y.M.C.A. presented its version of James Bond and consort to the enjoyment of all. Dennison's prize-fighting skit unfortunately flopped because of audio deficiency.

Several groups should be quite happy over the night's presentations for the publicity alone. Gillette should be happy to know that James Bond uses Right Guard; Sanitary Laundry Service should not only be grateful for all the free publicity, but also for the number of new ways to utilize its laundry service — as loin cloths, fashionable dresses, etc.

The trophies were presented to the Y.M.C.A., and to Hollenback Hall for its reminiscent song of the gifts left to the dorm by former male residents.

Although many hours of work were put in by eager frosh, it was unfortunate that their final presentations were of a lower quality material than was expected or had been presented in previous years. Their effort is appreciated but their product was meager.

OFFICERS Jay Ruckel, Bill Webb, Joe Gatto were selected by classes in the recent elections.

Republicans Plan Election Activities

In order to provide college students with an opportunity to acquire practical political experience, the Republican Party of Pennsylvania has organized a Young Republican College Council.

The College Young Republicans became a chartered member of the Council last year when much of its activity centered on both the national and local campaigns of last year's elections. They were particularly active in the campaign of the Republican, candidate for the Pennsylvania General Assembly from the Sixth Legislative District.

The Young Republicans expect to engage in an even fuller program of political activity this year. They will play important roles in coming municipal elections-campaigning, staffing headquarters, mailings, etc. The local unit will also attend Luzerne County Young Republican meetings and participate with other college clubs, visit with local and state officials, and attend various College Council convocations held during the school year. In May, the group from the College will attend the annual state convention, which is held in Harrisburg.

Any student, regardless of political persuasion, may join the Young Republicans. Freshmen are especially welcome to join in the club's activities. Notice of future meetings will be posted on major bulletin boards. The present officers of the club are: Paul Bachman, chairman; Charles Petrillo, vice-chairman; William Webb, treasurer; and Joan Sipko, secretary.

Classes Ride Hay Tonight

This evening, the Junior-Sophomore class hayride will be held at El Pocono Dude Ranch. Tickets for the hayride are $2.50 per couple. Food and refreshments will be provided.

The hayride is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. Plans have been made for a car caravan to El Pocono. Students interested in joining the caravan are requested to be present at Parrish Hall at 7 p.m.

Webb, Ruckel, Gatto Fill Class Vacancies

On Friday, October 1, the campaigns for the vacant sophomore and senior class offices were culminated. Voting was held in the cafeteria for both the senior and sophomore Student Government representatives, and for sophomore class president.

The Student Government vacancy in the senior class has been filled by Bill Webb of Bear Creek, a senior education major planning to teach biology. About his new position, Webb said, "The class elected me Student Government representative and then again they didn't and then again I guess they did. I'm relieved. I would like to express my appreciation to all who contributed to my eventual election."

Young Dems To Assist Candidates

The Wilkes College Young Democrats will soon embark on a full round of political activities. In the coming municipal and county elections the group will campaign actively on behalf of Democratic candidates, staffing the local Democratic headquarters, and distributing campaign literature.

The activities of the Young Democrats will not stop after the ballots are counted. Besides their role as a serviceable arm of the Democratic party, they also have an educational function. Through panels, discussions, and debates, the YD's will apply the principles of the Democratic party to contemporary issues.

The Young Democrats are a chartered member of the College Young Democrats, which is affiliated with the National Young Democratic Federation. The national conventions of both the College Young Democrats and the National Young Democratic Federation will be held simultaneously in October. The Wilkes group will send several students to the conventions being held in New York City.

The Young Democrats will soon be chartered with the State College Young Democrats' organization and will attend the state convention of that organization next semester.

The officers of the Wilkes Young Democrats are: Andrea Gallet, chairman; Vernie Shiposh, secretary; and Howard Iander, treasurer.

Concerning his recent victory in being elected sophomore class president, Jay Ruckel stated, "I feel obligated because of the responsibility placed on my shoulders. I appreciate the effort put forth last year by the class of 1968 and feel that its energy can be compared to that of a wild stallion — endless, inexhaustible. I plan to mount this steed, take a firm grip on the reins, let him have his head and run in whichever direction he may wish to go." Ruckel is a resident of the Y.M.C.A. while attending the College.

Joe Gatto was elected sophomore Student Government representative. He is a biology major and is also residing at the Y.M.C.A.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!

by Dr. Philip Rizzo

The MANUSCRIPT wishes to announce meetings in Conyngham 209 every other Tuesday at 11 a.m. There will be a meeting on October 12. Some material has already been submitted and will be considered for publication. Everyone is welcome. Anyone may offer criticism. Praise always helps. So does honesty. The first meeting in September was attended by a host of bright and interesting persons. May they appear again, and again, and again.

The next film will be shown in Stark 116 on Saturday evening, October 16. Two showings, at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Expected film, DAVID AND LISA.

The Price Is Right

It is common knowledge by now at the College that our football team has won its first two games of the season. We offer our congratulations to the players and the coaches and wish them more of the same in the remaining games.

There has been, however, an undercurrent of dissatisfaction beneath the general tide of optimism and good will that has been brought about by the team's victories. The essence of the complaints seems to be this: The team is finally winning some games, probably because we have better football players. We have better players because we have been offering athletic scholarships to prospective students. To get the money for these scholarships, we must cut down on other students' financial aid. Here lies the problem — are we really offering scholarships to athletes and are we really depriving other needy students?

The answer is an emphatic NO. The College has continued this year the admission policy which it has held to rigidly for years; this policy is that no student shall be considered for financial aid until he has been accepted for admission, and acceptance is based upon the applicant's former academic record. All financial aid is granted according to the individual student's needs; the "full athletic scholarship" is non-existent, at least at the College.

Mr. Arthur Hoover, Director of Financial Aid, has described the only change: "It's a continuation of our regular policy based on need, but for the first time we have attempted to recruit and encourage the academically qualified student athlete to consider Wilkes as a choice of college and to participate actively in the intercollegiate sports program." He added that this recruiting has not been confined to prospective athletes, but has included prospective artists, musicians, physics majors, and so on down the line.

Is anyone being deprived of his fair share of financial aid? Mr. Hoover stated emphatically, "No one took a cut in scholarship in connection with this program." So this complaint is invalid.

We endorse this policy as stated above by Mr. Hoover, and we hope that results in other areas prove as fruitful as those achieved by the football team.

United, We Fund

With the approach of another United Fund Drive on campus we wonder if this year's campaign will result in a failure to meet its goal as so many have in the past. Failure has been blamed on poor organization, overly enthusiastic aims, etc. To insure that the students' quota be reached, more efficient methods of collection have been suggested. Thus a specified amount could be included in student tuition at the beginning of the school year and, voila! We would have a ready-made contribution to the United Fund from the College's student body.

These excuses and panaceas, however, are not about to solve the underlying problem. When one enters college, it is assumed that he does not develop his intellectual capacities alone. It is also expected that the student complete the development of his character; and character implies self-discipline, independence, integrity, and responsibility. Ah! Responsibility, now there's the rub. Responsibility to whom? Responsibility to one's teachers, to one's family, to one's community, yes; but most important, responsibility to one's fellow man. Perhaps it is time that the students of Wilkes begin accepting this particular kind of responsibility so that they may fully realize the purposes of a college education.

Student Recommends Discussion On Hazing

Recently many upperclassmen complained of the gross "lack of spirit" displayed by the current freshman class in regard to the hazing program. Was there a depreciation in spirit? John Cavallini, Student Government president, expressed the opinion that the class in itself cannot be blamed totally if there was such a decline, and that the class was indeed not much worse than others, considering the circumstances involved.

Cavallini referred to certain factors in clarification of this point. Noting that the College is largely a commuter college, he stated that day-hop frosh could much more easily escape detection than frosh from the dorms — hence the abundance of freshmen without dinks, etc. Also, as expressed in the previous issue, much of the lack of enthusiasm for the cherished tradition resulted from the extremes on the part of a few upperclassmen, and the coinciding ignorance on the part of the freshmen to the fact that these students could be effectively controlled through reports of their activities to the Student Government.

As a result of this particular situation, many parents besieged the administration with irate telephone calls. The deans would have called off hazing completely, had it not been a Student Government activity.

According to Cavallini, the disruption of the organized plans also contributed to the tragic nature of this whole affair. The "cancelled" first tribunal and its subsequent impromptu rescheduling caused many freshmen to lose faith in freshman activities and procedures. This fact was exemplified by the lack of dink-wearing frosh from the time of the first tribunal on and also by the sparse attendance at the second tribunal.

Because the schedule did not allow any occasion, other than the tribunals, for the freshman class to convene as a group, those who missed the tribunals failed to acquire as first-hand knowledge much important information, some of which became distorted in the retelling. This emphatically reveals the need for a constructive change in freshman hazing that will remain in accordance with honored traditions.

During the ensuing school year, representatives of the various classes will meet to discuss this problem. Therefore it is important that the members of the student body express their opinions on the matter. Those who favor the continuance of freshman hazing will only aid the opposition by their inaction.

Some recommendations which have been offered are: more effective dissemination of information about hazing practices to incoming freshmen; a briefer period for hazing; more effective curbing of unreasonable upperclassmen.

Whether students agree or disagree with these recommendations, or can offer something better, remains to be seen. With the student lies the responsibility to effectively express his opinion and aid the freshman program.

Twaddle?

Dear Editor:

Honey Newton . . . Honey Newton! . . . Honey Newton! . . . Ooooh! How that nomenclature stimulates me! But, dearest, for cookies' sake, may I address you as Fig? Let us endeavor for ever and ever to discover clever, feasible solutions to the perplexing enigmas in this intellectual haven, for no greater love hath one than to apportion his enigmas, concomitant or otherwise. Let us flee the afflictive confines of this rudimentary society and scrupulously scrutinize the proposed twaddle until we perceive a cogent repartee. Should we, dearest and sweetest, propose to dismantle a fragment of the river dike and pave the river bed for utilization during low water? Should we conjecture that the administration commission the construction of a seventeen-story parking garage on the Geis lot? Should we ascertain the feasibility of lowering a shaft to the nearest mine for parking facilities for pontooned automobiles?

Ooooh! These abominable enigmas which engulf us in asinine controversy, they merely disgorge us into abject misery and perpetual conflict. Let us leave this present predicament and its insatiable hunger for theories to the inhabitants of this haven or to Martin Luther Messerschmidt and the park-iners. Let them plunge to the depths of indecision or adhere to the pseudo-gratification of the dictates of fruitless decision (for who enjoys status quo anyhow). Let us be united in spirit, but divided in opinion, for conformity is out-of-vogue.

Let us whisk away, Honey, my Fig, to some remote asylum and let us analyze our lives away.

Thespians Expect Stimulating Year

by Stephen J. Gavala

Cue and Curtain has made many plans for the coming year, and due to the construction of the Fine Arts Theatre, many new areas of endeavor are now open to its members. In addition to continuing the production of their own plays, the members will be involved in all programs presented in the theatre during the year. They will be completely responsible for all backstage technical work, lighting, staging, and sets for all presentations.

Under the direction of Al Groh, and with members of the executive council acting as general chairmen of the major committees, the students will be involved in every aspect of production. These chairmen are Al Groh, staging; Stephen Gavala, house and program; Joanne Margolis, costumes and make-up; Margaret Klein, props and workshops; Bob Salsburg, sets; and Beverly Hanko Wisloski, publicity.

Immediate undertakings include several theatre tours conducted by members of the Executive Council for local clubs and organizations; the dedication ceremony on October 25; and the Wilkes-Barre Ballet production, with guest artists, scheduled for October 31. Casting is now under way for an Edward Albee play, "The Death of Bessie Smith," which will be presented on Friday, November 5, for the enjoyment of the Alumni.

Future plans include a series of three one-act plays to be presented in early December, and the tentative scheduling of two complete three-act plays for the spring semester.

Workshops in acting and theatre arts (lighting, sets, make-up, etc.) are being planned and will be given periodically during the year. These workshops will enable inexperienced students to acquire skill in all areas which contribute to complete theatrical knowledge. They will be conducted by theatre members with specific abilities that lend themselves to some aspect of the theatre. These workshops are the groundwork for future college accreditation in theatre participation.

Dance Tomorrow

The first main project and yearly obligation of the freshman class, the United Fund dance, will be held in the gym tomorrow, October 9, from 9 to 12 p.m. Students properly attired will be admitted to the gym where they may dance to the music of the Carlises. Admission is 75 cents. The entire proceeds of the dance will be donated to the United Fund.

Bill Webb, general chairman, announced the following committees: Gerri Crossen, Ken Davies, Jean Marie Chepasko, John Reptsas, refreshments; Cindy Lewis, Linda Piccott, Virginia Hahn, tickets.

Luncheon, Game, Concert Highlight For Spring Semester

Day for Parents

The Third Annual Parents' Day, originally instituted by Arthur Hoover, was held at the College last Saturday. A committee of students, headed by co-chairmen Clark Line and Robert Weston and assisted by Gordon E. Roberts, planned the program.

Registration was held at the Commons Saturday morning, at which time coffee and doughnuts were served. The Lettermen and members of T.D.R. conducted tours for interested parents. "Academic Studies at Wilkes" was the topic of informal seminars given by Dean George Ralston and Dr. Francis Micheline.

Dr. Eugene Farley spoke at a noon luncheon held in the gym. Steve Van Dyck acted as master of ceremonies. The door prizes awarded at the luncheon were donated by the Dana Corporation.

The College played host to a full schedule of athletic events. Although they put up a good fight, the soccer team was upset by Upsala 4-3 in a morning game. Our football team, however, defeated Moravian 14-7 in a fast-moving afternoon game. A tug-of-war between the freshmen and upperclassmen, with the upperclassmen emerging victorious, highlighted the half-time activities.

The Four Freshmen entertained at a concert held at the gym in the evening.

Nine students achieved perfect averages during the Spring semester. They are: mathematics majors, John S. Cavallini, Lois A. Petroski, and Joanne T. Shutlock; chemistry majors, Kenneth W. Leyshen, Carl F. Polanski, and Faith E. Sabol; psychology majors, Larry D. Rhinard, and Jay C. Ruckel; and Diane S. Smith, history major.

Others attaining the Dean's list include last year's graduating seniors: Boyd H. Abeli, 3.33; Kenneth Antonini, 3.40; David P. Baccanari, 3.39; Patricia A. Brygider, 3.80; Mary L. Butkowski, 3.33; Nancy J. Czubek, 3.56; Catherine DeAngelis, 3.65; Kathleen R. Dennis, 3.29; Marjorie Dietterick, 3.60; Joanne Dragenchuck, 3.47; Susan Epstein, 3.40; Madelyn A. Gridders Defeat Moravian Girls' Hockey Team Downs Centenary 2-0

Stiff Defense Repels Tough Greyhounds

by Walter Narcum

The combination of Rich Roshong's running and passing plus a stout defense brought the Wilkes Colonels a 14-7 victory over the Greyhounds of Moravian last Saturday before a large Parents' Day crowd. The win was just the second for Wilkes over the perennially tough Moravian squad in the past fifteen years.

The Colonels displayed an especially strong defensive game in forcing the Greyhounds to -27 net yards gained in rushing. Al Yatko, a former Coughlin gridder, alone had nine unassisted first hits. The hard hitting defense allowed Moravian only one scoring break in the entire game.

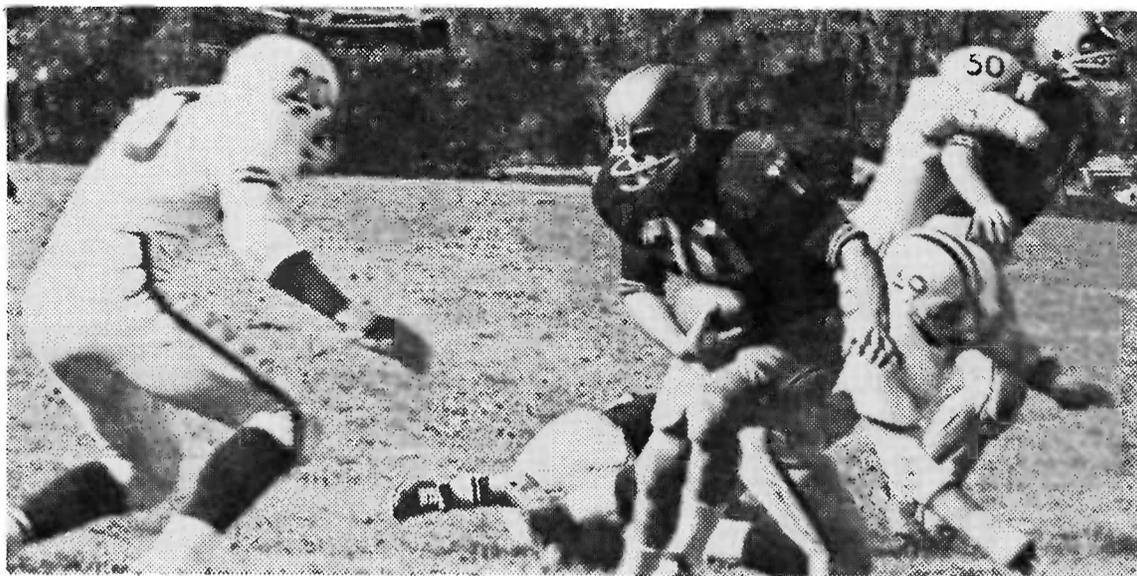

The only lapse in the Colonel defense came in the opening minutes of the second half. Ralph Eltringham, the Greyhounds quarterback, fumbled the kickoff on his own 6-yard line but recovered and raced 94 yards for Moravian's only touchdown. Brian Parry added the extra point.

The Colonel offense seemed doomed to be stalled on or inside the Moravian 10-yard stripe. In the first quarter, with the ball on the Moravian five, the Colonels failed to make the needed yard and a half for a first down and the ball went over to Moravian. Midway into the second quarter, Wilkes took over on the Moravian 45-yard line. Rich Roshong completed two passes to Connolly and Purta for a total of 34 yards. Roshong then carried the ball down to the Moravian 2-yard stripe from where Ray Lowery slanted off tackle for the Colonels' first score. Paul Purta added the extra point on the first of two successful placement kicks.

In the third quarter, with the score tied 7-7, Wilkes took over on their own 35-yard line. The Colonels then proceeded to march 64 yards to Moravian's 1-yard stripe, but a holding penalty put them back to the sixteen. They failed to make it into paydirt on two tries. Purta's attempted field goal from the twenty hit the crossbar and bounced back. Moravian took over, but the Colonel defense held and forced the Greyhounds to punt.

Wilkes took over on the Moravian 48-yard stripe and from there marched down to the fourteen. A fake field goal attempt was stopped on the Moravian ten. With all the breaks going against Wilkes, it seemed that the Colonels would never get one of their own, but the hard hitting defense forced a Moravian back to fumble and Wilkes recovered on the Greyhound's eight. In three plays the Colonels moved the ball to the 1-yard line. In a do or die attempt, Roshong kept the ball and plunged over for the winning touchdown. Purta again added the extra point.

Last week's victory puts the Colonels' log at 2-0.

Colonels' Paul Purta seeks an opening in the Moravian defense as Rich Roshong is tackled from behind.

Girls' Hockey Team Downs Centenary 2-0

by Chris Sulat

The girls' hockey team, coached by Mrs. Doris B. Saracino, opened its season last Tuesday with a 2-0 victory over Centenary College for Women. The goals were scored by Marie Perisic, Captain, and Betsy Jo Compton, Co-Captain.

Neither team scored during the first half, although both teams had many chances. The Wilkes line, which had appeared weak in the first half, seemed to overcome the lack of teamwork and scored two goals in the second half of the game. The backfield, which seemed especially strong during the game, did a good job backing up the forward line. Particularly outstanding was goalie Janice Evans who played the whole game with a broken finger.

Athlete of Week Leads Colonels' Defensive Efforts

by George Pawlush

This week the Beacon has chosen Al Yatko as the "Athlete of the Week." Yatko is a 6' 2", 195 lb. linebacker hailing from Wilkes-Barre. A Junior accounting major, he is a welcome addition to the Colonel line, transferring from Temple, where he played on the freshman team. After sitting out his year of ineligibility he has become captain and mainstay of the Wilkes defense.

Coach Rollie Schmidt maintains that Yatko is the finest linebacker in the M.A.C. Few that have seen the first two Colonel games, will doubt him.

AL YATKO

With his fine nose for smelling out plays in advance, Yatko has been involved in one-third of the tackles made in the first two games. This is a fantastic figure when you consider the wide range of running and passing plays which are attempted throughout the game.

In last Saturday's victory over Moravian, Yatko made nine savage first hits and assisted in many other tackles. Coach Schmidt's great confidence in letting him call most of the defensive plays is a great tribute to Yatko's leadership abilities. He has been one of the contributing factors in making the Colonel defensive team the great unit which it is. Coach Schmidt has said, "The spirit and loyalty that Yatko and his defensive mates have shown, is sure to bring Wilkes closer to the M.A.C. crown, closer than they have been for a long time."

FERRISMEN BOW TO UPSALA

by Bill Bush

The Wilkes booters suffered their second defeat of the season by bowing to the Vikings of Upsala College, 4-3, in last Saturday's Parents' Day contest. Although the score was in favor of the opponents, the Colonels outplayed the Vikings at every turn. The Wilkes offense was sparked by Rich Beck who scored all three of the Colonels' goals.

Upsala was the first to draw blood in the opening minutes of play. The Vikings scored again in the second quarter to take a 2-0 lead. Wilkes stormed back in the closing minutes of the second quarter to even the score, 2-2, when Rich Beck scored two quick goals.

With only four minutes gone in the third quarter, the Colonels took the lead when Beck scored again. The Vikings, however, had a strong second half and were able to score in both periods despite the outstanding play of the Wilkes defense.

Last Tuesday the Colonels scrimmaged with Keystone Junior College in preparation for their match with Madison-FDU tomorrow. Game time is 2 p.m. at Madison.

Wilkes booters display outstanding defensive tactics in a Parents' Day match with Upsala.

Intramural Rosters

Students interested in participating in intramural touch football are reminded that today is the final day to turn in team rosters and captains to Mr. Reese or Mr. Rainey. Competition will begin on Monday. As in the past, the teams will be divided into the Dorm and Independent Leagues.

Any students interested in acting as officials for the games are also asked to contact Mr. Reese.
