Letters to editor

Fie on assemblies, i.e!*

Dear Editor:

At a recent assembly John Henry Faulk gave us one of his well-loved, inspirational, and generally well-received speeches. Mr. Faulk is a master at making us think.

Dear Editor:

I read the article about the new Student Government meeting with a high degree of interest. I sincerely hope that it will improve the conduct of the assembly. If not, I sincerely hope that it will result in a decrease in the number of assemblies that are held. The assemblies should be held only if there is a real need for them.

The recent student demonstration that was held on the campus was an excellent example of the need for assemblies. The students were able to express their feelings and to get things off their chests. The assembly was a success because it resulted in a decrease in violence and a reduction in the number of arrests.

Dear Editor:

I would like to express my support for the new Student Government meeting. I believe that it is an important step forward in the development of a more democratic system of government on our campus. I hope that it will result in a greater feeling of participation on the part of the student body and a more effective use of student government funds.

Dear Editor:

I would like to commend the new Student Government meeting for its efforts to improve the conduct of assemblies. I hope that it will result in a greater feeling of participation on the part of the student body and a more effective use of student government funds.

Wilkes College will go down in the record books as the first team ever to win the Lambert Bowl, symbolic of small college supremacy on the East. Wilkes came out on top of the balloting by a wider margin than either the Division I or Division II championships. We are the only undefeated and unblemished team in the nation.

The Colonels received a total of 96 out of a possible 100 points with 6 first place votes and 4 second place votes. Trinity College was our closest rival with 89 points. They received the other 4 first place votes.

The Colonels were exceptional in that they never allowed more than one touchdown in any game. They held their opponents to 39 points a total of 100 points on their way to their second straight MAC championship. Last year the Colonels were number 10 in the balloting for the Division II Lambert Trophy. At that time the Lambert Bowl did not exist as an award for small college teams. But this year they are the top two teams in the Lambert Bowl balloting.

Russ Jenkins

This season has proven to be the most successful one in the history of Wilkes College soccer. This is due to many factors; perhaps the most significant one is the leadership of Captain Russ Jenkins.

Captain Jenkins not only boasted the team in spirit, but also through his offensive scoring ability, he provided many key goals for the Colonels. For example, in the Wilkes 1-0 win over Muhlenberg, Jenkins’ goal proved to be the deciding factor. He tallied for a total of 11 goals this season, and with Rick Beck he was chosen to represent Wilkes on the second team all MAC.

Russ is a biology major in his senior year. His academic career at Wilkes has been accepted at Temple University, school of medicine. As a native of the small town of Russ, he has added significantly to the excitement of the 1966 season.

He resides in Luzerne with his wife and daughter. A native of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, he is one of a

Wilkes gridders place five players on MAC Northern Division team

by Bob Thompson

The Colonels, after dominating regular season play in the MAC Northern Division, also dominate the all-star team. The Colonels placed seven on the all-star squad and four receive honorable mention. In addition, halfback Paul Purta was named Most Valuable Player in Division III.

Those selected for the team were: Bruce Comstock, Paul Purta, Dennis Spence, Joe Koterba, Al Atzy, and Fred Zimmerman. Those are sophomores with only Purta and Yatko returners. Joe Koterba and Al Atzy are returnees on the all-star team.

Given honorable mention were: Joe Skvorz, Tim Tost, Joe Roszko, and Paul Merrill. Roszko is a junior while the others are sophomores.

Porta’s selection came as no surprise, but it was especially significant as the team was selected by the MAC coaches. Of the first 2 years in recent years, the award has gone to a quarterback with Rick Roschong garnering the honor last year.

Johnson watches birds

by Richard Mayo

"I like to hear Volkswagen on hills with my MG. This could be termed a hobby. For 15 years I've been toying with the idea. It is known as my real avocation is ornithology."

Edwin Johnson, new instructor in English at Wilkes College, is involved in a hobby with a B.A. in history from the College after he had transferred from Misericordia. Junior in English from New Jersey. Later he worked for J.C. Penny Company and returned to his college. Johnson has taught on and off in various classes and practice teaching.

While at the College, he lived in Bally, Pennsylvania. He is a graduate of his alma mater now defunct ice hockey team. Bill Moran, one time band director at the college, was married at the time his years at the College that Johnson met his wife.

After receiving his certification in teaching, Johnson taught junior and senior English at Lake-Lehman high school, and also served as guidance counselor.

Last year he was president of the guidance department at the college. Johnson is an alumnus of all school counselors. For seven years he travelled from New York to his alma mater and participated in dramatic activities as an actor and director in New York, M.A., in education at Bucknell and was hired by the College to teach English, and has served as a director of his alma mater. He also observes students teaching during their practice experiences.

Bird Band

As indicated earlier, Johnson's hobby is the study of birds. He is a bird bander for the United States Fish and Wildlife Service. He is a division of the Department of the Interior. The government hires ornithologists to trap and band wild birds for such scientific purposes as checking, noting diseases, and performing fat analysis. This activity requires both a state and federal license.

Johnson has been a past president of the Back Mountain bird club. He remarked: "The club was not a natty type group, it had no mission but to enjoy bird watching."

At present Johnson is a compiler of the Audubon Christmas censuses. All over the country groups are picked to take censuses on one day between December 21 and January 2. The census must cover a twenty-four-hour period in order to observe both day and night habits of birds. There are over 2000 censuses going on over this period. The areas are fifteen mile diameter circles, and the numbers and species of birds in this circle are recorded. Since the east coast to New York to be published. The end result presents an overall view of the bird population in the United States. The center for this area is Huntsville Dam and the date is February 1. Johnson is looking for interested students wishing to participa in the survey and expressively stated: "The more the merrier!"

scene with Lancelot. As in other past performances, Mrs. Simms' acting has a professional quality. It is a pity that Bob Sokolowski waited until his senior year to appear on stage, since his performance was excellent throughout. Of special merit were his acting and singing skills, especially the musical, and his rich baritone really did justice to the melodic songs of Lancelot.

From the moment of his symbolic entrance on stage while Arthur headed off to battle, Lancelot portrayed the noble, self-confident Lancelot through his acting of the qualities of Sokolowski's, his solo "C'est Moi" was very electrifying. The swain truly captured the feeling during the miracle scene is really to his credit as an actor. These reviewers certainly look forward to other performances from his talented freshman.

Joe Kubicki's portrayal of the character of Pellizer was probably the highlight of his acting career so far at the College. It was evident in this and in other plays, Kubicki seems well suited to comedy roles. From the moment he enters the stage until his exit, his performance is precise and flawless. It is too bad that he was not able to bring off many of the comic aspersions of Pellizer. Nancy Leland effectively aids Kubicki in this endeavor by his fine performance. He surprised me unexpectedly with his dramatic ability. Miss Leland was the only person who could have made the part believable. Lancelot, her romantic interest, was portrayed by Richard Mayo, one of the college's best-kept secrets. Mayo's singing was especially fine. His part-particularly the evil spirit of Morgan Le Fay. Edwin Manda as Merlin, is as usual, charmingly ineffective. His voice with numerous mannerisms, proved especially annoying. He played the role of the Seven Deadly Virtues" all with complete lack of character participation as the evil spirit of Morgan Le Fay.

His name is Johnson and he is Dr. Johnson, a member of the Hawk Mountain Association organized for the protection of hawks and eagles. Johnson also heads the group which has its headquarters in Pennsylvania. The hawk association has made Hawk Mountain into a bird sanctuary.

Career Advisor

Besides ornithology, Johnson is interested in the coast guard. He is a career advisor for this branch of the service, he assists recruiters in publicizing and recruiting people. "Recently," explained Johnson, overlooking the recruters are particularly interested in getting athletic people to go to the Coast Guard Academy in New London, Connecticut and getting experienced seamen back into the reservation.

Johnson, who holds the rank of lieutenant, is also an assistant training and engineering division officer. The latter position includes charge of all below deck divisions. His activities with the Coast Guard have included a three day cruise to Bermuda and to South last summer.

When giving advice to students as to whether college should be the first or second stage of the service, Johnson replied, "If a fellow has a choice, he should get his degree. The school is an important requirement with a degree and the ability to pass a physical fitness test. The Coast Guard Academy in February and September. For approximately eighteen weeks, one takes part in a new school, school in Yorktown, Virginia and serves three years active duty."

While pertaining to the question of his next assignment in the Coast Guard or from the other various organizations he has been offered, he stated "I'm really looking forward to the shoulder of a road biting his time until some unsatisfactory offer. He should appear and offer him the chance to prove that MG's have better hill fighting potential."

reservations in the nation. They also serve the Indian and rural project workers, camp jobs, camps, and for the mentally handicapped. Those over 18 are eligible to join VISTA. There is no maximum age requirement, court, or entrance examination. Volunteers receive one week of training and guarantees that includes $75 for a month of personal needs, and a stipend of $50 a month, which is set aside until completion of service.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Many of the evaluating papers would be merely sour grapes. Only if the same objections appeared for several semesters and proved valid would the Dean of Academic Affairs take action.

What other benefits can be derived from the academic integrity program?

Student responsibility can be one of the steps to an independent studies program. For example if a student wanted to take a course not offered on campus, he could do a research paper for a semester, hand it in, and receive three credits.

Students interested in participating in open discussion concerning academic integrity are welcome to attend the committee meetings which are held every Wednesday at 4:30 in the center of the west corner of the tower.
