Chairmen discuss Con-Con

Dear Editor:

About five months ago the Constitutional Convention was formed with the purpose of rewriting the Constitution of the Student Government of Williams College. After months of research and diligent work, the many new ideas of the delegates were compiled. Only last Thursday, a few days before the projected deadline, was the proposed constitution finished.

The Constitutional Revision Committee agreed, as indicated in this week’s letter to the Editor, that since this vital document will affect many students, it is of utmost importance to inform students of the changes that have been made. The committee would like to suggest that each proposal be read carefully and scrutinized because many students must continue to function after the new constitution is adopted.

Another obstacle is the fact that adequate time must be spent in order to familiarize the students with the proposed constitution and to insure careful scrutiny and deliberation. Since there are 25 students at Williams College, the Constitution Revision Committee is asking all students to read this constitution carefully.

The committee feels that the Constitution Revision Committee is not the committee to adopt and activate its new formulated ideas resulting from months of hard work. Every member of the committee felt that the proposal needs reorganization and editing. The proposal lacks unity and continuity. Indeed, this proposal is a product of the Constitutional Revision Committee since the end of the school year drew near.

The Administrative Council appreciates the need to have a new constitution for the Student Government, and stated that the proposal will be allowed to go through.

It is important to recognize the need for a new constitution that will govern the student body in future years. Therefore, the committee unanimously recommends that Student Government does not rush into this. It is hoped that the summer months and the early fall semester will be utilized to stream-line and simplify the proposed constitution. However, the present Student Government should try to implement this new proposal for next year rather than a constitutional change. The new constitution must then be ratified by the proposal, and finally submit it for ratification next year.

The Constitutional Convention has been effective in its ideas and shall not be set aside. It is necessary that the students elect those candidates who advocate an organizational revitalization of Student Government within the framework of the existing constitution.

Judy Simonson, Chairman
Tom Kelley
Kate Eastman
Carl Sirescone
Constitutional Revision Committee

Cindy debuts at midnight

Approximately 100 couples are expected this Spring Weekend to attend the annual Cinderella Ball, the last social fling of the academic year, in the Carousel Ballroom from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. tonight. The highlight of the evening will be the crowning of the Cinderella queen at midnight. Prior to the crowning ceremony, the students will be asked to guess the identity, Miss Charlotte Lord of the English department will give a brief commentary concerning the background of the competitors and description of the gowns.

Miss Diane Alfaro, reigning queen, will crown this year’s winner as selected by the student body. Continuous entertainment will be provided by Glen Michaels and his 15-piece orchestra.

The $7 tickets will be on sale today until 5 p.m. at the Bookstore. Students responsible for coordinating the SG affair are Ian George, Jean Marie Chapasco, Paul Weard, and Mary Britta. Candidates for the coveted title of queen are Leslie Calamari, Joanna Channon, Sharon Daney, Barbara Dorish, Nancy Leeland, Alisia Ramzy, Charlene Ross, Judy Simonson, Elizabeth Slaughter, and Laura Tierney.

Organizations formulate various policy changes

by Zip Pines

Student Government this week successfully passed probably its most important legislation this year. After months of waiting, most of the proposed SG constitution was presented to SG and the Administrative Council.

The document was formally and unanimously accepted Monday night by SG with some amendments. The Administrative Council likewise accepted the constitution, though not without a key vote in the near future. Essentially the Administrative Council accepted what was said but not how it was said. A need for clarity and simplicity, without any alteration in idea content, was recommended.

The SG Constitutional Revision Committee agreed that each proposal of the three Tuesday, April 27.

Another obstacle is the fact that adequate time must be spent in order to familiarize the students with the proposed constitution and to assure careful scrutiny and deliberation. Since there are 25 students at Williams College, the Constitution Revision Committee is asking all students to read this constitution carefully.

The committee feels that the Constitution Revision Committee is not the committee to adopt and activate its new formulated ideas resulting from months of hard work. Every member of the committee felt that the proposal needs reorganization and editing. The proposal lacks unity and continuity. Indeed, this proposal is a product of the Constitutional Revision Committee since the end of the school year drew near.

The Administrative Council appreciates the need to have a new constitution for the Student Government, and stated that the proposal will be allowed to go through.

It is important to recognize the need for a new constitution that will govern the student body in future years. Therefore, the committee unanimously recommends that Student Government does not rush into this. It is hoped that the summer months and the early fall semester will be utilized to streamline and simplify the proposed constitution. However, the present Student Government should try to implement this new proposal for next year rather than a constitutional change. The new constitution must then be ratified by the proposal, and finally submit it for ratification next year.

The Constitutional Convention has been effective in its ideas and shall not be set aside. It is necessary that the students elect those candidates who advocate an organizational revitalization of Student Government within the framework of the existing constitution.

Judy Simonson, Chairman
Tom Kelley
Kate Eastman
Carl Sirescone
Constitutional Revision Committee

Cindy debuts at midnight

Approximately 100 couples are expected this Spring Weekend to attend the annual Cinderella Ball, the last social fling of the academic year, in the Carousel Ballroom from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. tonight. The highlight of the evening will be the crowning of the Cinderella queen at midnight. Prior to the crowning ceremony, the students will be asked to guess the identity, Miss Charlotte Lord of the English department will give a brief commentary concerning the background of the competitors and description of the gowns.

Miss Diane Alfaro, reigning queen, will crown this year’s winner as selected by the student body. Continuous entertainment will be provided by Glen Michaels and his 15-piece orchestra.

The $7 tickets will be on sale today until 5 p.m. at the Bookstore. Students responsible for coordinating the SG affair are Ian George, Jean Marie Chapasco, Paul Weard, and Mary Britta. Candidates for the coveted title of queen are Leslie Calamari, Joanna Channon, Sharon Daney, Barbara Dorish, Nancy Leeland, Alisia Ramzy, Charlene Ross, Judy Simonson, Elizabeth Slaughter, and Laura Tierney.

Organizations formulate various policy changes

by Zip Pines

Student Government this week successfully passed probably its most important legislation this year. After months of waiting, most of the proposed SG constitution was presented to SG and the Administrative Council.

The document was formally and unanimously accepted Monday night by SG with some amendments. The Administrative Council likewise accepted the constitution, though not without a key vote in the near future. Essentially the Administrative Council accepted what was said but not how it was said. A need for clarity and simplicity, without any alteration in idea content, was recommended.

The SG Constitutional Revision Committee agreed that each proposal of the three

Wednesday night a shiny Cadillac limousine and a rugged van rolled into the Bookstore driveway and presented the College with 16 taped votes of approval from Hampton Institute, Hampton, Virginia. The weary Hamptonians, after their 10-hour ride, expected a casual weekend, only to find that a hectic schedule awaited them, comments of the Inter-Dormitory Council.

The entire weekend was one of excitement and fun. Numerous brochures depicting Wilkes campus life were given, tours conducted, special WINNING GROUP—The Brandywine Trio, a folk group on the College campus, scored a major victory last Saturday evening by winning a first prize of $250 in the Intercollegiate Music Competition sponsored by the Gamma Phi Beta of Williams College in conjunction with the Student Council. I.M.C. is the largest social event at Wyoming Valley, Wilkes, and the exchange program in general. Later the chairman of the exchange were interviewed.

Saturday was a day of volleyball, softball, and Dr. Perl's farm, evening performance of A Raisin in the Sun, and, to the surprise of the Hampton students, another party rather than the scheduled coffee hour. After exchanging thanks and goodbyes, the Hamptonians entered their limousine and van and left Wilkes.

Cue 'n Curtain to present 'The Fantasticks'

"A boy and a girl in love can only meet by climbing trees on either side of a wall" is the theme of the final dramatic offering of the year in Cue 'n Curtain's student presentation of Tom Jones' production of The Fantasticks. The theme of this musical, to be directed by Robert Graham, is "without a hurt the heart is hollow." The production will be offered Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, May 10, 11, and 12, in the Gurney Theater at 8:30 p.m.

Students visit film set

by Zip Pines

Last Thursday afternoon a shiny Cadillac limousine and a rugged van rolled into the Bookstore driveway and presented the College with 16 taped votes of approval from Hampton Institute, Hampton, Virginia. The weary Hamptonians, after their 10-hour ride, expected a casual weekend, only to find that a hectic schedule awaited them, comments of the Inter-Dormitory Council.

The entire weekend was one of excitement and fun. Numerous brochures depicting Wilkes campus life were given, tours conducted, special dinners prepared, and numerous parties held.

The掐ature event of the weekend was a special guided tour of Eck- ey, Pennsylvania, where Paramount Studios is filming Molly McCue, a movie concerning an old, local Catholic family, the McGuire, indicative of the predominant anti-coal baron and anti-ship labor sentiments during the former mining era in Northeastern Pennsylvania. The chairman of the exchange were intrigued by the possibility to see the breaker being built, tracks installed, and millions of underground cables laid in preparation for the filming.

The Saturday was a day of volleyball, softball, and Dr. Perl's farm, evening performance of A Raisin in the Sun, and, to the surprise of the Hampton students, another party rather than the scheduled coffee hour. After exchanging thanks and goodbyes, the Hamptonians entered their limousine and van and left Wilkes.
Assembly Series

Last night's address by Seymour Melman, professor at Colum-bia and critic of the Pentagon and Administration, was the last in this year's concert and lecture series.

This series, intended to offer voluntary rather than compulsory schedule of lectures by people such as Felix Greene, Louis Untermeyer, concerts by the Oberlin Wind Ensemble, and the Chocholakes, has been an interesting and dramatic offering by the KalediScope Players, to name only a few.

The list of programs represented a grouping of which at least one would appeal to members of student body and faculty. The program, however, was not as well received as it merited. The concert given by the American soprano, Martine Johns attracted few people, and went unappreciated by the majority of students including those majoring in that field.

Perhaps the fault may lie in the times when the lectures and concerts were scheduled, but it hardly seem to explain the consistently poor attendance.

We suggest that the students either assume the responsibility for their interest in these programs or we encourage the alternative of making these programs once again required for the entire student body.

Scholarship Appeal

At every college, scholarships provide the able student with the opportunity to further their education. Without these funds many would be unable to complete their studies. Wilkes is no exception. The college has always sponsored some form of aid which enables them to attend the College.

This year almost $1,000,000 was distributed to students for their tuition, room, board, books, loans, and scholarships. In 1936, the first scholarship of $250 was given; today the recipient is a top-flight scientist. Today over 100 times that amount is given in scholarships each year.

To provide this sum for the institutions are well provided with a heritage of alumni to produce the needed endowments for scholarships. Wilkes, a younger institution does not yet have a large alumni, but has been assisted in its attempt to provide aid for its students by an interested community. The community has invested its time and money to provide the future with people able to cope with the problems which will confront not only this community but the world community as it becomes a stake in the College. The College has provided through its research facilities the incentive for new business. It has been estimated that by the end of 1959 and 1960 $17,000,000 will be created directly from the co-commitment of the College and the community in the RCA facility alone. Education is essen-tial to the development of the technology necessary to provide an active business climate.

In the three decades of the college's existence, the community has continued to increase its support for this college and the other educational institutions that have been in the past support by the people of the community. A number of other institutions and born the burden of the funding of the research, graduate, and scholarship programs of the college.

This year's Annual Appeal conducted between March 13 and April 24 was designed to raise $125,000 from alumni and the community. The community raised 80 percent of this goal.

These things often go unmentioned in the conversations of the student. The appeal is conducted by members of the com-munity who solicit the funds from the friends of the college who contribute. The student does not hear of the work involved in the appeal but the affects directly relate to him. Without these friends the students would not be. We thank them.

Letters To The Editor

IDC Accused of Mishandling Recent Exchange

Dear Editor:

Now that the current Wilkes-Hamp-ton exchange cycle is over, I would like to express my opinion on a number of points relevant to the program as operated this year.

A few weeks ago, two African stu-dents applied to go to Hampton Insti-tute on the exchange program, but were disqualified despite vacancies (President Joe Goto and others were approached and asked to fill them). On investigation, the students were in-formed by a high ranking IDC official that they were ruled out of virtue of their being African and that this deci-sion was based on a statement made by an IDC member, supposedly expert in African history, that "Africans and American Negroes do not get along.

All along I had been of the opinion that one of the purposes of the program was to establish communication between people of the two colleges and thereby leading to greater understand- ing and harmony. Wouldn't this exchange have served the same pur-pose between British and American Negroes? On the other hand, assuming the African students were ruled out for reasons given, it will only amount to more indulgence in stereotype thinking, double talk and condemnation of the whole group of Negroes as being hypocritical, pure and simple. If I have seen more glaring evi-dence of stereotyping than the American whites and American Negroes, I doubt it has ever been of the American whites and American Negroes.

I would like to express my con-cern over the issue released his expertise. Meanwhile I deny the contention as-serted by the statement.

A stereotype statement like the above is ridiculous and it is upsetting to think that it could have been made by a college student, but it is even more outrageous to imagine that a "re-sponsible organization" like the IDC has based any kind of decision on it.

Baron Mwilwa

Democratic Delegates Thank Students

Dear Editor:

We wish there were enough time to thank each of the students from Wilkes individually who helped so generously in the recent McCarthy for President campaign. Their efforts and spirits were wonderful and we would have wanted to make it easier this experience for them. Despite being booted out at the end. How rewarding then it was to experience victory at the polls together!

Now that we are back again, re-spectfully, to household chores, selling insurance and teaching, life is a little quieter but also much richer at the same time. It is poorer because we miss the contact of the young people in the McCarthy campaign. Other campaigns, their dauntless vigor in all tasks, and their refreshing enthusiasm during the five weeks of our hard campaign work.

Life is much richer also because of the wonderful experience of sharing a cloistered and unimportant life as a com-munity goal. We were greatly impressed by the amount of responsibility, disci-pline, and organizational talent among today's student generation — at least among the volunteers for McCarthy. No one had ever been more important, no task too tedious for them, yet at the same time, they were the life and soul of the campaign. They proved beyond question that all the younger genera-tion needs to exercise responsibility and leadership is a worthy cause to inspire them and trust by their elders to back them up. We are proud of them!

Students' convictions and faith have once again been proven a powerful political force even though most of them were not able to participate di-rectly through their own vote. We trust that all of the volunteers have had a valuable practical education in the political and educational field, in the stimulating experience of having been part of a movement of thousands. We are certain that before long this experience will be intelligently applied to the causes of our nation!

We are looking forward with ex-citement to the days of the Democratic Convention and hope that we can justify the faith that was expressed in us by you.

The students

Dear once again.

Eva M. Croy were the real leaders of the campaign.

We are certain that before long this experience will be intelligently applied to the causes of our nation!

Baron Mwilwa

Peace Movement Disregarded

Dear Editor:

Wilkes College has an active, well organized peace movement. It has been involved in a major peaceful demonstration which was well supported. We would like to ask if the support was sin-cere or merely a convenient way to support in this normally cause-less, apathetic school. The real question, however, is what effect the demonstra-tion will have on U.S. policy, if any. Even if everyone who wore a peace symbol or cut classes were 100 percent sincere who would notice? Even if there are many excellent editorials and letters in campus and local news-papers, who will read them? Even fine non-war sermons in local churches go unheard.

These persons in positions to change the situation, U.S. Senators, Repre-sentatives, and the President, don't notice. They have no time for "more student unrest," "crazy editors," and "revival preachers." They notice oc- tective student demonstration, editorials, and letters in only one group: VOTERS! Thus all of the students' efforts are in vain. They serve the useful purpose of arousing interest and public sentiment, but they are wasted unless they are followed up with efforts aimed at the lawmak-ers. One minister recently wrote a letter to the head of the Peace Corps, why would he not take up a movement. Only by writing to U.S. lawmakers in Washington, an- swers whether we are to be noticed or heard.

Earl Orcutt

WHAT, WHERE, WHEN

LECTURE — STARK 116 — MAY 7, 11 A.M.: Dr. Winfield Blair Sutphin of the Thomas F. Stoley Foundation of New York will talk on "The Love That Lasts." A winner of the Pea-body Award for Broadcasting, Dr. Sutphin will be presented by the philosophy department in conjunction with the Psych-edelica Society of the College.

LECTURE — CPA — MAY 11, 10 A.M.: Dr. Charles Reif of the College's biology department; Dr. Robert Werner, of the economics department; Dr. Gerald Perkus of the English department and Michael Worth, senior economics major, will speak on the implications of the six-week-long Alumni Seminar and are open to alumni, students and facul-ty. From 2:45 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. the same day will participate in a panel discussion moderated by Dr. Hugh Mailey in Stark 116.

FESTIVAL OF THE VISUAL ARTS — CONNYHAM ANNEX — MAY 10-12: Students of the fine arts department, under the direction of Philip Richards, Michael Stein and Roman Tamchynshyn will display several hundred works and demon-strates and painting techniques. Only Wilkes students may enter work, which will be judged; all conventional media will be accepted. Two dimensional must be matted and/or framed.

TOWN AND GOWN CONCERT — GARB AND LWA — CPA — SATURDAY, MAY 5, 3:30 P.M.

SENIOR RECITAL - MERRILL FARRELL — CPA — TUESDAY, MAY 7, 8:30 P.M.

CHORUS CONCERT — CPA — THURSDAY, MAY 9, 8:30 P.M.

Nelson Rockefeller

by Martin J. Naparsteck

Governor Rockefeller’s announcement last Tuesday that he would act as a delegate to the New York State Republican convention was a surprise to very few people. The results of his candidacy may be a repetition of his work in the past. He will not as yet be a clear-cut, the drawing away of votes from the Democratic nominees has been more successful. This is more likely to garner support from McGovern, Kennedy, or Humphrey backers, than from the Democratic supporters. Although his chances are hurt by his lack of a new, he is bolstered by his well known name, the money available in his family's back pocket, and his image as a mature and responsible moderate.

Nelson A. Rockefeller was born in 1908 in Bar Harbor, Maine, and received his secondary education at Lincoln School of Columbia University Teachers College and his college-education at Dartmouth where he received an A.B. in economics as a cum laude graduate. After graduation he married Margaretta Fitzer Murphy.

After his first marriage he took an eighteen-month trip around the world, after which he served as a clerk in Chase National Bank and, with the aid of a Rockefeller Works, Iac., which acted as a middleman in renting office space.

In 1937 he went on a business tour of Latin America and returned to the states to tell Standard Oil executives that the ownership of South American oil is that of the people, and urged the company to recognize the "social responsibilities of corporations." In 1940, Rockefeller criticized American business in general by saying, "In the last century, capital went where ever it could make the greatest profit. In this century it must go where it can render the greatest service to the people.

In 1940 President Roosevelt appointed Rockefeller Coordinator of the Office of Production Management and in 1941 Assistant Secretary of State of the American Republic Affairs. In 1945 he was made Commissioner of the U.S. staff at the San Francisco conference. He opposed the inclusion in the UN charter of a provision that permitted regional de-defense pacts, and his opposition to Russia, to certain members of the U.S. delegation.

In 1957 he passed up a chance to run for mayor of New York City in order to run for governor the following year. He defeated incumbent Avrell Harraman by a half million votes.

Organizations (Continued from Page 1)

prosed the hope that IDC would be a training ground for student leaders involving the day-to-day problems.

Proposals included the permission to wear shorts and slacks, and other suitable athletic wear, an increase in the Athletic Administrative building or classes and complete abolition or a certain time limit on cut classes, and a year-round day-dress.

The suggestion was made that such a rule would create more opportunities for sports that could not be played at any time on campus. Concerning the men, the women suggested that Mr. Cropper, ’62, head of the athletic department, be in charge of the absence of shoes at dinner and whether students are not appreciated by the women.

The Council of Deans will meet with the male resident students after which they will vote on the proposals.

Raisin’ critically acclaimed

by Naparsteck and Gass

Last week’s screening of the production of Lorraine Hansberry’s A Raisin in the Sun was credibly performed and an experience of most of the cast members.

The play is concerned with the reality of dreams and the realization that a dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of itsown: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the ghetto in a home of its own: but there are obstacles to the achievement of his dream. But his dream is to move out of the gh...
The Colonos baseball squad dropped from first place in the Middle Atlantic Conference last week by losing two of three contests. Juniata united the local nine 8-5 in the nightcap of a Saturday twin bill. The Colonos had taken the corner 5-4 behind the pitching of southpaw Joe Zakowski.

The Colonos' Dave Wieland and Mike Williams provided the difference in the Colonos' close victory, each throwing two hits and two in the host team scored three markers in the sixth inning with Williams driving in two with a booming double.

Juniata was not to be denied; however, coming back the next inning to score two runs and almost knocking the score. Two Colonos errors and a couple of ground outs gave the Injun their first lead.

The second ball game was entirely different, with the exception of Williams' big bat. The big leftfielder banged out two more hits and accounted for two more RBI's. Juniata scored one run in the first inning and was never headed thereafter, adding three more runs, a total of also the ninth. Bob Kolston accounted for the visitors final tally of four.

The Colonos traveled to Allyn Park only to suffer a 4-3 loss to the Mules of Muhlenberg College. The Colonos had a 3-2 lead going into the fifth inning only to fall victim to a fluke fielding play.

With two out in the bottom half of the inning, the Mules Greg Hensley slapped a routine grounder to Pat Salantari. Before Salantari could get

Netmen take fifth

Colonos drop from first

The Colonos' Wieland and Williams' provided the difference in the Colonos' close victory, each throwing two hits and two in the host team scored three markers in the sixth inning with Williams driving in two with a booming double. Juniata was not to be denied; however, coming back the next inning to score two runs and almost knocking the score. Two Colonos errors and a couple of ground outs gave the Injun their first lead.

With two out in the bottom half of the inning, the Mules Greg Hensley slapped a routine grounder to Pat Salantari. Before Salantari could get

Joe Svaria is shown executing a perfect slide as he advances to third base during action in the Colonos' 5-4 win over Juniata. Jim Beck- eric awaits the late throw from right field.

Netmen

The netman of Tom McFarland, having made their first decision last Saturday at Selinsgrove by thumping Susquehanna University 8-1. The Colonos now stand 9-1, enough good for second place in the MAC.

The results:

Singles-Rokita, W., over Ludwig, 6-1, 6-7.
Klem, W., over Ross, 6-3, 6-4.
Wintz, W., over Jordan, 6-2, 8-6.
Fritz, S., over Tartar, 4-6, 4-6.
W. Magagna, W., over Dunn, 6-1, 6-1.
Valekten, W., over Mallinson, 6-2, 6-1.

Rifle Club formed

A new club on campus came into existence this spring, not with a whim but a bang. The Rifle Club was formed in January and the following officers were elected: Philip Gashar- row, president; Thomas Glannell, vice-president; Sheila Carr, secretary; and Arnold Perpang, treasurer.

A growth of twenty-five charter members from the original fifteen has shown a considerable desire for a new and different club. Dr. Robert E. Wer- ner has taken the task of being the club's faculty sponsor.

The objectives of the club are to provide training in the safe handling of firearms and to promote marksmanship in the ship. The club is presently using the 10th Armdry range in Kingston. Members have traveled twice to the Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, N.Y., to fire in competition.

ACE HOFFMAN

BOOKSTORE

10 S. MAIN ST., WILKES-BARRE

SPEECHING CARDS

CONTEMPORARY CARDS

BOOKS—PAPERBACKS & GIFTS

RECORDS—PARTY GOOD

PORTFOLIO, COMMERICAL AND AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHERS

CAMERAS AND PHOTO SUPPLIES

16 W. MARKET ST. WILKES-BARRE, PA.

PHONE: 823-6177

Junior Joe Wiendi was named "Athlete of the Year" for the second consecutive year and also received seven other trophies and awards. Wiendi is shown holding his All-American Certificate as NCAA college di- vision champion wrestler at 160 pounds. Displayed in front of him are the seven trophies he received.

WILKES COLLEGE BOOKSTORE

WILM E. CETTLE, MAN

"Not education but character in man's greatest need and man's greatest safeguard."

— Herbert Spencer