Future Frosh' On Campus

A Whitman Portrait Will Be Given
On Tuesday Evening At Campus CPA

The exultant genius and warranty human of Walt Whitman—poet, prophet, pioneer—lives and breathe the voice in a Whitman Portrait, Paul S. Ayres' vivid biographical drama, which will appear at Wilkes on November 7 at 8:15 p.m. It will be at Center for the Performing Arts der the auspices of the Concert of Lecture Series.

"Everything about it is superb," stated the dean of the New York City, New York at the "A Whitman Portrait". "The author, Vinny, has created in his enthusiasm for this exciting of the theater, which com- plement the affirmative, exhilaration of a new author and prose of Whitman's poetry and prose. It is a masterpiece of an indomitable author—a unique writer who dared to write what he thought in a style new to his time.

Marks Anniversary

The nation's largest "A Whitman Portrait" in 1969 will coincide with Walt Whitman's 150th anniversary. Paul S. Ayres, writer and director, has created a four-character play in two acts. Whitman from his youthful days as a tramp journalist and scribbler through his final years as a su- perintendent of schools. At war wounded, and, finally shows us the "good, gray poet" in his later years when the panel discussed. A few nude, he explained the full stature as the bard of democracy, the passionate lover of life in all its man-ifestations.

Collegians Fund Bid Denied In SG Action

Progress reports and a denial for additional funds to the Collegians highlighted the weekly Student Government meet- ing.

The Educational Policies committee, co-chaired by Dan Kopen and Jay Goldstein, indicated final results will be available in the near future. Goldstein also gave notice of final plans for a student activities fee, which will be presented in the March 7 issue of the Beacon.

The Student Action Committee submitted a written report indicat- ing advances made on the topics of student evaluation of teachers and the "time-out" day proposed tenta- tively for April.

Ed Liskey presented a formal re- quest for additional funds to sub- sidize the Collegians' annual tour in New Jersey and New York later in the semester. It was explained to Liskey that it was not SG's responsibility to supply the musical or- ganization with sheet music and re- commended that the Collegians make every effort to remain within the confines of their budgeted project for the 1968-69 academic year.

No action was taken on the re- quest and it was tabled until more detailed information could be obtained.

It was also explained by Paul Wender that the Officers' Orientation Program will be held Saturday morning at 11.

Sneak Preview Given High School Group

Approximately 180 prospective students will get their first look at college life this week-end.

Freshman Week-end, the annual "sneak-preview" of life at Wilkes, is going on right now. The high school visitors arrived yesterday afternoon and are staying on the Campus until Sunday.

In order to give the students a broad and thorough perspective of what college life is like, the Office of Admissions and the College Administration extended the usual visiting time and planned a full agenda of activities for the visitors.

Each guest has been assigned to a volunteer host who met him upon his arrival, escorted him to the dormitory in which he will reside while on Campus. At the dorm, each visitor was given a welcome packet containing tickets for his ad- mission to meals, mixers and three one-act plays which will occur this week-end.

The first mixer was held in the gym from 8:00-10:00 p.m. last night. Mem- bers of the faculty were invited to attend, thus allowing the students to meet their future instructors.

Free refreshments were served and a W. C. Fields film was shown.

In Invited To Classes

The visitors are being invited to attend classes next week. Today, it is hoped that this will be followed by further into the type of work they will be expected to do next year.

A disadvantaged three bands is to be held from 8:30-12:30 p.m. in the gym, tonight. Continuous music will be supplied by the Eddie Nix Band. The Wednesday night, the evening for other groups from various college will be held from 8:30-12:30 p.m. in the gym. The music will be supplied by the June Thomson Band. The Thursday night, the evening for other groups from various college will be held from 8:30-12:30 p.m. in the gym. The music will be supplied by the June Thomson Band.

Discussion groups concerning American, math and science courses will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30. They will meet in various buildings on the Campus and will afford the visitors a chance to present questions and submit subjects.

Philadelphia State Scholarship

All students who are currently receiving a Philadelphia State Scholarship, or who plan to apply for one next year, or who are other- wise interested in the continuation of the Pennsylvania Scholarship program are strongly urged to at- tend a meeting on Wednesday, March 5 at 7:00 p.m. or Thursday, March 6 at 7:00 p.m. Both meetings will be held in the gymnasium.

Horror Of Narcotic Abuse Are Told

by Ron Jacobs

Show business performers held as a revered maxims, "Save the best until last." English pros at the College are equally fond of the axioms, "Avoid generalities, use specific examples." The panel discussion on drugs held last Thursday evening at the CPA adhered to these precepts and the result was an in- formative and entertaining program.

Panel members consisted of Dr. Anthony Turchetti, Wilkes faculty, psychologist; Dr. Donald Soucy, Collage of Children's Service Center of Wyoming Valley; Dr. David Hots, psychologist at Bor- dentown, N. J.; Dr. Thomas Millington, director of the Pennsylvania Department of Health and Welfare; and Judge Robert Hopgain, Luzerne County Court of Common Pleas.

Every seat was taken and the remainder of the audience sat in the aisles. An impressive sight, the turn out was not achieved without some gentle arm-twisting. Students who were taking Personal Hygiene courses had been urged by their instructors to witness the program in order to gain a perspective of the subject matter.

The lights were turned off, the panel entered, and each mem- ber was introduced by the moderator, Dr. Turchetti. In his opening remarks Dr. Turchetti said that the use of drugs is no longer limited to ghetto areas, but is reaching all America. When taken, they become part of the body chemistry, he asserted, adding that all drugs have potentially addicptive effects. One of his own former students, Dr. Soucy, he noted that the chronic user has a psychological de- pendence on it. Marijuana sometimes will combine with brain abnormalities a person is unaware of and thus commit a crim- inal act, Dr. Turchetti explained. Speaking about the illegal drugs, the panelist warned that when taken in sufficient doses they create psychoses.

Dr. Turchetti, after citing particular incidents, concluded his discussion with the statement, "Training of his intellect has exceeded training of his emotions."

Dr. Hots was the next speaker. He contended that there is solid evidence on the frequency of human behavior. He then went on to present this solid evidence by outlining several classical experiments. One experiment involved teasing a group of people with color film, which vividly depicted a drug addict's hallucinations, ushered in the actual discussion period.

The United States National Student Association (NSA) will fight the recommendations of a Civit Associates' study (CAB) examining the need for increased funding for "A Whitman Portrait," the play's director, Alan C. Herder, who stated that at present the Association is the only group representing students users of the collegiate youth fare which will make arguments be- fore the federal board.

Abolition of youth fares is being sought by a number of bus com- panies. NSA will argue that in view of the educational, social, econom- ic, and cultural benefits afforded by the youth fares and young adults, the fares should not be can- celled.

Written arguments were to be presented to the CAB by February 26. Orally arguments will be made at a later date. NSA is being represented by a Washington law firm.

The panelists are experts in anti-drug campaigns.
Duty Of Administration To Rule

Without a doubt the most common current concern expressed by alumni and friends of this and other colleges is that of the conduct and attitude of students in recent times. Although campus disorders have been large, they are greatly overpublicized by the news media. It is undeniable that recent events on campus have been a disgrace to the nation. The excesses of a few students on a few campuses are indicative of the overwhelming majority of student behavior.

The disorderly conduct of certain student groups and the general unreasonableness of their actions is not without some underlying causes. Young people have been brought up in an atmosphere of abundance so that it is extremely difficult for them to mature normally. Many are overprivileged, ungrateful for what is done for them, and consequently, when confronted with the draft, the justification for the war in Vietnam, and tensions in general are at a peak. Unfortunately, this college generation has also been taught, often by some of the most high-minded people in America, that demonstrations, sit-ins, and other nonviolent disturbances of the peace are tolerable and sometimes even noble. Nothing remains true, however, that there is no amount of understanding of good or bad reasoning which will prevent students excuses what has taken place.

The extreme education has already suffered heavy losses in support and approval because of the inexcusable actions of a few. On the credit of students at some conspicuous places in the country, that the boundaries of left-wing rebels has hardened considerably, and it is not likely that colleges can ever again achieve the image of the antires of academic students in the future as they have in the past. Government in the United States is an advisory capacity on almost all committees and may have access to any faculty member's comments. This allows students, including the president, but when final decisions must be made, they are made solely by those whose legal or delegated powers have been specifically set forth.

In considering changes of any nature, one must be remembered that the student body of any college is on a fraction of what might be "the college." There are the thousands of alumni and friends and beneficiaries who have provided the buildings and the funds to keep it going. It is the fact that there are those yet unborn who will someday attend.

Commentary

On Individualism

by Jackie Delg

There is no denying that communism is a growing and threatening evil in the world today. But the basic evil which this contains will never be won in popular wars. The intrinsic evil of communism is not a war against religion, but unique to this ideology. The evil is not a war against religion, but not in the sense of a religion, but assuredly in the sense of the soul.

This intrinsic evil is found elsewhere. It is the one thing that communism, fascism, all totalitarian authoritarian and marxist institutions, and the Western cultural tradition have in common. It is the evil which paralyzes and enslaves every form of religion to tradition to art, to the soul.

Letters

Fan Congratulations
Colonel Wrestlers
On Fine Season

To the Editor:

I wrote like to offer my congratulations publicly to (in my opinion) the finest wrestling team in the short history of Wilkes College. The victory over East Stroudsburg yesterday, and the stage was proved to all that we are indeed one of the finest wrestling teams in the nation; the darkness and our season would read zero defeat.

I want to invite all enthusiastic Colonels fans who share my beliefs to the M.A.C. Wrestling Championships to be held March 7 and 8 at Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Pa. Allentown is quite accessible from Wilkes-Barre and is a short one-hour trip on the turnpike.

Last year, Wilkes placed third behind Temple and West Chester. With the superior support of our fans this year's grappling could, once again, regain their championship ways.

When we allow mass media to pick our topics, we are at the mercy of the politicians, and in some cases, the politicians, when we allow a law set to teach us what is just, fair, we are on our own, and when we allow men to run us like machines, as we smile and say "Oh, why?" we are faced with the fear of a political takeover that would be the most evil threat we face.

We are fighting against a system of rights uniquely our own, and that would be denied to us by any and all means, against our standards in order to fit in, to succeed, to become "moral" by others' standards.

As much as we would like to think of this evil as being in our country and far from our gates, we would face the fact that the battle against communism is a global one, and in fact will be won or lost in our own country. Seldom do others realize that freedom and that power can be taken from them and in its place, they. Seldom do those who use the freedom of our country, our history, our institutions, our society, or others realize that freedom and the freedom to prolifeSteering forever. Seldom do others those who use the freedom of our country, our history, our institutions, our society, or others realize that freedom and the freedom to prolifeSteering forever. Seldom do others those who use the freedom of our country, our history, our institutions, or systems that have been given to them, others realize that freedom and the freedom to prolifeSteering forever. Seldom do others those who use the freedom of our country, our history, our institutions, or systems that have been given to them, others realize that freedom and the freedom to prolifeSteering forever. Seldom do others those who use the freedom of our country, our history, our institutions, or systems that have been given to them, others realize that freedom and the freedom to prolifeSteering forever. Seldom do others those who use the freedom of our country, our history, our institutions, or systems that have been given to them, others realize that freedom and the freedom to prolifeSteering forever. Seldom do others those who use the freedom of our country, our history, our institutions, or systems that have been given to them, others realize that freedom and the freedom to prolifeSteering forever. Seldom do others those who use the freedom of our country, our history, our institutions, or systems that have been given to them, others realize that freedom and the freedom to prolifeSteering forever. Seldom do others those who use the freedom of our country, our history, our institutions, or systems that have been given to them, others realize that freedom and the freedom to prolifeSteering forever. Seldom do others those who use the freedom of our country, our history, our institutions, or systems that have been given to them, others realize that freedom and the freedom to prolifeSteering forever. Seldom do others those who use the freedom of our country, our history, our institutions, or systems that have been given to them, others realize that freedom and the freedom to prolifeSteering forever. Seldom do others those who use the freedom of our country, our history, our institutions, or systems that have been given to them, others realize that freedom and the freedom to pr
Accounting, Experience in Life Emphasized by Robert Capin

by Mary Ann Demko

Mr. Robert Capin, director of Wilkes' Evening College and professor of accounting, has known Wilkes students since 1947. He then transferred here from Shippenburg State Teacher's College and obtained his Bachelor's Degree in 1960. Finding the area composed of "warm, friendly people who were more established than those in Harrisburg," he and his wife decided to settle here. After graduation he worked as an accountant for Leventhol, Kerstine, Horwitz, and Horwitz, where he gained experience in the fields of auditing and tax work. Then he turned into private accounting, and decided to teach at the same time.

Mr. Capin feels "the combination of teacher and accountant is a good one." From 1954 to 1966, he was a part-time member of the Evening College faculty, and in 1959, he became a full-time instructor in the day school.

According to Mr. Capin, "teaching accounting is more than imparting theories and methods of practice. A teacher must try to emphasize the social and economic factors and events that relate directly to his field. Keeping close to the students is another objective of mine."

In addition, an accounting teacher "must try to make the student understand that accounting is an experience in life and that a student must be aware of the world outside his field, or he will not be a good practitioner." He also notes that "students will be able to set their life-goal much earlier than their peers, and consequently, they show a greater spirit of determination. I find this especially true of the students out in the field." As head of the Accountancy Internship Program, Mr. Capin has the duty of traveling to the different companies where Wilkes' students have been placed, meeting with their representatives, discussing the student's performance, and learning the reactions to the students from the management. "The program provides a wealth of experience, not only for the students, but also for me. I get to meet the prominent people in my profession and I see something of the interaction between people living in various localities."

All of Mr. Capin's travels and dealings with accountants from other areas provided the data for his recently-published article "The Search for Development of a Professional Public Accountant" (Texas CPA, January, 1980).

Teaching (in general) is one subject about which Mr. Capin feels quite strongly and speaks enthusiastically. "I feel that this is the best part of the job. I like to be able to recognize the potential in a student and to work to develop it to the greatest extent. I realize that all people have individual problems, and I am more than willing to listen to any student to see if I can give him any help by giving of gratification to know that I personally contributed to the development of someone in an sports facet of a human being."

and one-time participator, Mr. Capin belongs to several groups of a social welfare nature. "I believe that we can't live alone, in our own little worlds; through these social welfare organizations we can get outside of ourselves. You are making our contribution to society."

Furthermore, Mr. Capin is a member of several professional organizations including: The American Institute of Certified Public Accountants; the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants; the National Association of Accountants; and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Having been in Wilkes-Barre for two decades, Mr. Capin has seen the development of Wilkes College on a personal level. He has observed little acorns grow mighty oaks.

Mr. Capin is a man who appreciates the problems of youth today, but feels they are not insurmountable. As a part to the growth and development of a mature personality, Mr. Capin suggests the military service. "I served in the Navy in the Pacific right after high school and gained quite a bit from the experience." This type of situation is an invaluable and indispensable aid in maturity because it teaches you how to get along and react in stress and inconvenient situations. If the student of the 21st century wants to advise all students — men and women — to include plans for the services in their lives.

The Beacon has announced it will now accept applications for editorial positions relevant to the 1989-90 academic year. All interested students are encouraged to respond, and may appear at the Beacon office, 76 West Northampton Street, or contact any one of the editors.

What — Where — When

Friday, February 28

Dance — sponsored by IDC; gym; The Eddie Day Groop, The Jimmy Wynne Review, The Apocalypse; 9-12 p.m. Cue 'n Curtain — 3 one-acts, CPA, 8:15 p.m. No admission charge.

MAC Basketball Tournament — Albright College.

Saturday, March 2

Swimming meet — WILKES vs. Elizabethtown, away, 2 p.m.

WRESTLING — WILKES vs. Beaver Valley, gym, 8 p.m.

Cue 'n Curtain — 3 one-acts, CPA, 8:15 p.m. No admission charge.

Sunday, March 3

Women's basketball — WILKES vs. Misericordia, gym.

Concert & Lecture Series — "A Whittman Portrait," CPA, 8:15 p.m.

Friday, March 7

Dance — sponsored by Circle K, gym, 9-12 p.m.

MAC Swimming Tournament — Muhlenberg College.

MAC Wrestling Tournament — Muhlenberg College.

NARCOTICS ABUSE

(Continued from Page 1)

on their ability to distinguish equal line segments. All of the members of the group except one were stoned, however, and deliberately gave the wrong responses. The unknowing person was made to choose in the group. His choice was different from the others, they would argue with him. These non-stoners were on the college sophomore level. One third of their number gave the wrong responses in the described situation, and many who gave the correct responses did so apologetically or made elaborate explanations. The conclusion of the experiment was that group pressure has a great effect on human behavior.

Dr. Millington, the next speaker, told the audience, mostly students, that they were selected because of your mental ability. You are dealing with things which are mentally changing." Referring to those who advocate the legalization of marijuana, Millington pointed out that it was passed in 1968 on the basis that the law will consider all requests. "Maybe you're right, maybe they're right," he said. "Take time — don't be too quick to experiment."

Judge Hourigan in his remarks mentioned that the law breaks down into two categories: drugs and narcotics. By legal standards, marijuana is a narcotic. "The law takes a harsh view," Judge Hourigan stated. For narcotics possession, first offense, the person could be put to five years in prison. Narcotic sales, first offense, carries a $5,000 fine and a possible fine to twenty years imprisonment. Subsequent offenses have stiffer penalties. Judge Hourigan did concede that a judge has some leeway in a first offense for narcotics possession.

Under what is defined as joint possession, he explained that anyone who merely knew the drugs were being used and not using them yourself, you still can be subject to narcotic possession penalties. Commenting on his own duties, Judge Hourigan admitted, "It's not an easy job."

What occurred next was the highlight of the evening. It was not meant to thrill the audience, but to leave a bitter taste in their mouths. Mill and Gus, former drug addicts representing Day Top, a rehabilitation house for addicts, came on stage to tell of their experiences. Some things they said were meant to draw laughs from the crowd. They did. But it was a strange kind of laughter. One of the men for example, said, "Things got so bad with LSD that I wanted to try something to help me write back for help on my next trip." If someone tells you that with sincerity and you don't laugh, he might cry. A hush pre-vailed as the auditorium with all intent to hear every word spoken by these two crusaders.

The Day Top tours were then detailed. Each of the three houses is composed solely of addicts or former addicts. There are no social workers, doctors or nurses. The two cardinals in their institution are no physical violence and no chemical drugs. "Day Top makes the people in it aware of themselves. They challenge one another," it stated. A close parallel can be drawn between the University and Day Top. Tolerance is a key word in Day Top's future plans.

Gus, who spoke first, said, "You name it. I've had it. I went from the hospital to the treatment center to prison and finally to LSD. Then I started mixing them together."

Both Mill and Gus stressed the need for more therapeutic environments for the community for former addicts. Gus commented that Day Top was trying to make arrangements with the courts whereby convicted addicts could be assigned to Day Top instead of prison. Judge Hourigan voiced his approval for such a plan.

Mill and Gus handled each question from the audience very straightforwardly. Their arrival on stage was not pre-announced. What they had to say was sometimes humorous, sometimes surprising. At time shocking but always authentic. They provided a unique and refreshing view of the evening.
Spoilers, Troupe, D-sen Notch IBA Victories

Six teams saw action in last week's IBA activity, and all the favorites came through as expected with the Spoilers, F Troupe, and Dirksen all copsing victories.

On Tuesday the Fearless Frosh defeated Priapus, 64-58. This contest was close throughout the first half and at the end of the third quarter. The score at half-time was 29-29, and at the three-quarter mark 44-44. In the last four minutes of action, however, the Frosh pulled into a lead which they were able to hold until the end of the contest. Steve Petrich led the Frosh with 22 points while Glen Arensen was high man for Priapus with 24 markers.

In another game that night the Spoilers tramelled Circle K by a score of 68-37. The halftime score had been 34-19, pretty much of an indication of how the contest was to come out. Leading the Spoilers again last week was Dave Cheese-

IBA action continued hot and heavy on Wednesday night as three more games were completed. The Colonels defeated Webster 80-30 and the Troupe also defeated the Gunners in a close match. The Gunners, however, were able to hold the Colonial team to only 50 points. All three IBA matches were played before the half-time score.

Mermen Notch Initial Victory Over Textile

by Pat Burke

After absorbing two defeats at home to the rugged East Stroudsburg College, the Mermen of Wilkes College, 66-65, and St. Joseph's 70-14, the fighting mermen of Wilkes College battled back to the swimmers of Philadelphia Textile by a score of 46-48. The Colonels' victory over the Wildcats was determined until the final event.

The loss to Harpur was the sec-

The "Top Five" remains the same

Joe Skvarla has taken over the IBA scoring race with an average of 38.5 points per game. He is fol-

March 3: 711 Patrice, Frosh vs. Griswold, All-Americans vs. Rocky Dink
March 4: Circle K vs. Butler Balcon YMCA vs. Black Knights
March 5: 715 Horn's Hamsters vs. Winter Streamliners vs. N.S. River
March 10: Wilkes vs. America Wildcats vs. Beavercrest
March 17: 715 F Troupe vs. Priapus Devils vs. Wilkes
March 10: Butler Balcon vs. Streamliners

ACE HOFFMAN

Studies and Camera Shop

Portrait, Commercial and Aerial Photographers
Cameas and Photo Supplies

36 WEST MARKET STREET
WILKES-BARRE, PA.
Phone 823-6177

Shop at... GIRA

FOR YOUR SCHOOL SUPPLIES
96 SOUTH MAIN STREET
WILKES-BARRE
Phone 825-5625

Datemaker
We Are Name Callers!

DATEMAKER

Saturday's low point of the year for the swimmers of Coach Young as they were thrashed by a very strong St. Joseph's squad. Not only were they the Hawks tankers a bet-

The halftime score was 28-21, the Blue

SG Questionnaire

Student Government is an organization for the students of the College set up to act as a liaison between the students, the faculty and the Administration.

Unfortunately, the members of SG do not know exactly what the students want accomplished. In an effort to bridge this communication gap, SG would appreciate it if all inter-

Did you know that SG meetings are open to the entire student body?

Have you ever approached an SG representative with either a suggestion or a complaint on which SG could work?

If yes, what action was taken?

What problem would you like SG to work on?

Do you think that SG is an effective organization on campus?

If not, what do you suggest?
Colonels Bow To Scranton; Rally To Defeat Rutgers

As the saying goes, "All good things must come to an end," but the Colonels didn't seem to be aware of this in their victory over the Crusaders last week. It has been one of their most successful weeks in history.

In the big game against the University of Scranton on Wednesday night, the Colonels suffered a 65-60 defeat at the hands of the Crusaders. The contest was close throughout the early going, although the Colonels were behind at the half by seven points.

The second half was all Scranton, however, as Gene The Machine Mimford began to connect from all sides of the court. Mimford finished the game with a total of 32 points, and this in itself was one reason for the Colonels' defeat. The Colonels also felt the inability of the referees to control the contest. Wally Umbach was high scorer for the Colonels with 21 points.

Friday night found the angered Colonels meeting a courageous but underranked Rutgers of South Jersey squad. While many of those who arrived late at the game were quick in their derivative remarks, it was not long before the Colonels realized that a few of the Rutgers team members had played in the jayvee contest prior to the varsity event. The final score of Friday's contest was 101-70 in favor of the Wilkes quintet.

Colonel Rainey started five freshman cagers in an effort to give them some varsity experience. Led by the play-making ability of Bob Kennedy, and the strong board work of Herb Breier, the Colonels quickly opened a 17-11 lead. Kennedy sparked in this series as he continually found the open man underneath the basket.

With ten minutes remaining in the first half, the Colonels regulars began entering the game. First Bo Ryan, then Herb Kemp, Wally Umbach, Bob Grick, and Jay Reimel came onto the floor. The weak South Jersey squad was unable to cope with the full-courting tactics of the Colonels cagers, and the ball ended with the Wilkesmen, ahead 47-30.

The second half of action was no different than the first half as the Colonels took on the Rutgers, 24 points, and Rutgers Bo Ryan and Davis led the Colonels by nine points in the second half, hitting for 10 points each.

The great teamwork of the Colonels was evident throughout the contest and as a result six of the eleven Colonels cagers finished in double figures. High man was Rich Davis with 16, mostly on turn-around jumpers, followed by Bo Ryan with 15, and Ted Frey with 14.

For the Pioneers, the high scorer was Roman Swiwicki with 11 points. Only one other man scored in double figures for the Pioneers.

The Colonels had defeated the Susquehanna in an earlier contest by a score of 107-90. This time the Colonels were 28 to 10 match for the Crusaders, however, as three men came through with high double figures to aid the Selingsgrove team's cause.

The Colonel quintet's chances for victory were hampered by its weak performance in the opening minutes of the first half, a factor which enabled the Susquehannas to take a 39-28 lead into the locker room at the half.

What little chance the Colonels had for victory after such a poor start was destroyed by the loss of both Jay Reimel and Herb Kemp via the foul route early in the second half.

High point-getter for the Colonels was Wally Umbach with 21 points. Umbach was the only man able to hit consistently for the Colonels and was an inspired Crusader quintet. The Colonels had defeated the Susquehanna in an earlier contest by a score of 107-90. This time the Colonels were 28 to 10 match for the Crusaders, however, as three men came through with high double figures to aid the Selingsgrove team's cause.

The Colonel quintet's chances for victory were hampered by its weak performance in the opening minutes of the first half, a factor which enabled the Susquehannas to take a 39-28 lead into the locker room at the half.

What little chance the Colonels had for victory after such a poor start was destroyed by the loss of both Jay Reimel and Herb Kemp via the foul route early in the second half.

High point-getter for the Colonels was Wally Umbach with 21 points. Umbach was the only man able to hit consistently for the Colonels and was an inspired Crusader quintet.

The Colonels had defeated the Susquehanna in an earlier contest by a score of 107-90. This time the Colonels were 28 to 10 match for the Crusaders, however, as three men came through with high double figures to aid the Selingsgrove team's cause.

The Colonel quintet's chances for victory were hampered by its weak performance in the opening minutes of the first half, a factor which enabled the Susquehannas to take a 39-28 lead into the locker room at the half.

What little chance the Colonels had for victory after such a poor start was destroyed by the loss of both Jay Reimel and Herb Kemp via the foul route early in the second half.

High point-getter for the Colonels was Wally Umbach with 21 points. Umbach was the only man able to hit consistently for the Colonels and was an inspired Crusader quintet. The Colonels had defeated the Susquehanna in an earlier contest by a score of 107-90. This time the Colonels were 28 to 10 match for the Crusaders, however, as three men came through with high double figures to aid the Selingsgrove team's cause.

The Colonel quintet's chances for victory were hampered by its weak performance in the opening minutes of the first half, a factor which enabled the Susquehannas to take a 39-28 lead into the locker room at the half. The Colonels had defeated the Susquehanna in an earlier contest by a score of 107-90. This time the Colonels were 28 to 10 match for the Crusaders, however, as three men came through with high double figures to aid the Selingsgrove team's cause.

The Colonel quintet's chances for victory were hampered by its weak performance in the opening minutes of the first half, a factor which enabled the Susquehannas to take a 39-28 lead into the locker room at the half.

What little chance the Colonels had for victory after such a poor start was destroyed by the loss of both Jay Reimel and Herb Kemp via the foul route early in the second half. High point-getter for the Colonels was Wally Umbach with 21 points. Umbach was the only man able to hit consistently for the Colonels and was an inspired Crusader quintet.

The Colonels had defeated the Susquehanna in an earlier contest by a score of 107-90. This time the Colonels were 28 to 10 match for the Crusaders, however, as three men came through with high double figures to aid the Selingsgrove team's cause.

The Colonel quintet's chances for victory were hampered by its weak performance in the opening minutes of the first half, a factor which enabled the Susquehannas to take a 39-28 lead into the locker room at the half.

What little chance the Colonels had for victory after such a poor start was destroyed by the loss of both Jay Reimel and Herb Kemp via the foul route early in the second half. High point-getter for the Colonels was Wally Umbach with 21 points. Umbach was the only man able to hit consistently for the Colonels and was an inspired Crusader quintet.
Individualism

(Continued from Page 2)

America is the stronghold of this freedom, not because of its economic and military power, but because it is the one place where the war for individualism has not been lost, at least not yet. If you deny that a battle exists, then explain Chicago or Detroit, explain the millions of dollars spent to teach a child what toy he wants for Christmas while he is glued to the television set, explain a burned draft card or hippies, or why we willingly pay $2.50 for a tube of lipstick that costs five cents to produce, or an assassinated Bobby Kennedy. All are signs of our times, all are seemingly unrelated, yet all are manifestations of battles and victories for both sides in the war of mind control.

The one thing we note in the youth, in the Negro, in the “disserter”—no one leader, no one cause, no one morality is being fought for. And the other thing we note is the character of the other side of the battlefield whether it be city, state, industry or school, there is one leader, one cause, one morality for all. And this is as it should be in the purview of this battle. The man who wishes to be free of undesirables by living up to the very definition of the word “individual” has a leader—for him there is his own, or a cause—except his own or a morality, other than his own conscience.

Such talk against what we know as the status quo should be welcomed, not feared. It is the sign that freedom is not yet dead. It is the sound of battle. Such minds as these will never turn this land over to communism or any form of government which desires to rule with power over our souls. Such minds will someday accomplish what this country was made for—freedom and democracy. And when we are aware of their freedom, rather they willfully construct an order based on, rooted in, and perpetuating the integrity of the individual.

The battle has raged in terms of one man against the world for years and the world has never conquered one “whole” man. Now here is one man repeated a countless number of times and the world will not conquer him either. We needn’t worry about freedom, it’s raising its proud, egotistical, beautiful head and roaring in our country. We should stop Trembling and listen to the battle cry. It may mean our freedom.

Dorm Averages

The recent release of cumulative averages by the Registrar’s Office discloses the names of 216 Williams students who shared honors on the Dean’s List. A minimum cumulative average of 3.25 is necessary to attain the honors.

Dormitory floors reveal an overall male average of 2.23 and a female mean falling slightly higher at 2.34. Wexell Hall edged 36 West River for the distaff honors, 2.60-2.56. Roosevelt Hall, with a 2.52 cum, garnered the first-place position while Butler House finished second, 2.42. Holbenkamp, 2.48; Warner, 2.48; Steele, 2.47; 150 South River, 2.40 followed in the female dormitory column.

Bruch Hall, 2.41; Warner, 2.33; Daz, 2.27; and Dirksen, 2.26 followed the leaders among the male dormitories.

Mermen Notch

(Continued from Page 4)

While Saturday may have been one of the low points of the swimming campaign, Monday certainly proved to be the high point of what up until now has been an extremely tough season. On February 8, the Colonels swimmers had come close to victory, only to lose because of the excellence of eight points. This time proved different, however, as our swimmers kicked out a thrilling win over the men of Mermen Notch.

The Wilkinson never gave up during the meet which turned out to be their first victory of the year. Leading the victory parade was the 400-yard freestyle relay team of Bryan Kehrli, Jim McDonald, Mark Pingman, and Ray Salsburg. High point men were Salsburg with another first in the 200-yard freestyle, Doug Kriek who garnered a first in the diving competition and teamed with co-captain Pat Burke for a sweep in the 200-yard backstroke. Joe Valentine, Mark Dingman, and Owen Lavery also contributed valuable second-place finishes to the Colonels margin.

Coach Harry Pure’s Textile crew was led by Bill Long with two firsts—the 200-yard butterfly and the 200-yard breaststroke. Ed Fegley captured a first in the 200-yard individual medley for the visiting swimmers.

Results:

600-yard Medley (Fegley, McKee, Low, Kean): 1:52.9
200-yard Breaststroke—Salsburg, MacDaniels (P): 2:01.8
50-yard Butterfly—Frankfeld (F), Fegley (P): 26.1
200-yard Breaststroke—Williamson (P), Valentine, Salsburg, Kriek, Kehrli, Friedlander, Law: 2:42.5
200-yard Butterfly—Long (F), Macke (P), Kaufman, 2:42.5
200-yard Breaststroke—Long (F), Lavery, Valentine, Friedlander, 2:37.5

Take off!

Undecided about your future? It’s no disgrace.

Even Einstein couldn’t make up his mind for quite awhile. Van Gogh took time to get on the track. The Wright Brothers didn’t start concentrating on aeroplanes right away. So, if you’re graduating from college and you still don’t know what to do with your future, chin up.

You can go to Office Training School. Become an officer. Get officer’s pay and prestige. Travel. All while you’re learning to fly. Seem? You can do something constructive, exciting, profitable and patriotic. Be an Air Force pilot.

I’ll say you’re just another genius who has made up his mind.