More Than One-Third Of College Freshmen Select Wrong Course

More than one-third of the students entering college today select the wrong course of study, due to an overestimation of their own abilities, lack of parental influence or be cause of parental influence, according to Thomas F. Quinn, rector of the department of testing and guidance at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

"We find this particularly true with respect to students for "colleges of engineering and science," Quinn explained, "since many freshmen are not in possession of the required algebraic math." Quinn said that the results of the test, indicating the potentialities and capacities of the student, are reported to the deans of the academic departments.

"The student is a child and not a full student, " Quinn continued, "so the test must adapt to his attention, but make no specific recommendation until he has tried the work for at least a semester." Quinn indicated that it is the responsibility of the student's parents to decide if he should change his course of study.

Individual testing and counseling in both the educational and vocational fields, said the University's three professional counselors throughout the school year. Any student in doubt about his college course or about his field of work after registration receives ten to twelve hours of careful counseling and selective testing designed to help him answer his questions, aptitudes, potentialities and his achievement in the field of highest interest.

The department of testing and guidance was established in 1936 to cooperate with the Veterans' Administration. It was formed to meet post-World War II influx of college students. The department has an integrated part and has increased its services to the student each year. In addition to helping students select the right course of study, the department employs flash memory and reading drills to help students to increase their reading and studying ability.

---

New More Than One-Third Of College Freshmen Select Wrong Course

More than one-third of the students entering college today select the wrong course of study due to an overestimation of their own abilities, lack of parental influence or because of parental influence, according to Thomas F. Quinn, rector of the department of testing and guidance at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

"We find this particularly true with respect to students for "colleges of engineering and science," Quinn explained, "since many freshmen are not in possession of the required algebraic math." Quinn said that the results of the test, indicating the potentialities and capacities of the student, are reported to the deans of the academic departments.

"The student is a child and not a full student, " Quinn continued, "so the test must adapt to his attention, but make no specific recommendation until he has tried the work for at least a semester." Quinn indicated that it is the responsibility of the student's parents to decide if he should change his course of study.

Individual testing and counseling in both the educational and vocational fields, said the University's three professional counselors throughout the school year. Any student in doubt about his college course or about his field of work after registration receives ten to twelve hours of careful counseling and selective testing designed to help him answer his questions, aptitudes, potentialities and his achievement in the field of highest interest.

The department of testing and guidance was established in 1936 to cooperate with the Veterans' Administration. It was formed to meet post-World War II influx of college students. The department has an integrated part and has increased its services to the student each year. In addition to helping students select the right course of study, the department employs flash memory and reading drills to help students to increase their reading and studying ability.

---

More Than One-Third Of College Freshmen Select Wrong Course

More than one-third of the students entering college today select the wrong course of study due to an overestimation of their own abilities, lack of parental influence or because of parental influence, according to Thomas F. Quinn, rector of the department of testing and guidance at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

"We find this particularly true with respect to students for "colleges of engineering and science," Quinn explained, "since many freshmen are not in possession of the required algebraic math." Quinn said that the results of the test, indicating the potentialities and capacities of the student, are reported to the deans of the academic departments.

"The student is a child and not a full student, " Quinn continued, "so the test must adapt to his attention, but make no specific recommendation until he has tried the work for at least a semester." Quinn indicated that it is the responsibility of the student's parents to decide if he should change his course of study.

Individual testing and counseling in both the educational and vocational fields, said the University's three professional counselors throughout the school year. Any student in doubt about his college course or about his field of work after registration receives ten to twelve hours of careful counseling and selective testing designed to help him answer his questions, aptitudes, potentialities and his achievement in the field of highest interest.

The department of testing and guidance was established in 1936 to cooperate with the Veterans' Administration. It was formed to meet post-World War II influx of college students. The department has an integrated part and has increased its services to the student each year. In addition to helping students select the right course of study, the department employs flash memory and reading drills to help students to increase their reading and studying ability.

---

More Than One-Third Of College Freshmen Select Wrong Course

More than one-third of the students entering college today select the wrong course of study due to an overestimation of their own abilities, lack of parental influence or because of parental influence, according to Thomas F. Quinn, rector of the department of testing and guidance at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

"We find this particularly true with respect to students for "colleges of engineering and science," Quinn explained, "since many freshmen are not in possession of the required algebraic math." Quinn said that the results of the test, indicating the potentialities and capacities of the student, are reported to the deans of the academic departments.

"The student is a child and not a full student, " Quinn continued, "so the test must adapt to his attention, but make no specific recommendation until he has tried the work for at least a semester." Quinn indicated that it is the responsibility of the student's parents to decide if he should change his course of study.

Individual testing and counseling in both the educational and vocational fields, said the University's three professional counselors throughout the school year. Any student in doubt about his college course or about his field of work after registration receives ten to twelve hours of careful counseling and selective testing designed to help him answer his questions, aptitudes, potentialities and his achievement in the field of highest interest.

The department of testing and guidance was established in 1936 to cooperate with the Veterans' Administration. It was formed to meet post-World War II influx of college students. The department has an integrated part and has increased its services to the student each year. In addition to helping students select the right course of study, the department employs flash memory and reading drills to help students to increase their reading and studying ability.
Appendix I

CONSTITUTION OF THE STUDENT BODY OF WILKES COLLEGE

The student governing body as defined in this constitution shall be known as the Student Council.

ARTICLE I

FUNCTIONS AND POWERS OF THE STUDENT COUNCIL

1. To conduct student activities as authorized by the College.

2. To promote a high standard of scholarship and to encourage the provision of the best possible academic instruction.

3. To foster the development of student leadership and to encourage the participation of students in extracurricular activities.

4. To maintain and improve student facilities and services.

ARTICLE II

QUALIFICATIONS AND DUTIES OF MEMBERS OF THE STUDENT COUNCIL

1. The Student Council shall consist of the following members:

   a. The President and Vice-President.
   b. Nine Class Representatives, one from each class.
   c. Seven Staff Representatives, three from the freshman class, two from the sophomore class, two from the junior class, and one from the senior class.
   d. The Editor-in-Chief and Managing Editor of the campus newspaper.

2. Each member of the Student Council shall serve for one academic year and attend Student Council meetings regularly.

3. The President shall be an ex officio member of all Student Council committees.

ARTICLE III

NOMINATIONS AND BUSINESS MEETINGS

1. Nominations for Student Council representatives shall be made by three students in the college and shall be held at a regularly scheduled Student Council meeting.

2. Vehicles shall be held by the Student Council at a regularly scheduled Student Council meeting.

3. The Student Council shall decide on the names of the candidates to be placed on the ballot.

ARTICLE IV

COMMUNICATIONS

1. All communications between the Student Council and other organizations or individuals shall be made through the President of the Student Council.

2. The Student Council shall maintain a file of all communications received.

ARTICLE V

MEETINGS AND VOTING

1. The Student Council shall meet at least two times per semester, one in the fall and one in the spring.

2. A quorum of the Student Council shall consist of the President and any five members of the Student Council.

3. All meetings of the Student Council shall be open to the public.

4. All resolutions passed by the Student Council shall be recorded in the minutes of the Student Council.

ARTICLE VI

OFFICERS OF THE STUDENT COUNCIL

1. The officers of the Student Council shall be elected according to the provisions of this constitution.

2. The President shall be an ex officio member of all Student Council committees.

3. The Vice-President shall serve as a member of the Student Council.

4. The Treasurer shall be an ex officio member of all Student Council committees.

5. The Secretary shall serve as a member of the Student Council.

6. The Editor-in-Chief and Managing Editor of the campus newspaper shall serve as ex officio members of the Student Council.

7. All newly-elected officers shall take office at the beginning of the fall semester.

ARTICLE VII

STUDENT REPRESENTATION

1. The Student Council shall serve as the official student body of Wilkes College.

2. The Student Council shall conduct all student-voting activities and shall represent the student body in all official functions.

3. The Student Council shall oversee all student organizations and activities.

ARTICLE VIII

PENALTIES

1. Any member of the Student Council who shall fail to attend two consecutive meetings of the Student Council shall be deemed absent.

2. Any member of the Student Council who shall fail to pay dues for two consecutive weeks shall be deemed delinquent.

3. Any member of the Student Council who shall fail to pay dues for three consecutive weeks shall be deemed expelled from the Student Council.

ARTICLE IX

AMENDMENTS

1. Amendments to this constitution may be adopted by a two-thirds majority vote of the Student Council.

2. Amendments to this constitution may be adopted by a two-thirds majority vote of the student body.

3. Amendments to this constitution may be adopted by a two-thirds majority vote of the Student Council and the student body.

ARTICLE X

APPROVAL OF THE STUDENT COUNCIL

1. The President of the Student Council shall be an ex officio member of the administrative committee.

2. The President of the Student Council shall be an ex officio member of the faculty committee.

3. The President of the Student Council shall be an ex officio member of the student committee.

ARTICLE XI

FINANCIAL AFFAIRS

1. All financial activities of the Student Council shall be conducted in accordance with the policies and procedures established by the Student Council.

2. All financial activities of the Student Council shall be conducted in accordance with the policies and procedures established by the Student Council.

3. All financial activities of the Student Council shall be conducted in accordance with the policies and procedures established by the Student Council.

ARTICLE XII

APPENDIX

1. All appendices to this constitution shall be approved by the Student Council.

2. All appendices to this constitution shall be approved by the Student Council.

3. All appendices to this constitution shall be approved by the Student Council.
Support The Colonels!

Opening Football Game

Bloomngrove - Sept. 26 - Home

Opening Soccer Game

E. Stroudsburg - Oct. 7 - Home

53 Colonel Football Destiny In Their Hands

PARTRIDGE'S BOOTIES LOOK STRONG; FACE 'BEST IN THE EAST' SCHEDULE

The Colonel booters, the soccer team, has been working out at Kirby Park for the past two weeks and from all indications promises to be stronger this year than last season's four standouts via graduation.

Several new students are reported to be soccer-valet players and should bolster the relatively inexperienced squad. Flip Jones will serve as captain again this year and is being counted on for heavy duty as are other returnees Jim Mos, Bill Mercy, Dick Polakowski, Hank Distefo, Lefty Konop, Dean Arvin, Mike Lewis, Tony Big, and Dick Hawi.

Partridge himself a soccer great as a University of Pennsylvania All-American, had another All-American helping him in early practice sessions in the person of Joe Denway, who gained the "tops" rating last year—also at the U. of P.

Partrige is non-committal as to prospects for the season, but reports from witnesses of recent practices are optimistic.

This year, as in past, the Colonel booters will face as rugged a schedule as any team of booters in the East. The slate includes Rider, East Stroudsburg STC, Lock Haven STC, Lafayette, Blaizean 2 (games), and Trenton STC.

Coast-to-Coast Show To Feature Russ Picton

Word has been received by the college public relations department that one of Wilkes' finest college footballers will be featured in the headline story on "The Coast-to-Coast" radio show aired locally over the Wilkes Broadcasting Station (WXIL) each Friday evening.

Major L. B. Chapman, director of public relations and head football coach, will broadcast the story of Russ Picton, Wilkes' gridiron great, before a few dollars' worth of students and alumni.

The contest, Major Chapman came up with an interesting review of Russ' gridiron career, starting in high school and carrying through his senior years and ending at Hobart last year.

The story entitled "Pats Called the Wags" will bring back a few Russ national recognition. Interesting is thing is that it is the only featured story of the program, or the best story of a small college player according to the Friday evening radio program announcer Eloy "Colonel" Pixton, who has been at the show for quite a number of years.

You see, for twelve consecutive years Miss Slishbuck has walked away with the "Best Award"... but the police made her put it everywhere.

"Why, Chuck," she explained, "I'm still just as beautiful as I was the day I won the 'Best Award'... but the police made her put it everywhere.

"Yes," I replied, "but you're a little molder than others."

"No, no, no," she protested, "I don't need any more glasses do me age make me? After all, the women men were made from the same mold."

"Yes," I replied, "but you're a little molder than others."

"No, no, no," she protested, "I don't need any more glasses do me age make me? After all, the women men were made from the same mold."

"I still see over one of the nineties would be more like it," I murmured.

In her day, Miss Slishbuck was known as the Gemp Girl... whether she was on the sofa or off, the "BRACE GRADE A POTATOES" What I can't figure out is why on earth she was wearing a hula hoop... unless she thought it would give...

In their day, the Gemp Girls kept fresh flowers... but they never got flowers... it was a lot easier... in all the years that have passed... instead of flowers... they are wearing flowers... and in their day... it was a lot easier... they were wearing flowers... instead of flowers... they are wearing flowers... and in their day... it was a lot easier...

"Why, Chuck," she explained, "I'm still just as beautiful as I was the day I won the 'Best Award'... but the police made her put it everywhere.

"Yes," I replied, "but you're a little molder than others."

"No, no, no," she protested, "I don't need any more glasses do me age make me? After all, the women men were made from the same mold."

Introducing the football coaching staff at Wilkes College for 1953—left to right: Russ Picton, assistant coach; George Ralamb, head coach; Francis Pawan, assistant coach. Two former Wilkes gridiron greats, Picton and Polakowski, were appointed to aid their former coach in grooming the Colonel grid machine this fall. Picton, a 1952 Little All-America quarterback and fullback, is assistant to coach Ralamb, who is this year busying himself with the line.

The football coaching staff at Wilkes College for 1953—left to right: Russ Picton, assistant coach; George Ralamb, head coach; Francis Pawan, assistant coach. Two former Wilkes gridiron greats, Picton and Polakowski, were appointed to aid their former coach in grooming the Colonel grid machine this fall. Picton, a 1952 Little All-America quarterback and fullback, is assistant to coach Ralamb, who is this year busying himself with the line.

The Coast-to-Coast Show To Feature Russ Picton

Word has been received by the college public relations department that one of Wilkes' finest college footballers will be featured in the headline story on "The Coast-to-Coast" radio show aired locally over the WILK Broadcasting Station (WILK) each Friday evening.

Major L. B. Chapman, director of public relations and head football coach, will broadcast the story of Russ Picton, Wilkes' gridiron great, before a few dollars' worth of students and alumni.

The contest, Major Chapman came up with an interesting review of Russ' gridiron career, starting in high school and carrying through his senior years and ending at Hobart last year.

The story entitled "Pats Called the Wags" will bring back a few Russ national recognition. Interesting is thing is that it is the only featured story of the program, or the best story of a small college player according to the Friday evening radio program announcer Eloy "Colonel" Pixton, who has been at the show for quite a number of years.

You see, for twelve consecutive years Miss Slishbuck has walked away with the "Best Award"... but the police made her put it everywhere.

"Why, Chuck," she explained, "I'm still just as beautiful as I was the day I won the 'Best Award'... but the police made her put it everywhere.

"Yes," I replied, "but you're a little molder than others."

"No, no, no," she protested, "I don't need any more glasses do me age make me? After all, the women men were made from the same mold."

Introducing the football coaching staff at Wilkes College for 1953—left to right: Russ Picton, assistant coach; George Ralamb, head coach; Francis Pawan, assistant coach. Two former Wilkes gridiron greats, Picton and Polakowski, were appointed to aid their former coach in grooming the Colonel grid machine this fall. Picton, a 1952 Little All-America quarterback and fullback, is assistant to coach Ralamb, who is this year busying himself with the line.

The football coaching staff at Wilkes College for 1953—left to right: Russ Picton, assistant coach; George Ralamb, head coach; Francis Pawan, assistant coach. Two former Wilkes gridiron greats, Picton and Polakowski, were appointed to aid their former coach in grooming the Colonel grid machine this fall. Picton, a 1952 Little All-America quarterback and fullback, is assistant to coach Ralamb, who is this year busying himself with the line.

...and ending at Hobart last year.

The story entitled "Pats Called the Wags" will bring back a few Russ national recognition. Interesting is thing is that it is the only featured story of the program, or the best story of a small college player according to the Friday evening radio program announcer Eloy "Colonel" Pixton, who has been at the show for quite a number of years.

You see, for twelve consecutive years Miss Slishbuck has walked away with the "Best Award"... but the police made her put it everywhere.

"Why, Chuck," she explained, "I'm still just as beautiful as I was the day I won the 'Best Award'... but the police made her put it everywhere.

"Yes," I replied, "but you're a little molder than others."

"No, no, no," she protested, "I don't need any more glasses do me age make me? After all, the women men were made from the same mold."

Introducing the football coaching staff at Wilkes College for 1953—left to right: Russ Picton, assistant coach; George Ralamb, head coach; Francis Pawan, assistant coach. Two former Wilkes gridiron greats, Picton and Polakowski, were appointed to aid their former coach in grooming the Colonel grid machine this fall. Picton, a 1952 Little All-America quarterback and fullback, is assistant to coach Ralamb, who is this year busying himself with the line.

The football coaching staff at Wilkes College for 1953—left to right: Russ Picton, assistant coach; George Ralamb, head coach; Francis Pawan, assistant coach. Two former Wilkes gridiron greats, Picton and Polakowski, were appointed to aid their former coach in grooming the Colonel grid machine this fall. Picton, a 1952 Little All-America quarterback and fullback, is assistant to coach Ralamb, who is this year busying himself with the line.
The Beacon's Beat

Dr. Vajica commenting on his recent trip to Florida, "imagining themselves calling me 'Yankee.'"... How many people saw Mike Lewis sneaking into the cafeteria with a thermos bottle of coffee?... Andy Sofranz: I'm going to keep my mouth shut this year and maybe I'll get through.

Emma Griffl: Registration Day is the high point of my life.

Overhearing a discussion on the possibility of women outnumbering men in the world, Mr. Jervis quietly joined the group with, "There aren't more women than men, it just seems that way.

Frosh male: Can I wear a "F" shirt? Wayne Madden: Any shirt will do as long as you wear a Wilkes tie.

TDR Big Sister Party Welcomes Fresh Coeds

The fresh coeds were welcomed to college life Monday, September 14 by the Theta Delta Rho sorority as a Big Sister Party. The TDR girls laid out the welcoming mat for the frosh at McClintock Hall from 4 to 6 p.m. President Helen Brown introduced the sorority officers to the new class. Our new Daum of Women, Dr. Neel, described the adjustment from high school to college. The many new frosh met their "Big Sisters," older girls who have already passed through the difficulties of surviving the first year of college, and who are willing to help the new girls adjust to this new life. The Little Sisters were urged to call on their new friends at any time.

Refreshments were served by TDR officers, Helen Brown president; Jane Carpenter, chairman of the welcoming committee; and officers Naomi Kier, Berenice Thomas, Jan Louise Wint, Ruth Dilley, and Barbara Evans.

It was announced at the party that the sorority meeting will be held Tuesday night, September 22.

Library Hours

Monday through Thursday — 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m.
Friday — 9:00 to 5:00;
Saturday — 1:00 to 4:00.
In between semesters and during vacations the hours will be announced.

Gloria's 'Glorious Glamor Girl'

her sakes appeal. Miss Sloshbucket is now married and has two sons. One of them is in politics... the other one's not much good either.

The Boston Store

Men's Shop

has everything for the college man's needs... from ties to suits.

Fowler, Dick and Walker

Chesterfield Best for You

LARGEST SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA'S COLLEGES